that Dr. Hamilton saved the President's life last Saturday. All hope was gone. He lingered after the dressing, when lo, he discovered that "the yolks of eggs which had formed part of the enemata administered to the President for several days previously had not been assimilating thoroughly, if at all, and were poisoning the system. Without waiting to make known his discovery or to consult with any of his associates, he seized his hat and rushed out to a drug store, where he purchased a supply of powdered charcoal. He returned quickly and immediately administered an enema containing a large proportion of the sharcoal. The effect was apparent almost immediately, and the incident marked the turning point in the President's condition. There is scarcely any doubt the presence of this undigested mass was the cause of the glandular affection, which came so near terminating the life of the President." But "cundurango" Bliss said that "it was whiskey" that saved the President.

"Letters are in the city from parts of North Carolina which state the merchants and people down there have never heard of the Yorktown Centennial, and it is suggested that prompt measures be adopted to bring them to a proper knowledge of it."-Richmond State.

Where can those "parts" be? Why, the State is ablaze, and the drums are beating and the ear-piercing fife is blowing, and such a rubbing up of rusty swords and muskets has not been seen since the "late unpleasantness." Haven't heard of it, eh! You as Jesup, almost a complete wreck.

The State Printing. (Charlotte Democrat.)

The next Legislature of North Carlina (no matter what its politics) will be asked to give the Public Printing or State Printing, to the lowest bidder who can give a good bond and security for the faithful performance of the work. No taxpayer will object to that, and no party or office-aspirant can consistently find fault with such a proposition. Let us come down to plain business principles in conducting and managing the State government. It shall be seen who is willing to practice what they preach about proper economy in public affairs.

North Carolina Politics. Washington Correspondent of the Balti-

WASHINGTON, August 30 .- Prominent politicians of both parties from North Carolina who are in town today express the opinion that the prohibitory liquor question, which has recently been the cause of so much excitement in that State, will have no appreciable influence upon the future politics in the State. Leading members of both parties were on one side or the other of this question, but now that it has been settled they will return to their party allegiance. Next year the general election will take lace, and there is no doubt that the Democrats will, as usual, sweep the State and have a reliable majority in the Legislature.

THE PARTIES APROIDATE. THE INTENDED PURCHASE OF THE VIRGINIA MIDLAND COMPLETED.

Special to Charleston News and Courier. RICHMOND, September 1.-Intelligence has been received here that the sale of the Virginia Midland was today effected in New York, the purchasers being the Richmond & Dan-ville Railroad. Negotiations for this sale have been pending for two weeks,

The news comes from Washington | and other leading members of the | syndicate are now in New York. Col. M. R. Talcott, the general manager of the Richmond & Danville Railroad here, makes the following statement of the matter: The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company, which owns a controlling interest in the Virginia Midland Railroad, has sold its Virginia Midland stock to a syndicate at the head of which is Mr. John S. Barbour, the president of the road. Mr. Barbour's associates are parties who are largely interested in the Richmond & Danville Syndicate, and it is believed that by reason of this common ownership in the two properties more harmonious relations between them will hereafter exist, and that the interest of both will be promoted. About three years ago the Pennsylvania Company gave up its interest south of the Potomac by selling its stock in the Richmond & Danville to a party of gentleman interested in the welfare of Richmond, and now comes the Baltimore & Ohio giving up its in-terest south of the Potomac. It is understood that the road is an independent property, and for the present no material changes will be

REPORTS FROM SAVANNAH.

THE TURPENTINE INTEREST -- THE DAMAGES ESTIMATED AT $100,000. The following extracts are from the Savannah Morning News: We have received the following from Messrs. A. T. Lee & Bro., of this city, in regard to the damage done the turpentine interest in this section by the late storm. One of the firm has just returned from a trip on the Savannah, Florida and Western Railway, and the result of his observations and examinations is as "We have to report that every turpentine farm on the line of the railroad and adjacent there to 1s, as far In most of cases there is total destruction, and the places have been abandoned for continued operations. The loss is irreparable. The lowest estimate of the damage sustained in that section will amount to more than one hundred thousand dollars. Had the storm extended to all sections as disastrously it would have entirely destroyed the turpentine interest. Reports show while it was very disastrous generally, the farms were not totally destroyed, as was the case in the section before mentioned."

President Best has invited about one hundred and fifty men along the line of his road to accompany him as his guests on a trip to Morehead. The party will go down on Saturday and remain until Monday. The mill in question, is located on Httch-

The News Observer says: There were several trees, some of considerable size, around the engine house. These were actually torn up by the roots, their tops blown off, their their trunks rent and twisted. The large timbers and sills of the house, some of the latter being of solid pine, ten inches square, were broken to bits. The engine house was simply blown away. The engine was dismantled and made a perfect wreck. The gin house to which the young man Richard Taylor went is about fifty yards from where the gin stood. Strange to say, it was not blown down, but several pieces of the ex-ploded engine were hurled through the house, making holes like cannon shot. - Weldon News: The prospects for a successful fair are bright. The time fixed for the exhibition has been well chosen and large numbers will doubtless be present. This fair has become an institution of the Eastern part of the State and everybody makes it an occasion for an ana nual reunion. ——Sometime since a man by the name of Merritt went through North ampton, Bertie and other counties selling unstamped tobacco. As the train came in the horses, frightened, backed in and across the platform until a wheel of the phaton was caught between two freight cars. In an instant the horses were dashed to the platform, and torn loose from the harness, while the phæton was swept along the western face of the depot, tearing away as it went the solid beams which rise to the level of the roof. People on the platform ran, terror-stricken, into the open doors, and thus fortunately no one was hurt. The vehicle was entirely wrecked, and one of the horses cut to the flank.

- Wadesboro Times: We have to record another sad accident that occurred on Wednesday of last week, about three miles west of here. Elisha Horne, a lad of 13 years, and son of the late Jas. E. Horne, was run over by the wheel of an ox car and killed. The cart was loaded with wood On Friday last, while leaving the de-pot with a load of lumber, Mr. Lankford L. Treadaway met with a severe accident that cost him his life. It seems that the wagon had been loaded, a negro boy was driving and Mr. Treadaway was seated upon the top of the lumber. The boy was just driving over the Cheraw railroad track when an engine was steaming up from the depot.
The mules, seeing the engine, became frightened and turning round began to run away. The boy jumped off, and Mr. Treadaway undertook to do so too, but fell, and one leg resting on the railroad bar, the wagon wheel ran over it, breaking the thigh one midway between the knee and hip. He was taken home near by and medical aid summoned immediately. Being an old man, the shock was more than he could stand. He fell into a comatose state that night, and remained so until his death which occurred Monday morning.

John Williams alias "Dummy," a colored man who has achieved some notoriety by cutting up queer capers on the streets and frightening women and children, for which he has on more than one occasion been made acquainted with the internal arrangements of the city prison, was arrested Thursday on the charge of stealing a pisto from a colored woman named Rosa Brown and using it in such a mannner in her presence as to create the impression that he intended to shoot her. The case was heard before one of the magistrates yesterday and Williams was ordered to give bond in the sum of $100 to appear at the next term of the Criminal Court to answer to the charge of larceny, and an additional bond in the same amount to answer to the charge of carrying a concealed weapon, in default of which he was committed jail. We are earnestly requested to state that the Carolina Central Railroad Company is now fully supplied with conductors of all grades, and has innumerable applications that must be refused. Capt. Johnson's peace of mind has been not a little disturbed during the hot weather by the numerous and persistent visitors who have called to tell him "what I know about running a train;" but he is at all events convinced that if you want anything you have only to let the public know it through the newspapers, and then to hire a hall and reception committee.

WHO IS MRS. WINSLOW !—As this question is frequently asked, we will simply say that she is a lady who for upwards of forty years has untiringly devoted her time and telents as a Female Physician and nurse, principally among children. She has especially studied the constitution and wants of this numerous class, and, as a result of this effort, and practical knowledge obtained in a lifetime spent as nurse and physician, she has compounded a Soothing Syrup for children teething. It operates like magic—giving rest and health, and is moreover sure to regulate the bowels. In consequence of this article Mrs. Winslow is becoming world renowned as a benefactor of the race; children certainly de rise up and bless her; especially is this the case in this city. Vast quantities of the Soothing Syrup are DALLY sold and used here. We think Mrs. Winslow has immortalized her name by this invaluable article, and we sincerely believe thousands of children have been saved from an early grave by its timely use, and that millions yet unborn will share its berefits, and unite in calling her blessed.
