One hundred and twenty-four bills enormous pile of the present session of Congress We believe there are some seven thousand now on hand. What nonsense.

We begin to believe that Keane is not the great success that was claimed for him earlier in the season. The Philadelphia Press says that he is too self-conscious, his voice is too monotonous, and that he "rants" some times. It says he is a good actor but over-weighted in attempting Riche tieu. It says he has no "fully con ceived idea" in his personation.

Smart as the Northern people are they have not found out that negroes over a hundred years old are as common in the South as codfish when there is a good run. It is in fact getting to be rare that an old negro ever dies until he or she gets to about 110 or 115. We note this curious fact because latterly we have seen it stated in the Northern papers as a very remarksble fact that two or three old negro women who had passed their 105 or 110 had been found in that great section.

The Home Rulers are not playing their cards skilfally, we think, in the House of Commons. They are doing what they can to force the Government to resort to coercion. Mr. Gladstone was quite plain-spoken in the debate on Monday last. He characterized Justin McCarthy's amendment as an insult to the throne, which was cheered by both sides of the House. Mr. Dillon threw it into the face of the Government "that the Land League ruled supreme and that Tipperary had 10,000 men arrayed against the Government." If this sort of talk continues they will sucseed in getting up a row.

Cutting Scrape. James and Isaac Baker, colused, knows as "The Twins," were arrested Tuesday night, about half-past 12 o'clack, at the corner of Fourth and Brunswick streets, by Officer Scharff, charged with assaulting and cutting one George Hayes, colored. I appears from the statements of two of the witnesses of the difficulty, which occurred at the truck house of the First Ward Bucket Company, on Love's Alley, between Bladen and Harnett streets, a about halfpast 10 o'clock-that an election was held on the 13th inst. for foreman of the company, Jim Baker and Geo. Hayes being voted for. Baker was elected, but afterwards one member acknowledged that he upon determined to have the election over Tuesday night. The company assembled for that purpose, when a dispute arose, during which Hayes said Jim Baker was a lisr, whereupon Isaac Baker jerked a bottle from his pocket and threw it at Hayes' head, and Jim Baker rushed at him with a knife. The two pushed Hayes against the truck tongue, when he fell over it. Isaac Baker then held Hayes, while Jim cut and slashed him with his large butcher koffe. At the first start of the fight the room was cleared of all but the three combatants. Emanuel Nichols, the captain of the company, and one other. Nichols finally seized a piece of board and struck Jim Baker on the arm with it, at which he ceased his murderous attack upon Hayes, and both brothers fled from the building, but were subsequently arrested, as already stated, and taken to the guard house. Hayes, who was literally covered with blood, received some seven or eight cuts on the arms, hands and head

We briefly announced in our last the sad intelligence of the death of Mr. W. E. Hill. The remains of the unfortunate gentleman reached here on the 3.29 Carolina Central train yesterday afternoon, in charge of Rev. C. M. Payne, Mr. Colville and others. They were met at the depot by a delegation from Cape Fear Lodge No. 2, I: O.O. F., and Carolina Lodge No. 434, Knights of Honor, of which orders he was a member, and by whom the body was escorted to the residence of Mrs. Filyaw, his mother-in-law.

Mr. Hill came here from London in 1866 or 1867, and held a position for some time with Messrs. E. Kidder & Sons, at their steam saw mills in this city. About the year 1871 he was engaged with Messrs. Bradley, Walker and others in the milling business in Savannah, Georgia, but returned to Wilmington after a year or two and soon terday merning the case was continued until commenced business with Mr. G. M. Altaffer, under the firm name of Altaffer & Hill, in a sash and blind factory. He finally sold out his interest in the business, a year or two ago, and became part purchaser of the Cape Fear Building Company's Works at Abbottsburg, where, under the firm name of W. E. Hill & Co., he has since been engaged in business.

Mr. Hill leaves a wife and one or two children and a brother and two sisters to mourn his untimely fate. He was an energetic business man, and was highly esteemed by all who enjoyed his acquaintance.

The funeral will take place from the Second Presbyterian church this morning, at 10 o'clock, and the remains will be escorted to their last resting place by the Odd Fellows, Knights of Honor, and members of the St. George and St. Andrews' Society,

The Trip Down the River and the Re-Our late distinguished visitors, Gen. Imboden and Mr. Hyndman, left for Raleigh yesterday morning. Their trip down the river was a very pleasant one. They visited Federal Point and examined the works there, expressing themselves astonished at what had been done towards effecting a closure at that point and securing a proper depth of water over our bar. They also steamed outside and witnessed the operations of the steam dredge Woodbury on the bar. They then went to sea a short distance, after which the boat returned to Smithville, and our guests, with the gentlemen accompanying them, visited the office of the Assistant Engineer, Mr. Bacon, where they examined the various plans and specifications for the improvement of the markets and market places of the city of bar and river, at the conclusion of which the Woodbury returned to this city. Gen. Imboden and Mr. Hyndman were evidently very favorably impressed with what they had seen, and were free in the expression of the opinion that our port possessed all the necessary facilities for becoming in time a place of the first commercial importance, and fully adapted as the outlet for the large operations which they have in view in the northwestern portion of our State.
