OUTLINES.

Scoville argued for the defence in the Guitau case yesterday; insanity is the plea set up; he claimed that under this plea the burden of proof rested with the prosecution. The shipwrecked survivors of the ship France are at Charleston, S. C.; other boats with the captain and the remainder of the crew are still missing. The first railroad train from Texas to Mexico crossed at Laredo yesterday, on a temporary bridge. The schooner E. P. Doer foundered on the Lakes and all hands were lost. The motion to place the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad in the hands of a receiver was denied by the courts of Florida; but a temporary injunction was granted restraining the conveyance of the property until a final judgment was had. More evictions in Ireland are reported; Ladies' Land League meeting was dispersed. Jones, the crank, charged with shooting at Guitau, has been haled; it is thought an indictment against him will be found. The establishment of a minor state of siege in Berlin, Hamburg and Leipzig is reported, on account of revolutionary proceedings by Socialists. New York markets: Money 5/6 per cent. per annum and 1-32 per cent. per diem; cotton quiet at 11 15-16@12 3-16; southern flour dull and unchanged at $5.85@6.00; wheat opened 1/4c lower, but afterwards recovered and closed a shade easier, ungraded $1.24@1.42; corn opened 1/4c lower, but subsequently recovered, ungraded 61@68c; rosin unchanged at $2.25@2.30; spirits turpentine stronger at 55c.

The New York dry goods market is reported firm, though inactive.

Do not forget the Oxford Orphan Asylum on Thanksgiving Day. Eat less and give more.

The small-pox has appeared in many places in Minnesota and Dakota, and gives much alarm. It is said to be raging extensively in Richmond, Va.

There was a falling off in October of nearly $11,000,000 in the exports of breadstuffs, and for the ten months ending with October 31, the falling off is nearly $42,000,000.

The census report shows that in New England of every 90,236 passengers one person was either killed or injured. This is a lower rate than travel behind horses would show, we take it.

Mr. Theodore Walton, of New York, says he has won $465,000 on American horses in England during the last season. Of this amount some $380,000 were won on Foxhall in three races.

The Washington journalists held a meeting and passed resolutions of sympathy over the death of H. V. Redfield, one of the ablest of the newspaper correspondents. L. Q. Washington presided.

The talk in Washington now is that the Star Route prosecutions will be abandoned. If this is done we hope the whole batch of swindlers will bring an action for damages against the Government.

There are five Republicans aspiring to the Speakership of the U. S. House of Representatives. They are Frank Hiseock, of New York; Keifer, of Ohio; Kasson, of Iowa; Burrows, of Michigan, and Mark H. Dunnell, of Minnesota.

A. B. Thornton, editor of the Booneville (Missouri) News was shot and killed by Thomas A. McDermon, town marshal. They had a rencontre because of an article that appeared in the News reflecting seriously on the latter's official acts.

No wonder the year 1891 has been so dry and extraordinary. The seventh comet was discovered on the night of the 10th by Mr. Swift, director of the Warner Observatory, at Rochester. Let us see, this is G. Let this thing just stop right where it is, G-ing up, Mr. Swift, if you please.

Our readers need not be told what the New York Times is. It is the leading Republican paper of the United States. In its issue of Monday it says:

"It is the notorious purpose of the extreme Protectionists to secure a reduction in internal revenue taxation in order to postpone or prevent any reform in the tariff."

Truth, every word. A regular trap, with a greased slide and sugar-coated bait, is this new cry in the North for an abolition of the revenue.

THE MORNING STAR.

VOL. XXIX.--NO. 52.

WILMINGTON, N. C., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1891.

WHOLE NO. 4991

An Augusta (Ga.) capitalist has been North to raise funds for a new cotton factory at that town. He succeeded in obtaining two-thirds of $600,000; the remainder being raised at home. The Greensboro Patriot interviewed him and we gather two points. The Patriot asked:

"Did you experience much difficulty in controlling Northern capital?"

"Yes, considerable. Northern capitalists look upon Southern people as politicians. While the field for investment in the South is good, as they readily acknowledge, yet they have the very least confidence possible in our business management and sagacity."

The question was put, if the success of cotton milling in Georgia, which astonished the Northern capitalists greatly, was phenomenal, and the reply was:

"Oh, no. We understand our business, and are attending to it strictly. We have divorced business from politics. We talk cotton factories, railroads, immigration; and we are straining every point to develop our State. We are doing it, too. Georgia is growing rich."

Booth, Barrett, McCullough and Keene are regarded as the four leading actors on the American stage. Booth is thought by most critics and theatre-goers to be first. McCullough is playing in New York. The discriminating and fair critic of the Times, in a discussion of his personation of Virginia, says:

"The character of Virginia demands an impressive repose of manner, breadth of style, and imposing appearance, simple and vigorous action, and tragic pathos; these are essentially the large and striking elements of Mr. McCullough's most effective acting, and these are observed in his Virginia happily and naturally blended. The personage is heroic, and Mr. McCullough's talent— which never rises to genuine tragic passion, and which is neither flexible nor subtle— is cast in a statuesque and heroic mold. The effect of his performance in this character is impressive to the eyes and pleasing to the imagination. It is, in our judgment, a very interesting and a very beautiful performance."

Some few of our exchanges appear to have copied our political squibs attributed to certain Republicans supposing them to have been genuine. If we had known they would have blundered in this way, we would have added to each, "Just for fun." We merely threw into shape what we took to be the real meaning of certain movements, or what we supposed certain politicians would have said if they had been speaking their real mind. So, hereafter, any such squibs must be taken merely as our interpretation of "the true inwardness" of speech and action on the part of the wire-pullers. Our reason for thinking that certain papers regarded the squibs as real is, they were copied in some instances and not credited to the Star but to certain individuals.

The following from the Winston Sentinel is caught up gladly by that staunch Protectionist paper, the Philadelphia Press:

"While we are no Protectionist, we would prefer to see the tariff stand as it is, and abolish the Internal Revenue Department."

If it exchanges extensively with North Carolina papers it can feel encouraged many times a week, for there seem to be many that are "walking into the nice little parlors" of the Protectionists spider.

Bismarck has about captured the Reichstag. His new allies, the Clericals, (Conservatives) have combined with other parties and elected the officers, although the Liberals and their allies have a handsome majority. The Philadelphia Times, referring to this triumph of the Chancellor, for such it is, says:

"The adroit hand of the Vatican is already evident in the ruling caste. Cardinal Prince Hohenlohe has been visited by the Crown Prince, and it is from his headquarters that the word of command goes to the new allies of the Chancellor."

Spirits Turpentine.

—Shelby Aurora: John Morris, colored, is sentenced to be hung, in this place, for the murder of Joe Roark, on Friday the 23rd day of December.

—Reidsville Times: We are informed that on last Friday night near Milton, Jim Phelps, a right young man, knocked Lewis Ball in the head and killed him. Phelps got away.

—Raleigh Visitor: On Saturday last Mr. Wm. Lynch was working in Mr. H. C. Olive's cotton gin at Apex, when his left arm became entangled in the machinery, crushing it up to the elbow.

—Ashboro Courier: Three hundred and thirty-five squirrels have been killed within the last three weeks by the hunting parties from this town. It looks as if we would have meat at any rate.

—Hickory Croonian: Grammarians are puzzled over the question whether "mumps" and "measles" are singular or plural. They often look singular, but when they get a good start in a family of fifteen or twenty children they are plural.

—Greensboro Tribune: We learn that Mr. Brooks Kernodle, whose house is near Gibsonville, in this county, was so badly mangled between two cars yesterday that it is thought he cannot recover. The accident occurred near Princeton, on the N. C. Railroad.

—Monroe Enquirer: Our county jail now contains eleven prisoners. The first killing frost of the season appeared here yesterday morning. Mr. D. C. Wilson, of Sandy Ridge township, brought us the largest turnip we have had this year. The root weighed 74 pounds, and measured two feet three inches one way and two feet the other. A dwelling house on the lands of Mr. Eli Hemby, ten miles from here, was destroyed by fire on Saturday night last.

—Concord Register: A colored man has a child ten years old on exhibition in town that is a cross between a frog and a well formed child. About two weeks ago Mr. Timothy Tucker was digging a well at Side's gin, in Stanley county. The well was down 22 feet, and Mr. Tucker was at the bottom, when the bucket, weighing fifty pounds, fell. Provisionally he arose to his feet as it fell, and the bucket pressed him, only giving him a tap on the side of the head as it dropped.

—Asheville Citizen: Capt. Buck Thrush is still on the war-path against Col. Kimberley and Mr. Fless Israel. He now brings a radish from his farm weighing seven pounds, and one from Col. Felmets farm, same locality, weighing nine pounds. Mr. Peter Ball, of Sandy Muck, thinking that when a man brings a radish home something to brag about, brought us last week one sweet potato weighing eight and a half pounds. —Died, at the residence of her husband, Canada Cowan, Esq., in this place, on the 19th inst., Mrs. Mary C. Cowan, aged 57 years.

—Concord Sun: Capt. J. M. Odell is buying machinery in the North. This week, for Concord's new cotton factory. A very large cucumber came waiting into our market last Monday morning, bringing Charlie Grobe a big profit. The cucumber was 15 inches around, 16 1/2 inches long and weighed five pounds. —At the request of several of our friends who are anxious to visit Atlanta, the effort has been made to secure a low rate on the railroad and the fare has been worked down to the low figure of $5.75 from Concord to Atlanta and return.

—Charlotte Observer: An Observer reporter yesterday visited the scene of operations at the reservoir for the city water works. About 115 feet are now up to the work of the dam and the basin. The latter is situated in a beautiful little valley between two low and smooth, though abrupt hills, just on the eastern outskirts of the city, beyond Sugar creek. The basin is about one furlong long and about 300 feet wide. —Col. H. H. Jones, while in Raleigh, received a full and free pardon for Lute Lowrance, the negro who, in August, 1879, killed Dock Hunsucker, another negro, with whom he was at work in a cotton field near this city, on the plantation of Mr. D. H. Hutchinson. They quarreled about some matter, and Lowrance struck Hunsucker on the head with a hoe, killing him. He was sentenced to be hanged, but the sentence was commuted to imprisonment for life.

—Wadesboro Intelligencer: There is an admitted short crop of cotton throughout the country. It is undeniably short in Anson county, though not so short, perhaps, as was at first reported. The farmers of Union county are wise. A gentleman from that county informs us that the fields are already green with wheat, oats and turnips, and that there seems to be a determination to work in cotton on the part of the people to renounce their almost total dependence on cotton. —A painful accident is reported from Richmond county. Mr. Nash LaGrande, who lives near Manning, was at work in a cotton field last Friday, when the gin was in motion. One day last week, while the gin was in motion, the hand and arm were badly lacerated but amputation was not necessary. —Miss Brewer, a young lady of about sixteen years old, living near Hamlet, fell from a swing on last Monday evening, and broke her left leg below the knee. The bone penetrated the flesh and almost protruded, but was finally "set."

—Goldboro Messenger: The Sampson county fair last week was every way a success. The attendance was large and the exhibition good. The negro, Augustus Smith, convicted of the brutal crime of rape at the last term of the Johnston Superior Court, paid the penalty of the atrocious deed on the gallows at Smithfield last Friday, in the presence of about 4,000 persons. The annual session of the North Carolina A. M. E. Conference is in session at Fayetteville, Bishop William E. Dickerson presiding. Dr. B. B. D. A. Payne, who was expected to preside. —The Scotland Neck Railroad is being pushed rapidly to completion by Captain Barry, the efficient roadmaster of the W. & W. R. R. The line has been in operation for some time, but it is not yet ready for market until some time in January ensuing. Mr. H. has not relied upon his own judgment exclusively in arriving at his conclusions in reference to the success of his experiment, but has had the opinion of a gentleman of large experience in tobacco culture as well as manufacturer.

The encouragement Mr. H. has experienced will doubtless have its effect in inducing others to devote more or less attention to tobacco culture. He says hilly land, a little rolling, is best for the purpose. —The Japanese Tea Party. The bazaar given by the ladies of the First Presbyterian church, at the City Hall last night, was of a novel character and attracted a large crowd. The ladies, young misses and some of the gentlemen appeared in full Japanese costume, and created great amusement for the spectators by the change in appearance the foreign dress gave them. A large, genuine Japanese pagoda had been erected in the centre of the hall, and a variety of beautiful food of Japan were and articles of Japanese manufacture were sold therefrom. In other parts of the room the ice cream and tea tables were spread, and all sorts of delicacies were politely served by Japanese young ladies, who understood just enough English, however, to give you whatever you ordered and—see that you paid for it. The whole affair was a great success to the originators and those taking part, financially and every other way, and will be repeated to-night. Several new features will be added and quite a number of new articles offered for sale at very low prices. There will also be a fresh supply of edibles and delicacies of every kind, and enough to supply all wants. If you wish to spend a pleasant evening go, by all means.

DEPARTED.

The Goldboro Messenger records the death of the venerable J. Ghost Elliott, who departed this life in Pitt county, at the advanced age of 84 years. Mr. Elliott was at one time a prominent and notable character in this community, many of our oldest and best citizens having studied under him as a schoolmaster in the days long since.

LOCAL NOTES.

—The receipts of cotton yesterday footed up 2,130 bales.

—The weather yesterday was very gloomy and threatening.

—The Wilmington Fox Club have arranged for a big fox hunt to-morrow—Thanksgiving Day.

—Mr. H. Loeb had a nice, luscious-looking watermelon at his store yesterday, sent to him as a present.

—The only case for the Mayor's consideration yesterday morning was that of a dealer for neglecting to pay his license tax.

—Our friends of the Beaufort Telephone lament that their fish dealers have received notice from many of their customers, stopping their orders and advising that they can get stock much fresher and quicker from Wilmington.

—Advices from Fayetteville yesterday were to the effect that the river was twelve inches above the low water mark, and a heavy rain was falling at that place. It is thought the boats will have no difficulty in getting through.

Narrow Escape of Four Children from Perishing in the Flames of a Burning Building.

The fire in Cape Fear Township on Saturday night last, mention of which was made in yesterday's paper, came near resulting in loss of life. It seems that Jerry Fonville, the owner, together with his wife, had been in the city during the day, having left the house in the care of a half-grown daughter, who had with her three other small children. As himself and wife approached their house about 8 o'clock they discovered that it was on fire. Horror-stricken at the idea of the probable fate of their children, they drove rapidly to the spot, rushed into the burning building—the roof of which was already on the eve of tumbling in—and succeeded in getting three of the children out, including the largest girl, all of whom were found almost suffocated on their bed. One of the smaller girls, however, was missed from the bed, and the search for her had almost been abandoned in despair, when she was finally discovered crouching in a corner of the room, utterly speechless and helpless from fear, and she had to be literally forced from the room; after which it was some time before she could be induced to speak. The rescue was made just in the nick of time, as the lost child had just been placed in a position of safety when the roof fell in. But for the timely arrival of Fonville and his wife their children would undoubtedly have shared the fate of their furniture and clothing.

This is but another warning, added to the many daily occurring, of the risk unwittingly run by parents in leaving their children in charge of a parcel of little children. —Tobacco Culture. The experiment of Mr. J. M. Hardwick, to ascertain the adaptability of the soil in this section for raising the tobacco plant, has proved decidedly satisfactory, establishing the fact beyond a reasonable doubt that the "weed" can be cultivated as successfully hereabouts as anywhere in the State. He informs us that the popular theory that the proximity of the coast and the consequent humidity of the atmosphere would prove a serious drawback to the cultivation of the plant in this section, has no foundation in fact. Mr. Hardwick planted one acre and a quarter in tobacco, at his place near this city, and now has his crop housed and will commence stripping it in a few days; but it will not be ready for market until some time in January ensuing. Mr. H. has not relied upon his own judgment exclusively in arriving at his conclusions in reference to the success of his experiment, but has had the opinion of a gentleman of large experience in tobacco culture as well as manufacturer.

The encouragement Mr. H. has experienced will doubtless have its effect in inducing others to devote more or less attention to tobacco culture. He says hilly land, a little rolling, is best for the purpose.

A LUCKY PUMP MAKER.—A recent number of the Washington Post (Oct. 22) contains a sketch how one Augustus De Grammond, driven out of the pump manufacturing business at the national capital owing to the general introduction of Potomac river water, was in his financial desperation led to seek the general lottery of the Louisiana State Lottery on Oct. 15th. This lottery is a lottery Washingtonian men tempt many to correspond with the benefit of M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, prior to the Grand
