Leland Leatherman and James Rucker, both of Arkansas City, exchanged shots in a duel at Terrene, Miss. Rucker was hit in the left side, wound supposed to be fatal; and Leatherman in the arm. Was any wrong righted by this perlormance? We doubt it.

It does read well to an American when he sees Iroquois winner of both the Derby and St. Leger in one year; and Foxhall victor at Paris in the Grand Prize race. Do not forget that Iroquois also won this year the Newmarket and Prince of Wales. Four in all. Laurels enough for 1881.

Attorney General MacVeagh cannot account for Dr. Bliss's lying. He says plainly "his statements are misstatements of facts." Bliss is a very circumstantial liar, if not an ingenious one. Haverly's Mastodon Minstreis. In the Richmond Dispatch of Tuesday ast we find the following very complimentary allusions to the troupe that is to play at our Opera House to-night :

"Mr. John H. Haverly's New Mastodon Minstrels, the aggregation embracing forty first-class performers in the several special departments of Ethiopian minstrelsy, of which Haverly is now the representative head in the United States, appeared for the first time this season at the Richmond Theatre last night before the largest audience assembled in that building for many years. The receipts were nearly $1,000. The entire performance was exceptionally good many of the pieces and specialties meeting with enthusiastic encores. There were many ladies present. The programme was quite lengthy, but all faithfully and artistically given, nothing being slurred. There were ten end-men, the essence of whose fun seemed to be concentrated in Messrs. Mc-Allister, Spencer and Cushman, who took the house by storm by their comicalities and witticisms. All the properties, effects, and even the music, were original with this troupe, and the costumes rich and varied, such as only is seen usually in first-class theatres. Part the first embraced many songs whose sweet tones were first heard by Richmond audience last night. Then followed operatic selections from the late and most popular productions, succeeded by Harry Robinson's grotesque merial flight, the 'Corn-cob' family (plantation sketch), banjo solos by Hall, the inimitable; Cush-
