Postmaster General James says the President "is sarely out of the woods." But is the P. G. a Doctor?

Rev. William Arthur, author of "The Tongue of Fire," will be the President of the approaching Metho dist Ecumenical Conference. Is that the way to write it?

The Emperors of Austria and Germany will have a meeting about the middle of August at Gastien. The Czir of Russia is asked to meet them, but his mental condition is said to be very much disturbed.

Miller, Republican "Half Breed," has been elected U. S. Senator from New York in place of "me too Platt." Now it is Lord Roscoe's time "to step down and out." But will he do it? It is thought that he has been "on the ragged edge" for some

The paragraphists have begun burlesquing Dr. Bliss and the other Doctors' bulletine from the White House. They are incorrigible. They are now burlesquing the new revision. They would burlesque their grandfather if they not did wish to fall heir to the old gent's old clothes.

A very large and rascally business is being carried on in Maryland and Pennsylvania in the life insurance way. Old and infirm people are insured by speculators. Robert Bell, an aged negro, who died at Westminster, Md., left $200,000 on his life for the benefit of the gamblers. The Baltimore Gazette say the speculations are large in this direction.

A New York letter of the 14th says of the dry goods market: "Cotton goods are only in moderate demand, but plain and colored cottons are moving freely in execution of former orders, and prices are firm. Prints are in light demand, except dark fancy prints, which are doing fairly. Price for American dark prints has been made six and ahalf (6½) cents. Woollen goods are quiet and steady."

The writer in the New York Tribune who has been writing up the South has the good sense to say:

"The foremost men of the Southern States-I mean those foremost in business and in the social and moral life of the local communities, not in politics-are everywhere taking up the subject of education for the negroes in a serious and business-like spirit."

VOL. XXVIII.-NO, 100.

WILMINGTON, N. C., SUNDAY, JULY 17, 1881.

York. Address D. Appleton & Co., publishers. Possibly it will be for sale at our city bookstores.

Here is Guiteau's own account of the shooting of the President. He tried to kill him in church. He again attempted to shoot him on the 14th of June, but Mrs. Garfield's weak and frail condition deterred him. On July 2d he accomplished his end. He

"On the morning of Saturday, July he breakfasted at the Riggs House about 7 o'clock. He then walked up into the Park and sat there for an hour. He then took a one-horse avenue car and rode to Sixth street. got out and went into the depot and lostered there, had his shoes blacked, engaged a hackman for $2 to take him to the jail, went into the water closet and took his pistol out of his hip pocket and unwrapped the paper from around it which he had put there for the purpose of preventing the perspiration from the body dampening the powder, examined his pistol carefully, tried the trigger and then returned and took a seat in the lades waiting room, and, as soon as the President entered advanced behind him and fired two shots."

It is our painful duty to refer to wo acts of depravity in Maine. The one is a case of Ku-Kluxism that is awful to think of. A wretch who had been saved by his wife from drowning fell upon her, beat her and then cut her with a knife, so that her life is in great peril. The other is more shocking still, if possible. Two boys at Rockport threw another one out of a boat in which all three were sailing, and drowned him. The poor little fellow had twenty-two cents end they coveled it. Robert Kane was only ten years old. His murderers were fifteen and twelve. Are these other specimens of the "higher civilization?" Frye, ob, Frye, where are you? Send an army.

CAMPAIGN NEWS.

Toisnot Home. The Nash county anti-Prohibition canvass was opened at Sharpsburg last Saturday. Speeches were made by W. H. Robbins, Willis Eason and J. J. Sharp. There was a very small crowd present.

Wilson Advance. Our Black Creek friends are in earnest in their endeavors to roll up a big majority for Prohibition. Saturday they have a mass meeting, when H. G. Connor, Esq., A. B. Deans, Esq., and other prominent speakers will be present and make speeches for Prohibition.

Monroe Enquirer. The citizens of the surrounding vicinity met at the Mountain Spring school house for the purpose of considering the Prohibition bill passed by the late Legislature. F. L. Rogers was made chairman and Calvin Rogers secretary. It was determined to oppose the bill.

Struck by Lightning. During the storm of Friday afternoon lightning struck the chimney of a house on the corner of Ninth and Castle streets, occupied by a colored man named Ben Smith. Both sides of the chimney were torn out and shattered half way to the base, but other pertions of the dwelling suffered very little damage. There were two or three children in the room at the time, who however, shalained no injury beyond the sev vere shock which was to have been necessarily expected under the circumstances.

Common Errors About Names. People generally, and writers for the press particularly, are very apt to adopt the common errors in vogue in regard to the names of certain localities; in their neighborhood, especially where they are not aided by a practical knowledge of the places referred to. In our paper a few days ago we spoke of a meeting that had taken place at Castle Hayne. This aroused the Ire of one of our respected antiquarians, who threatened us with dire consequences if we should persist in so designating that ancient and classic spot. We promised to be more careful in future, in consideration of which he proceeded to give us a brief history of the place. Rev. Richard Marsden, he says, was the first Episcopal clergyman who, in 1752, ministered to the good people of St. James' Parish, in this city. He built what was known as the Hermitage, which was destroyed by fire only a few months ago, and laid out the grounds in elegant style, the place becoming in time the seat of a prosperous and generous hospitality. Thos. Haynes, an Englishman, married a daughter of the Rev. Mr. Marsden and purchased the adjoining plantation, where he built a fine residence and christened it Castle Haynes. The only descendants of this gentleman and his fatherin-law, the Rev. Mr. Marsden, are the Waddells of the Cape Fear. To call the place referred to Castle Hayne would leave the inference that it was in some way conpected with the somewhat famous Hayne family of South Carolina, which is not the case, and the only really proper and legiti-mate name for it is Castle Haynes. A similar mistake is made in speaking of the island opposite the city. It is very commonly called Eagle Island, as if named after the "joyous bird of freedom," whereas the real name is Ragles' Island, inasmuch as it is called after the former owner of the property, whose name was Eagles, and who has descendants now living in this
