Recently we gave the number of illiterate voters in the South. The following is timely:

"There are 457,000 illiterate voters in the Eastern, Middle and Western States, and before Northern Republicans rave at Southern ignorance they had better set themselves down to the hard work of instructing these half million illiterate voters in their own States."

"The people of Wilmington, N. C., are alarmed over the increase of small-pox in that city. Extra precautionary measures are being taken to prevent its spreading."-Rich-mond Religious Herald.

The above item is incorrect. There is no small-pox here and, consequently, there is no alarm. Some months ago there was a case or two imported, but there is none now.

Here is the way two white men at Wilmington, Delaware, treated an old negro man. They got him drunk, tied him, and then covered him from head to foot with newly slackened lime. — Milton Chronicle: We hear of some sections of the country that had prepared to plant big crops of tobacco which have not been able up to this time to stick out a plant, owing to drought.

- Kinston Journal; Our town was visited by a terrible wind last Friday evening. Many of the shade-trees were badly damaged, some completely rulned, one or two chimneys blown over and the Good Samaritan's hall completely wrecked.

- Battle Ground: Two men have carried the mail between Mt. Airy, in this State, and Hillsville, Va., for ten years. They walk, but always blow a horn, after the fashion of a stage coach, when approaching a postoffice. The distance, we are told, is twenty-five miles.

- Richmond, Va., Herald: During all the years he has been at Wake Forest, N. C., one of the professors there tells us that he has not seen but one man under the influence of strong drink, and he came on an excursion train. Liquor is not allowed to be sold in the village or vicinity.

- New Bernian : From Jones. Onslow, Carteret, Hyde and Pamlico counties and from all sections of Craven come the most flattering and cheering reports in regard to the condition of the growing --- We learn that the crops in Hyde county, which is the bread-winning county of Eastern Carolina, are exceptionally fine; the corn crop, most especially, is said to be finer and more promising than it has been for years, and if nothing untoward happens the yield this fall will be enormous; rice is also all that the heart can

- Rockingham Spirit: Mr. Hiram Hicks, one of our best citizens, died at his residence on Sunday night last.—The Columbia Manufacturing Company's mills are situated on Deep River, 30 miles from High Point. They manufacture No. 16 warp yarn, having a capacity for about 1,200 pounds per day. The capital stock is $60,000. —The drought and hot weather have caused all the garden vegetables in this section to dry up; field crops are also suffering badly. — Mr. John Shortridge's woolen mill, at Hamlet, has commenced operations.

- Warsaw Brief Mention: On last Saturday morning about light Mrs. Henry Colwell was awakened by a loud roaring, which proved to be the dwelling ing probably caught from a box of ashes which had been placed the day before under the house. - The prospect for a large yield of cotton was never better. The dry weather has been exceedingly favorable, enabling the farmers to keep their crops clean and suiting the plant, which loves hot, dry weather. Corn crops are not as fine as the cotton. Rice, of which a great dea! has been planted, is also looking very well and will make a large yield,

- Salisbury Watchman: Capt. William Cain, the engineer in charge of the Midland North Carolina Road, has started a preliminary survey of that road. Dr. Burkhead, we learn, expects to leave Raleigh the first day of August for New York, and then sail on the steamer City of Berlin, August 6th, for London, to attend the Ecumenical Conference. He will be absent for two or three months, during which time he will visit the principal cities in ----Salem has water-works, and Winston will soon have the reservoir finished fer that town. Why can't Raleigh have a few conveniences the same as other towns? — Col. Walter Clark and A. W. Haywood, Esq., will leave the city on Monday morning next for New York, from which place they will sail on the steamer Batavia of the Cunard Line on Wednesday next, the 20th inst., for Queenstown. A son of Mr. Madison Pace, residing four or five miles from the city, died yesterday morning from the effects of sunstroke. -Mr. H. A. Gadger, President of Campbell Austin, a colored man residing in the State Prohibition Association, is this city, was found dead yesterday evening near Col. J. W. B. Watson's cotton gin, just east of the city. It is supposed that he died from the effects of sunstroke.

- Raleigh News-Observer : Rev. Dr. Skinner writes from Asheville that be carned by from 30,000 to 40,000 Mrs. Skinner is convalescing, and says that majority. There were fine speakers in the field, such as General Vance, he will be in Raleigh this week, but doubts if he can remain, both on Mrs. Skinner's account and his own. - A North Carolina Sportsman's Association was formed by the gun club teams at Asheville last week. Col. J. C. McRae, Rev. J. C. Price, Bishop Hood and others. Walter L. Steele, of Anson, was chosen president, and Mr. E. B. Engelhard, of this city, secretary and treasurer. It is understood that some interesting matches will be arranged by this association. — It is now certain that the Raleigh Gun Club will be represented at the matches at pigeons at Hendersonville. — The racing at the State Fair bide fair to be, and no doubt will be, is bright and full of news. Its editothe finest ever seen here. The bicycle races rials are able and always appropriate will attract many competitors. -A correspondent from Franklinton writes that Mr. J. R. Ball has found a quicksilver mine that promises to be a very valuable one. From a handful of mud is washed out a quantity of quicksilver the size of a pea. — Mr. Charles S. Strickland, a young man of promise, died yesterday morning at his home a few miles north of the city, in Neuse township, of typhoid fewer. His age was 23, and he was of much promise. He was a graduate of Wake Forest—The following have been commissioned notaries public: Stephen A. Goodwyn, Oxford; M. A. Chaudley, Big Laurel, Madison county; John B. Broadfoot, Fayetteville; C. F. Harvey, Kineton; Louis A. Skarren, Beaufort; Neill Ellington, Greensboro; Appleton Oaksmith, Hollywood, Carteret county; Joseph D. Myers, Washington. — On the plantation of Mrs. Fisher, east of the city, stood a large and well arranged gin house. This was blewn to pieces in an instant. A small dwelling house near by was partially lifted and actpetent charge will be opened in connection with the, King's Mountain High School, ually tilted first one way and then the other. No loss of life or injury to any person is reported. The gin house was a building three stories in height, and the greater portion of it was used as a barn. The loss was about complete, as the gin and press shared the fate of the building. The loss is estimated at $1,500.

Sunday's Storm.

One of the most fearful rain storms we thunder and lightning, passed over this section Sunday afternoon, about half-past Officer of this city : 6 o'clock. It caught quite a number of persons on their way to and from the Sounds, and they represent the storm as terrible almost beyond expression, Pear after peal of terrific thunder rent the air and fissh after fissh of the most vivid lightning litup the scene with an awful and aweinspiring grandeur beyond the power of pen or pencil to describe, and which was calculated to make the stoutest heart to quail, while at the same time the rain was descending in torrents, accompanied by heavy gusts of wind. We lesen that in the darkness of the night that followed one or more vehicles were smashed up or damaged by collisions on the road, but we have heard of no personal injuries being sustained.

Tobacco Culture Mr. J. M. Hardwick, formerly of this city, but now running a farm about two miles and a half below Wilmington, on the old Newbern road, has one entire acre of his land planted in tobacco, which is under the immediate appervision of Mr. S. P. Hardwick, his son. The tobacco is now in excellent condition and is looking finely, the leaves being nearly three feet long and fifteen inches wide. Judging from present appearances, in the opinion of Mr. Hards wick, tobacco will prove a more profitable crop in this section than either cotton or rice. At any rate, Mr. H. is very wel satisfied so far with his experiment.

HELD FOR MURDER. Another Robbery. ARREST OF A SUPPOSED MURDERER

-THE CRIME COMMITTED GEORGIA. IN 1877.

A white man was arrested in this city yesterday, by Officer T. O. Bunting, on suspicion of being one Obadiah Ross. wanted for the murder of a Mr. N. F. Cornwell, of Jefferson county, Georgia. about four years ago. It appears that interested parties in Savannah, by some means received information that Ross was living in Sampson county, in this State, where he was married about three months ago. The necessary papers for his arrest and detention were thereupon issued and sent to the authorities of Sampson. Upon their receipt in that county, however, it was ascertained that the suspected individual had suddenly changed his quarters to Duplin, and the papers were thereupon transferred to the authorities of that county, and the same instructions given. was soon ascertained, however, that the settled in Wilmington. The documents were then forwarded to this city to Chief of Police Brock, who turned them over to Constable Bunting, who soon "bagged" the individual answering to the description of the alleged murderer, and he was lodged in the county fail to await further developments. In the meantime the proper authorities in Savannah have been telegraphed to and requested to send some one to identify the prisoner.

The murdered man, Cornwell, was for merly a merchant of Savannah, but at the time of the killing was doing business at Bartow, Ga. About midnight one cold night in December, 1877, the store occuwhich he resided, was discovered on fire, and the flames spread so rapidly that in a short time the place was entirely destroyed. It was known that Mr. C. slept in the rear of the store, and upon search being made part of the charred remains of the body was found in the ruins. It was the general opinion that the store had been broken open and robbed and then set or fire to cover the crime. Soon afterwards one McDaniel was arrested and confessed, implicating five others in the crime, including Obadiah Ross; and all but Ross were subsequently arrested. Constable Bunting has a photograph of Ross, and it suits the man he has arrested to perfection. J. H. Williams, and that he is from Lenoir county, where he has been working at his trade of an engineer in various saw-mills. He has been here about three weeks trying

The barber-shop just north of Boney Bridge, owned by the well known Elvin Artis and conducted by W. Croton, was entered Saturday night, between midnight and day, and robbed of about $13 in money. The thief broke out a glass from the back door, thrust his hand inside and unfastened the bolt. He then got the money box, found the key where it was concealed behind a mirror, opened the box and took the money from the top drawer. In the lower drawer a lot of checks were kept, which the thief thought was money, and, as he had some difficulty in unlocking it, he took a brickbat or a piece of rock and broke the bottom out of the box, which itself was valued at about $7. The broken box was found down the railroad embankment near the shop and the tickets scattered about upon the ground.

She has especially studied the constitution and wants of this numerous class and as a really of this constitution. and nurse, principally among children. She has especially studied the constitution and wants of this numerous class, and, as a result of this effort, and practical knowledge obtained in a lifetime spent as nurse and physician, she has compounded a Scothing Syrup for children teething. It operates like magic—giving rest and health, and is moreover sure to regulate the bowels. In consequence of this article Mrs. Winslow is becoming world renowned as a benefactor of the race; children certainly do RISH UP and bless her; especially is this the case in this city. Vast quantities of the Soothing Syrup are DALLY sold and used here. We think Mrs. Winslow has immortalized her name by this invaluable article, and we sincerely believe thousands of children have been saved from an early grave by its timely use, and that millions yet unborn will share its benefits, and units in calling her blessed.
