Not only in many parts of North Carolina, but throughout the South and in the greater portion of the Northwest the drouth has become very alarming. The crops all will be much affected. The corn, tobacco and grass are reduced to one-half in most sections, whilst in others they will be not more than a fourth or an eighth. The reports from the various States are most discouraging. No such drouth has appeared since 1806. That of 1845 was much less in severity and extent of area.

WILMINGTON, N. C., WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 31, 1881.

WHOLE NO. 4379

Senator Vance publishes a communication in the Charlotte Observer making some corrections in the reported interview with him concerning the Western North Carolina Railroad. We copy a part:

"In the April meeting of the board it was agreed that if an application for an extension should be made by the proper parties, and proposing to put 1,100 hands at once on the work, one half at least of which increased force should be put on the Ducktown line, and other things, that we would grant an extension of four months from the first of July, 1881. This you will see is slightly different from your statement."

Col. Andrews was informed by the Governor at Senator Vance's request that he had withdrawn his assent to the expected application for an extension. Senator V. says:

"There was nothing improper in the way in which the information was obtained, the thing complained of being the manner in which Dr. Worth was induced to sign the extension, in ignorance of my letter."

The vein is about two feet thick, and, as far as it has been cleared, is very rich. They have got their engine and saw mill at work, and the stamps will be in operation next week.

- The projected road from Statesville to Jefferson is now regarded as an assured fact. The large, wealthy, and enterprising mining company that projected it is now at work on it with every prospect of an early completion of the work. This will prove an important link in our North Carolina system of railroads, says the Salisbury

-Elizabeth City Economist: "The railroad work on the 'Edenton extension' of the Elizabeth City & Norfolk Railroad is being carried on with great energy. This causes delay. But for that the work would be done in sixty

- Salisbury Watchman: During a recent visit to Bakersville, we learned what was considered an open secret in relation to the recent case of small pox. The man was a stranger and he had been drinking a good deal or brandy. He was thought to have the small pox, and was placed in a deserted cabin and a man left to wait on him with a half gallou of brandy for company. The cracks in the sick man's cabin were chinked to keep the disease from spreading. The nurse got drunk and left, and the next heard from the patient was

Henderson during the past twelve months.

There was only one man not spoilt by being lionized. His name was Daniel. We know of just about sixteen that we should like to try the same experiment with. -

A fight occurred on the street Saturday night between a colored woman and man, in which the woman was the "best man." It created quite an excitement among those who witnessed it. She was a little "left hand nigger," and she not only whipped her man, but chased hin off the street.

- Charlotte Observer: Another attempt was made to wreck a train on the Charlotte, Columbia & Augusta Railroad, on Thursday evening, between Barr's Sta-tion and Gilbert Hollow, by placing an iron rail across the track, but no damage was done. - It was reported here last night that an engine of the Chester & Lenoir Narrow Gauge road had been stolen from the shed at Lincolnton. - Don't get scared at the statement that the elephant "Chief" is still with Robinson's circus. He is now perfectly docile, and shows little vitality except when Princess, his new spouse, draws nigh. — The fact that the mayor of Raleigh has recently fined somebody for swearing on the streets has been heralded throughout the State as the announcement of the opening of a great moral revolution. The Observer reported the punishment of such offences by our own mayor nearly every morning for two weeks before the Raleigh coup d'etat, and yet we are not proud.

- Statesville Landmark: In the case of Ebenezer McNeely, administrator of G. S. Robinson, against J. T. Keerans and others, tried in the Superior Court this week, suit was brought upon a note which read as follows: "Six months after date, with interest at 8 per cent., I promise to pay," etc. The note was dated in 1875 and interest has been running ever since. Plaintiff's attorney contended that, according to the face of the note, it bore 8 per cent, until paid. Judge Seymour, however, ruled that the 8 per cent rate held only to the expiration of the six months when the paper matured, at which time the legal rate of interest-6 per cent.-intervened. There is no decision in the North Carolina reports which covers the case. The court, however, referred to a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States which involved the principle and sustained his view. The plaintiff appealed -A hen on the premises of Mrs. G. W. Some of the Victims of the Great Cyclone at Savannah. Among the victims of the cyclone on Tybee Island, near Savannah, some particulars of which will be found elsewhere, were Mrs. Georgiana Wolf, a neice of Mr. Nathaniel Jacobi, of this city, and a relative of ex-Mayor Fishblate, together with her daughter Halle, and her young stepbrother, Joshua Falk. It seems that Mr. Falk, the father of the lady mentioned, who is the wife of Mr. Joseph Wolf, lived in another house, but took refuge in the house of Mr. Henry Solomon, as they thought it a safer place. This house was soon afterwards blown down, the wind blowing at the rate of seventy-five miles an hour at the time, and a few minutes afterwards took fire. As soon as the catastrophe was discovered by the neighbors they rushed to the rescue and succeeded in saving Mrs. Solomon, wife of Mr. Henry Solomon, and their son, Nathaniel, from the burning mass. The unfortunate victims were crushed to death, as Mrs. Wolf's skull was found to be fractured, and no cries were heard except from those who were afterward recovered. The bodies were recovered Sunday morning and taken to Savannah on the steamer Forest City. An examination of the spot where the house had stood showed there was not a vestige of it left except parts of the foundation. Mrs. Wolf was a lovely and attractive lady, only about 23 years of age, and the news of her sad death and those of her children has been a heavy blow of the Parties Alleged to Have Committed the Crime. On the 2nd of July last a house on the plantation of Mr. Thos. Monk, just beyond the city limits, occupied by colored people, was broken open and robbed of two vests, two pairs of pants, one coat, one doublebarreled gun, two pistols, one trunk and a number of other articles, the property of John Mims and Joshua Moseley. A lookout has been kept for the thief ever since, and on Monday last one Bill Hansley, colored, was discovered by Officers C. H. Strode and Simon Richardson with one of Mim's vests on. He was arrested, when a search warrant was forthwith issued by Justice Gardner, and the same night the premises of one Sam. Lurkins, near the Kidder brick yard, in the southeastern part of the city, where Hansley occupied a room, were searched, when the articles above specified were found, the stolen trunk being used as a receptacle for the remainder of the missing property. Belle Fisher, colored, was arraigned on a peace warrant sworn out by Joanna Mc-Rae. Defendant discharged, the prosecutor to pay the costs.

The same defendant, charged with committing assault and battery upon Joanna McRae, was ordered to pay a fine of $10 and the costs.

An Arrest and a Disorderly Crowd. Quite a commotion was created yesterday afternoon, on the south side of Market, be tween Front and Water streets, in consequence of a colored boy being arrested for breaking one of the large glasses in the window of Mr. Wm. Goodman's store. A crowd of colored people collected at that point and dispute ran high as to the propriety of the arrest, some of the most noisy of the disputants contending that the boy who was arrested did not break the glass, - Cadet Midshipman Edwin A. while others claimed that the arrest was all right any way, as the boy taken to the guard house was seen throwing rocks, which is in itself a violation of a city ordinance. The dispute continued until a policeman came along and dispersed the disorderly

Exciting Runaway.

Considerable excitement was created for few moments at the intersection of Front and Market streets yesterday afternoon about 7 o'clock, by a runaway horse, which, without any vehicle attached, but with traces dangling at his heels, came dashing down Market street, and turned the corner in front of McIlhenny's drug store with such suddenness that several ladies made a narrow escape from being run over, while the horse slipped and fell upon the rough Belgian pavement and slided upon its surface the distance of about ten or twelve feet; but strange to say received no serious damage.

WHO IS MRS. WINSLOW?—As this question is frequently asked, we will simply say that she is a lady who for upwards of forty years has untiringly devoted her time and talents as a Female Physician and nurse, principally among children. She has especially studied the constitution and wants of this numerous class, and, as a result of this effort, and practical knowledge obtained in a lifetime spent as nurse and physician, she has compounded a Soothing Syrup for children teething. It operates like magic—giving rest and health, and is moreover sure to regulate the bowels.
