Third Week-Great Pressure to Obtain Admittance to Court Room - Mrs. per Cranks-The Court in a Dilemma as to How to Keep Him Quiet.

WASHINGTON, November 28.-The third week of the Guiteau trial opened bright and balmy, and the attendance in the court room was as large as that of any previous day. The Marshal delivered his daily admonition to the audience and requested that the same order be observed as would be in church. Mr. Scoville and his coadjutors, Chas. H. Reid and J. W. Guiteau, were early in their seats, but counsel for the prosecution did not enter the room until several minutes after 10 o'clock.

were called and the prisoner brought in. Mr. Scoville asked consent to interrupt Mrs. Scoville's examination, so as to put upon the stand one or two witnesses from a distance, who desired to leave the city today. The prosecution, however, objected, and Mrs. Scoville's examination was resumed. She described Guiteau's appearance and actions during his visit to her house pressed their way through the marshal's office, and in the effort to effect an entrance to the court room, caused a momentary confusion, which necessitated a suspension of the court proceedings for a few minutes. Quite a number of female voices were heard, vociferating loudly that they would be squeezed to death, and begging to be allowed to get out. With some difficulty the hall and corridor leading from the marshal's office to the court room were cleared and the examination of witnesses resumed.

Guiteau's visit to her, that he was insane concluded at 11 o'clock, and at the request of Mr. Scoville the cross-examination was postponed to allow Geo. D. Burroughs, of Chicago, to testify, as he desired to leave the city to-day. He boarded with Mr.

There was a brief interval before the appearance of the next witness, and Guiteau took advantage of the opportunity, and broke out with, "I desire to tell all these crank newspaper men that I appear here as my own counsel; that is my answer to all the silly stuff they have been delivering of for some days past. Some of these newspaper men have gone crazy. I appear here in part as my own counsel, as I have a right to de, under the law and constitution of America."

No effort was made to check Guiteau, and no notice whatever of the interruption was taken by the Court.

How to silence the prisoner and put a stop to his annoying interruptions has been a serious question with Judge Cox, who has more than once consulted his associates upon the subject. To remove the prisoner from in his absence, as was at first intimated by the Court might be done, would deprive him of the undoubted constitutional right to confront the witnesses against him, while to gag him, as Judge Cox Saturday threatened to do, would be open to the objection that it would serve as a constant reminder to the jury, and exert an undue influence upon their minds. The situation seems to be an anomalous one. As long as the prisoner insists upon acting as his own counsel, the Court cannot well deny him the right, without admitting his insanity as a bar to its exercise. The Court cannot well punish him for contempt, as he is already in confinement.

The members of the District bar deprecate the severe strictures which have been made upon Judge Cox's failure to adopt some vigorous measures, but are unable to suggest any legal way out of the embarrassment

But as less than half of the Republican members of the next House are now in Washington, the prospects of the rival candidates are as yet mere matters of assertion and conjecture. Very confident claims of assured majorities in caucus are nevertheless put forth by the supporters respectively of Messrs. Kasson, Keifer and Hiscock. It is argued by the friends of Representatives Reed, Dunnell, Orth, Henderson and Burrows, that each of these gentlemen is likely to carry off the prize eventually, as a result of a dead-lock among the three candidates most prominently named. The caucus nominee for the position of Clerk of the House will, it is conceded, lie between ex-Clerk Edward McPherson, of Pennsylvania, and ex-Congressman Rainey, of South Carolina, with the chances largely in favor of the former.

Among the candidates for Sergeant-at-Arms is Jos. R. Davies, of New York, who has established his headquarters at Wilthe court room and proceed with the trial lard's Hotel. Mr. Davies waives all claims to recognition in the event of Mr. Hiscock's election as Speaker, and is making his can vass with the understanding that he shall withdraw if Hiscock succeeds.

GALVESTON, November 27 .- A special to he News from Will's Point says the jury in the case of the State against Mrs. Effie Heacock, for the murder of her husband by administering strychnine, has returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first de gree, and has fixed her punishment at imprisonment in the penitentiary for life. Dr. Ball, her accomplice, and perhaps abettor, in the crime, was convicted and sentenced for life at the recent term of the court, but made his escape.

A special from San Antonio to the News says the stage between San Antonio and Corpus Christi was stopped near Oakville Friday night, by two masked men, who rifled the mail of everything valuable. One of the highwaymen is described as being tall and the other short. They are thought to be the same men who robbed the stage near Laredo lately.

HARRISBURG, PA., Nov. 27.-Early this morning the large brick factory, on Second street, owned by R. A. Hamilton, and oc-cupied by Jas. M. Williams, an extensive sugar dealer, as a store house, was destroyed by fire. Mr. Williams' loss is covered by an insurance of $11,500. The building was insured for $5,000. The fire originated in the stables adjoining the factory which are supposed to have been set on fire.

RICHMOND, Nov. 27.—The schooner Exertion, of New York, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning while lying at the White House, on the Pamunkey river, waiting to load with wood. The mate and two seamen were badly burned. BALTIMORE, Nov. 28 .- A fire at the foot

The fire originated in the floating elevator Artisan, and was communicated to the floating elevator Hattie, both of which were totally destroyed. The barque Vesta is said to be damaged beyond repairing. A survey will be held to-morrow. A wharf and shed belonging to the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore Railroad Company, to which the elevators were moored and another wharf adjoining, were burned.
