The New York State Assembly balloted again to fill Senatorial vacancies without...

The Greensboro Patriot says: "We don't speak by authority, but we are reliably informed that the Hon. J. Madison Leach..."

This is a sad announcement: John G. Saxe, the poet, lost his only surviving daughter Saturday. His wife died last July, and he has buried his three daughters within seven years.

The Philadelphia Press suggests that Anti-Bourbon would be a better name for the new party in Virginia than Readjuster.

There is no improbability in the statement that a New York Assemblyman has been given two thousand dollars to vote for Chauncey M. Depew for the United States Senate...

The telegraph brings us the details of a very destructive storm in Missouri. The damage to crops and buildings was immense.

The Wadesboro Times offers one year's subscription to that paper for the first cotton bloom.

The Horboro Herald, a prohibition paper, admits that "the best citizens of Person county differ widely as to the propriety of a prohibitory law."

The New Observer speaks to think the action of the Republican State Executive Committee on the prohibition question a good joke.

Some very absurd paragraphs are going the rounds of the State press in regard to the position of the editorial staff of the STAR on the question of Prohibition.

The Greensboro Patriot says: "We don't speak by authority, but we are reliably informed that the Hon. J. Madison Leach, Attorney General Kenan, State Treasurer Worth, and Capt. Octavius Coke, Chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, oppose the Prohibition bill to be voted upon in August next."
