HIM OR SHEET A LONG OF THE PARTY OF THE PART

VOL. XXVIII.-NO. 69

WILMINGTON, N. C., FRIDAY, JUNE 10, 1881.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY DE-CLARES AGAINST PROBLETTION A special telegram from Raleigh oforms us that the Republican State Executive Committee met in that city yesterday and resolved to issue an address to the people of the State against the prohibition bill.

We need not say to those who have read the STAR carefully of late that this action is no surprise to us. We have full confident for some time that the question of prohibition would inevitably drift into politics, and that the Republicans, as a party, would take strong ground against it.

Whatever else may be said of this action of the highest Republican anthority in the State except a State ponvention, it insures the defeat of prohibition; and it remains for those Democrats who love their party better than the empty privilege of supporting a measure that is doomed to overwhelming defeat, to look this question equarely in the face and determine quickly what course they Saturday of about $106 in money, during ought to pursue.

We notice in the Louisville Cour ier-Journal an announcement of the marriage of our old-time friend and playmate Bishop Thomas U. Dudley, Jr., of Kentucky. And thereat we are pleased. But anent the wedding ceremony, the Cour .- Jour. makes one statement that fills us with wonder. It says: "The Bishop was attired in a plain dries of white satin." We don't believe it. We know Tom well. He has won hundreds of marbles from us, and we've fought the Richmond "butcher-cats" Hill. We haven't seen Tom for twenty-five years, but he was always considered a boy of good taste, and perish the thought that on the occasion of his marriage he could so far forget his early training as to be "attired in a plain dress of white satin." We hope our old friend will explain this matter speedily, as we can never be happy until he does.

The Republican encouragement of the ladependents in Virginia has led them to subordinate the debt question, and to plant their party squarely on the broadest principles of equal rights and justice.—Phila-

Of course. The Mahone men are no longer Readjusters, scoording to the Philadelphia orgas, but Republicans. "To this complexion must it come at last." The contest in Virginia will soon be narrowed down to that point when Democrats cannot consistently support any other than the Democratic ticket, Mahoneism in Virginia and Prohibition in North Carolina ere the agencies on which the Republicans rely for the disintegration of the Democratic party.

The "man and brother" is coming to the front in North Carolina. Both Pros. and Anti-Pros. seem fully aware of the fact that his vote counts just as much at the polls as a white man's, and both sides are counting largely on his sid in the coming

—Col. J. P. Thomas, of the Carolina Military Institute, is to be invited to speak in Columbia shortly at the inception of the prohibition campaign shortly to be opened in South Carolina. — On yesterday the furniture men doing business in Charlotte were interviewed by an Observer representative and found that the furniture trade of Charlotte alone now amounts to $100,000 per annum, and that many of the articles embraced in the stock of our furniture stores could be manufactured here as cheaply, or cheaper, than in New York, Boston or Cincinnati, while freight from the two former is $1.05 per hundred pounds, and from the latter is $1.78, all of which would be saved if worked by our

- Winston Leader: It may not be generally known that wild cherry is poisonous to stock, yet such is the case. Mr. Hartley Carroll, of Neatman P. O., Stokes county, lost a fine cow a few days since, by eating of a wild cherry bush that had been cut down and partly withered.

—Present indications are favorable for a very large crop of berries this summer. Of late years an extensive business has been done here in exporting berries, and the probabilities are that through this means quite a large amount of money will be brought into our place this season. - Over $3, 000 was paid for stamps one day last week by two of our tobacco firms-P. H. Hanes & Co., $1,951.84; T. L. Vanghn & Co., $1,600.00 This gives outsiders some idea of what amount of business is done in the manufacturing line, when we have sixteen other factories which are now in full blast.

- Deputy Sheriff Baker, of Davie county, was shot in Snow Creek township on Thursday. T. J. Baker had summone a posse of men to aid in arresting Smith, who was amenable to the law for some former offence. In passing by the deputy sheriff, Smith was ordered to halt, but he fired upon Baker, the ball taking effect in the left side below the ribs and passing though the body, and lodging in the right leg. Smith made his escape. Baker lived only about five hours after he was shot. He was a man of good standing in his com-

- From the letter of a correspondent we condense the following account of the first annual commencement of the Oxford Female Seminary, which took place at Oxford June 6th: This school was formerly the Raleigh Female Seminary, but was moved to Oxford about twelve months Prof. F. P. Hobgood. It is now in a flourishing condition, having had attendance of 105 students during the past session, well attesting the wisdom of the change. Rev. J. A. Mundy, of Warrenton, preached the Baccalaureate sermon on Sunday night, the 15th inst., an admirable effort in every way; and on Monday, the 6th inst., the chapel of the institution was crowded with people witness the closing exercises. On the walls were hung the productions of the art departs ment, forming a rare collection of painting drawings, &c. This department is under the charge of Miss Sue Hall, a graduate of Cooper Institute. The salutatory, essays and valedictory by Misses Parham, Orawford, Holly and Hunter, of the graduating class, reflected credit alike on themselves and the Seminary in which they had been taught. The annual address was delivered by Rev. A. A. Boshamer, of Raleigh, and was a graceful, forceful and finished production. At night the concert took place. under the direction of Prof. Frey and Miss Morris, and was voted on all sides an enjoyable entertainment. The singing of Miss McClammy, of Pender, was especially complimented by the critical audience in attendance. A reception closed the exer dises, which had proved so gratifyingly successful to all interested, and the exerdises of the first commencement were at end.

Superior Court. Since our last report the following cases of more or less importance have been heard n the Superior Court, His Honor, Judge Graves, presiding:

James W. Collins, Assignee of the Mechanics' Building and Loan Association vs. W. Atkinson, F. W. Kerehner and W. L. DeRosset. Suit brought to recover judgment on notes for $2,700 given by above defendants to the Building Association for the purchase of the Fair Grounds, and to foreclose mortgage on the Fair Grounds made by them to secure the same. The defendants contended that they vere acting as agents for the Agricultural Association; that it was so understood by the Building Association, and that it was mutually agreed that they were not to be personally liable on notes, but were to be used as "conduits of title." His Honor refused to hear evidence any agreement that defendants were not to be personally liable on their notes, but submitted an issue to the jury as to whether there was any mutual agreement or understanding that they were acting as mere conduits of title for the convenience of both associations. The jury found this issue in favor of the plaintiff.

Messrs. Geo. Davis and Junius Davis appeared for the plaintiff and Maj. C. M. Stedman for the defendants.

We understand that the defendants will appeal to the Supreme Court.

The morning of yesterday was occupied in the trial of the case of Wm. Gorman and others vs. M. Bellamy, Administrator of H. McLin, to assess the value of the build ings erected on his lot on Front street, new forming a part of the well known Purcell House. The jury returned a verdict of Bonham and wife, is second on the calendar. Russell & Ricaud for plaintiff: Devane and M. Bellamy for defendants. This is the case that consumed nine days in the hearing at the last term of the Court, and finally resulted in a mistrial.

An axciting Runaway and Narrow

There was an exciting runaway Wednesday night, which came very near resulting seriously. A party of gentlemen were standing at Exchange Corner, engaged in conversation, when their attention was altracted to a loud rumbling noise on Market Street, which was followed immediately afterwards by the appearance of a frantic horse attached to a country cart, dashing wildly down the street, with the colored driver swinging to the reins, and trying, but vainly, to arrest the flight of the "flery, untamed steed." Turning from Market into Front, in the direction of Dock street, the vehicle struck the croming, the wheel on the right hand side gave way, and the spokes, tire and fragments of which fairly whistled through the air, while the driver was hurled violently from the vehicle to the sugged Belgian pavement, and with such force that it was confidently expected. he had received fatal injuries. In the meantime the horse became diverted from his Orst course, and with the wrecked cart dangling at his beels dashed towards the sidewalk on the left hand side of the street, where he was halted in his headlong course. by coming in contact with Mr. T. H. Smith's store. The gentlemen referred to, who had scattered at the approach of the dangerous animal, now rushed across the street to gather up the mutilated remains of the driver, but found him clinging to the reins, and, as they approached, he sumped to his feet, rushed to the horsels head, selzed him by the bit and cried out triumphantly: "O, yes ! I've got you; you thought you'd get away from me, did
