At a meeting of the New Hanover County Board of Health, held on Wednesday evening, it was ordered that, "in consideration of the dangers resulting from carelessness and ignorance of householders as regards scarlet fever, the New Hanover Board of Health presents this warning: Children taken sick with scarlet fever should be isolated from the rest of the family in a room with such furniture as is not too valuable to destroy, no one having access to the room but physicians and nurses. It is earnestly urged that funerals of persons dying with scarlet fever should be attended by the fewest number of persons necessary to perform the rite decently. Funerals from churches, in cases of persons dying with the fever, should not be per-

The first matter that claimed the attention of Mayor Fishblate yesterday morning

Five little tramps all in a row

Eagerly waiting to hear the word go. This came in manner and form, perhaps, a little contrary to what they had imagined. There were several lawyers in the bar of the court waiting for the next case to be called, and two of them rose and called His Honor's attention to the fact, which is well known in the community, that these tramps are a great source of trouble and annoyance to the public, and that it was not an unfrequent occurrence for one or more of them to be found in the backyards of residences, and generally, when remonstrated with for taking such liberties, they were very insolent. The Mayor gave them a peremptory order to leave the city instanter, and told them if they were found inside the city limits hereafter, he would send them to the work house for six months. He then instructed the Chief of Police to send two officers with them to see them beyond the city limits, and they departed.

Mr. C. H. Gilbert was then arraigned on the charge of selling or exposing for sale meats, etc., on the 8th, 9th and 10th insts., within the limits prohibited by the ordinance passed by the Board of Aldermen at their meeting on the 18th of January last. Mr. L. M. Williams, clerk of the market, testified to the fact of the meat being exposed for sale at the place indicated on the days mentioned. Counsel for the city claimed that according to Battle's Revisal the city authorities had the right to enforce market regulations and to prescribe the limits of the same.

Counsel for the defence disclaimed any intention on the part of their client to violate any city ordinance, but said he had acted simply with the view of testing for himself and others the legality of the ordinance based on what he deemed to be an illegal contract.

Mayor Fishblate announced that he found sentence until this morning at 9.80 o'clock, as soon after their appointment as may be whereupon Mr. Gilbert gave the personal recognizance required for his appearance.

In answer to a question, the Mayor stated that he should issue warrants for Mr. Gilbert's arrest every day that he displayed meats for sale within the limits prohibited by the ordinance, and that if he persisted in his violation of the ordinances of the city he should close him up and lock him up.

The counsel for the defendant signified their intention to appeal from the decision of the Court whenever rendered-if to the prejudice of their client.

Messrs. F. H. Darby and Junius Davis appeared for the city and Messrs. Marsden Bellamy, DuBrutz Cutlar and J. D. Bellamy, Jr., for the defendant.

Bold Robbery and an Audactous A robbery occurred in the southern portion of this city, a few nights since, which, for bold audacity, is a little ahead of anything we have heard of in some time. At the time only the female members of the family were present, the mother and one daughter being in a room on the first floor, and the other daughter, both young ladies, being in a room up-stairs. This latter called to her sister to come up to her room, which she did, but, after sitting awhile, said she must go down and keep her mother company. She started to leave the room, but upon attempting to turn the knob of the door, found that she couldn't move it, as it was evidently held fast by some one outside. She left the door in alarm, when she distinctly heard footsteps as of some one moving cautiously from it, and which appeared to enter the room usually occupied by the brother of the young ladies. Upon informing her sister of the circumstance, the latter said she had been under the impression that there was some one in the house, having heard faint footfalls on the outside of the door, and that she called her n consequence of this fact. The young ladies then both hurried down stairs, one of them remarking that their brothers were absent and they were consequently unprotected, thus innecently affording to the thief information which intensified his boldness. Upon reaching the lower floor and informing their mother of the state of affairs, it was decided to call in the servant and try and get her to venture up the stairs and rout the supposed robber. The servant, however, declined to accede to the request. In the meantime, while the three ladies were discussing the matter with what little fortitude was possible under the

On reaching home and acquainting his wife with what he had done, she refused to have it administered to the child, as she was strongly in favor of Homeopally. That night the child passed in suffering, and the parents without sleep. Returning home the day following, the father found the baby still worse; and while contemplating another sleepless night, the mother stepped from the room to attend to some domestic duties, and left the father with the child. During her absence he administered a portion of the Soothing Syrup to the baby, and said nothing. That night all hands slept well, and the little fellow awoke in the morning bright and happy. The mother was deligated with the sudden and wenderful change, and stream at first offended at the deception practices upon her has continued to use the Syrup, and suffering crying babies and sleepless nights have disappeared. A DOWN TOWN MERCHANT, having passed ing babies and sleep'ess nights have disappeared. A single trial of the Syrup never yet falled to relieve the baby and overcome the prejudices of the mother. Sold by all Druggists. 25 cents a bottle.

TO ALL OUR FRIEND! .- Having had number TO ALL OUR FRIEND: .—Having had numberless inquiries for advertising cards from ladies in all parts of the country who are interested in the prevailing fashion of making "card collections," we are having printed for them a set of seven beautiful cards, each in six colors and on a solid background, in the highest degree of art, illustrating Shakspeare's "Seven Ages of Man." We have spared no expense in these cards—they are simply little art gems. Our only aim has been to publish the finest cards yet shown. Applications for them have come in so rapidly that nearly the whole edition is engaged before the receipt by us of the cards from the artist. We have therefore been obliged to adopt the following plan for the distribution of the remainder: No more of the gift Shakspeare cards, seven in the series, will be sent excepting the remainder: No more of the gift Shakspeare cards, seven in the series, will be sent excepting upon the statement from a grocer that the person applying for the cards has bought of him on that day at least seven bars of Dobbins' Electric Sosp, with price paid for same. All applying in this manner will receive the full set of seven cards gratis by mail. This will insure us that our friends and netrons got their share of these heaptiful designs. patrons get their share of these beautiful designs, although it in no manner repays us for the cost of the cards. Your grocer has the Soap er will get it, and the purchase by you of seven bars of it at one time will secure for you gratis seven really beautiful cards. The soap improves with age and is an article of necessity in your house every week. Therefore you are not asked to buy a useless article but one that you must have a named. patrons get their share of these beautiful designs Therefore you are not asked to buy a useress article, but one that you must have anyway. Please send us your application at once, and tell your lady friends making "card collections" to de the same.

Yours respectfully,
