Let the water routes be opened, and then let there be fair competition between water and rail. Both will be found serviceable and indispensable.

There is said to be a grand dress parade of worlds going on just now somewhere over our heads. Nothing like it has been seen for ages.

"Along an imaginary line drawn from the earth to the sun and projected right outward for millions of miles, the planet Jupiter, beyond that the ringed planet Saturn, and still further out the planet Neptune, will be ranged almost as if they were strung together."

The conjunction will cease this week some time. We notice that the old quotation about "The mills of God, &c.," is agitating the Washington mind.

Mr. Tenneyson does not use the saying, we think. Mr. Longfellow has given the original a free translation in lines that are well known, and which we copied in the STAR some time ago.

In the Washington correspondence of the Dispatch there is a statement of the way disfranchising and bulldozing prevails in the two sections. Here are the facts:

"Virginia, with nearly twice the population of Connecticut, has only 2,953 males over twenty-one not voters, while Connecticut has 24,918 who are not voters."

According to the Washington letter in the Richmond State there is some little ground for believing that duelling will be introduced as a part of Congressional proceedings.

Union Square, New York, is to be illuminated from a colossal iron tower 280 feet high. The Brush Electric Company is doing it.

A theatre is building in New York that will be an improvement. The orchestra is to be elevated, there is to be a double stage, and when the spectators, at the conclusion of the performance, arise to go, they can cause the chairs they have occupied to disappear by touching a simple spring.

Some of the ablest Northern papers go for Frye. The Philadelphia Times manly him, and the Springfield Republican says:

"Frye's speech in the Senate yesterday was entirely irrelevant to anything that was going on in that body and uncalled for by any recent event at the South. It was simply dragged into the proceedings for an unworthy partisan purpose."

Gov. Jarvis will attend the Yorktown centennial. So will many other North Carolinians.

Lippincott's Magazine is the handsomest, best printed, most artistic three dollar magazine in this country. Its contents for May in part are as follows:

The North American Review for May offers the following articles: Centralization in the Federal Government, by David Dudley Field The Old Version and the New, by the Rev. Philip Schaff, D. D., LL. D.; The Needs of the Supreme Court, by Wm. Strong, late Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States; Utah and its People, by George Q. Cannon; Shall Americans Build Ships? by S. S. Cox, M. C.; The Ruins of Central America, Part VII, by Desires Charney; What Morality Have We Left? by a New-Light Moralist. Two of these papers we have commented upon already editorially.

Our Little Ones for May is a charming number for the very little folks who love pictures and can spell or read. The illustrations are admirable, and the contents as follows: A Little One's Welcome; How a Butterfly Came; Polly White; Beth and Fay; The Pearl Shell; Princess Fizz; The Fire Beetle; Gentle Woods; The Froggie's Picnic; Asleep Under the Lilac Bush; Maud and the Robin; Shall We Take it for the Summer; The Wild Turkey; The Little Letter Writer; How a Scamp Had his Pictures Taken; Little Miss Fidget and Tom; and the Turkey Gobbler. Price $1.50 a year, Russell Publishing Company, Boston.

Our Washington dispatches indicate that the administration is taking alarm at the state of things caused by the dead-lock. There is no doubt that the Washington Republic, an editorial from which is sent to us in advance, is in a position to speak authoritatively for the administration.

Friday, P. M., April 22, 1881.—The movement of the crop, as indicated by our telegrams from the South to-night, is given below. For the week ending this evening, (April 22), the total receipts have reached 60,718 bales, against 66,579 bales last week, 85,698 bales the previous week, and 78,514 bales three weeks since, making the total receipts since the 1st of September, 1880, 5,303,619 bales, against 4,608,009 bales for the same period of 1879-'80, showing an increase since September 1, 1880, of 695,610 bales.

—If it be true that Don Cameron is in the habit of attending the sessions of the Senate, day after day, in a state of intoxication, something should be done to prevent him from thus exhibiting himself. If it be true that he has a fashion of keeping a brace of loaded revolvers within easy reach when engaged in debate on the floor, the sergeant-at-arms should hold himself in readiness to prevent any serious consequences. If it be true that he is accustomed to conduct himself in a most disorderly manner while within the precincts of the Senate Chamber, the "courtesy of the Senate" should be invoked to restrain him. Don Cameron is not an interesting figure in the arena of American statesmanship, and as a general proposition, the country is not disposed to bear with him to any great degree.

HOW VOLTAIRE CURED THE DECAY OF HIS STOMACH. In the "memoirs of Count Segur" there is the following anecdote: "My mother, the Comtesse de Segur, being asked by Voltaire respecting her health, told him that the most painful feeling she had arose from the decay of her stomach, and the difficulty of finding any kind of aliment that it could bear. Voltaire, by way of consolation, assured her that he was once for nearly a year in the same state, and believed to be incurable, but that, nevertheless, a very simple remedy had cured him. It consisted in trying no other nourishment than yolks of eggs beaten up with the flour of potatoes and water."

water as will convert the whole into a jelly, and mix it well. It may be taken alone or with the addition of a little milk in case of stomachic debility or consumptive disorders. The dish is light and easily digested, extremely wholesome and nourishing. Bread or biscuit may be taken with it as the stomach gets stronger."

One of the most striking stories of Mr. Carlyle which I have ever heard, and which, I think, has never yet made its way into print, was the following: "Some years ago a new history of England, greeted with much shouting and applause, and judicious or injudicious friends, thinking to please Mr. Carlyle, asked his opinion of it. 'Yes,' said he—and the racy dialect unfortunately not reproduced in print accentuated his words—'I have read it, that is to say, I took it up, and I saw that there was a young man who had taken pains about his subject, and perhaps knew something about it. But I saw that there was a great deal about the British constitution, and a great deal about liberty, and as I don't care a— for the British constitution, and as I don't care a— for liberty, I thought it would be a waste of time to go further. We—I speak for the great multitude of Mr. Carlyle's English admirers, who maintain their freedom of judgment—knew what to make of this; it is not too much to hope of, that others will know what to make of it, too.'—From 'The Literary Work of Thomas Carlyle,' George Saintsbury, in Scribner for May.
