At Cleveland, Ohio, it is believed, apon the authority of a returned Republican from Mentor, that Conkling's visit was really to secure Morton a Cabinet appointment, and that Party lines are straightly drawn in Congress on the Apportionment bill. Representative Cox thinks a bill fixing the number at 307 will pass. This will give North Carolina nine members in the House.

The excessive labors of Premier (iladstone are making sad inroads upon his fine constitution, and he is reported as failing very much. He means to die in harness if God sa wills, rather than to be reduced to the condition of Beaconsfield-"a troubled phantom."

The Raleigh News Observer estimates that 200,000 petitioners for a prohibitory law have been represented before the Legislature. It thinks one-half of the people who are capable of writing have petitioned. If this estimate be not excessive it shows that the movement is widespread. What will be the final outcome it would require an inspired prophet to foresee and foretell.

The following concerns North Carolina later-day Radicals. The Washington correspondent of the Richmond Stage writes on the 18th the sension of the Senate charges will be preferred against George B. Everett, whose a mination for internal revenue collector for the Fifth North Carolina district was reported favorably by the Provides Committee. It s sileged that Everett was indicted in North Carolina in 1873 for fraudulent voting in Randolph county, pleaded guilty, but was released upon the payment of

The object of Conkling's visit to Garneld is reported to be to assure the laster of his real feelings toward him. It is to harmonize the warring plamenta, so to speak. He desires a united party, and thinks Garfield ought not to disregard the claims of Conkling's set that did so much to elect him. That is all of it, according to a long report of "Conkling's position" in the Philadelphia Press, a Republicate organ.

The Dismocratio papers that favor the removal of Holden's disabilities are the Tarboro Southerner, Charlotte Democrat, Asheville Citizen, Reidsville-Times, Speord Sun, Greensboro Patriot, and Saiisbury Ezaminer. If there are others we have omitted we will add them when informed, If any of the above are damind water we will make the correction. The Monroe Express says we gamed is credit for an extract it author or wrote. We copy its mai views elsewhere.

We are glad to learn from the Raleigh Done Oderver that the friends of the University and the petitioners representing the denominational colleges have agreed upon a plan in regard to the proposed aid to for ratification or rejection.
