The Chicago Times estimates the Himos corn crop at three-fifths of that of 1880. All of the Western corn States have suffered from drouth and the corn crop will be reduced very considerably.

A Gen. V. D. Groner, of Virginia, is one of Mahone's "ancients." He is confident that Cameron and Company will sweep the stakes. He says the Legislature will be for the Mahone set. If all this prove false what a Groner he will be.

Jay Gould controls 11,714 miles of railway, exclusive of 1,200 miles be yond the United States. The roads represent $646,500,002. And still this "magnate" is not satisfied. He sticks his little finger in his eye and weeps for yet other conquests.

Hammond has been the victim of a hoax. A fellow named Tingle, a regular fraud, called on the Doctor and bamboozled him from the top of his head down to his very toes. Said the delightful Tingle:

"Well, it is important business that brings Secretary Lincoln and the other Secretaries here. In fact, there has been a big scene at the White House within the last twenty-four hours. Secretary Blaine has resigned, and Vice President Arthur has been called to Washington to act as Vice President. I am on my way to General Arthur's house now. continued Mr. Tingle, rubbing his hands together and smiling confi-'Windom and Hunt are there in consultation with General Arthur, General Grant, Mr. Conkling and George Blies. Mrs. Garfield has lost confidence in the physicians that are attending the President. When I was at the White House I heard them very severely criticised, Dr. Agnew being the only one out of the lot that was excepted. Mrs. Garfield wanted me to ask you whom you considered the ablest surgeon in this city.' A name was mentioned. 'I am not sure,' said Mr. Tingle, 'but you yourself will be asked to go to Washington and take charge of the case. One thing is certain, there must be a change of physicians,"

Hammond fixed up his travelling bag, got ready to start for Washington, and called around to see Secretary Lincoln, but he had not been there. Hammond was merely sold;

"The Wilmington STAR places the population of Richmond at 60,000. Be just, friend, if you cannot be generous. Richmond had nearly sixtyfive thousand at the census taken over a year ago, and now we have no doubt our population is over 70,000, considering the large number of new dwellings that have been erected and the scarcity of houses for rent."-Richmond State.

Why, certainly, we will be both just and generous towards "Big Richmond." We love Virginia and Richmond too; that is, we love the State and city both. To show what early predilections we had for Richmond, we may add that we were born in Petersburg, but left that hamlet when we were just six months old and moved both our body and bank account to the now big city on the James. Could anything show with more positiveness our appreciation of Richmond? We now "see" the 60,-000 and "raise it" 10,000.

Mr. Sessions, the boss corruptionist of the New York Legislature, has been dropped, after 50 ballots, by his home supporters. They refused to renominate him for the State Senate. That was right. He is a corrupt fellow. But unfortunately whilst the place in Albany that knew him will know him no more, or for a while, there will be dozens of members elect just as willing to be corrupt as Sessions was. It is notorious that for years the New York Legislature has been composed of many leading, corrupt politicians, the leading papers being witnesses.

If they construct a roadway he will no doubt iron and equip it.

- Raleigh Recorder: Of Oxford and its prospects it is difficult to spaak. To all human appearance it will now grow into a large and flourishing centre of trade. New residences and new warehouses are the order of the day, while the large influx of business men, both from North Carolina and Virginia, are crowding its streets with the best brain and best morals of the land. We congratulate Oxford and its good people.

- Raleigh Visitor: A Raleigh girl at Morehead was the innocent cause of a sensation the other day. The fair damsel appeared on the piazza of the Atlantic Hotel in a breezy muslin dress. Her tootsie wootsies were encased in low slippers. Following an absurd fashion, she wore on one leg a black silk stocking, and on the other a fiery red. A Raleigh man, also at the same resort, sat a few feet away. Looking at the lady and her pretty hose, he remarked in a voice audible all over the pie azza: "Bet five dollars on the red."

Nearly all the able-bodied hands were carried out of this county last winter by the superior inducements offered by the turpentine men. Severely Shocked. In our issue of Wednesday we mentioned the circumstance of a runaway horse turning the corner of Front and Market streets very suddenly, the previous evening, and making a narrow escape from running over two or three young ladies who were crossing the street at the time. The same horse, only a few moments before, had run violently against Mr. R. Thorburn, at the intersection of Second and Market streets, knocking him down and injuring his leg. The "Boom" in Corn and What has Caused It. The mails close and arrive at the City There is one subject in which we are all Post Office as follows:

wont to feel a very lively interest, and that is the matter of meat and bread. Touching the latter branch of the important question, it is hardly necessary at this late period to remind our readers that the article of corn has lately been on a regular "boom" in the various grain markets of the country. In Wilmington, acknowledged to be one of the best grain markets in the South, the price of corn has jumped upwards of twenty cents within the last few weeks. In our issue of August 15th the wholesale quotations were 621 to 63 cents for mixed and 64 cents for white, in bulk, 641 to 65 cents for mixed and 65 to 66 cents for white, in bage. Today our quotations are, from store, there being no corn offered on the market, mixed 95 cents and white $1 00 to $1 024. Of course it is well known that the drought and consequent short crops have brought about this result. The Chicago Times, of a recent date, speaking of corn crops in the West. says: "Three-fifths of a crop, as compared with last year, appears to be a fair estimate for the State of Illinois. The crop of 1880. it must be remembered, however, was a remarkably large one. This fact tends to bring this year's average crop close up to that of ordinary years of production and smaller acreage. Reports from Iowa, the rival of Illinois as a corn producing State, are not altogether harmonious. In no section, however, is a full crop expected. The varying reports appear to be due to the fact that many sections were less severely visited by drought than others. The yield, compared with last year, is, in some localities, placed as low as 50 per cent., and the average bushels per acre at 20 to 25, instead of the usual 75 or 80 bushels. In Missouri the drought was severe and long, and the prospects in that State are that the crops will be cut down from one-quarter to onehalf. The crop of Kansas also appears likely to fall considerably below the average of usual years. In other States the drought was more or less severely felt, and the crop does not by any means promise to be a full one, as compared with years of the greatest production. In our own State of North Carolina the drought has also been very severe. Some of our leading operators in grain, who have correspondents in the various parts of the State, think that in the Eastern belt of North Carolina, embracing from forty to fifty miles above Wilmington, the crop will be a fair one; while in the middle part of the State the yield will be very shortprobably not a half crop-and in the Western belt of counties the crop will very likely fall short over one-third. The wheat crop will be pretty fair in all parts of the State where it is grown.

WHO IS MRS. WINSLOW !—As this question is frequently asked, we will simply say that she is a lady who for upwards of forty years has untiringly devoted her time and talents as a Female Physician and nurse, principally among children. It operates like magic—giving rest and health, and is moreover sure to regulate the bowels. In consequence of this article Mrs. Winslow is becoming world remowned as a benefactor of the race; children certainly de arms up and bless her; especially is this the case in this city.
