It is now said that U.S. Grant is going into politics in New York State. Ulysses is hard to satisfy. His thirst is insatiable.

A private word for President Arthur. Don't take any third term in yours. The country will become dreadfully sick if you do.

Colonel W. E. Cameron, Repudiationist candidate for Governor in Virginia, expresses himself as confident of his own election.

The Virginians are tremendously enthusiastic over their candidate for Governor, John W. Daniel. They say he has a way of making folks

The President has a son seventeen years of age, named after him, and a daughter eleven years old named Nellie. He has one brother, Major William Arthur, U. S. Army, and three married sisters.

The Raleigh News-Observer contains Gov. Jarvis's Proclamation calling upon the people to assemble on Monday next in the places of worship between the hours of 2 o'clock and 4 o'clock P. Guiteau says he is lawyer enough to know that he needs first rate talent to defend him. He fears strangers and does not feel confident that he is safe from his guards. A Washington dispatch in the Baltimore Sun, dated 22nd, says: There is no doubt but that he does stand in some danger from the guards, as they, like the soldiers who do duty on the outside of the jail, are very much worked up on the subject. One of them, after visiting the remains of the President to-day, was heard to remark: "The easiest and best way to dispose of the wretch is for some one to kill him, and if the chance is offered it may be done yet." Though there seemed to be but little doubt on the subject when it wast first agitated members of the bar are almost equally divided on the question whether or not Guiteau can be tried here, where the as-sault was made, instead of New Jersey, where the death took place."

VOL. XXIX.--NO. 3.

WILMINGTON, N. C., SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1881.

WHOLE NO. 4941

Mr. W.J. Yates announces in the last number of the Charlotte Democrat that on October 1st it will be consolidated with the Southern Home, and be under the control of Mr. Strong, the editor of the latter. We regret sincerely that this veteran editor retires from the profession in which he has rendered valuable service to the State. Under his long management the Democrat has wielded a large influence in the section in which it circulates extensively. North Carolina has had no more honest, independent editor than W. J. Yates. He has done what he thought was right, and we honor him. We must hope that old habits and a genuine love for the editorial rooms will bring him back to the craft before many years. He has earned a good, long holiday, and

Gen. Roger A. Prior, at a meeting of the sailors and soldiers of Kings county, N. Y., made an eloquent speech that was applauded very loudly. We give a brief paragraph:

"Untimely though his end might seem, he had lived enough for his own glory. The stroke that removed him from the the atre of action consecrated him in the heart of the Nation, lent a tragic pathos to his fate, and invested his memory with the halo of a sacrificial offering. Hereafter, as often as men shall revert to the incidents of this catastrophe-and the sad story will be a theme of undying interest—they will accord to the martyr the tear of pity and the homage of veneration. Already, in the manifestations of mourning, prevalent throughout the South, we discern the tokens of that union of hearts which is the surest safeguard of the union of States. And who will repel the fond belief that, in the presence of this awful catastrophe, the clamor of sectional contention will be softened and subdued into a plaintive strain of fraternal sympathy; and that, around the bier of our departed President, the scattered children of the household will be gathered into the embrace of a reconciled and reunited family. So may it be, and may the life of the Republic be as invulnerable and immortal as the career of its chief was brief and precarious.

The Army of the Cumberland met at Chattanooga on the 22d. The blue and the gray were represented largely and the fraternal union was pleasant and harmonious. An account says.

"At 12 o'clock all the bells in the city were tolled, and business was suspended by proclamation of the Mayor, and several thousand ex-Federal and ex-Confederate soldiers formed in line and marched to Cameron Hill, where the requiem exercises of the day were to take place. An immense flag-staff had been erected on the apex of the hill, and around this the ex-soldiers formed. As the Confederate division of the procession reached the crown of the hill their band played 'Dixie,' and they followed cheering, which was lustily responded to by the Federals. The marshals of the two divisions of the procession, each with four aids, saluted and marched to the staff, and the flag, draped in mourning, was hoisted to the breeze by Maj. M. Grant, late of the Federal army, and Maj. J. L. McCullom, late of the Confederate service. As the flag was being raised the band played the 'Star Spangled Banner,' and the crowd, estimated at 10,000, loudly cheered. The flag was then lowered to half-mast, the band playing 'Nearer, My God, to Thee,' and all present standing with uncovered heads. The solemnity of this feature was awe-inspiring, for during the rendition of the hymn it seemed as if the whole assembly stood with bated breath.

It is said that President Garfield's life was insured for $58,000.

- A horse attached to a dray started at the foot of Princess street yesterday morning, with the evident intention of getting up a little excitement in the shape of a runaway, but it turned out to be a miserable failure, the animal having exhausted his energies by the time he reached Front street, where he came to a stand-still.

An Alleged Annoyance to the Travelling Public.

We understand that the Signal Service telegraph wires on the main Brunswick road, between Wilmington and the South Carolina line, are so arranged as to seriously interfere with the rights of the travelling public. The ground of the complaint, as we understand, is to the effect that the posts are in some instances placed on alternate sides of the road to avoid the necessity of too much work, it is supposed, in the way of cutting down trees, removing the same, etc. The consequence is that the wires are frequently sagging down across the road so as to prove an annoyance to travellers, and are liable in the night time to take a person under the chin and hurl him from his saddle, with the chance of seriously injuring him. We are requested to direct the attention of the proper parties to

The Labor Question. Lewis Sheridan, colored, was arrested yesterday on the charge of violating Chapter 70 of Battle's Revisal, published by us a few days ago, in having procured or incited a party, after having contracted to work with a certain employer, to leave the service of said employer. Defendant was recognized for his appearance before one of our magistrates at some future day.

Mr. F. L. Perly, who has been here for a week or two past in advance of Coup's Circus, made numerous friends and ably represented his employer's interests. In several year's experience we have never met a more gentlemanly or efficient agent, and any concern is to be congratulated on having such an affable and competent attache.

HONORS TO THE DEAD.

Recommendations of the Mayor-Public Meeting at the Opera House, &c. The recommendations of His Honor, Mayor Smith, in regard to the observance of to-morrow, the day set apart for the funeral services of the late President Garfield, will be found in our advertising columns. We suppose the day will be very generally observed by a suspension of business, &c. At half-past 2 o'clock a public meeting will be held at the Opera House, to take such action as may be deemed necessary in reference to the death of the President. Minute guns will be fired by the Cape Fear Light Artillery, and the members of the company are notified to meet at Market dock at 1.30 p. m. for that purpose.

Memorial Services Monday.

We are requested to state that the congregations of the Methodist, Lutheran, Presbyterian and Baptist Churches will hold joint services to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock, at the First Baptist church. These services will be expressive of sorrow at the death of President Garfield, as well as submission to God, under the great bereavement which has caused the country

There will be a joint service of the congregations of St. James', St. John's, and casion. St. Paul's churches at St. James' church at 11 o'clock on Monday morning.

At the Opera House.

Mr. Owens is to be well received if the the sale of reserved seats is a fair criterion to judge from, and we are certain none who go to see his performance will have any occasion to regret so doing. We have previously quoted several articles as to his ability as a comedian, and to many here his impersonations are familiar and thought of very highly. Those who have not secured their seats can do so to-morrow at the Purcell House, as Messrs. Dyer & Son will be
