Voorhee's flap-doodle oratory at Atlanta has made but few converts among the Democrats, if any. The fellow who can be bamboozled by his Protectionist talk is a fit subject for Dr. P. C. Bliss to practice on with his "cundurango" quackery.

Mr. Blaine is not a candidate for any office but the Presidency. He will be the Garfield successor as far as the candidacy is concerned. Such is the latest. Of course Mr. Arthur aspires to be his own successor. But it may be, that some Democrat will spoil their calculations.

The Murfreesboro (Tenn.) News says that Mr. E. M. Douglass killed a rattlesnake near Versailles on Nov. 5th that weighed 150 pounds and measured 20 inches round. Its fangs were 1½ inches long. Many persons have seen it. This announcement has made our snake editor very sad.

Rev. James Purifoy, of Wake Forest, has been travelling in Georgia. He gives a gloomy account of the prospect for a crop. He is reported in the Richmond Herald as saying: "I travelled yesterday from Macon, Ga., to Atlanta, Ga., a distance of about one hundred miles, and the cotton crop in all that part of Georgia cannot average more than a bale to eight or ten acres, and the

The five seamen from the wrecked ship France are now at Charleston, and they give a most interesting account of their hair-breadth adventures. They took to the open boats on October 23d, and on the 25th returned to the ship. The crew behaved splendidly, and the Captain showed himself a most intrepid seaman. But all were lost but the five. A schooner saw these five, but left them to their fate. On November 2d they were rescued. They had lived eleven days on one cup of Postmaster General James has made his annual report. He makes certain recommendations for economy that will give two-cents letter postage, cheap money orders and postal savings banks: "The expenditures of the Departmen during the last fiscal year were $39,252,736, the receipts $36,785,397, leaving $2,481,129, or 6.3 per cent. of the total expenditure to be supplied from the Treasury. The receipts were 10.4 and the expenditures 8.7 per cent, larger than the year before. The expenditures for the year ending June 30, 1883, are estimated at $43,661,800; the revenues at $42,741,722.05; leaving $290,077 to be supplied by the Treasury. The issues of postage stamps, etc., aggregated $34,625, 335 in the last year, an increase of $2,538, 093. Of the postage on newspapers, $1,-399,048 in all, 27 per cent. was collected at New York; 10 per cent. at Chicago, 6 per cent. at Boston; 5 per cent. at Philadelphia; 1 per cent. at Toledo; and eighty-eight one hundredths of one per cent. at Baltimore, making a total of 71.75 per cent. from 15 The weight of this matter was 69, 952,432 pounds, 34,976 tons, mailed at 4,

Miss Mary Anderson is playing in Philadelphia. She has improved evidently. The Press treats her to criticism that is in the main laudatory. It says:

Since she was last seen here at the Walnut Street Theatre she has gained in physical health, and for the first time seems to have attended her school of experience with profit. She has also gained in repose, in command of the voice, and in control over her hands and arms that were wont to fly out upon the slightest provocation in meaningless and awkward gesticulation. Perhaps the most marked improvement is in the better use of a magnificent voice and a more thorough understanding of its possible and appropriate modulations, and yet Miss Anderson's Juliet is not a poetic nor an imaginative performance. There was nothing in it to suggest the warm Italian nature, the passionate intensity of a love growing under tropical skies. There is a coldness, a predetermined will showing through all her action, that repels rather than attracts sympathy.

Dr. R. Shelton Mackenzie, who has just died in Philadelphia, was a somewhat famous man of letters. He has edited and written many entertaining works. He was from the North of Ireland. The Press says in a kindly notice of him:

"His life was a link in the chain which binds the beginning with the third quarter of nineteenth century English literature; and by his death is removed the last of the group of Scotch-Irish men of letters-men who, like Maginn and Mahoney, 'Father Prout,' utilized in magazines and newspapers a vast store of anecdote, wide range of reading, and familiarity with men and things expressed in a full, wise and witty manner. Dr. Mackenzie's published writings fill many volumes. His personal character was in every way estimable, and his character was fully reflected in his literary

Judge T. J. Mackey, of South Carolina, was a Radical, "pinted hisself," cooperated with the Democrats, was elected Judge by their votes, and is a man of ability. He made a speech at Georgetown last week to two colored bands that serenaded him. He talked Mahoneism pretty strong. He demanded that the negroes should have more representation in the Legislature, and favored a blotting out of all party lines as far as the State was concerned.

Gen. Longstreet is in Washington. This is significant in view of the rumors connecting his name with a Cabinet appointment. He is reported as saying that he did not believe that the better class of Southern Republicans would press the subject of a Southern man in the Cabinet upon the President. Gen. Longstreet was of course naturally reticent.

Rev. Dr. Richard S. Storrs has no equal in this country as a pulpit orator and the producer of the most masterful and eloquent orations. He has been pastor of the Church of the Pilgrims, Brooklyn, for thirty-five years. His appreciative congregation has just presented him with a gift of $35,000, or $1,000 for each year of his ministry.

Ever since the war the Democrats have been in need of a true exponent of their faith, traditions, ideas and principles at the Federal Capital. The American Register promises to fill the bill excellently. It is being greeted very cordially by the Democratic press of every section. The price is 112 species, and of this number 104 species $3 a year. It is a weekly.

· Norfolk Virginian: Lieut. A. G. Paul, of the United States lighthouse service, reports that under his supervision the channel over the southwest bar at the entrance to the harbor of Beaufort, North Carolina, has been rebuoyed, and the harbor is now one of the best in the country, vessels being able to enter the harbor draw ing nineteen feet at low water if they follow the line of the buoys. The buoy at the inner bar has been discontinued and a second class red can buoy has been placed on the western edge of Shark Shoal. Jeremiah W. - Oxford Torchlight: A most formidable reptile was killed near Sassafras Fork about a week ago, measuring twenty inches in length and four inches in circumference, with a horn on the end of the tail one inch in length, similar to a cock's spur. This horn evidently contained a sting. When apparently dead, if touched near the tail it would twist its horn and thrust out the sting. We have searched our diction-aries and works on zoology and find no aries and works on zoology and find no mention made of this animal. — We see the Masons of Wilson are preparing to sur-prise the orphans at the Oxford Asylum on Thanksgiving Day by a good-sized contribution of provisions and other substantials.

An example worthy of emulation. —Our young colored men indulged in a tournament last Friday. Jessie Parham was the conquering hero, having caught eight rings out of a possible fifteen.

- Lenoir Topic: Several times during the past year we have had citizens of this section of North Carolina, who had moved away to the West or to the cotton region of South Carolina, to return to their homes, and in every instance they express themselves as fully convinced that, from a given amount of labor and capital, Western North Carolina yields a greater return than any other part of the United States. —Over 75 witnesses were summoned to Boone in the homicide case from Ashe. Mr. M. D. Smith tells us of a family on Lower Creek, consisting of four women who, during the past year, have spun 58, 000 yards of thread, woven 133 yards of cloth and made up 883 yards of cloth into garments, besides doing the cooking and house work for a large family. — On the night of Saturday, Nov. 5, the store house of Stephen Eller, in Stony Fork township, Watauga county, was burned, including about $2,000 worth of goods and other property. — Mr. Cline, who lives in the lower part of the Globe in this county, informs us that he recently assisted in killing a large bear in John's River, at the foot of the "Sidney Hill." He was of great size, and his hide when removed from his body, measured 6x7 feet.

- Raleigh News-Observer: North Carolina has 112 species of woods and 186 of minerals. - At the Conference of the Christian Church, now in session at Catawba church, about ten miles from this city, a woman was stricken with paralysis on Sun-day, while in church listening to a sermon.

— Mr. W. H. Pope, of Swift Creek township, died on Sunday, aged about 47 years. He was a son of the late Wiley Pope, who was a long while sheriff of this county. — Deputy Sheriff J. A. Parker, of Wayne county, yesterday, placed in the Penitentiary two negro convicts, under sentences of three and ten years, for larceny. - The new school law requires the appointment of school committeemen in each township in the State, on the Tuesday after the first Monday in December. —State Geologist Kerr interviewed a day or two ago: In the way of woods there are in this State and varieties are displayed at Atlanta. In all of the Northern States there are only about 140 species of woods, and in all the Southern States only 126 species. In the geological museum were two collections of woods made eight years ago. One of these, complete, was taken to the Vienna exhibition of 1873, where it attracted much attention. Prof. Kerr, at the close of the exposition, presented these woods to the German government, on special request, and now the magnificent collection is one of the sights in the Imperial Museum at Berlin. Since 1873, by degrees, the remain-ing collection has doubled, and the State, taking one to Atlanta, gave the other to the Richmond & Danville Railroad. Each of these contained about seventy-five spe-cies, but within the past few months both have been increased to 104 species and va-rieties, as above stated. It should be stated in this connection that of all the States in the Union North Carolina is the only one uncommon, and of whose existence in this State no doubt many persons are ignorant, Prof. Kerr mentioned the palmetto and the liveoak, both of which here find their northern limit. Specimens of palmetto from Beaufort are in the museum. The tree is very abundant near Wilmington, as is also the liveoak. Specimens of both these woods have been forwarded to At-

Didn't Exactly Understand.

A colored man was employed a day or two since to remove the wooden structures | few nights since. There was nobody in erected at the various fire hydrants where | the house at the time but an old colored the Water Works tests took place on Friday last, and which were put there for the purpose of measuring the altitude of the streams thrown from each, the man being further instructed to leave the material at a certain place indicated. That afternoon Cuffy made his appearance at the office of the gentleman who had engaged his services and emphatically protested that he couldn't begin to think of doing the work for the price proposed, as he was not aware of the difficulty to be encountered when he promised to take the job. Knowing, of course, that the service required was not of such serious nature as the man seemed to imagine, the gentleman finally concluded he would accompany the employe and endeavor to convince him of his mistake, and, upon doing so, found to his great amusement-to say nothing of disgust-that the fellow had actually been expending his strength in the vain effort to remove the hydrants, and had loosened the earth around one or two of them, besides battering and bruising them pretty badly, in trying to render the operation of "pulling 'em up" less difficult!

A Monster Turtle.

A gentleman of this city, now at May Port, Florida, writing under date of the 20th inst., gives us a description of a monster turtle captured off the entrance to St. John's river on Friday, the 18th inst., by the crew of the schooner Annie E. Stevens, Captain Tico, while lying at anchor waiting for the tide to come in. He weighed betwen four hundred and five hundred pounds, and he was six feet in length, two feet six inches in width and one foot six inches in depth; his fore flippers measured two feet six inches, his hind ones one foot three inches, and his head was eight inches and his neck fourteen inchés in length. He was on his back, apparently trying to rid himself of some "suckers" which had adhered to his shell, and as he drifted by the vessel was shot and stunned and event ually captured by a slip noose thrown over a fore flipper, after being shot six times more. His like is said never to have been seen in those parts before. He was sent to Jacksonville and turned over to some scien

The Fire Vesterday Afternoon. A fire broke out yesterday afternoon, about 3 o'clock, in the house attached to Messrs. E. Kidder & Sons' steam saw mills in which gas is generated for the use of the establishment, and came near resulting seriously. The generator burst and caused the flames to spread quite rapidly, but by the prompt arrival of the fire department, which was summoned by telephone, they were soon gotten under control, the damage being confined to the destruction of the machine house and the shed over the boiler. A committee called upon us to state that the hand-engine "Columbia" No. 5, colored, threw the first stream and held the flames in check until the arrival of the steam engines, and did good service, notwithstanding their energies were cramped by the lack of the proper facilities for fighting the destroying element.

Revival.

The damage was slight.

We learn that there is quite an interesting revival in progress at the Baptist Church at Riley's Creek, Pender county, under the ministrations of Rev. W. M. Kennedy. At last accounts some six or seven had already connected themselves with the church, and the interest was on Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, north to west winds, colder clearing weather and rising barometer.

The dwelling house of Mr. William Walker, about five miles from Long Creek, Pender county, known as the old Fred. Moore homestead, was destroyed by fire a man who could not account for the origin of the fire, which is supposed, we learn, to have been set to the building out of revenge for Mr. Walker's participation in an effort to unearth a certain disreputable transaction in that neighborhood not long ago. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP.—Rev Sylvanus Cobb thus writes the "Boston Christian Freeman": We would by no means recommend any kind of medicine which we did not know to be good—particularly for infants. But of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup we can speak from knowledge; in our own family it has proved a blessing indeed, by giving an infant troubled with colic pains, quiet sleep, and its parents unbroken rest at night. Most parents can appreciate these blessings. Here is an article which works to perfection, and which is harmless; for the sleep which it affords the infant is perfectly natural, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." And during the process of teething its value is incalculable. We have frequently heard mothers say they would not be without it from the birth of the child till it had finished with the teething slege, on any consideration whatever. Sold by all druggists. 20 cents a bottle

You understand, of course, that a Telephone Exchange, with its net-work of wires, forms a very complicated system, and although the utmost vigilance is given, there will be times when some of the many wires will become grounded, crossed, or broken, but as soon as such cases come to our notice we will endeavor to remedy them in as short time as possible.

Subscribers are requested to answer calls promptly, and to use numbers, as it greatly facilitates the business of the Exchange. The party who calls for a connection must never fail to say disconnect, when through talking, for if this is neglected the wires may remain connected indefinitely, and thus unavailable for parties who may want them. Operators cannot know by intuition when the wires are idle.

If the above is complied with I see no reason why we shouldn't have a good working Exchange.
