A company has been organized in New York, with Jacob Lorillard at its head, to build ships that will make the run to London in five days. They are to be built of steel.

The long paragraph in Sunday's paper under "Current Comment" credited to Philadelphia Press ought to have been credited to the Progress, and was so credited in copy.

A sensible writer in the New York Sun springs a new theory: Guiteau insists he was inspired of God to kill President Garfield. Is it not in order for the Government to become inspired to hang the assassin? That is about the size of it.

Keifer got his place as Speaker by the bossing of Don Cameron, who has just returned from a conference in New York with Conkling, Grant and Company. Keifer will do well by Pennsylvania, you bet. The "Ohio idee" prevails once more.

The Virginia Readjusters, Paul and Fulkerson, showed the cloven foot early by voting for Keifer, Republican, for Speaker of the House. The Readjuster boys know whose votes elected them. But why don't they come out squarely and say they are Republicans?

A young woman at Lawrence, Massachusetts, suppesed to be dead and placed in her coffin, surprised all hands in church by a loud scream and a resurrection. She is now well. It was thought she was dead from an overdose of chloroform. Be sure they are dead before proceeding with the funeral.

It occurred as the eastern bound train had reached that point, and was caused by the breaking of a rail. The rear car, a ladies' car and a sleeper were dragged over the sills for four or five hundred yards. The conductor, as soon as the accident occurred, pulled the air brake signal rope, but some frightened passenger immediately after-wards pulled it, in his ignorance giving the signal to take it off. In the ladies' car were about thirty-five passengers, meny of them on their way from Atlanta, and on the sleeper were thirteen persons. These cars, after bumping furiously along, at a speed of twenty-five miles an hour, on the sills, finally fell over just as the train reached a small cutting, and rested against the side of this at an angle of about forty degrees. The passengers were thrown on the lower side of the car, and about a dozen were more or less injured. Dr. William H. Davis, of Kittrell, was on board, and looked after the wounded. He reports to us that the shock of the overturn was not very great. A drummer from Baltimore, a Mr. worst hurt man He fell against the stove, hurt his hand badly, and was painfully burned. Another drummer was hurt about the ankle. A lady from Goldsboro was injured internally but not seriously. The other passengers hurt were mostly only scratched or bruised. The cars were pretty badly broken up. The majority of the peo-ple hurt were in the ladies' car. — Chapel Hill correspondence of November 30th: The most prosperous term in the history of the new University is drawing to a close. The steamer, which was, when last heard from, immediately opposite Mr. Dallis Fennell's place, draws about five feet of water. She was flying a flag of distress all day Sunday, and we learn that tugs were telegraphed at Smithville yesterday for

A DOWN TOWN MERCHANT, having passed several sleepless nights, disturbed by the agonies and cries of a suffering child, and becoming convinced that Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup was just the article needed, procured a supply for the child. On reaching home and acquainting his wife with what he had done, she refused to have it administered to the child, as she was strongly in favor of Homeopathy. That night the child passed in suffering, and the parents without sleep. Returning home the day following, the father found the baby still suffering; and while contemplating another sleepless night, the mother stepped from the room to attend to some domestic duties and left the father with the child. During her absence he administered a portion of the Soothing Syrup to the baby, and said nothing. That night all hands slept well, and the little fellow awoke in the morning bright and happy. The mother was delighted with the wonderful change, and although at first offended at the deception practiced upon her, has continued to use the Syrup, and suffering crying babies and restless nights have disappeared. A single trial of the Syrup, one the prejudices of the mother. Sold by all Druggists. 25 cents a bottle.

DIED.

THORNTON.—Of consumption, in this city, December 4th, 12 M., L. J. THORNTON, in the 39th year of his age. An honest man, a good citizen, a true friend, a devoted husband, has been called from our midst, but we trust that "our loss is his gais." A long and trying sickness was endured by him with much patience and fortitude. The faith of Jesus was embraced by him, and he died "casting all his care upon Him that careth for us." "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord."

THE BROUGHT US THIS:

There is a maiden, fair to see, fair to see, And Oh! how we like, how we like Every day to see, to see On a dray, going away In a whirl, a whirl

A "Farmer Girl"—Cook Stove? We gave him but one moment, and then he passed to his reward, thanks to our strong right arm and trusty tinner's mallet. We can stand, yet a while longer, all the other forms of insanity, but we will not suffer ourselves or the community in which we live, and move, and have our trade, Wait Whitmaned in this fashion. As a matter of fact, however, the Stove he refers to is all right, perfectly! Guarantee it.
