ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE THE PRESIDENT.

The whole country felt a shock as it never felt before when the news flashed over the wires yesterday that an attempt upon the life of the President of the United States had been made, and that he had been wounded in two places and very seriously. When Lincoln fell before the bullet of an assassin the whole country felt he shook terribly and the South lost very greatly thereby. It was a great crime and a great calamity. The country had just begun to emerge from the fever and blood-shed and horrors of a civil war. Men were at sea. Bad men were more or less in the ascendant. The long conflict had thrown to the surface, amid its mighty upheavals, desperate and unprincipled men who were ready for anything. But now our country is at peace with all the world, and with itself. There is no political excitement to arouse sectional or party or personal antagonisms. The attempt, under God's open day, and in the face of men, to shoot down as you would a worthless cur or a fleeing marauder, the President of a great country is inexpressibly horrible. When the Czar Alexander was blown into eternity by the infernal engineering of the Nihilists who hated God and humanity, the whole civilized world was shocked. It is true there was a grinding despotism and the Czar was its head, and still the better class of men revolted from the cowardly and infernal deed. But here, in this free land, where people enjoy liberty far beyond all the other peoples of earth, what is there to justify the horror and immorality of such a bloody, heinous deed? Nothing, absolutely nothing.

The whole country will unite in condemning in the most unmeasured terms this latest act of diabolism. The North and the South, the East and the West will unite in one general expression of regret and in one simultaneous thrill of sympathy. There will be no party in all this. Every Democrat worthy of the name will join every Republican in the land in denouncing the wicked and vicious deed that could be prompted only by a heart as destitute of morality as it is of the milk of human kindness.

It is to be hoped the assassin will find a quick trial and unerring justice. The people of the South will join with the people of the North in fervent wishes and earnest prayers that President Garfield may live in spite of the assassin's bullet, and that he may serve his four years with credit and honor to himself and with blessing to his country and the world.

For the particulars of the attempted assassination we refer our readers to our telegraphic dispatches.

Texas is wise in its railroad schemes. The narrow gauge railroads are to be so extensively used that a network will cover the southern portion of the State. Why should not such roads be used when it has been established incontrovertibly that they answer every purpose and are so very much cheaper? If in most sections you can construct a hundred and fifty miles of narrow gauge road for what you can construct one hundred miles of wide gauge, and the narrow gauge answers every purpose of transportation and travel, why not build it in preference? Why expend $150,000 or more to attain your end when $100,000 will accomplish it?

It is a little curious that the English should prefer carriages in which the travellers are locked as so many prisoners, with no privileges or conveniences, to the American system of cars. Already, by their system, many lives have been lost, assaults have been made on females, and even murders have been committed. The attachment to the old poor system grows out of English conservative prejudices—attachment to the old because it is old—and because, which is the stronger motive in this particular case, of the feeling of exclusiveness and superiority that dominates the Englishman.

The latest from the Georgia excitement is that there will be no fight. The author of the letter reflecting on Gen. Gordon has taken water in time and made a "complete retraction."

Christmas, who killed Mrs. Gaines' unchancey son, had a father and cousin hanged for murder.—Augusta Chronicle.

His father was hanged, and his brother was tried for murder and acquitted. As we said the other day he is not a vicious or dangerous man. We knew him well, and he would not do violence to any man unless much provoked. He is kindly and well disposed. He acted in self-defence.

Sir Edward Thornton, who for so many years has represented Her Majesty's Government at Washington, has taken his official leave. No British Minister ever made a better impression or is more sincerely regretted than he.

The condition of President Garfield, at the time we write, 12 o'clock at night, is critical but improved. The symptoms are more encouraging and hopeful.

There will be no paper issued from this office until Wednesday morning, as the employees will observe the Fourth of July.

The Assassination of President Garfield.

The news of the attempted assassination of President Garfield at the National Capitol yesterday morning, created in this community, among all classes, a feeling of profound regret and sympathy, coupled with an absolute and unqualified condemnation of the act of the cowardly assassin who fired the shot which seems destined to have a fatal termination. This feeling, as we have intimated, was by no means confined to the political party to which President Garfield owes his present high position, but is as universal as profound, all denouncing the murderous assault as one of the most unfortunate and deplorable calamities that could possibly have befallen this country. The demand for later news in regard to the condition of the President and the particulars attending his assassination were constant and unremitting, and the extras issued from the STAR office at intervals during the day were eagerly sought after. In the meantime excited groups could be seen gathered on the street corners and elsewhere, discussing the contents of the latest bulletins and the probable issue of the terrible event.

It will be seen by an advertisement elsewhere in this issue that His Honor, Mayor Smith, has very appropriately called a meeting of citizens at the City Hall to-morrow, the 4th inst., at 12 o'clock, to take such action as may be deemed appropriate in relation to the attempted assassination of the Chief Magistrate of the Nation.

Resolutions of Thanks.

The following resolutions have been received by the committee of arrangements who had in charge the entertainment of the recent visitors from Charlotte:

In view of the trip of the Gounod Club to Wilmington, and of the very great enjoyment of the hospitality extended to them while there, and as a slight testimonial of their grateful appreciation and remembrance of the elegant and charming courtesy of their hosts, the following resolutions were adopted by the club, and the secretary instructed to forward them to the secretary of the Dramatic Club in Wilmington:

Resolved, That we desire to present our cordial invitation to visit Wilmington and present to the people of that city "The Firmness of Penzance" and "The Amateur Dramatic Club" and their friends received and entertained their visitors with a warmth of greeting and a degree of elegant hospitality which not only surpassed their expectations, but has also served as an illustration of the maxim that all true hospitality has its origin and its life in kindly and generous natures; therefore, be it Resolved, by the Gounod Club, in full meeting assembled, That we desire to present on record some fitting expression of our appreciation of the universal kindness and innumerable delicate attentions shown us, and to preserve in perpetual remembrance the recollection of our visit to Wilmington; but finding ourselves inadequate to the one, yet more than capable of the other, we must content ourselves with this simple testimonial of gratitude and thankfulness, and in any event, to welcome them to our own homes and residences.

Mrs. B. L. DEWEY, Secretary Gounod Musical Club, June 29th, 1881.

Our friends seem to labor under the impression that they were invited and entertained here by the "Dramatic Club," which is an error, as we have no such organization. This, however, is of little importance, as their kind and complimentary resolutions have reached those for whom they were intended.

Funds Needed.

We have information to the effect that the Ladies' Benevolent Society have a great many sick on their list, while the funds in bank to meet their urgent necessities have dwindled down to $88. It should be a source of regret that the ladies are cramped and embarrassed in the noble mission to which they are so kindly and considerately devoting so much of their time and attention, and it is hoped that, now the necessities of the Society are made known, a generous public will hasten to send in their contributions and enable the ladies to minister to the wants of the sick and needy ones under their care.

The Excursion To-morrow.

The prospects are that the excursion on the steamer Passport to-morrow (the 4th of July) under the auspices of the Hibernian Benevolent Society, will be one of the most enjoyable of the season. The boat, after visiting Smithville and the Forts, and landing those who do not wish to go outside, will extend its trip to the Blackfish grounds. Special attention will be paid to the preservation of order, refreshments will be furnished at city prices, and good music will be provided for dancers. In fact, no pains will be spared in the effort to make the excursion a success in every particular.

Unmailable Matter.

The following is the unmailable matter remaining in the city postoffice up to this date:

Lectures Before the University Normal School.

A Chapel Hill correspondent of the Raleigh News-Observer, referring to lectures before the University Normal School, thus speaks of the effort of Rev. Dr. A. A. Watson, of this city: "Rev. Dr. Watson read a lecture on the evidence afforded by nature that it is the work of a personal Creator. Unbounded satisfaction has been expressed by those who heard this scholarly and very able essay. Some who know what has been spoken in the University chapel declare that nothing better has ever been heard from that rostrum. The discussion of this great subject was just what it should have been—learned, acute, clear through, well ordered, admirably expressed and impressively delivered. It was gratifying to see normalists, unused to such argumentation and exhortation, listening most attentively, and to hear them saying that they had heard something most memorable."

On the Warpath.

Della Gardner, well-known colored damsel of unsound mental condition, was on the "warpath" again yesterday. She has been sent to the insane department at the County Poor House on several occasions, and temporarily discharged again on recovering sufficiently to take care of herself. She is liable to "crazy spells," and has been getting in a bad way for the last two or three days. Yesterday the unfortunate creature was in a condition that required rigorous measures to prevent her from doing mischief, and steps were being taken to secure her immediate reconfinement in the county asylum.

Arrivals for the Month of June.

During the month of June just closed there were 40 arrivals at this port of vessels over 100 tons, of which 25, including 5 steamers, 1 brig and 19 schooners, were American; and 15, including 9 barques, 5 brigs and 1 schooner were foreign.

A Friend Propounds the following query:

"Cannot an arrangement be perfected between the county and city authorities by which the fire-alarm bell can be removed from the market house and placed upon the new wing at the Court House, as the bell could not only be rung as a notice for the assemblies of the courts, but in case of fire could, being more centrally located, be better heard than at its present location?"

The Wilmington District Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will convene at Elizabethtown on Thursday, the 7th inst., and Rev. Dr. Burkhead will hold his Quarterly Meeting for the Elizabeth circuit at Elizabethtown on the 8th inst.

The storm of Friday was very severe in the lower townships of this county. A large tree in the yard of Capt. A. A. Moseley, in Harnett Township, was struck by lightning and badly shivered.

WATER AND MARINE.

—It was the schooner Leviathan, Capt. Galloway, which was reported ashore just inside of the Bar at Lockwood's Folly in our last issue. She was returning with back freight from this place valued at between $500 and $600, which had to be lightered off. At last accounts she was still aground, but it is thought she will eventually be gotten off safely. Nothing known as to amount of damage so far. Mr. D. L. Gore, of this city, is owner of the schooner.
