Wednesday Night. The New York World has this to say of 'The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by D'Oyly Carte's London Opera Company at the Opera House in this city on Wednesday evening next: "The text is excruciatingly funny, the plot more elaborate and interesting, and the satire more deftly concealed and more generally applicable to the everyday experiences of life than anything to be found in the works of Mr. Gilbert.

"Compared with 'Pinafore,' it is issimitewhile, musically, there can be no compari-son, the airs and choruses of last year's wonderful success being mere trifles, unworthy of critical attention, while the music Mr. Sullivan has written for the 'Pirates of Pensance' might have been written for grand opera. The humor of the music lies, in fact, in the serious imitation of grand opera, the most outrageous perversions of common sense in the text being treated with the utmost solemnity. This application of serious music to the absurd signations of the text beggars description, although it is so apparent that every point was instantaneously seen by the audience. Peals of laughter rang out every few mos ments during the performance, and even when the laughter was not general there was a continuous rattle of isolated 'ha! ha's !' from the rising of the curtain on the first act until it fell on the second."

We alluded a week or two ago to the facthat an oyster "sharple" was being constructed on Capt. Skinner's Railway wharf, said boat being built somewhat on a new and improved plan and to be noted principally for its strength and durability. She will be completed in about two weeks and is intended to be used on the Chesapeake Bay, instead of being taken to Boston, as we were at first informed. The owner Mr. A. Thomas of New Haven, Connecticut, is to have two more of these "sharpies" constructed under his own supervision, Mr. R. H. Beery having superintended the building of the one now approaching completion. The building of the additional ones will be commenced at once.

Larceny of Household Effects. A colored woman named Polly A. Williams was arrested yesterday for stealing bedspreads, quilts, sheets, crockery ware, glass ware and various other articles too tedious to mention. It seems that she rented a room on the premises of a certain gentleman in this city, and the woman, as is alleged, took advantage of a favorable opportunity to replenish her stock of household goods from the more extensive and valuable one of her landlord. She was ordered to enter into bond in the sum of $100 for her appearance before Justice Millis to-morrow morning, at 10 o'clock, in default of which she was committed to jail. The robbery took place about the 15th

Friday evening, about 7 o'clock, the storehouse of Mr. J. R. Paddison, at Point Caswell, Pender county, was discovered to be on fire, and the flames spread so rapidly that in a very short time, and before the neighbors could reach the spot, the building and the entire stock of goods were consumed, together with a lot of turpeatine stored on the yard. At one time it was thought that the stores of Messrs. L. Vollers and D. Sherman would share the same fate, but by great exertions on the part of the citizens they were saved. It is supposed by Mr. Paddison that the fire was purely accidental, and that it originated from some leak in the flue from the stovepipe, as the flames were first discovered bursting through the roof. Mr. P. had closed his store and gone home but a short time before the fire was discovered. At this time it is impossible to say what the losses will foot up, but Mr. P. thinks they will aggregate between $5,000 and $6,000. Mr. J. R. Paddison has insurance on stock to the amount of $2,000, in the Liverpool, London and Globe, represented here by Mesars. J. W. Gordon & Bro., and the building, owned by Capt. R P. Paddison, was insured in the same company for $300. The loss falls heavy on Mr. J. R. Paddison, as the insurance we are informed, will not cover half the loss on stock. It Never Rains but It Pours." A horse attached to a delivery wagon, the property of Capt. J. L. Boatwright, got frightened near the corner of Fourth and Chestout streets, yesterday noon, while the driver was temporarily absent delivering a package, and dashed wildly down Chesnut street. Turning the corner of Third and Chesnut streets, in the direction of the City Hall, the wagon was capsized and the ground was strewn with a mixture of sugar and flour and soap and pickles and coffee and bacor, etc., etc. The capsizing of the wagon caused the shafts to break, which freed the horse, when he continued to run for a short distance and was then halted. Damage to wagon not material, and the goods were quickly duplicated. Foreign Exports for January. By reference to statistics on record in the Custom House, we learn that the foreign exports from this port for the month of January just closed footed up as follows :
