The great Italian actor, Rossi, has had a very successful season in Boston. He is a very great actor the critics all admit, and is not equalled by any living player save his great countryman Salvini. He is playing in New York at present at Booth's Theatre. He appeared first as Othello. The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger says of his per-

"The predisposition to measure him by the Salvini standard was conspicuous in every scene, but is safe to say that the comparison in no single instance placed him at a disadvantage or dimmed the lustre of his high reputation. The speech before the Senate, always a crucial test, captivated the spectators by its' tenderness and unaffected simplicity. In the succeeding scenes his gestures are full of poetry, and his intonations marvelously musical. In his management of the stage business there were some noteworthy deviations from the methods of his illustrious predecessor."

We have given some extracts from the Washington Post's raking criticisms npon Keene's playing. He is now in Baltimore, and the Guzette treats him to another kind of criticism. We give an extract from the notice of his Richard III .:

"His performance was an excellent one throughout, marked with originality, character and force. It recalls to mind the elder Booth's personation of this great role. In the scene with Lady Anne, in that with Buckingham and the civic authorities of London, and in the battle and death struggle with which the tragedy closes he displayed versatility and a just comprehension of the subtleties of the character he was called upon to depict, and was the brave, cruel and defiant king even to the last. The final scene was vivid and striking in the extreme, and was perhaps the fullest evidence of Mr. Keene's powers as a tragedian."

"A most intelligent and well-informed citizen of Boston" writes to the Richmond Dispatch concerning the roughs of the Ninth Massachusetts regiment, in part as follows:

"I venture to say that not one good citizen was at all surprised when it was learned that the regiment was in disgrace. Nothing better was expected. Now, the people of this State are thoroughly disgusted with the organization, and regret exceedingly that the disgrace should be charged to the whole commonwealth when it belongs to a few rowdies who are not capable of upholding their own honor, and much less the honor of Massachusetts

A "crank," a powerfully built man, paid a visit to the White House, having a seven-shooter. He was very anxious to see the President. He was as crazy as a bed-bug after a big spree. It took a hard struggle to overpower him. He had the following letter:

"John Woling—You are hereby informed that Dr. John Noetling is lawfully elected President of the United States, and occupies the White House every day.

"ALMIGHTY Gop, "Communicated by the Holy Spirit."

We go in for big crops of cotton, and we sell it at a big price, but it takes all and more than it brings to buy our supplies for raising the next crop. Whereas, if we grew our own bread and meat, and made our own shoes, hoes, furniture and clothing, the big crops of cotton and tobacco would be all clear gain. Do you see?—

That is the matter with your Southern farmer. He believes in risking all on a promise to pay. Raise cotton and tobacco and buy everything is his idea of success.

Representative Clark, of Missouri, who is seeking to obtain a divorce from the woman he married in Washington some years ago, charges that she persecutes his children by his first wife, is of most violent temper, and that she goes to saloons with other men and drinks with them to excess, eats opium and makes unseemly exposures of her person. Poor fellow!

Major John R. Popham is in Washnoton, and he thinks Daniel will carry Virginia by from 9,000 to 10,-000 majority. He tells the Past:

"Daniel's reception throughout Virginia reminded him of the glorious campaign in North Carolina when Vance was elected Governor; that in the big towns and in the little towns alike Major Daniel's reception was enthusiastic beyond measure."

THE UPPER CAPE FEAR.

The Appropriation for the Improvement of Navigation-Cause of Delay in Prosecuting the Work, &c.

It is generally known that the last Congress appropriated $30,000 towards improving the navigation of the upper Cape Fear river, of which sum $10,000 was to go towards extinguishing the vested rights of the Cape Fear Navigation Company in said improvement. A good deal of inquiry and speculation has been indulged in as to the cause of the failure of the proper authorities to proceed with the necessary surveys, etc., preparatory to the commencement of the work, so important to the business interests of both Wilmington and Fayetteville, to say nothing of other and intermediate points. This delay, we understand, as was intimated in a letter published in the STAR from Capt. James Mercur, of Norfolk, the engineer in charge, to Mr. A. H. Van Bokkelen, President of the Chamber of Commerce of this city, in response to inquiries from him, has been due to the usual "red tape" in connection with such matters, which has resulted so far in the failure on the part of the government to pay the $10,000 and secure the title which is ready to be surrendered at any moment. This matter, we are now glad to understand, will be attended to in a few days, when there will be nothing in the way of prosecuting the survey. It was very desirable that this should have been attended to during the long-continued low water in the river, and if this opportunity shall prove to have been lost by the seemingly unnecessary delay, it will doubtless be long before such another one occurs, and the work may after all have to be prosecuted under the disadvantages which will result from a high stage of water.

The Rice Trade. Our rice mills seem to be creating quite a revolution in the trade in that cereal in the northeastern section of the State, where upland rice is fast becoming the leading product, and it should be a source of gratification to all to see the trade in that article being diverted so perceptibly from its usual channels and taking its natural course in the direction of the commercial metropolis of the State. Formerly all the rice in that important section that was shipped at all found its way to Charleston and other ports outside of our own State, but now the great bulk of the crop will probably come to Wilmington. To give some idea of the extent of the trade in this article at present we would state that five thousand bushels of rough rice are expected to arrive here by vessel to the order of the Carolina Rice Mills to-day, and that other large cargoes are on the way. In addition to these shipments by water there are also constant arrivals of rice by train, shipped at Newbern and averaging at the least calculation one car load per day since the 15th of October.

To Subscribers Wilmington Telephonic Exchange.

TROM AND AFTER WEDNESDAY, NOV. 2D, 1 1881, the verbal repetition of orders given to the operators will be discontinued. The Central Office operator, instead of answering back through his transmitter as heretofore, will in the future acknowledge the reception of your order and give notice that it has been executed, by a single tap of the bell of the subscriber giving the order. Always hold your lever down until your bell taps in response to your order, and thus avoid having the operator ring in your ear. The Central Office operator, upon the reception of your order for disconnection, will give both bells one tap. This notifies both parties of the disconnection. nov 22t ______J. C. WHITE, Manager.
