DEATH OF THE PRESIDENT.

JAMES A. GARFIELD, President of the United States, is no more. He died at Francklyn Cottage, Elberon, New fersey, last night at 10.30 o'clock. After a long and painful sickness borne with marked fortitude, the first citizen of our great Republic has passed into the eternal silence. The country has been prepared gradually for this sad event. When it fet the great shock on July 2d last, when it was flashed throughout the land that he had been shot down m open day by the assassin Guiteau, the consternation and horror were to mendous, and men of all parties, and all sections and classes and condriens, deplored the dastardly act, and one common lamentation and thrill of sadness filled the great popu lar heart. All through the more than eleven weeks that have elapsed there has been a growing apprehensom that his death might occur soon, Suffering from many relapses, at each one the fears were intensified that he would not rally. At last the solemn summons has come, and the President of fifty millions of people stands in the presence of the Great Ruler of nations and of individuals. His physicians doubtless did all they could, but they were powerless to stay the summons. Death, that is inevitable to the human race, has stilled his heart forever. All tois vast country, in every city and town and hamlet and home, the deepest regret will be llis tragical fate will reader his name immortal. His memory will be surrounded by a halo that otherwise would never have encircled it. The voice of party will be hushed over the country's melanchely and startling bereavement. The extreme men of all sections will for the time cease their discords. Out of the common sorrow may we not trust that good to the country may come and sectionalism, once so fierce and unforgiving, may never again dominate and wound.

PRESIDENT GARFIELD was in the prime of his physical and intellectual manhood. He was born on the 19th of November, 1831, and would have been, therefore, fifty years of age if he had lived until another anniversary of his birthday. He was a native of Orange, Ohio.

Courage to make love known?" No man with a half a heart can fail to isment the "deep dampation of his taking off." Every manly beart will sorrow with the bereaved widow and the fatherless children. From hundreds of thousands of pious hearts there will be offered up sincere and fervent prayers to Almighty God that His grace and blessing may comfort and sustain the aged mother, the sorrowing wife, and the weeping children in the dark, sad hour of a great visitation. If a people's prayers, if a people's sympathy, if a people's profound anxiety and smoore sorrow could have prevented the great calamity, JAMES A. GARFIELD Would have lived long in the land of his fathers and been gathered at a green old age at last into the heavenly fold. To-day, in these United States, there is one vast congregation of mourners.

We do not now propose to consider the effect of the President's death upon the future of the country. We must hope that his successor may disappoint his enemies, put to naught all evil forebodings, and prove himself a man - a country-lover, a statesman in the broadest sense, and the President of a united, free, and prosperous country. Amen!

The late Gen. Burnside bore the character of a very honest and reliable man. True to his convictions, he waged war with humane and chivalric impulses. In his monetary transactions he was the soul of honor. The South knows well how to appreciate such a man and how to honor him. It only despises those who carry on war in the midst of peace.

He has recently been through Wayne, Duplin, Onslow, Jones, Lenoir, Craven and Greene counties, and says that crops in all of them have been ruined by the drought. - Rockingham Bes: At about 12 o'clock M. last Monday night our people were aroused from their slumbers by the cries of fire and the ringing of bells. It was soon found that the lurid glare proceeded from the premises of Mr. James B. Terry, where the red flames were licking up the residence and household effects. As quick as possible many people were on the spot with all available means to stop the progress of the flames, but too late to save the dwelling, which was totally destroyed

Vance has taken the part of the people of this State, and is making a fight in behalf of North Carolina against the discriminations made against our people; therefore, Resolved, That we, business men of Charlotte, endorse the course of Senator Vance in each and every particular in this contest with the Olyde syndicate in behalf of the interests of our State; and that we will support Senator Vance in every way in our power, feeling confident that in this contest Senator Vance is right, and is sustaining, as far as he can, the rights of the people of North Carolina; and, further, Resolved, That the course pursued by the Charlotte Observer in this controversy does not in any respect reflect the opinions of the business men of Char-

The company has a membership of seventy and will wear the State service uniform. - A Springfield gas machine is in the middle of Hargett street, at its intersection with Salisbary street, and furnishes light for Joseph's saloon. Yesterday afternoon a negro lad, 10 years of age, named Daniel Biggs, went down the manhole of the excavation and struck a match to see how much gasoline was in the copper tank. Mr. Robert Loader, an employe at Joseph's, and Allen Terrell, colored, were above the tank and leaning forward to watch operations. Suddenly the gas in the space around the tank caught fire from the match and a sheet of flame poured out of the manhole. Mr. Loader and the negro Terrell received the fire right in their faces and were badly scorched. Strange to say, the little negro in the pit did not experience so much injury as those outside, but, nevertheless, he was singed and blistered by the fismes.

Yesterday Governor Jarvis, one of the three commissioners of the Western North Carolina Railroad, returned to the city, after spending a week in the work of examnation of that road in company with the other commissioners. A part at least of the results of their visit and inspection will appear from the following letter, taken from the "commissioners' book," which we copied. The number of miles of track laid since our last inspection is about fourteen. The track-laying on the line we found in rapid progress. — We found as a fact that since our last inspection, on the 28d of June, the work on both lines has been pushed forward with diligence and energy. On the 16th, we met for consultation at the Eagle Hotel, in the town of Asheville, and after making up this record, addressed the following letter to Messrs. W. P. Clyde, T. M. Logan and A. S. Buford, to-wit: Here the record, as prepared, abruptly stops, and we could get no permission last evening to copy the letter, which had not been entered in the book but were assured that it could be published in our next issue. It is understood, however, that Commissioners Jarvis and Worth agreed to give an extension of time for the completion of the work, and this, it would appear, is the substance of the letter to Colonel Buford. Governor Jarvis did not so state, and, fact, positively refused last evening to speak about the matter, or to permit any synopsis or summary of the letter to be made, though requested by the reporter to do so. -New York, September 17, 1881. -Hon. T. J. Jarvis, Governor:-We have purchased five thousand tons best English steel rails for the Midland, to be delivered during November, December and January.

Still at Large. Deng Stock Along the Rallroad. The carcasses of three dead cows are ying on the side of the railroad between Smith Creek trestle and the County Poor House, and the stench from them is fearful. They got out of their pasture during the late storm, strayed to the railroad and were run over and killed. A wire fence has now been run from the trestle to a point near the Poor House, as a protection against the raids of stock upon the railroad track.

Indications. The following are the indications for the Bouth Atlantic States to-day: Fair weather, except possibly local rains 9:80 A. M. in the Southern portion, variable winds, shifting to southerly, stationary barometer

-The nights lately have been cool and good for sleeping.

- Receipts of cotton at this port yesterday 168 bales.

- Mr. W. W. McDiarmid, of the Robesonian, was here on a business visit

- The young folks are getting their books ready for school, the summer vacation being hearly ended.

- Gen. Manning arrived home Sunday night from his trip of Your months at the North, and is in greatly improved.

- Elias Duffy and Belle Fisher, both colored, were sent to jail yesterday for nunpayment of costs in Justice Millis' court, the former for trespass and the latter for assault and battery. - The receipts of cotton at this port during the week ending yesterday footed up 3,050 bales, as against 2,914 bales for the corresponding period last year, showing an increase of 143 bales in favor

- Mr. O. J. Boyd, the general agent of Robinson's Circus, is the right man in the right place, and by his pleasant manners and gentlemanly deportment makes friends for himself and the concern he represents wherever he goes.

- We notice from a paragraph in the Newbern Commercial News that the Schr. Elizabeth, of Edenton, is loading with material for the life-saving station to be erected near the mouth of the Cape Fear River. It is all prepared in Newbern for immediate erection.

- Nathan Graham, a colored 'looney," who has been banging around Wilmington for a long time, and who has been in the Insane department at the County Poor House several times and once in the Asylum at Goldsboro, is said to have connected himself with the circus at Laurinburg as a laborer, in which case Wilmington stands some showing of getting clear of a great nuisance.

Magistrate's Court. Christopher Miller, of Cape Fear town ship, was before Justice Gardner, yesterday morning, on the charge of committing an assault and battery upon Hannah Fonville, colored, by striking her with a stick. Defendant was adjudged guilty and required to pay a fine of one penny and the costs.

Dan Brasal had a hearing before Justice Millis, on a peace warrant sworn out by George Baker, colored. Case dismissed at the cost of the prosecutor.

James Henderson, colored, was arraigned on the charge of committing an assault and battery upon Dan Brasal, in which case judgment was suspended on the payment of the costs; and then Dan Brasal was hauled up for committing an assault and battery upon James Henderson, for which he was fined $1 and the costs.

A Ripple of Excitement. Considerable excitement was created for few moments on Second, between Market and Princess [streets, yesterday afternoon, by a difficulty between an old white man from the country and a young colored man, which drew together a large crowd, They hitched, and the old man, notwithstanding his gray hairs, was about to get the best of his young and supple antagonist, when the parties were separated, and the ripple of excitement subsided as quickly as it had appeared upon the calm and serene Delegation from the Country. There was a large number of country people in the city yesterday, mostly from Pender county, who came here to see John Robinson's circus. The steamer John Dawon brought down quite a large crowd, and a still larger number came by rail. We hear that many others intended to come but got disappointed.

Robinson's Circus exhibited here yesterday afternoon and night to tremendous crowds at each performance. The menagerie in extent, variety and quality of the specimens is excellent; the ant bear, rhinoceros and one or two others of the collection being especially rare. The circus proper was of the old style, and very good indeed throughout, several features being exceedingly fice. The acrobatic feats of the Ashton Bros. were very difficult and were decidedly the best of the kind ever seen here; in fact, this was we thought the act of the performance. Mr. Geo. Holland is an accomplished rider and did all of his work in masterly style, easily and gracefully, notwithstanding the great disadvantage of having a soft sandy ring. We have not time to hotice each of the performers separately, but all of them acquitted themselves very creditably, and on the whole we think Old John Robinson has a splendid menagerie and a squarely good circus, that will please all fond of similar entertainments.

In conclusion, and with all due respect, we would suggest to Mr. Lowlow, an excellent clown and clever gentleman, the propriety of dropping several little things that mar his fun very much, and, however innocent he regards the business, appear to the audience as decidedly bordering on the indecent.

Mayor's Court. Aaron Jones, colored, was arraigned on the charge of being drunk and disorderly near the foot of Market street Saturday night, about half-past 8 o'clock, and resisting the policeman who arrested him, for which he was ordered to pay a fine of $10 or be imprisoned for thirty days.

Susan Mary Frank, an old acquaintance n police circles, had a hearing on the charge of acting disorderly in the "Hollow" Saturday night, about 11 o'clock, and was sent below for five days.

- A telegram was received by Mesers. Williams & Murchison, yesterday morning, to the effect that the river was again falling.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP.—Rev. Sylvanus Cobb thus writes in the "Boston Christian Freeman":—We would by no means recommend any kind of medicine which we did not know to be good—particularly for infants. But of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing byrup we can speak from knowledge; in our own family it has proved a blessing indeed, by giving an infant troubled with colic pains, quiet sleep, and its parents unbroken rest at night. Most parents can appreciate these blessings. Here is an article which works to perfection, and which is harmless; for the sleep which it affords the infant is perfectly natural, and the little cherub swakes as "bright as a button." And during the process of teething its value is incalculable. We have frequently heard mothers say they would net be without it from the birth of the child till it had finished with the teething siege, on any considerafinished with the teething siege, on any considera-tion whatever. Sold by all druggists. 25 cents a bottle.
