WILMINGTON, N. C .: THURSDAY MORNING, Jan. 13, 1881

OTHER NOTES ON THE MESSAGE. Gov. Jarvis mentions that of the 169 students attending the University last session 89 paid no tuition. This is surely doing a most important work, and for that class of young men who could not obtain collegiate education without such help. They would be cut off from all such large advantages without this generous benefaction. We quote from the

"Since the reopening the University has given tuition free of charge each year to a like proportion of the students. A small acqual appropriation of $7,500 would reheve its embarrassments and greatly enzation of the University in 1875 contributions were made by friends of the institution, out of their own private means, to the amount of about $20,000, the greater part of which was used in repairs upon the building, all of which belong to the State.'

The University gets no gratuity from the State. It ought to have an annual appropriation, and we hope the time will come when the legislators, in response to enlightened public opinion, will feel warranted in giving the University such help as its necessities require. Because it receives the interest on $125,000, which is justly due, it agrees to educate free of tuition one young man of good character from each county. The Governor says:

"This provision has seriously diminished the number of paying students. The University has been in the habit, in addition to this, of receiving all indigent young men of good character free of charge for tuition. I know that the institution is doing good work. Its faculty are able and zealous. They are educating large numbers of worthy young men, who, without this great benefaction, would grow up in ignorance. The number should not be curtailed but increased. I respectfully recommend that each county shall be allowed to send to the University two beneficiary students, instead of one, and that in consideration of this an additional seven thousand tive hundred dollars be appropriated annually to the institution. With this amount the trustees could enlarge the faculty and go forward in its liberal and beneficial

The Governor recommends that the large bodies of swamp lands belonging to the Board of Education be made subject to entry and grant, like other vacant lands, and sold, the proceeds to be applied to educational purposes. He wisely considers that it is better to let them pass into hands that will reclaim, develop, and make them pay taxes than to have them as they have been for half a century, yielding nothing. The Legislature will doubtless attend to this suggestion of the Chief Executive that is practical and proper.

The Governor considers the condition of the various charitable institutions, and says they are all well managed. He says there are fewer criminals now in the penitentiary than during the last three years. The number on October 30, 1880, was 993. He says the sure way to diminish crime is to make punishment swift and certain. He says: "Evil-doers must understand that while the law will not permit cruelty in officers, it will not tolerate idleness in convicts, but will require and enforce hard, constant work. They must be taught the lesson and driven by experience to learn it, that | unwholesome."

it is easier to live at liche by bonest labor than in the penitentiary by enforced labor:

The Insane Asylum is crowded, and there are 190 or more applications still on file for admission. The buildings need repairs. The able Superintendent has been shorn of the means of usefulness to some extent and we hope the present Legislature will not be attacked with violent symptoms of economy and retrenchment when they are called on to minister to the sad condition and pressing needs of God's own smitten children who are helpless. No extravagance ought to be allowed, but mean and paltry niggardliness ought to be shunned. The Governor

"The obligation to provide for the safety, comfort and proper treatment of these unfortunate people is so weighty that nothing can excuse its longer neglect. I beg that you will make a sufficient appropriation to complete at once the wing and main building of the Asylum at Morganton, so that it can be occupied by the insane not now provided for, who are the objects of the charity and care of the State."

The Colored Asylum at Goldsboro has 91 patients. The expenditures have been economical. Gov. Jarvis

"The institution needs some legislation for its management. I call your special attention to the report of the commission ers, and the necessity for an additional appropriation of twenty thousand dollars to complete the north wing. When the wing is completed the building, it is thought, will be sufficient to accommodate the colored insane of the State. It will be both humane and prudent to make the appropriation, and thus relieve the counties as speedily as possible of the expense and care of these persons."

The Department of Agriculture occupies the attention of the Governor, and at some length, as it ought to have done. Whatever concerns the agricultural interests of the State surely merits the consideration of legislators and statesmen. This Department is fostering immigration, and to that end has an agent now in England. The Governor mentions the fact, already known to the readers of the STAR, that Col. A. Pope, representing certain railroads, is actively cooperating with the Board in its efforts to promote immigration. We quote from the message as to another point:

"If nothing else had been done, the protection given to the farmers against worthless fertilizers, has more than ten-fold over compensated for all the labor and expense of the department. Before this department was established, there were many tons of stuff sold in the State called fertilizers, which were not worth the cost of transportation. This imposition cannot be renewed so long as the department does its duty, and the farmers rely upon the analysis made by the learned chemist employed by the Board.

A new and excellent map of the State will soon be published. It is the work of Mr. Washington C. Kerr, the able and energetic State Geologist, and the Governor says it has cost him "years of labor and research." It is so accurate, full and complete, that another survey will not be necessary in many years to come. A second volume of his "Geological Report" will be published in a few weeks. These "Reports" of Prof. Kerr have attracted attention abroad-in Virginia and Missouri, for instance, as we happen to know -and are regarded as highly creditable both to him and to the State, Strange to say those admirable "Reports" are valued more highly beyond the State than at home. Now is not that quite like North Carolina? Governor Jarvis recommends that the Agricultural Department have the selection of a Geologist just as the Commissioner and Chemist are appointed, and that a suitable Agricultural Building be erected. He

"The rents paid by this department amount to nine hundred dollars a year. The Geological Museum is probably one of the most extensive and valuable in any State in the Union. This museum is much visited by persons in search of information concerning the wealth and resources of the State, and here they find specimens from nearly every county to interest and instruct This valuable collection ought to be permanently located in a building belonging to the State, known as the 'Agricultura Building,' where it can be safely preserved. And besides it is but meet and proper that there should be at the capital a handsome building, dedicated to the great agricultural interests of the State, so that when those engaged in this pursuit visit the capital they may know there is a place where they can learn something of the agriculture and resources of all sections of their State." We can see no good reason why these two recommendations should not be adopted. If the Agricultural Department is valuable really to the State, then it should be fostered. It cannot continue to operate without a suitable building and the rents alone would soon be equal to the cost of construction. Our information is not minute enough to allow us to speak positively as to the merits and usefulness of the Agricultural Department, but if it is what its friends claim for it, then it deserves to be sustained amply by prudent and enlightened legislation. We shall consider other points of the message

THE OLDEST STUDENT OF THE UNIVERSITY

The oldest living student of the University of North Carolina is Hon Mark Alexander, of Medilenburg county, Virginia, who matriculated in 1808. He is now in his 89th year. He is the only survivor, but one, of the Congress of 1819, and the only survivor, but one, of the celebrated Virginia Convention of 1829-'30, of which President Madison, President Monroe and Chief Justice Marshal were members.

The above facts were furnished by the venerable Hugh Blair Grigsby, ot Virginia, to Mrs. C. P. Spencer, who is collecting statistics in regard to the Alumni of the University at the request of the Alumni Associa-

The Governor of Tennessee, in his message to the Legislature, gives a very good account of Democratic economy in the State Government. During the last three years the expenses have been less than for any period of two years for the last twenty years. Gov. Marks recommends that a Railroad Commission be appointed to investigate the matter of freight and passenger rates, and to enforce therein justice and equality. The great question is gathering momentum. He also makes a statement in regard to the State debt that is worthy of special attention. He says that the last session of the Legislature proposed a plan of settlement which would require the payment of a larger tax on property than is paid by any other State in the Union upon its public debt. He says the proposed settlement was fair, and that the people will not agree to any settlement that will entail a heavier burden than that proposed. He thinks the demands of the bondholders would "involve the State in irretrievable embarrassments." The people of that Statea great many of whom are North Carolinians or their descendantsare manifesting a commendable liberality and desire to make a satisfactory and permanent settlement of the public debt.

We are glad that the Senate Military Committee reported adversely to the reorganization and discipline of the militia. We have never seen any necessity for any such display. By the way, a funny mistake occurs in Justin McCarthy's "History of Our Own Times." Referring to the late war between the States, he says in the beginning the South fought better than the North. Not because they were braver or more accustomed to personal difficulties, or the use of firearms or had a better cause-none of these things. But they had been trained in the militia and that was a splendid school of discipline. Now won't somebody please send J. M. a copy of Tom Corwin's famous speech in reply to "the late Gen. Crary," of Michigan, as John Quincy Adams referred to that member when Corwin was done with

The O'Hara-Kitchin contest still hangs fire. In a few weeks the present Congress will expire. Mr. Kitchin has drawn regular pay all along. Suppose just before the 46th Congress expires the House decides that O'Hara is entitled to the seat; what then? Why, two persons will draw salaries from the same District for two years. This has been done often, and until Congress improves it will continue to be done. O'Hara will hardly get his seat, whether he received the requisite number of votes

Kentucky has a way of its own-a way that differs from the ways of its neighbors. The latest phase of its singularity was a big fight in a Baptist church just because the uxorious deacons wished to sit in the pews occupied by females they had escorted. Harper or Frank Leslie should perpetuate the scene and some master of verse should immortalize the heroes of the mighty scrimmage. Horace Smith's exquisitely funny imitation of Walter Scott in the celebrated

CURRENT COMMENT. - It is not doubted by any one of ordinary comprehension that Wm. Pitt Kellogg never was elected to the Senate by the Louisiana Legislature. and it is equally well settled that his so-called election by his rump Legislature was effected by open and shameless corruption; but Kellogg has been admitted by a vote of the Senate, and he can be displaced only by the lawful vote of two-thirds dismissing him from his seat. Under the precedents made by the Republicans in the past there can be no reasonable dispute about the duty of the Senate thus to dismiss Kellogg; but the Republican Senators need Kelogg 's vote, and they will vote solld o retain him, although convicted of vastly greater crimes, directly affecting his Senatorial title, than those for which Senator Caldwell, Republican, of Kansas, was compelled to resign to escape expulsion.—Philadelphia Times, Ind.

- Kellogg told the writer that old Zach Chandler, before he died, thought the best thing to happen for the Republican party would be the expulsion of the bogus Fenator by Democratic votes. That, he said, would furnish a precedent for turning out quite a number of Southern Senators and making the Senate very comfortably Radical .- Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle, Dem.

OUR STATE CONTEMPORARIES.

We advise and request the members of the Legislature to severely and promptly; "sit down on" all grinding of private axes." Pass no law that is not needed. Pass nothing simply for the asking. We have known an instance of the passage of a' general act which had been introduced by lawyer for no other purpose than to remedy a fatal defect in the conduct of one of his own cases. No man, woman or child in the State needed such a law but that individual ax-grinder; yet it became a public law and is so to-day, because that individual had a private ax to grand, and careless and inattentive legislators ground it for him at the public expense .- Henderson

If our common schools are to be made worthy the name, they must be open for instruction at least half of the year. In this place it is not our purpose to consider other means to effectiveness-better pay and better teachers-better buildings and more comfortable arrangements, a more complete curriculum and a closer inspection of methods of teaching One thing at a time. Here, we wish to maist upon more teaching—not more hours, for per- 600 mon Wealtha Distribution Company haps in that respect modification is needed in the other direction; but a greater number of months in which the schools shall be open. It matters not whether the existing single term be extended or two terms be created. This is a matter for the convenience or requirements of the neighbor-100d. - Golds' oro Messenger.
