THE MORNING STAR.

VOL. XXVIII.—NO. 30. WILMINGTON, N. C., TUESDAY, APRIL 26, 1881. WHOLE NO. 4,272

OUTLINE.

Dutch Passa has entered Friedland, and the Albanian League has dissolved. Lord Beaconsfield's remains have been transferred to Hagueden. A woman, the Texas wife-murderer, remained arrested and was shot and killed. A League meeting was held at Brooklyn Sunday, the League in Ireland is represented as in a flourishing condition. The Wayne & Jacksonville railroad has been completed, shortening time between Savannah and Jacksonville to six hours. The Farquhar statute at Washington was amended yesterday. Jas. T. Fields, the author and publisher, is dead. John Whittaker, colored, was taken from jail at Goldsboro, Va., by masked men, and gang for the murder of McJenkins. The Monetary Conference at Paris is said to be a failure. A monument will be erected in honor of Lord Beaconsfield near Westminster. The conservative leadership between Sir Stafford Northcote and the Duke of Richmond. The water at Chicago is pronounced so bad as to be unfit for use; a result of the recent flood. The occupation of Peru by the Chileans promises to be a lengthy one; anation is spoken of. President Garfield and Secretary Blaine expect to be present at the Centennial and the unveiling of Morgan's statue at Sparta, N. C. New York markets: Money 4 1/2 per cent; cotton weak at 10 1/4; southern flour active and steady at $4 75; wheat 1 1/2 lower, ungraded red $1 13 1/2; corn a shade lower with moderate trade; spirits turpentine weak at 41c; rosin steady at $1 67 1/2.

THE OLD INGRATE.

The old ingrate, Dawes of Massachusetts, has been punished gloriously. We are so very glad. Sorry he did not catch it heavier. The Baltimore Sun's Washington correspondent says that "the utter demolition of the blood-curdling, burning-factory romance of Mr. Dawes by Mr. Jones caused a marked sensation in the Senate. Poor Dawes presented a pitiable spectacle, as with flushed face and deprecatory tones, he attempted to shake out of the humiliating condition in which he had put himself. But he failed utterly, and he stands convicted before the country of retailing as false and malicious a calumny as was ever uttered against the people of any State of the South." Now let the next heavy liar come to the foot-lights and begin another slanderous yarn.

It was Mr. John Johns, Jr., son of the late Bishop Johns, of Virginia, whose letter was read by Don Cameron in the Senate to show the ostracism in that State. Mr. Johns has published a statement. He says that the language of the letter, which was written to Senator Cameron as an old friend and schoolmate, might have been capable of conveying more than the writer intended. Mr. Johns says that he was not ostracised, but that Virginians do not take warmly to outsiders, and those not to the manner born are made to feel this. Mr. Johns was a lieutenant in the Confederate army. He will hardly make friends among Virginians by such a correspondence with a red-mouthed fellow like Cameron.

Doubtless our readers would like to know what is the outcome of the Burnside bullying in the Senate. The following from the Washington special to the Charleston News and Courier dated 22nd, says: "Senator Burnside took occasion to-day to make the amende honorable to Senator Butler for words spoken in debate on Wednesday. The conduct of the Senator from South Carolina on that day has been highly commended, yet while judicially refraining from the unparliamentary language which the case seems to justify, Senator Butler, it is understood, lost no time, outside of the Senate, in requesting a retraction of the offensive language, if it was meant to be so, or else a public statement on the floor of the Senate that it was not so intended." Senator Butler received graciously the apology.

It is said Garfield is getting anxious to have a vote on the confirmation of Judge Robertson's nomination. He feels that his man Frye-day rather kicked the fishing-rod into the stream by that, fire-and-brimstone harangue of his. Putting that fellow to pound the South was jumping out of the Frye-pan into the fire. If the President would rather see the South abused than to have Democratic support then let him take the consequences. You pay your money and you take your choice.

Georgia had 150,134 white and 86,429 colored children at school during a part of 1880. Total 236,563. Sum appropriated, $185,789, or less than $1 to each child. It is better than nothing, but not much schooling can be got for that sum, or schooling of a very superior sort. North Carolina can make a better showing than Georgia, if the latter is the "Empire State" of the South.

Spirits Turpentine.

New Berna Nut Shell: Rev. V. W. Shields, the new rector of Christ Church, arrived in this city Wednesday. Newbern Enterprise: Work on the narrow gauge railroad is progressing very satisfactorily. Additional hands will be put to work in a few days. Danville Reporter: The greater part of the peach crop in this section that was not killed by the severe cold last winter, was killed by the frost last week. Elizabeth City Economist: Mills H. Eare, of Gates county, raised last season, on three quarters of an acre of ground, accurately measured, 798 pounds of lint cotton.

Ashboro Herald: It is said the prospect of Prohibition are so good that the price of corn keeps down in this, perhaps the largest whiskey making county in the State. Charlotte Observer: Andy Elwood, who was sentenced at the last session of the Inferior Court to a term of imprisonment in the State penitentiary, made his escape from the convict guard at Springs Shoals yesterday morning. Danbury Reporter: A negro man charged with abusing a white woman and then compelling her to swallow a drug which was thought to have been intended to kill her, was lodged in jail here last Monday to await his trial at the next term of our court. Asheville Citizen: Redmond is not dead, but is in jail at Charlotte, and

U. S. COMMISSIONER'S COURT.

Investigation of the Case of Alleged Violation of the Election Laws. The cases of Messrs. Simon W. Sanders, Registrar, and Stephen H. Morton and John L. Dudley, Judges and Inspectors of Election, came up before U. S. Commissioner McQuigg yesterday morning. The affidavit of Joe Carr, colored, was the effect that the said defendants, "appointed for the election for Presidential electors, members of Congress and State officers, on the 2d of November, 1880, for the precinct of the lower division of the First Ward of the city of Wilmington, State of North Carolina and county of New Hanover, did by unlawful means hinder, delay, prevent and obstruct him, the said Joe Carr, a lawful elector of said precinct, from voting at said election, in violation of section 5,606 of the Revised Statutes of the United States." The main witnesses were Joe Carr, the complainant, and Joshua Meares and Sol. W. Nash, Republican poll-holders at the same precinct as above at the election referred to. Carr, being called, testified to the effect that he lived on Tenth, between Chesnut and Mulberry streets, at the Presidential election, and for ninety days before that time. Said he did not vote because he was stopped when he offered to vote. Messrs. Morton and "others he did not know who held the polls. He handed in his ticket and called out "Joe Carr!" Mr. Morton looked and said it was you, Joe Carr?" After that he stopped, when some of the poll-holders said, "What are you going to do about Joe Carr?" Mr. Morton remarked that he would have to prove that he had been in the precinct ninety days before the election. He (witness) went and got Henry Lucas and Willis Bradley and brought them to prove that he had been there ninety days. Then they (the defendants) said hold on; they didn't want to be bothered then. In reply to a question from counsel witness said he did not know which one said it. He waited there until the polls closed and did not vote. He said he first went to vote early—about 8 A. M.—the second time about 9 A. M., and said where they were voting fifteen or twenty minutes; never got to the polls again. He went back again and stood aside, and "they told us again to wait; they did not have time to bother with examining the witnesses." Willis Bradley and Henry Lucas testified to the same effect as Carr. Joshua Meares testified in substance that he lived in the lower division of the First Ward; that he was a poll-holder at the election in question; that he had no recollection of seeing Joe Carr at the polls on election day; he may have been there; but he (witness) did not recollect his presenting himself at the polls to vote on that day; that his position was to deposit the ballots in the box; he received the ballots from either Mr. Morton or Mr. Nash, one of whom took the ticket from the voter; he would have known if a vote had been taken among the poll-holders as to his (Carr's) right to vote; there was none taken. Sol. W. Nash testified in substance that he was a poll-holder in the lower precinct of the First Ward at the November election. He never saw the prosecutor to know him until last Saturday. There was no ballot taken to prevent him from voting. He said they voted every man that day that they possibly could under the circumstances; that there were about two hundred at the polls that were not able to vote; that there was the greatest noise and confusion around the polls he ever heard, with at least ten or a dozen at the same time calling out their names and insisting upon voting; that there were a great many challenges made, not by the poll-holders, but by outside party challengers, and that there was nothing done by any of the poll-holders or judges of election to obstruct or hinder any one from voting, but on the contrary that every thing possible was done to facilitate the voting. At the conclusion of the testimony Commissioner McQuigg stated that there was no evidence to sustain the allegations against the defendants, and they were therefore unconditionally discharged. Marsden Bellamy, Esq., appeared as counsel for the defence.

THE PERFORMANCE TO-NIGHT. Our amateur musical talent deserves the heartiest appreciation and patronage of our citizens in their efforts to produce operatic pieces successfully, and the liberal encouragement given them heretofore leads us to confidently expect a large audience at the Opera House to-night. Their presentation of the opera "Doctor of Alcantara" is surprisingly good and should be seen to be appreciated. It was in all respects creditably given on the first night it was sung, and the repetition will be largely an improvement on the original. And there will be, in addition to the vocal selections of Mrs. Kahnweiler, whose superb and highly cultivated musical gifts are well recognized in this community. Mr. Gaston M. Hobbs, of Clinton, a thorough musician lately moved to this city, will also appear by request and play a solo on the violin, which he is said to handle with great skill. As previously stated, the affair is given complimentary to Mrs. M. F. Taylor, and a just estimation of her services should draw out a large attendance. The admission is fifty cents, with no extra charge for reserved seats.
