of Aldermen : The undersigned, citizens of Wilmington, respectfully represent that whereas the General Assembly of North Carolina, upon which we have been so long accustomed confidently to rely for protection in our rights, has just passed the most infamous law that was ever imposed upon the people and authorities of this or any other city in this country ; divesting the municipal authorities of chartered and common law rights, common to and necessary for the well being of every city, and giving to non-residents and the bucksters' class immunities and privileges detrimental to the peace, harmony, health and pecuniary interest and prosperity of the whole people, with the most unjust discrimination against those who furnish the principal financial support of the city. We, therefore earnestly appeal to your Honorable Body to adopt resolutions condemnatory of that act; setting forth in detail the horrors that will be entailed on the citizens by its operations, call a meeting of the citizens, that the outrage committed by the passage of that iniquitious measure termed the "Farmers' and Fishermens Bill" may be characterized as it should be in resolutions of remonstrance and solemn protest by an outraged community, and for the purpose of considering what, under the circumstances, could best be done for the interest and general welfare

Under the superintendance of Mr. J. H. Savage, who took charge on the first day of January last, the County Poor House has been greatly improved, and may now be said with truth to be a credit to the county. During a brief visit a few days ago we were forcibly struck with what has been accomplished in this direction in the short space of two menths. The fences have all been either replaced entirely or thoroughly overhauled and repaired; the buildings have all been patched up whereever needed, the rooms all thoroughly cleansed and whitewashed, the yards put in good order, and the whole premises have been so thoroughly and decidedly improved that they hardly look like the same. The evergreens in the front yard have also been | meetings the nomination of a Democrattrimmed and made to assume a neat appearance, and an excellent road, with a nest wards upon the Board of Audit and ditch on each side, has been constructed on Clear, followed by partly cloudy weather, a bee line from the Poor House to the county | their next meetings when will it be attended road, to take the place of the tortuous and to? He now has thirty-one parishioners under his charge.

A Supplemental B II.

A telegram to the STAR, received yesterday, states that a bill supplemental to the "Farmers' and Fishermen's Bill" has passed both Houses of the Legislature. It provides that nothing contained in the first bill shall be so construed as to interfere with the sanitary regulations of the city, and that there shall be no exemption of butchers from license tax. These modifications of the original bill make it much more generally acceptable than it was, and we believe they give the city decidedly more power over the questions involved than appears from a hasty reading of the bill.

LATER. -Since the above was written we received by mail late last night, or rather early this morning, the full text of the bill above alluded to, which we give herewith: An act supplemental to an act entitled "An act to provide for the better protection of farmers and fishermen." WHEREAS, The sole purpose and aim of tection of farmers and fishermen," passed during the present session of the General Assembly, was to prevent oppression and extortion, and to enable vendors of fresh meats, beef, pork, mutton, game, fish, oysters, clams, garden truck and all farm products, to sell the same upon any of the streets of the cities of Wilmington, Tarboro and New Berne, or from wagons, carts, shops or stores, and not be forced to sell the same from the stalls of the Wilmington Market House Company, or to pay tribute to said corporation, therefore be it enacted:

I. That section first of said act shall not be construed to interfere with proper sanitary regulations adopted by the Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the cities of Wil mington, Tarboro and New Berne, under the direction of City Physicians and Boards of Health; and shall not be construed to exempt dealers in such articles from the payment of the usual license tax to said cities and towns, but no dealer shall be forced to pay any tax whatever for the benefit of the Wilmington Market House

II. Section second of said act shall be amended by substituting the word "or" in the place of "and" in the fifth line of said section before the word "imprisond" and after the word "dollars." III. All laws and clauses of laws in conflict with this act are bereby repealed.

IV. This act shall be in force from the date of its ratification.

Runaway Ox-ident. The only excitement in the neighborhood of the City Hall, yesterday morning, was created by a runaway ox, attached to s country cart. It seems that the obstrepers ous animal had been anchored by his owner, for a short time, by fastening the rope attached to his head to the wheel of the cart, when he commenced rearing to such an extent that it was feared he would dislocate his neck; whereupon the driver, with the assistance of two other men, finally succeeded in undoing the rope. The driver them jumped into the cart, upon which the ox commenced running at the top of his bent up Princess street, and had reached about half-way between Third and Fourth on that street, when a bolt which held the cart in position gave way, the cart tilted backwards and the driver was thrown out of the cart and fell upon his head on the pavement. Fortunately he received no injury, and the animal was finally coaxed into behaving himself in a proper manner. EDITOR STAR:-In reading the notice published by the Democratic Executive committee in your paper of the 6th inst. we find an error to which we would like to for Aldermen and also for members of the Board of Audit and Finance. Respectfully,
