Stanley Matthews will be confirmed by the Senate to the Supreme t wart Hench but he ought not to be. If he is not a corrupt man then we read him incorrectly in his connection with the great steal of 1876. The New York Sun says he will be a representative and reflection of Jay Gould.

A correspondent of the Charleston News Courier denies the report of Bishop Warren's course at Florence. He was compelled to preach to the Conference to the morning and to ordain in the afternoon and was therefore unable to accept invitatious. The writer says the other Mostpers misselers were not invited to preach. He puts a different face on the affair.

It is interesting to know how the Secutorial electrons in the States have resulted. The following from the Philadelphia Times sums up the matter; Bayard, Jones, Cockrell and Maxey, Dimocrata, and Dawes, Barnaide, Edmunds and McMillan, Republicans, have been elected their own successors. The Democrata gain Senators in Nevada and Mississippi, and retain Tennessee, and the Republicans gain Senators in Connecticut, ladisas, New Jersey, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania, with Mahone, of Virginia, inclined to be a commercial traveler beween the two parties."

The Democrats would do well to go slow concerning the matter of ex-Governor Holden's political disabelities. Has he acknowledged his great errors, confessed his sins against the people? If sertain !egislators are not careful they will get up a big disgual shronghout North Carolina. The STAR would not war upon Gov, Holden. It remembers, however, what another Legislature did, and aftor a fair trial.

WILMINGTON, N. C., SATURDAY, JANUARY 29, 1881.

Our Southern girls are growing in | all colored. - Associate Justice Dillard | Local Bots. fame. The State is more enthusiastic over Miss Calhoun's Julia, in Knowles's fine play, "The Hunch-

"Miss Eleanor Calboun triumphed completely last night in her Julia, and exhibited qualities which fully prove ber ability to assume any character the later dramatists have drawn, and even to cope with the less trying roles of Shakespeare. Miss Blanche Thompson made a most lovely and loveable Helen, and won new laurels by her able support of the bright particular star of the evening.

The Dispatch is less pronounced in its praise. It says she is "a novice in the drama, with scarce four weeks' experience," and adds :

"Miss Calboun's conception of Julia, while we cannot term it forcible, was inteligent and altogether pleasant."

The STAR's favorite American so tress is gaining fresh laurels in Baltimore. The Gazette says of Miss Mary Anderson's Julia (the same referred to above :

"Whatever criticism we might feel disposed to pass upon the details of Miss Anderson's acting, no one who has heard her can dispute her claim to be considered a great actress. She is defective sometimes in stage business, owing to a lack of early and thorough training, she is lacking at times in fine and delicate finish, but these are things which are forgotten in the overflowing passion which sweeps one beyond criticism and leaves the spectator in wondering contemplation of her genius. We may criticise, but we must yield to the fluence which it is impossible to resist.

A Steamer Sinks av Mer Wharf. The small stern-wheel steamer Clinton

plying between this city and Bannerman's Bridge, on the Northeast River, in Pender county, sunk at the wharf of Mr. J. A. Springer's coal and wood yard, between Princess and Chesnut streets, yesterday morning, about 4 o'clock. There was one white and seven or eight colored men on the boat at the time, the former occupying the captain's office, when they were startled by the cracking, jarring sound made by the steamer in sinking. All had to fiee for their lives, the most of them in their night clothes, leaving their baggage and effects in the sinking boat. Andrew Black, a flat hand, was the first to discover that the steamer was going down, and he aroused the others, all of whom were asleep. The crew, who were in their bunks with the doors fastened, when the alarm was given, had the greatest difficulty in saving themselves, one side of the steamer being completely submerged before they reached the wharf. The greatest consternation ensued among the frightened men for awhile, and no wonder, for but for the fortunate awakening of Andrew Black it is probable that several of them would have gone down with the steamer and perished before assistance could have Eight cords of wood, about twenty dozen of eggs and the effects of the crew constituted the loss, in addition to the necessary damage to the boat. Capt. James Wallace, the owner and commander of the steamer, was at his residence is this city when the accident occurred. The steamer is still lying where she went down, with only a small portion of the bow above the water.

Repetition of the! Concert and Operetta. The repetition of the concert and operetta drew another large audience to the Opera House last night and pleased everybody even more than on the first night, iff such a thing was possible. In the hurry of noticeing the last performance we failed allude to the charming appearance of the Brides. maids and the altogether unique and ludicrous "get up" of the Jurymen. The young ladies who acted as Bridesmaids were certainly a conspicuously beautiful feature of the occasion and were admired accordingly. As for the jury-well-it was in all respects typical, and to even look at them, arrayed make one laugh immoderately. Mrs. M. P. Taylor presided at the piano during the entire performance and as heretofore, gave the greatest satisfaction both to spectator and performer.

The great success attending this, the initial performance of Comic Opera, by our amateur musicians, has been so great that we are led to hope that it will soon be followed by attempts of even a more ambitious character.

We are much indebted to Mrs. J. W Cameron, under whose direction the entertainment was produced, for originating the idea and so industriously laboring to make it a final success, and we trust that she will ere long give us another entertainment of the same kind.

A Pleasant Affair.

A number of the friends of Maj. Chas M. Stedman tendered him a complimentary supper at the City Hall last evening, the occasion being his birthday, and a very enjoyable evening was spent by all present. During the evening Mr. John J. Fowler presented Maj. Stedman with a beautiful gold headed cane, the gift of some of his many friends, and in so doing made quite a graceful and appropriate speech. Numerous toasts were proposed, and speeches befitting and happy manner. The affair was a most pleasant one in every way and warmly attested the high regard and sincere affection felt for the gentleman by his

It is probably needless to add that the supper was done full justice to and that the liquids brought forth were disposed of in proper style. The compliment was one that the recipient can but feel proud of, and we do not doubt heartily appreciates, as he assuredly should.

The Hog Question. Mr. R. McMillan, of Lumberton, after alluding to a statement that Richard Cotton, Esq., of Chatham county, killed a hog two years old, weighing 540 pounds, claiming it to be the largest hog in the county. writes that Mr. Irvin Jenkins, of Lumberton, killed one on Dec. 30th, 23 months and 15 days old, that weighed 554 pounds. We also learn from a private letter that Mr. G. W. Elkins, residing near Clarkton, Columbus county, killed nine hogs, which had been taken up from a swamp and fed three weeks, and they aggregated in weight 2,587 pounds.

The fact is, after recording the weight of the hog recently that turned the scales at 1,412 pounds, we feel like putting anything in that line under six or eight hundred pounds in the category of pigs.

Anniversary Celebration. The C. M. Stedman Fire Co. No. 1, had their anniversary celebration and supper ast night at their hall. A number of invited guests were present and the festivities were kept up until a late hour. The following resolution-was adopted:

Resolved, That in honor of him who bears the name, of our company and truck, C. M. Stedman, we set apart this, the 29th day of January, of each year, as our anniversary, it also being the birthday of Maj. Chas. M. Stedman; believing as we do that he is one well worthy of the name of a worthy citizen in every sense of the wordas one who never turns his back upon the poor and needy of the community.

Lively Times. Things were lively about the City Hall building last night. In the Opera House the Old Folkes' Concert was in operation; is the City Hall proper a masquerade skating carnival was in full blast; in the Mayor's office the banquet to Maj. Steds man was under way, while in the City Court room the night janitor was keeping silent watch and ward over the telephone.

Only a few shad are being caught in our waters. Mr. W. E. Davis, who has a fishery at Federal Point, says the weather is too cold to catch many, as it has the effect to drive them into deep water. - Three square-riggers and one schooner, names unknown, were reported in below
