"Mr. Cone answered that they would show by a hundred men that Whitney was not only a dangerous but brutal man; that he had been of a quarrelsome, turbulent disposition all of his life, and on the morning of the homicide Whitney had threatened to put a bullet through Christmas's brain on sight. The counsel then related the number of threats made by Whitney anterior to the shooting, and his following Christmas down two flights of stairs on that afternoon, and maintained that his client had done all within his power to escape the desperate attack of the deoeased."

The late Arthur Penrhyn Stanley, Dean of Westminster, was one of the most noted clergymen of his times. He was a voluminous author, had an exceptionally brilliant career at Oxford, obtaining a scholarship, securing the Nevington prize for a poem, took a first class in classics, gained the Latin essay and the theological and English prizes. After filling the various positions of select preacher. secretary of the Oxford University Communion, canon of Canterbury, regius professor of ecclesiastical history at Oxford, canon of Christ Church, and chaplain to the Bishop of London, he became Dean of Westminster in the year 1863. The degree of LL. D. was conferred upon him in 1871 by the University of St. Andrew's. He will be baried in Great Abbey alongside of his wife.

The meeting of the Socialists in London will arrest attention generally, and particularly of the crowned heads and nobility. Seven hundred discontented people meet, when red flags flap and barrels of noisy elecquence roll, and assassination is applauded! It reads like the days that preceded the French Revolution when the people were grosning under real oppression, and angry threats were hurled about for the first time against the nobility and against the throne itself. There is much of deviltry not very far ahead, if these and other signs do not fail.

At last we are assured that the true reason why the Senate did not elect a President is known. The Philadelphis Times gives this version of it:

"The reason that the Vice President refused to leave the chair was hat the Democratic majority clined to agree to the choice of the man whom Arthur wanted elected. That was Senator Harris, of Tennessee, who had pleased Arthur by his attitude in the Robertson case. The Democrats wanted Senator Bayard, and that is what led to the whole trouble."

It is agreed all around that the new Senater from New York is a poor stick. An Excursion Comes to Grief.

A large colored excursion, which ha been making up in Charlotte to visit thi city on the occasion of the meeting of the Grand Lodge U. O. of O. F., which is to be in session here during the first week in August, was "busted," the Observer says, because a report got out that it was a trick to get a number of the colored voters out of the city and county, and keep them away until after the election, notwithstanding the earnest assurances of the projectors of the excursion that the report was false.

Not the Right Man-J. H. Williams

Sheriff Driscoll, of Jefferson county, Gs., arrived here vesterday, in response to a tel egram, to view the prisoner arrested by Constable Bunting on suspicion of being Obadiah Ross, one of the alleged murderers of Mr. Cruwell, of Georgia. He visited the county jail, saw the prisoner, and, after a careful examination, announced that he was not Obadiah Ross. The resemblance between the two men is so close, however, that the sheriff says he does not wonder that Officer Bunting arrested him for Ross; that he would have been readily taken for him in the neighborhood where the crime was committed, and that he would have arrested him himself had he met him in Georgia. The only difference between the two men is in their height, the prisoner being a little the taller. Both have a scar over the eye, the evidence of a knife or gun-shot wound the hip, and dyed moustaches. And in fact, the prisoner was heard on one occasion singing a song which had formerly been a favorite with Ross. However. Sheriff Driscoll said he was not the man. and Williams, as he designates himself, was released from custody and went on his way rejoicing. His wife has been to see him since his incarceration.

A Serious Charge. A colored girl, named Frances McKoy, about fifteen years of age, went before Justice Millis, yesterday morning, and made affidavit to the effect that her father, John McKov, who lives at what is known as the Lippitt place, on the old New Berne road, a short distance from this city, had been guilty of an assault and battery with intent to commit a nameless crime upon her. McKoy was thereupon arrested upon a warrant issued by Justice Millis and ordered to enter into a justified bond in the sum of $500 for his appearance at his office this morning at 10 o'clock for preliminary examination, in default of which he was ledged in jail. McKoy is said to be about 43 or 44 years of age.

Since the above was written Rachel Mc-Koy, a sister of the above, has made affidavit before Justice Millis of a more positive crime being committed by John Mc-Koy, on or about the 15th of April last, of which she was the victim, and on which charge the defendant was ordered to be remanded to jail, without benefit of bail, to await the action of the grand jury at the approaching term of the Criminal Court.

Kicked by a Mule. A small colored boy, by the name of Wm. Purnell, about 8 years of age, was playing on the sidewalk in front of Mr. A. Lessman's bake shop, on Second, between Market and Book streets, about half past 8 o'clock yesterday morning, when a discontented mule suddenly elevated his two hind feet and let fly at the boy's head, one of left eye and the other striking and wounding one of his fingers. The little sufferer was taken to Mr. J. K. McIlhenny's drug store, and a physician summoned, who gave him the necessary surgical attention. after which he was carried to his home near the intersection of Becond and Queen streets. The wound was a very ugly one, but the skull was not injured, and it is believed that the eye will be saved.

WHO IS MRS. WINSLOW 1—As this question is frequently asked, we will simply say that she is a lady who for upwards of forty, years has untiringly devoted her time and talents as a Female Physician and nurse, principally among children. She has especially studied the constitution and wants of this and nurse, principally among children. She has especially studied the constitution and wants of this numerons class, and, as a result of this effort, and practical knowledge obtained in a lifetime spent as nurse and physician, she has compounded a Scothing Syrup for children teething. It operates like magic—giving rest and health, and is moreover sure to regulate the bowels. In consequence of this article Mrs. Winslow is becoming world renowned as a benefactor of the race; children certainly de ansa ur and bless her; especially is this the case in this city. Vast quantities of the Scothing Syrup are paint sold and used here. We think Mrs. Winslow has immortalized her name by this invaluable article, and we sincerely believe thousands of children have been saved from an early grave by its timely use, and that millions yet unborn will share its benefits, and unite in calling her blessed. No mether has discharged her duty to her suffering little one, in our epinion, until she has given it the benefit of Mrs. Winslow's Scothing Syrup.
