OUTLINES.

The tobacco monopoly in the Philippine Islands has been abolished. Two Americans won the walking and running races in the contest of the London and Manhattan Athletic Clubs, in England. Crop reports from Pennsylvania are encouraging and the business outlook is good. Business in Lima, Peru, is looking up; some of the banks have reopened. The Republic of Nicaragua has ordered the expulsion of the Jesuits from that country, and the exodus has begun. Jack Kerrett fatally shot John Averitt at Clarksville, Tenn. The Mexican Government will not arrange for a settlement of the Cuban debt at present. The cable between Cuba and Key West has been repaired. President Merino has assumed the dictatorship of San Domingo; he is anxious that Samana Bay will not be sold to the United States. Hugh Dominick has been arrested in New Orleans for passing counterfeit coin. Mumford, of New Orleans, has won several races in the Mississippi Valley rowing regatta. Senator Conkling was to Washington yesterday. A $40,000 fire at Gadsden, Ala. At the Sunday School Convention at Toronto, addresses were delivered by W. Jones, of Richmond, Va., and J. W. Jones, of Georgia, on Sunday School among the freedmen of the South. New York markets: Money 7 1/4; gold 100; cotton dull and easier at 11 1/16; wheat, wheat, ungraded spring $1 13; ungraded lower, ungraded 55; 50 cent; wheat, ungraded 55; 50 cent; corn 33 1/2; 30 1/2.

and the following were unanimously elected: President—N. B. Broughton, of Raleigh. Secretaries—Rev. D. B. Nelson, of Hendersonville; John E. Ray, of Raleigh. It seems Conkling and Madden came so near getting to blows that they abused each other. Here is the report: "Conkling and Platt were walking through one of the Delavan corridors and met Madden, who extended his hand to Conkling, who refused it, saying: 'I do not give my hand to men like you, and, sir, but that you are a Senator, I should treat you as I think you deserve.' Madden was furious, and retorted that he would throw off his Senatorial cloak for Conkling's benefit, and meet him on any terms he desired. Conkling berated Madden for the offensive terms he used in his speech, and Madden replied that he had never alluded to him in person, but had only alluded to his political conduct, which he considered scandalous. A crowd gathering the two separated. "Who'll thread on the tail of me coat?" The papers have a good deal to say of the comet. The astronomers have not yet agreed upon its identity. Prof. Green, of the United States National Observatory, says: "There is no doubt that a comet has come this way—whether an old friend, returning after a long absence, or an entire stranger, is a question yet to be solved. Despite its erratic course the pathway of a comet is readily ascertained. We observe its position to known stars, taking three observations, and then it is only a question of a few hours' sharp figuring to determine its orbit. All the known orbits of comets are catalogued, and by consulting this catalogue we readily perceive if the visitor is an old comet, or a new one. "Do you think there is more than one comet coming this way?" "Only one; all the reported discoveries concern the same comet."

THE PEANUT CROP.

PARTIAL FAILURE IN TENNESSEE—CONDITION AND PROSPECTS IN VIRGINIA AND NORTH CAROLINA—PROBABILITY OF BETTER PRICES, ETC. In reply to a dispatch in the Baltimore Gazette from New York, based on one from Nashville, Tennessee, in regard to the failure of the peanut crop in that State, the Cincinnati dealers say: "Hundred of letters have been received here from all parts of the peanut growing section of Tennessee, reporting a bad stand, numbers of the farmers having planted the third time, and still failed to get a good stand. Every large house in Cincinnati has a resident representative in Tennessee, and their reports of an almost entire failure of the crop are nearly unanimous. Some say there will be a third of a crop, some put it at one-fourth, and others even as low as 10 per cent. For the last five or six years there has been no Eastern capital invested in peanuts in Cincinnati on speculation. * * The latest advices from there state that the prospect for a crop must depend entirely upon the plants that are now up, as it is entirely too late to plant more. There has been a fair average demand for the Tennessee peanuts during the present year, and the demand would have been much larger but for the intensely cold winter." In reply to a letter from Mr. W. I. Gore, a prominent dealer of this city, Messrs. John Scroggs & Co., of Nashville, under date of June 17th, says: "Our peanut crop last year was over 700,000 bushels. This year it will not exceed 200,000 bushels. This is a large estimate, and it would not surprise us if it should drop to 100,000. The seed rotted in the ground and the farmers plowed them up and replanted in corn." Another letter from the same firm, of an earlier date, says: "The prospect in our State is almost a failure. Two-thirds of the seed planted failed to come up. There will not be over one-third of a crop with us." Messrs. Weller & Worth, of Cincinnati, in their circular of June 18th, say: "Peanuts are lower now than they will be within the next year or two. It is an absolute certainty that the Tennessee crop will be almost a complete failure, and we have a large number of letters containing very discouraging reports of the Virginia crop." Advices from Norfolk are to the effect that the acreage in Virginia will be less and the stand not so good as last year. The crop in North Carolina is estimated by prominent dealers here, based on reliable information from the peanut sections, at about one-fourth as to acreage, with the stand not very good. After a careful review of the field, we would not be surprised to see this article of luxury and use, after being so plentiful and low for the last year or so, become scarce and much higher in the season before us.

WILMINGTON AND WRIGHTSVILLE.

We noticed in the lobby of the postoffice, yesterday, a circular from the Department in reference to the proposed mail service between this city and Wrightsville Sound. The distance is put down at eight and a half miles, and the mail is to be carried six days in the week, commencing on the 16th day of July and ending on the 31st of December, when the route will be included in the regular miscellaneous mail proposals. The bids for the new service will all have to be in by the fifth day of July. One has already been sent in. Miss K. Wilson Manning will be Postmistress. The new route will result in a great convenience to many.
