OUTLINES. The Senate was not in session yesterday : the House of Representatives adjourned at 6 o'clock in the morning after an all-night session; in committee, on report favoring Ends ship railway the proviso for an endersement of stock by the government was stricken out. - Friday's storm damaged many vessels in New York harbor; numa hers of accidents were caused by falling noles and wires; in New Jersey a heavy snow followed the gale, and travel is almost totally blocked; the storm extended to Virginia, at Petersburg a large warehouse was blown down and other property junaged -Two persons were fatally sojured and four seriously hurt by a railoa! accident near Chicago. - Pather Elward Purcell, brother of the Archbishop. -Capt. John McMahon, a or minest citizen of Savannah, died Thurs--lee in the Susquehanna river is breaking up and great damage is anticipated. - A terrific storm has occurred in the Mediterranean. - The O dham cotton spinners will increase the wages of striking operatives -Four persons were fatally injured by falling and at a Chicago fire. - The Savannah ever is out of its banks and Hamburg, south Carolina, is submerged; railroad bridges are endangered. -- The Alexandrea obelisk was placed on its pedestal at Central Park, New York, yesterday.

The last is that there is no probability of an extra session of Congress. Stick to that.

Virginia is to have a civil rights case as to a public school. At Lynchburg a white girl was dismissed from school because she lived with a negro family and had a reputation somewhat doubtful. All the other scholars quit when she entered. So it was a necessity to turn her off or shut up shop. Sait has been brought against the District School Board at Lynchburg.

The STAR favored two years the razeeing of certain salaries. It sees no occasion for undoing what was done. It favors an increase of the salary of the Superintendent of Public Instruction whenever the school law is so improved as to make him really efficient and of benefit to the children of North Carolina. The Fayetteville Examiner gives a due note of warn-

"This is a delicate subject to handle, and we warn members of the General Assembly to be careful how they vote to increase salartes. The last General Assembly for excellent reasons reduced the salaries of many of our officials. In the Senate the lamented Junius I Scales, of Guilford, a gentleman of exalted patriotism and great intelligence reported and advocated the bill, and it passed by a large majority. Can the State afford to pay large salaries to its officials?

西agistrate's Court.

Issac Fillmore, colored, was arraigned before Justice Millis, yesterday morning, on a warrant issued upon the affidavit of a colored woman, charged with assault and battery with intent to commit rape upon the person of her daughter, a small girl. The evidence was deemed insufficient to convict, and the defendant was thereupon discharged, the prosecutor being required to pay the costs.

Catharine Cagdell, colored, was next arraigned on the charge of committing assault and battery upon the person of Rev. Willis Wooten, a colored minister. Defendant was found guilty, and judgment was suspended on the payment of costs.

The same defendant was then called up on the charge of forcible trespass, preferred by the same prosecutor, but he failed to "substantuate" and was required to pay the costs.

New Hanover vs. Mecklenburg.

We would say to our Charlotte contemporary, the Observer, that in fixing the relative positions of New Hanover and Mecks lanburg, as tax-paying counties, we still insist that reference was only had to the amount paid over to the State Treasurer by the respective sheriffs, and that New Hanover best Mecklenburg $1,691.25. As to the Observer's allusion to our failure to quote New Hanover's school tax, we have only to refer it to the issue of the 15th inst., and it will find a detailed statement of New Hanover's State and county taxes.

A Catamount. The excitement on Front street yesterday was a huge wild cat killed near Hilton bridge, on the west side of the river, yesterday morning, by John McKoy, the noted colored Nimrod. The animal weighs nearly twenty-five pounds and is about two and a half feet in length. He was on exhibition at Kasprowicz's cigar store during the day and attracted a great many visitors.

Meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee-Resolutions Adopted in Regard to a Rumored Mevement against the Board of Audit and

The Ctiy Democratic Executive Committee met last night pursuant to a request of a majority of the committee. Present, Mr. F. H. Darby, chairman, Mr. James W. King, secretary, and Messrs. J. W. Perdew, W. J. Mott, W. W. Shaw, J. H. Mallard and R W. Price.

The following resolation was offered and

WHEREAS, Information has reached the Democratic Executive Committee of the city of Wilmington, that a movement is on foot to abolish the Board of Audit and Finance of the city of Wilmington, or to have some action tending to hamper or embarrass its free and unrestricted action, taken by the present General Assembly,

Be it resolved, That it is the sense of the Executive Committee of the Democratic party of Wilmington, that any action on the part of the General Assembly tending to abolish the Board of Audit and Finance, or hamper or embarrass its free and unrestricted action as constituted under the present law, would be detrimental to the best interests of the tax-payers and the Democratic voters of the city of Wilmington, and it is the unanimous appeal of this committee that no such action be taken by the General Assembly now in session.

MARKET

ORDINANCE,

City of Wilmington, N. C.

Be it ordained by the Mayor and Board of Aldermen as follows:

1. That the market buildings and lots in block 138, extending from Front street to the river, and in block 249, at the northeast corner of Fourth and Campbell streets, and in block 76, at the southwest corner of Fifth and Castle streets, are hereby appointed as, and declared to be, the public markets and market places of the city of Wilmington.

2. Carts and other vehicles bringing marketable articles to market for sale, shall take their stand under the sheds of the market on Front street, or along the streets, next to the sidewalks adjacent to the markets at the corners of Fourth and Campbell streets, and Fifth and Castle streets.

3. The stalls in the said market houses shall be rented annually on the first Monday of February in each year by public auction to the highest bidder; said rentings shall be for one year, and stalls not rented at such times and those becoming vacant during a rental year, shall be rented privately for the unexpired term of said rental year, or from menth to menth until the next annual reating; provided, that when so rented privately, the rent for meat stalls shall not exceed ten ($10) dollars per month for each single stall, and five ($5) dollars per month for each fish stall. Stands under the sheds shall be rented privately from month to menth or from day to day.

4. No person or persons shall sell or offer or expose for sale, except at one or the other of said market places, any butcher's meat, fresh meat, fresh fish, venison or other game, poultry, wild fowl, oysters and vegetables, within that portion of the city embraced within the following limits, to wit: Beginning on the river at the foot of Harnett street, thence east with Harnett street to Righth street, thence south with Righth street to Chesnut street, thence west with Chesnui street to Fifth street, thence south with Fifth street to Orange street, thence east with Orange street to Ninth street, thence south with Ninth street to Wright street, thence west with Wright street to Front street, thence north with Front street to Castle street, thence west with Castle street to the river, and with the river to the beginning; provided, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the sale of vegetables or poultry by licensed grocery dealers from their stores, or of oysters, game, or fish sold in restaurants or eating houses, or of poultry or logs consigned to commission merchants for sale by wholesale.

5. No hucksters or other persons shall sell of offer or expese for sale, any of said marketable ar ticles hereinbefore mentioned, upon any of the sidewalks or streets of this city.

6. It shall be the duty of the Clerk of the Market to exercise a general supervision over the said market houses and places; to assign places to carts or persons attending market, and enforce order among them, and in said market; to decide all disputes which may arise between buyer and seller touching the weight or measure of any article; and generally to do and perform all acts in and about said markets necessary to the proper regulation of the same, and the enforcement of market regula-

Last Hop!

(By our Special Reporter.)

T WAS THE GRANDEST OF THE SEASON. The brilliantly illuminated hall shone like a para-dise in its starry brightness; the music floated on the air as though catering for its share of admira-tion so extensively lavished upon the graceful forms dancing here and there upon the highly pel-lahed floor. All were happy, if the smilling coun-tenances was a true indication of light hearts.

All felt as feel the birds that soar, No one looked worried or sad; All felt as though there were no earthly cares, Eyery soul seemed happy and glad.

The machinery of happiness was indeed in the height of its revolutions, when suddenly the loud exclamations of praise, the simultaneous turning of heads, the quick ceasing of music, all indicated a sensation of no ordinary degree. What's the cause of this excitement came thundering from the lips of the efficient floor manager. Behold! responded his assistant; see you not there Claud Maitland, the cleverest but heretofere the homeliest man in the city; see the cleverest but heretofere the homeliest man in the city; see the girls crowd about him, hear their comments of admiration. "Handsome, perfectly elegant," is the term used regarding him. Claud is a modest, clever hearted fellow; he feels good; who wouldn't under the circumstances? and to all inquiries kindly gives credit to whom credit is due, by explaining nimself in this wise:

My friends, I will tell you in as few words as I can Why I'm the centre of attraction and such changed man,
It is OTTERBOURG'S fine taste, Ciothing bought from Men's Wear Depot;
And, gentlemen, if you wish to shed your ugliness buy there also.
