 Raleigh Visitor: A gentleman by the name of Andrews, from the country, while returning home from this city last night, fell from his wagon and broke his leg just below the knee.

- New Berne Nut Shell: The steamer Louse, recently put on the North Carolina steamship line, arrived here Saturday night. -There is still considerable sickness in our midst and physicians and druggists have but little rest.

- Durham Recorder: Our Presbyterian friends, have decided to erect a parsonage on their lot near the church.

— The Durham Light Infantry returned home Saturday evening covered with honors. No serious accidents happened to them. Mr. D. C. Gunter was bitten on the head by a spider which caused him to suffer a great deal for several hours. Mr. Austin sprained his ankle.

- Toisnot Home: Col. Dick Beeman, living near Speight's Bridge, Greene county, had his dwelling broken into on Tuesday, the day Coup's circus was in Wilson, and about eleven hundred dollars in gold and several hundred dollars in currency taken from his secretary. Thomas Beeman, colored, formerly house boy to the Colonel, who was familiar with the premises, having been found spending money very freely in Wilson, Goldsboro and Raleigh, was arrested on suspicion of being the thief and lodged in Wilson jail.

- Reidsville Times: Probably the oldest twins in existence in all this country are George and Edmund Gravely, who in good health are still living within five miles of each other, and within three miles of where they were born, at Leatherwood Postoffice, in Henry county Va. They will be ninety-three years old the 1st of December, 1881. Their mother lived to be over one hundred, and their father died at the age of ninety. Leatherwood is the same place in Henry county where, in 1861, ninety-six Gravelys voted the Whig ticket.

- Oxford Torchlight: The farmers, we learn, are endeavoring to sow large wheat crops. — It is well known now that the Granville tobacco crop is a failure. The proportion of good tobacco is a small per cent. of the crop. Farmers who have never known failure, and are accustomed to handle nothing but the very finest samples of tobacco, this season have only green and black tobacoo of the poorest quality, the products of their attempts at flue-curing, with probably what was the best half of the crops housed and stored away after it had been burned by the frost.

- Statesville Landmark: Within the past week Messrs. Hoffman Bros. have bought four thousand pounds of mountain butter at thirteen to twenty cents cash.

A gentleman who lately met General
Imboden at Boone was informed by that gentleman that the survey of his road from Bristol, Tennessee, to Wilmington, would be pushed on to Statesville as rapidly as possible, hence to Salisburysponse to our recent call for the names of persons who have had their hands chewed up in cotton gins, we are furnished with the names of Messrs. Daniel Melchor, of South Iredell, and Jacob Warlick, of Lincoln, not to speak of W. L. Gilbert, of Elmwood, who donated one finger only to the relentless gin.

-The New Berne Nut Shell records two very bold robberies. A negro assaulted Mrs. Haley as she was returning from the theatre, at night, and tore a costly gold chain from her neck, to which was attached a gold cross. Mr. Haley struck the negro with a small cane, when he was knocked senseless with a club, cutting a deep gash over his skull. The negro fled. On Friday night last, about eleven o'clock, Messrs. C. Sutton, T. L. Wetherington, J. Coward and S. E. Ewell, all gentlemen well known in the city and living in the neighborhood of Swift Creek, left New Berne for their home in a one-horse cart. After proceeding about one mile from the city they were attacked by several men who rushed from the roadside with clubs in their hands. Whip was put to the horse and then the robbers fired several shots. Mr. Wetherington was struck with a club and Mr. Coward was wounded slightly in the leg.

— Charlotte Observer: Senator Vance returned to the city yesterday. He is paired with Senator Kellogg for the few remaining days of the special session. His departure from Washington was hastened by a painful carbuncle upon his back. He reports that the Cabinet will not be made up before the regular session. — It is still hoped that Mr. Archibald Forbes, the celebrated war correspondent, may be in-duced to come to Charlotte to lecture after his appearance in Atlanta this week. -It is learned the track to Newton on the Western North Carolina Railroad will be completed and that cars will run to that town, in a few days. A telegraph wire will also be run to Newton. — Mr. W. A. Watson, of Union county, while returning home from Charlotte one night the latter part of last week was thrown from his buggy and his neck broken. Saunders, mother of Col. William L. Saunders, Secretary of State, were brought down from Chapel Hill last evening, on a special train, and were transferred to the night train for Weldon. At the depot were gathered quite a number of the State officers. Colonel Saunders went to Weldon with the remains. -A party of drunken negroes got into a row at Battleboro on Saturday night last, and one of them stabbed three others. He cut one in the back, one in the shoulder and the third he disembowelled and cut in the shoulder, breaking the blade of his pocket-knife off at the handle, the blade falling out of the wound and dropping on the ground. He cut all three with the same knife. They comtinued to advance on him, however, whereupon he seized a chair and knocked all three of them down, one after the other as they advanced upon him. He was caught and placed in the town jail at once. The disembowelled negro was carried to Dr. W. H. Whiteheads office who dressed his wounds and sent him home. A LOOK BACKWARD. Extracts from the Biary of a Wilmingtonian in 1862.

There are doubtless many in our midst to-day who often recall the dark hours of 1862, when the shadow of death rested so long over our devoted city, and so many were called upon to pass through the "dark valley;" when hundreds were fleeing to places of refuge from the scourge, and those who were compelled to stay at home, or those noble ones who voluntarily remained behind to minister to the sick and dving, were in daily and hourly expectation of following those who had gone before to the "silent bourne;" and, as the time for cold | weather | approached, how, with anxious eyes and trembling hearts, the survivors and "stay-at-homes" looked for the welcome frost and ice that should banish the terrible plague from their midst. To such, and perhaps others, the following extracts, copied from the diary of a gentleman who remained at home, or at least returned at an early stage of the disease, and suffered from its fearful ravages, will likely prove of interest: October 1.-Arrived at Warsaw in time o find the down train passed at 2 P. M.

Compelled to remain for the night. I am graciously informed that the hotel (so-called) is closed, that is, against those who had come from the yellow fever section, or to return thereto. I was on the return—'twas all in vain. I urged—the hard-hearted landlord would not open his doors nor his heart; so I found lodging in the cars. As I had my lunch Cousin C. prepared I did not suffer from hunger, but rested uncomfortably. Daylight came, and at 6 o'clock President S. D. Wallace came on board and we were soon on our way to Wilmington; arrived at 11 o'clock; went down Front street from the depot; did not meet nor see but one white face until reaching Lippitt's corner. The drug store and one grocery store doing all the business; houses closed; stores all closed; market house deserted Wilmington deserted; no business; no noise nor bustle; more quiet than Sunday; more sad than the cemetery; here and there one passing for relief; coffins carried on the heads of negroes; wagons carrying the dead to their last resting-place without follower: railroad men all scared away and gone; Fayetteville boats afraid to come nearer town than the reach behind Point Peter; everybody that could go has gone; we are completely out of the world and cut off; not a country cart will come to town now and we are needing food. In response to the call by the city Capt. Drane has dis-tributed a load of supplies of meat and provisions from the Government stores. The fever continues to increase. The weather is warm, which is conducive to its increase. The sanitary committee are overworked—of their number Col. John Mc-Rae and P. W. Fanning are sick. We have five doctors and some thirty nurses and Sisters of Mercy from Charleston, but not enough for all the demands of the sick. Medicines are getting scarce. The Confederate Medical Purveyor has fled and no one can find the key of the storehouse on Dock street. Money is worthless and you cannot buy anything; the W. & W. R. R. is not taking freight. The newspapers are no guide as to the number of deaths; they say little about the fever, but it is bad. In the sun it is quite warm and oppressive. The days are bright and sunny.

October 6.—Sixty-four new cases of fever reported by physicians yesterday, being the largest number yet reported. The fever is on the increase. On Sunday we had a cool change. Among the deaths to-day are reported Col. Jas. T. Miller, in town, and Jno. W. K. Dix, at Masonboro. New nurses from Richmond to-day.

Messrs. A. Martin and Isaac Northrop are reported sick to-day. October 8.—The sounders have quarantined we town people. I hear that all communication between the different sound places is cut off. A death from yellow fever is reported at Wrightsville and one at Masonboro. The fever shows no sign of decrease, though the mortality is less About sixty new cases reported yesterday. None of us devote much time to thinking that we may have the fever, or what we shall do in the event of our taking it. We try to be prudent the eating, etc., keep a cheerful heart and pray God to spare us all to meet again. Weather delightful.

Further extracts will be published from the diary hereafter, as we may find Eviction. There was quite a good sized crowd at the Theatre last night to welcome the production of "Eviction," an Irish drama illustrative of the present troubles and condition of things in Ireland, and incidentally affording abundant opportunity for the introduction of much Irish wit and humor. Mr. Verner, as Terrence O'Brien, gave a very successful and life-like representation of an Irish lad, and Mr. Frew, as Jerry Flyn, the Bailiff, created much amusement and laughter. The performance was often applauded, and Mr. Verner was given an encore on a well sung Irish song.

With the departure of this Company the Opera House closes, to so remain until the 5th of November, when we are to have James A. Herne's Hearts of Oak Combina-

The twenty trained elephants was another feature in the evening entertainment which everybody present will long remember. It is impossible to conceive the perfect docili-ty and training of these intelligent animals. They actually seemed to understand the meaning of every gesture of their masters and manœuvred with wonderful precision and steadiness. Everything went off to the satisfaction of all present. The menagerie is the best we have ever seen, comprising a very complete and varied zoological collec tion; and we would advise any of our readers who have not been able to be present at night to be sure to attend this afternoon or this evening, as this is certainly one of the few opportunities they will perhaps have for a long time to come, of enjoying something really instructive, amusing, and we may add, amazing.

WHO IS MRS. WINSLOW:—As this question is frequently asked, we will simply say that she is a lady who for upwards of thirty years has untiringly devoted her time and talents as a female Physician and nurse principally among children. She has especially studied the constitution and wants of this numerous class, and, as a result of this effort, and practical knowledge, obtained in a lifetime spent as a nurse and physician, she has compounded a Soothing Syrup for children teething. It operates like magio—giving rest and health, and is, moreover, sure to regulate the bowels. In consequence of this article Mrs. Winslow is becoming world-renowned as a benefactor of her race; children certainly do raise up and bless her; especially is this the case in this city. Vast quantities of the Soothing Syrup are Dally sold and used here. We think Mrs. Winslow has immortalized her name by this invaluable article, and we sincerely believe thousands of children have been saved from an early grave by its timely use, and that millions yet unborn will share its benefite, and unite in calling her blessed. No Mother has discharged her duty to her suffering little one, in our opinion, until she has given it the benefit of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. Ex-Postmaster General Key, the Tennessee Radical in Haves's Fraudlent Cabinet, is out in defence of Tyner and Brady for their corruption in office. He says they are entirely honest, etc. This moves the Philadelphia Press, Radical organ, to rub Mr. Key down after this style :

"It may be that the time is near at hand when the general estimate of Judge Key will have to be revised, He has been looked upon as a man of more good fortune than ability. He had the luck to be an available erring brother at a time when President Hayes was looking for something of that kind for a Cabinet fixture. Before President Hayes retired he was good enough to settle Judge Key in a comfortable district judgeship, which he will enjoy during life or good behavior. This is about all there is of Judge Key, except that he has been given credit for that kind of honesty which keeps a man's hands out of temptation, but is not sufficiently severe to look sharply into the wrongful gains of other people at the cost of a personal risk."

Captain James Barron Hope, edi tor of the Norfolk, Landmark, has been invited by two hundred and thirty-four persons to recite his fine Centennial poem, extracts from which have appeared in the STAR, in that city. A Miss Talbert, living at Alexandia, Va., was accosted by a man named Richard Cowling, and an insulting proposal made to her. She made no reply but afterwards invited him by note to call to see her. He put on his best "store clothes" and went. She admitted him, knocked him down with a rock, clubbed him severely and then allowed him to es-

A brutal prize fight came off in New Jersey between Frank Mc-Gowan and Denny Lyons for $100 a side. Seventy-nine rounds were fought and the former was the winner. Lyons was hurt very badly. He was knocked down twenty-one times. It is believed that he will die. This is the most brutal business the world has known. The Washington Post criticizes very sharply Mr. Thomas W. Keene's Richard III. It says:

"In the tent scene he was violent, without giving the impressive and solemn character which the supernatural element and the fine lines demanded. Mr. Keene's faults are those of the school which he represents, and if the public chooses to applaud such interpretations of Shakespeare, inteligent actors will continue to sacrifice artistic coaception to popular demand.' Richmond's Centennial celebration on the 24th was 2 fine success we may believe. The German Citizens' celebration on that night is said to have been the grandest ever witnessed in that handsome city. The display was viewed by 30,000 people. The papers this season do not seem to be giving the usual free advertising to the actresses. We see but little mention of Clara Morris, Mary

Claxton, and others. Has the free advertising dodge exhausted itself? Maj. Daniel and Gen. Hunton give encouraging accounts of the Virginia campaign. But the other side talk
