ounce for American, and the best brands of ounce for American, and the best brands of the foreign article can be bought for from $1.80 to $1.85 an ounce. The price of quinine in September, 1877, was $2.92; in September, 1878, $5.90, and in September, 1879, $3.35 per ounce, when the duty had ceased in June of that year. That is, the price of quinine has fallen off about 50 per cent, through the repeal of a 20 per cent. duty ! This is an eloquent fact, and one that should appeal to the reason and interest of every intelligent citizen."

Read, populer these figures and do not be humbugged with the one-sided palaver of Protectionists. It would work the same way, no doubt, with all the articles now in the American Tariff if they were made free of tax or duty. In five years after the duty was repealed every article would be cheaper in spite of all combinations. It is true certain manufacturers would be injured for a season, possibly for all time. But what of it? Shall fifty million people be taxed from 20 to 75 per cent. for the benefit of a million? Is robbery under the forms of law to be tolerated and indorsed? But let us look at the quinine matter further by aid of the Register. In point of fact no manufacturers of quinine have been injured seriously, and no mechanics have been thrown out as was prophecied by those interested. The Register says:

"Since the repeal of the duty the American quinine, by reason of its excellence, commands a market price one-eighth higher than the foreign article, the price of an in-valuable drug has been reduced 50 per cent., and the American manufacturers are not only not ruined but are employing more men than ever through the increased de-mand for quinine resulting from a reduced price. The only persons who suffered are the manufacturers, and even they have suf-fered no wrong. They had no right to charge consumers 50 per cent. above the present price when the tax was only 20 per cent. By so doing they were robbing the people of the United States of not less than one dollar on every ounce of quinine they sold. The repeal of the tax proves this robbery, for the mannfacturers are now doing a much larger business than ever before, employing many more men and selling quinine at one-half of the former price." The Southern people, if they are wise, will reflect long before they become the advocates of a High Protective Tariff. It will be well to continue a Tariff for revenue, but reducing it as far as the necessities of the country will allow. That the

"He imitated nobody. He was unlike anyone else. He was odd at times, but great in his address. If not always sparkling, he was never dull. He was sometimes rapid in his speaking, yet deliberate always; earnest, but cool; pressed his an-tagonist in controversy with great vigor, yet gave up gracefully when out-voted; chained his hearers by his intensely sug-gestive thoughts or startled them in his brilliant contrasts. He was wonderful in his fractheres in his fractheres in his power of endurance, in his freshness, in his versatility, in his broad, good humor, in his striking common sense. 'The secret of Dr. Robinson's power,' said an admirer in attempting to daguerreotype the man some rears ago, 'in his directness, simplicity, scripturalness, and intense convictions of true.' Of course these traits are mingled with genius, learning and great industry.

These names are arranged according to the amount of production, Pennsylvania leading. There is one mine alone in that State which yields 280,-000 tons, valued at $5,000,000. His keen wit drew out peals of laughter and his eloquence rounds of applause. The old Bishop found it hard to hold the team in hand, skilful driver as he was. The speaker was rung down in the midst of a sentence and promptly yielded, when Rey. Dr. Marshall, of the Methodist Church,

As the African speaker was sitting just back of Dr. Marshall, it was a most natural proceeding for him to turn and offer him his hand in token of the same good will the Southern man cherished to the emancipated race that he had always shown to him while enslaved. This unexpected transaction, evidently so entirely impromptu, was greeted with great

Martins, of Alabama, and Miss Hannah Wilson, of South Carolina-to see whether they are thought good enough for one of the small sets of prize books that the New Shakespeare Society gives yearly to some thirty colleges and schools. Their answers are so creditable, and their arguments against Hamlet's madness so good, that not only have the Society's books been sent to the writers, but the director has added to the prize two copies of Grigg's fac-similes of the first and second quarters of "Hamlet."

Some of the Northern high-protective tariff papers are much gratified that Senator Voorhees improved the occasion, when he stood up at Atlanta before 8,000 people, to make a Protection speech. He wanted the South to come out in favor of that policy. The taste of the Senator might be well questioned, however eloquent or cogent his argumentation. Whilst Senator Voorhees,"the tall sycamore of the Wabash," is distributing his protective patent pills among the 8,000 Southerners, the British Premier, addressing on the 8th inst. 20,000 Englishmen at Leeds, thus refers to Free Trade:

"The progress of the French treaty had met no serious difficulty. He was certain that no government in England would have ever pledged itself to abolish free trade. England had three times as much trade as Germany or America enjoyed. As long as America adhered to protection British commercial supremacy was assured."

So the South would do well to be very careful before it swallows any of Voorhees's Pleasant Patent Sugar Coated Pellets. A little common sense, a close study of the effects of Protection upon the fifty-two millions of American people, might help the 8,000 and all others concerned in estimating at its proper value the grand high-protective tariff humbug.

Let us illustrate one point in connection with Protection. It may enable some to understand just how much of blarney and bamboozlement there is in it. The readers of the STAR will remember our editorials on the quinine monopoly. They will remember how reluctant the Congress was to make that prime necessity free of all duties. They will remember how the Philadelphia monopolists of the article that is used throughout the South so very extensively went to work, first to thwart the advocates of free-quinine, and then after it was made duty-free, how they went to work to make quinine higher, thus attempting to show the people that protection was calculated really to cheapen quinine. The duty was 20 per cent. Said these monopolists, if you lift this tax upon the peoplethe sick people-you will make the precious and indispensable article HIGHER. But has all this come to Tariff for revenue alone can be very moderate one is apparent to al because of the great excess in the revenues of the country at this time. Take September. The decrease in the public debt was $17,443,641 66. For the three months, ending with September the reduction was $41,-742.886 21. This shows what a vast sum is collected from the people and the needless excess. This moves the Philadelphia American, a Protective organ, to say:

"If the monthly rate of reduction were maintained, this would wipe out the debt at the rate of two hundred and ten millions a year, and the quarterly rate would be nearly one hundred and sixty-seven millions. It is no wonder that we find the St. Louis Republican-speaking the mind of many other journals, --- saying that the present revenue system, 'organized to meet an enormous war expenditure, is far too affluent for a time of peace.""

That able paper is for cutting down the present revenue tax heavily. It might be reduced wisely and justly. We favor such a reduction-a reduction that will be sufficient to meet the requirements of the Government. But we favor a tariff for protection also. Not the present high tariff, but one that will raise a certain amount of imports, which, added to reduced internal revenues, will be ample and will not burden the people so greatly.

The Northern papers are again discussing the conduct of the Mississippi Democrats in arranging the election boards. The law is, as stated, that the opposition is entitled to one of the three members; but this was not done. But it is proper to say that the Republican paper at Memphis, the Avalanche, is responsible for the accusation. That paper pretends to be Independent Democratic, but it is reported to be anything else than Democratic. We shall regret the use of any improper methods or any manifestation of a purpose to prevent a free and fair election. The Jackson Clarion declares that it is 'the universal wish of the Democratc party that the election shall be fair." Let it be so, but to save unfavorable criticism see to it that the election-boards are constituted properly and fairly. The fact of unfairness in one State hurts all. It is so much grist for the outrage mills.

copper is 45,830,262 pounds. Here are others: Vermont, 24,037 pounds; North Carolina, 24,680; Missouri, 1,051; Tennessee, 294; Pennsylvania, 289; Maryland, 82; Wisconsin, 62; a total of 61,091,188 pounds, valued at $8,842,961. The wages amounted to $2,915,103, and 6,116 persons were employed. The total capital used is $31,675,096.

The war in North Africa does not increase the prospects of France. In fact since it has become one of barbarous retaliation on both sides France realizes more and more that it got into very serious trouble when for improper purposes it made war upon a weaker power. At home the war is considered rather a failure, and the consequence is the Ferry Ministry has grown more and more unpopular. The army slready in Algeria and Tunis is large, and will have to be increased. Taken as a whole the African war is very troublesome to France as well as very costly.

The London Lancet is disposed to regard the death of President Garfield as "an example of a failure of surgery," and says that the wound was "not one necessarily fatal." But what if the Lancet is mistaken? Are not American surgeons equal to English surgeons? The writer for the Lancet never saw the President. Drs. Agnew and Hamilton attended him constantly, the latter from the third day after the wound was received,

OUR STATE CONTEMPORABIES.

In these remarks we are not to be understood as censuring Senator Vance for the course he is pursuing. The Legislature made him a commissioner of the W. N. C. Railroad to protect the rights of the State, and we doubt not he is doing his best to discharge his duty.-Fayetteville Examiner.

Vance had little to gain or lose by the collapse of Best's Big Hubble, (which cost the State heavily) but Vance pulled off his coat, and incurred life-long enmity from more than one quarter by trying to save Jarvis. Is Jarvis not standing up for Vance? Some say not !- Raleigh Farmer & Mechanic.

Senator Vance has issued an address to the people of this State, which occupies our mind his statements are clear and forcihle upon the railroad matters under discussion. We are watching the shaping of events with an anxious eye, and the greatest confidence in Senator Vance, believing, as we do, that he is acting from disinterest ed motives and for the good of his people. -Winston Leader.
