The first elaborate description of the battle of Buena Vista that appeared was in the New Orleans Delta. It was from the pen of a young North Carolinian, who was one of Gen. Taylor's aides, and was written the night after the battle. It was a very eloquent and graphic description, filling several columns. We heard Judge Badger read it to a arge crowd at Raleigh, he standing on the steps of the old postoffice. That account, written by an eyewitness and a participant in the battle, said the Indianians behaved badly. The same account was pubished in the old Whig Review.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Raleigh News-Observer's Report Curtailed SENATE.

WEDNESDAY, Jan. 19, 1881. M. Clarke-A bill to change the time of holding the Superior Court in the counties of Johnston, Onslow and Carteret.

Mr. Scott, of New Hanover-A bill to repeal chapter 242 of the laws of 1876.77.

Mr. Staples-A bill to authorize the President of the Piedmont Railroad Company to extend aid to the Northwestern North Carolina Railroad Company and other roads in the anxious to secure a store and dwelling. State. Committee on internal improvements.

Mr. Tucker-A bill for the more efficient collection of taxes. Mr. Dortch-A bill for the benefit of the Colored Insane Asylum.

CALENDAR. Senate bill 61, to facilitate applica tion for restraining orders and appointment of receivers, was discussed by Mr. Williamson, of Davie, and passed its second and third reading. Senate bill 83, relative to amend ing chapter 22 of the laws of 1879 with regard to the probate of deeds, passed its second reading.

Senate bill 97, to punish the stealng of dead bodies, so as to make that offense a felony; provided that it shall be lawful to give to medical colleges in North Carolina the dead bodies of such person as may be executed under the laws of the State and of such persons as shall die in prisons, unless the bodies of such persons shall be claimed by relatives.

Resolution 122, that the Attorney-General be instructed to investigate and report to the Senate what interest, if any, the State has in the Chesapeake and Albemarle Canal. Explained by Mr. Williamson. Adopted.

Mr. Williamson, of Edgecombe, moved that His Excellency the Governor be inserted in place of the Attorney-General. Resolution adopted. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Mr. Speaker Cooke presented long petition from the State prohibition convention, setting forth numerous evils brought about by the sale of liquor, and giving many reasons why the Legislature should pass a State prohibitory liquor law.

The report of the committee on the resolution to investigate the sale of the Western North Cerolina Railroad, was as follows:

The committee on interal im provements having carefully considered House resolution No. 15, entitled "a resolution to investigate the sale of the Western North Carolina Railroad," beg leave to report that no evidence being before the committee, and no reasons assigned by the author of the resolution when the necessity of an investigation, the Raleigh is strongly adverse to having the committee cannot recommend that county dismembered. the expenses of such an investigation be incurred by the State.

Were any charge of fraud, corruption or bad faith made and sustained by evidence, the committee would deem it their duty to recommend a Evans, and will be taken North to be manthough investigation of said sale, but the Governor in his message, and Treasurer Worth in his report, having shown that every portion of the contract of the company had been complied with, and every cent due the State paid into the Treasury, and nothing being before the committee for them to act upon, except the predictions and fears of the author of the resolution, the committee unanimously recommend to the House that the resolution do not pass.

- Mr. J. F. Davidson, contractor, has sued the Second Presbyterian church Charlette, for $1,600 due for work, &c.

- The Goldsboro Messenger says Mr. Joseph Ingram, of Johnston county, was seriously injured by being thrown from a wagon by a runaway horse.

- Raleigh Star: Be it remembered that hereafter a bushel of cotton seed is not a bushel of cotton seed unless it to his old home. weighs 30 pounds. That's what the House of Representatives say, by a unanimous vote. —It is to be hoped that the Legisature now in session will turn a deaf ear to the numerous petitions that will be presented to it for the formation of new counties in the State. The mania for these new counties is alarmingly on the increase.

- The movers for a new county around Henderson propose to call it Vance instead of Gilliam. The people of Granville held a large meeting at Oxford to protest against the dismemberment of Granville. The Torchlight says: Col. J. S. Amis, Capt. Wm. Biggs, B. H. Cozart, Eppy Grissom, J. A. Waller, H. G. Cooper, A. H. A. Williams and Capt. J. G. Lockhart were elected as a committee to go to Raleigh and protest against a dismemberment of Granville county.

- Oxford Torchlight: The Bank is certainly to be established. The list has been opened with $10,000 subscription. -Houses are in demand-both dwelling and store houses-and yet we see new buildings being constantly erected. This speaks well for the future of our town. Several gentlemen are prospecting and -Mrs. Sallie Hicks, wife of Capt. Thos. Wyatt Pool, died at her residence at 11 o'clock on Sunday morning.

- Rockingham Spirit: The body of James Haddock, the young man referred to by us last week as missing and probably drowned, was found in Pee Dee Factory pond last Sunday. His gun was found some distance from his body and not over four or five feet deep. He probably broke through the ice here, and in endeavoring to reach the nearest point of land to him, got into deep water. He had stripped himself of both his overcoat and dress coat, doing this, probably the better to enable him to swim ashore if he should get in deep water.

- Charlotte Observer: A lighthearted negro, named Jim French was dancing a jug and kissing his hands at some women near the road, from the top of a freight train leaving Salisbuay Tuesday evening, when the covered bridge struck him. He fell between the cars, and the wheels of the caboose crushed his arm and shoulder so badly that his death it feared. - Four engineers, two firemen, two train hands, one mail agent, five passengers and one car coupler, compose the list of killed on the railroads leading into Charlotte within a month. Another victim now lies at Salisbury expected to die. Some of the railroad men express themselves a little weakened in their business.

- Goldsboro Messenger: Mr. Everett Herring, of Kenansville township, Duplin county, last week killed two pigs that weighed 1085 pounds net. Mr. W. B. Middleton, in the same neighborhood, killed one weighing 550 pounds net. -A correspondent writing us from the Mingo section, Sampson county, urges the Legislature to form a new county out of a part of Sampson, Johnston, Wayne, Cumberfand and Harnett. - Judge McKoy is holding the special term of Superior Court for Sampson county. — To Bradly has been arrested on a charge of attempted rape upon a lady on the south side of the Neuse. A preliminary trial was to have taken place before Justice D. E. Stevens yesterday. - Raleigh Visitor: Dr. T. H Pritchard, President of Wake Forest College, was in the city to-day. He says the college is in a flourishing condition, there being 172 students registered for matriculation. —Mrs. Elizabeth Felton, of this city, one of the most aged and highly esteemed ladies, fell on Thursday night last and broke her thigh. - The Supreme Court has been engaged since last Monday in hearing transcript and argument in the case of Lockhardt vs. John J. Bell, from Northampton county. - There are several propositions to cut off portions of Wake for the formation of new counties. We find that there is much diversity of opinion upon the subject among our country called before the committee, showing friends, but the sentiment in the city of > - New Berne Nut Shell: Plenty of ovsters in the market yesterday, prices ranging from forty to sixty cents per bushel. -Two hundred and sixty bales of pine straw are being taken from the railroad wharf and placed on the schooner Sallie ufactured into mattresses, &c. The straw was gathered by Mr. Charles Mallett, at Riverdale, who has now four hundred bales more ready for shipment. - The burning of the Old Dominion Steamship Company's warehouse in Norfolk has, we understand, entailed considerable loss to several of our merchants who had goods en route for this place without insurance that were lost in the fire. - A colored woman left her small child alone in her house and a few minutes thereafter was recalled home by the cries of the child, when she found that the little one's clothing had caught fire from the burning wood in the fire place. To add to the calamity the child had jumped on the bed, the fire from her clothing having ignited the bed clothquenched the fire, but the child died from the wounds received. - Raleigh News-Observer: Mr. Thomas Biggs is preparing a plan for the new court house. The design is to add wings of 20 feet each to the sides, thus giving a total frontage of about 75 feet. The front is to be brought out in a line with the postoffice. Probably another story will be added, with a belfry in front. Mr. Henry Gorman, one of our oldest citizens, died yesterday morning. He was aged about 75 years, and had been very sick for several months. - A correspondent writes: The project of forming a new county to be called Durham is being discussed in several State papers. The people of Granville have something to say of it. But a few years ago a slice was taken from Granville and given to Franklin. Then, during the session of the last Legislature, we came near losing a good slice from the northern part to be given to the county of "Gilliam," with Henderson as the

The ''Old Market House,"

A few years hence people will be heard speaking of "the old, unsightly structure that used to stand on Market street, between Front and Water, and known as the old market house," and even before it succumbed to the progressive ideas of our "city fathers" it was denominated by many an "eye-sore," "a nuisance," etc.; yet, thirty-three years ago, when it was put there, there was great rejoicing among the good people of Wilmington because, at last, they had secured the construction of "what might be called a decent market," and for a long time it was made a place of great resort by old men and young, in the summer months, where they would congregate and read their papers, discuss the news of the day, or otherwise amuse themselves. Then they prided themselves on having what they termed "the best market south of the Potomac," and it was "such a pleasant affair, you know." Well, such is the way of the world.

We mentioned a year or two ago the somewhat singular fact that there was a lady in this city, over seventy years of age, who had never seen the market house in question. The lady is an invalid, and has not been down the street in nearly forty Vennor's Predictions for February.

Thus far in January Vennor's weather predictions have been verified with remark able accuracy. For February the following predictions are made: The mild spell with which January closes will probably continue well into this month with the exception of a day or two, up to the twelfth of the month, with balmy, spring-like weather prevailing in many parts and snow rapidly disappearing. A couple of days of blustering weather, with rain or snow, will be followed by snow storms and cold weather throughout Canada and the United States. This term will be followed about ing. The mother by strenuous exertions | the sixteenth of the month by storms of | Mobile...... wind, rain and snow, previous to the set ting in of a colder term. With the beginning of the last week of the month, brilliant, mild, spring-like weather will again appear, melting the snow and rendering sleighing impossible in some localities.

A Miniature Explosion.

THE CITY.

Yesterday, about a quarter past 12 o'clock, persons in the neighborhood of the wharf opposite Messrs. Hall & Pearsall's store were startled by a loud hissing sound, which was followed by a shower of hot steam, which caused a general stampede among those on the wharf in that particular locality, as well as those on the schrs. Julia Elizabeth and E. Francis, which were tied up there. It was soon discovered that the cause of this unusual demonstration was an explosion on board of the steamer William Nyce, which had just run up alongside of the E. Francis, the outer schooner named above. The explosion amounted to nothing more than the blowing of a patch off the boiler, and slightly injuring the fireman, but it would have resulted much more seriously had there been any one close by, and at the same time in direct line with the volume of scalding steam which was blown through the aperture. Capt. Dicksey was standing just to one side of the door of the engine room. narrowly escaping the avalanche of steam, while Capt. Ingram, of the British schooner Julia Elizabeth, was standing just outside of the line of the scalding vapor. Mr. John Sweeney, the engineer, was in an hurt. The damage to the boiler was slight. What a Northern Man Says of Us. Mr. A. W. Lawton, real estate agent of Auburn, New York, who was here a few weeks ago and made an inspection of the old Clarendon Iron Works buildings, writes a letter to the Evening Auburnian, of the above city, of which the following is an

Yet they are improving in these particulars, and the city Wilmington, North Carolina, as one llustration, has within a short time estabished and is doing a profitable business in three leading enterprises of the north— namely, a rice mill, tobacco factory and cotton factory-has just built a large city market, selling to the highest bidder an old rookery in its main street, from which, in bygone days, slaves were regularly sold at suction, and is now putting in the Holly water system. Actors in War Times. A Richmond correspondent of the Philadelphia Times gives some interesting reminiscenses under the above heading. Among others is the following, which will awaken sad but pleasant recollections among the play-goers of Wilmington: "At the beginning of the struggle, and before its wild range, long duration and bloody character were realized, poor Harry McCarthy, who died the other day, used to excite immense applause, and be recalled again and again to sing his own jingle, 'The Bonnie Blue Flag,' which made a great noise in the world afterwards, being adopted by Southern sympathizers abroad as the war chant of the Confederate braves. It always brought down the house, and Harry used to sing it well. Other songs were 'When this Cruel War is Over,'

'Lorena,' 'Wait Till the War, Love, is Over,' and 'God of the Battle, Shield my Boy.' No matter how high-pitched and patriotic the feelings of the soldier, even the occasional rum in him could not steal him against the pathetic influence of these reminders of home and death."

The same writer says:

"The gloomiest performances I remember to have seen during the war were at Mobile, Ala., and Wilmington, N. C. At the first not a woman in the audience, and but few at the latter. The shadow of defeat had begun to fall across the hearts of the people, and even the soldier had little of the reckless spirit of 'poor Jack' making the most of his opportunity at a farewell
