Albert Pike's pathetic poem, writ ten twenty years ago, is now going the rounds. It is called "Every Year" and may be found in some school books.

Drs. Agnew, Hamilton and Bliss will consider, it is said, that $25,000 each should be paid for services in attending upon the late President. Dr. Agnew says he lost actually $9,500 from his regular income, and Dr. Bliss says he lost $10,000.

The spot where the late President fell when the assassin Guiteau shot him down, has been marked by a marble tablet. The shooting occurred, it will be remembered, in the waiting room at the Baltimore depot in scribes the tablet: "It is of American statuary marble, and consists of a sill resting upon two corbls, outside of which are two pilasters representing the axe and fasces. Two draped flags form a canopy over the inscription in gold letters, "James Abram Garfield. President of the United States, shot July 2, 1881," and the whole is surmounted by an eagle with outstretched wings, holding in his talons a bundle of arrows and laurel

The receipts of cotton at Charlotte up to December 1, 1881, amount to 13,551 bales. For the same time last year, 30,873 bales. This is a heavy decrease, and indicates either an unprecedentedly short crop in the section tributary to Charlotte or that the cotton trade of that place is rapidly falling off.

The New York Protectionists are dissatisfied with the action of the late convention. They say if it had not been managed badly Judge Kelly's whiskey and tobacco plank would not have been thrown overboard. According to the New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger, they say:

West and Southwest, it is said, will be needed to secure any reduction of internal taxes that may be urged at the coming sesfree whiskey' and 'free tobacco,' it will be difficult, if not impossible, to obtain that support. The Free Traders allege that the convention made a fatal mistake in coming to New York, where the great importing interests, if not the preponderant popular sentiment, is against the protective principle.

- Raleigh Farmer and Mechanic: Hurrah for Wilmington! Her exports will derive more benefit from this road (the Canedo plan) than all the existing roads whatsoever. Hurrah for Fayetteville! Her fine water powers and timbered and metaled back country will lengthen her cords and strengthen her stakes beyond the dreams of present dwellers. Finally, hurrah for the State! VOL. XXIX.--NO. 60.

WILMINGTON, N. C., SUNDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1881.

THE DEPARTING AND COMING PREACHERS.

Rev. Dr. Yates has been the pastor of Front Street Methodist E. Church during the last four years. We desire to bear witness to his great acceptableness to his own people, and the high esteem in which he is held in the community at large. He is one of the first men in ability in the North Carolina Conference. He is both a student and a thinker. He does not run in ruts. His mind is far too fruitful and well-stored for such tame work. He is very deliberate in speech, but animated enough to be effective and to hold the close attention of his congregation always. He never bellows and paws the pulpit board and rants. He has far too much taste and judgment for that sort of work. He knows it is lightning that scathes and rives. He is, in a word, a most entertaining and instructive preacher, and utters many very striking and memorable thoughts. He wears excellently. Raleigh is to be congratulated.

We never heard Mr. Wood, who succeeds Dr. Yates, preach, but he is a man of good parts and true manliness of character. The new Presiding Elder, Rev. Robert O. Burton, lives in Halifax county. He is a Virginian by birth. He is now some sixty-eight years of age, we suppose.. We have heard him more than fifty times. We can not say how he preaches now, but twenty years ago he was a power in the pulpit. In fact at that time without being a man of high eloquence he was one of the very best preachers to whom we ever listened. Clear as a bell, deliberate, solemn, impressive in manner, with a style singularly terse and exact, he was at times a preacher of very remarkable force and attractiveness. We have stowed away in our memory five sermons we have heard which impressed us as the five greatest, and it is just to Mr. Burton to say that he preached two of them. But that was a long time ago and the natural force may be abated.

A New Telegraph Company. New York Bulletin.

Mr. James R. Keene stated Wednesday that a meeting was held at Delmonico's Tuesday evening for the organization of a postal telegraph company. The project was not in such a shape that he could go into particulars at present, and he did not wish to make any statement as yet on the subject. It is stated that the company own a patent for making a compound steel and copper wire of great conducticity, and will use autographic, automatic duplex instruments, capable, it is claimed, of transmitting 1,000 words per minute both ways. One million dollars was subscribed, it is said, to build a line to Chicago.

The fine organ ordered by the ladies of St John's church for their fair, but which did not arrive in time, will be raffled at Heinsberger's on the 15th inst. Although it is a two hundred and fifty dollar instrument, the ladies have decided to reduce the number of chances to one hundred and twentyfive. At a dollar a chance a first-class opportunity is here presented to get a splendid organ for a small sum, and we presume the chances will be rapidly taken.

- The second ball of the season, under the auspices of Germania Lodge No. 4, K. of P., will take place at Tienken's Hall, on Front street, on Wednesday evening next, the 7th inst. All Germans are invited.

- Chairman Bagg, of the Board of County Commissioners, has requested the Sheriff to secure a goods box and have it cut up into particles of a convenient size, for the lawyers to whittle on next term of Court, in order to save the tables.

- Rev. J. B. Taylor left this city on last Monday evening for Culpeper, Va. whither he was called to marry some young friends. He has returned to the city, and will occupy the pulpit of the First Baptist church this morning and night, as usual.

- The only case that claimed the attention of Mayor Smith yesterday morning was that of a colored boy named Jerry Williams, arrested on suspicion, who was released without undergoing a formal trial, there being no evidence to convict him of any criminal intent.

- A good many would be glad to see the law in regard to cruelty to animals more rigidly enforced. Cases are occurring on the streets every day. Even some of the little boys pound their goats unmercifully, which is but one of the results of the examples set them by their elders.

- And still we hear of no steps being taken to utilize the appropriation for the improvement of the Upper Cape Fear, and in the meantime steamers are having their bottoms snagged and other inconveniences are being suffered, which could be remedied by a judicious expenditure of the funds in question.

The "Land of Flowers."

At the request of many friends, Rev. Thos. D. Pitts, of St. John's Episcopal church, has decided to deliver a lecture, at the Opera House, in this city, on Thursday evening next, the 8th inst., taking Florida, the "land of flowers," as his theme. Mr. Pitts is thoroughly conversant with the climate, productions, characteristics, beauties and resources of the little State upon which so many eyes are now centered, and is therefore abundantly able to deliver both a useful and entertaining lecture on the Seized with a Fit.

Mr. Thomas Mayer, while sitting in the jury box in the Court House, yesterday morning, about 11 o'clock, listening to an argument in the case of John Deal and Charles Williams, convicted of forgery, was suddenly seized with a fainting fit of much severity, and had to be borne from the court room. A physician happened to be at hand, and did what he could for the sufferer, who finally recovered sufficiently to go home.
