It is proposed at last to have the old iron-clad oath abolished. Senator Beck has introduced in the Senate a bill asking for its repeal. It is a disgrace to the country. Sixteen years after peace is declared grave Senators of all parties and sections are made to take an oath of the most stringent terms just as if they were about to engage"in a new rebellion' or everturn the liberties of the people.

If the assessed property of the country were divided among all it is said, the New England States would show $661.27 to each person; Middle States would show $473.55; Western States, $336.63; Southern States, $155.29. Behold how New England has grown rich at the expense of the whole people. Her sons are all over the Middle and Western States, and are among the most thrifty. What a noble and splendid thing protection is, if it makes you rich at the expense of your neighbors.

The Republican organs are pounding away again at Senator Hill. He used his tongue to some purpose a day or so ago when he spoke on civil service reform, He spoke very plainly and truthfully and that is what hurts. But every man of ordinary sense and candor knows that Mr. Hill spoke only what is true. He is reported in the Washington Post as saying:

"While the country was weeping over the tragic end of the late President, a Federal Judge (referring to Rives, of Virginia,) was soiling his ermine by inditing a letter to his successor, who had become President by reason of a corrupt civil service, appealing to him to make appointments for the purpose, in the choice language of that Judge, of cementing our coalition; and the President, while the mourning sobs of the people were echoing around him, made the desired appointment, and, perhaps with the same ink, wrote a homily on civil service reform to be introduced into his message to Congress. The President had a right to assume that everybody who talked about civil service reform was merely playing with the people. He was himself removed from the New York Custom House for making it a political headquarters, and yet was nominated for the second office in the Government, while the very men who removed him took the stump for his election. In 1877, every man, high or low, black or white, connected with the Returning Board frauds of 1876, obtained a reward from the Administration in office by reason of those

If that arrant old Bummer, Tecumseh Sherman, had been hooted and hissed when at Atlanta, what a pious wail would have filled all Yankeedoodledom. > The Atlanta Exposition has done good in an unexpected direction. The "Industrial Review Publishing Company," with a capital stock of $60,000, with officers in Atlanta and New York, has been organized, and a petition signed by Henry W. Grady, M. P. Handy, C. R. Miller, J. W. Ryckman, E. Branard and W. R. Bach, has been presented to the Superior Court of Atlanta. With such well known journalists as Handy, Grady, and perhaps others, the new enterprise ought to be a success.

- Graham Gleaner: We heard of a man who came to town last week with seven butchered hogs that weighed altogether 190 pounds.

- Hickory Press: Mrs. Stonewall Jackson and daughter passed through town last Monday night. They had been to Morganton visiting Mrs. Judge Avery, sister of Mrs. Jackson.

- The Goldsboro Messenger says that the condition of Dr. W. H. Moore, Superintendent of the Colored Insane Asylum at that place, is very precarious, and that his death may speedily occur.

- Washington Press: Mr. Valentine Warren, probably the oldest man in Eastern North Carolina, passed away last week at the advanced age of one hundred and five. Mr. Warren was born on the 14th of February, 1777, and would have been one hundred and five years old on next Valentine day, from which he derived his name.

-The Louisville (Ky.) Recorder: Reverend W. J. Hopkins, late pastor of the Hope Chorch, this city, has gone to North Carolina to take pastoral charge of the Enfield and the Crowell Churches in that State. He is a good and faithful worker, and we regret to lose him from Kentucky ; but "the field is the world.

- We are in receipt of a catalogue of Bingham School for 1881, containing the names of 258 pupils, 112 of whom are from outside of North Carolina. There has been a steady increase in numbers since 1876. Within the last five years 28 localities, 20 States of the Union and 3 foreign countries, South America, Europe and Asia, have been represented. - Raleigh Recorder: Rev. Geo. Best has just closed a successful meeting at Corinth church, Duplin county. There were 44 additions, "Preaching was kept up twelve or fifteen days." — We learn from Dr. J. D. Hufham that the church in Scotland Neck selected a site for a new house of worship, Nov. 8rd, and two days afterwards, "to use the railroad expression, they began to "break ground." C.: On last Sab-bath we closed a meeting at our new chapel opened last July and received eight more members, making sixteen at that place dur-ing the present year. And since I last wrote we have received three others on certificate at the main church building, which added to those received at the chapel makes more than fifty in the last twelve months.

- Milton Chronicle: The penitentiary of North Carolina will have to be enlarged or that moral purificator called the whipping-post will have to be revived in order to dispose of thefts and crimes of the smaller magnitude. —That infernal "Old Physician," who professes to cure "con sumption," has swindled us again—being the third time. Formerly he was "bossed" by a rascal in New York, then in Philadelphia, and (coming South) he is now "bossed" by a swindler called Dr. M. E. Bell, of Baltimore. --- While we are law-abiding and averse to lynch law, we cannot blame the citizens of Granville county for thus manifesting their detestation of this foul murder. The rascals might have broken out of jail or escaped hanging by some technicality of the law or flaw in the bill of indict-

- Winston Leader: One hundred and more excursionists to Atlanta on one train from this section proclaim the prevalence of the almighty dollar, to a considerable extent. — When it comes to three families reading from week to week the same copy of the Leader, it's a kind of economy we don't approve of. "The laborer is worthy of his hire."

Another matter, observed by few—

We are sorry now we said it—

"The boys" not only want what's due But for their items the proper credit.

- Northwestern North Carolina is loosing golden opportunities every day, by the lack of interest manifested by our people in seeking to secure immigration and the investment of capital. We will be left to help ourselves. What we need is a bureau of statistics. Each county ought to be provided with something of the kind. - "How is your boy getting on, Aunt Lucinda?" inquired a train hand of an old colored woman, who was returning from a visit to one of her sons who is in the peni-tentiary. "Well, Marse Tom, to tell you de truf, dat boy is fixed up so nice, and doin' so well, I wish my tother son ware in dar wid him," replied the old woman."

- Greensboro Bugle: On last Saturday Deputy Collector Worth seized three wagons and teams near Jamestown, loaded with blockade whiskey, said to be the property of Webb Swain, who lives seven miles south of Greensboro. - On Saturday Capt. David Scott sold for United States Marshal Douglas 976 gallons of whiskey, seized as the property of N. H. Winstead, of Person. Prices ranged from $1 to $1.10 per gallon. — On yesterday morning A. Y. Shaw, well known to many of our readers, a U. S. gauger and store-keeper and a resident of Friendship Township, was found dead on his road home at what is known as McKnight's bridge, two and a half miles west of Greensboro. No inquest was held but it is supposed he was intoxicated when he left the stables. There was no indication of foul play as he had on his person $147 in money and a good watch. His horse stayed by him until he was found, apparently not having gone a step after he fell from his sulky.

- Raleigh News-Observer: Died on Monday, near Kittrell, N. C., Mrs. Alice Ogden, wife of Rev. T. J. Ogden, of the Methodist Protestant Church. She leaves a husband and three little children. Her funeral was preached on yesterday by Rev. J. P. Simpson, of Union Chapel, Granville county, and her remains will be taken to Asheville for interment. - J B. Lord, of 26 North 3d street, Camden, N. J., who has been in jail for a week, was yesterday released. Dr. Blacknall wrote to the chief of police of Camden, who made inquiries, and reported that Lord bore a good character there as a hard working man, and that he had a manufactory at the address named. A lawyer here who wrote at Lord's request to a prominent lawyer of Washington, D. C., was informed that he had known Lord for many years and that he was industrious, and, so far as he knew, honest. Upon these facts being brought before the Mayor, he ordered the release of Lord, upon his own recognizance, to appear at the Superior Court, January term. Lord will leave to-day for Charlotte, and thence goes to Wilmington, to engage in the business of selling his patented ar

- Raleigh Farmer and Mechanic: A lady writing to the Winston Messenger from Hillsboro mentions incidendally that the grave of Gov. Burke, a few miles from Hillsboro, is unmarked and uncared for. Another lady, writing to the Patriot, mentions the fact that Gov. Franklin's grave, in Stokes, is likewise undecorated. - The Republicans have displaced Capt. John B. Hussey, editor of the Greensboro Patriot, as Librarian of the House of Representatives, and put in his place—whom do you think? A negro messenger boy named Smith. But "every one to their taste," as Mrs. Partington remarked. Speaking of libraries, we note that Maj. W. H. Bagley has appointed R. H. Bradley to be Librarian of the Supreme Court Library, vice Leroy W. Bag-ley, resigned. Mr. Bradley was already Marshal of the Court. — Speaking of Gen. C.—, it may be admissible to mention one of the many bon mote attributed to him. In the turmoil of the battle below Goldsboro an officer ran up shouting "General, General! The Yankees are in our r'ar! Don't you see 'em? They're in our r'ar!" "Wa-al," said the General, unscrewing his eye-glass, "Ja ast 'face about,' and we will be in their rear!"

Rossi's Othello. The New York Times of Friday last ha the follrwing criticism of Rossi's appearance as Othello:

"But the standard by which Signor Rossi's performance was judged proved to be the right standard, and this is a degree of praise which no other actor of our day could command in the character of Othello. "To refine Othello, as some would have him refined, to idealize his passion until it becomes a more sentiment—this is to destroy the character. The greater, more intense, more elemental the power, the greater the Othello. Too much fire cannot be forced into that primitive spirit. "It is not proposed at this moment to offer comparison between Salvini and Rossi. Their conceptions differ, their performances are pitched in different keys, but each realizes in his way the wild and passionate and savage reality of the character. Signor Rossi's acting, it must be explained, is lower in its tone than Salvini's. He never rises to the rare height of Salvini's genius; nor has he the sustaining power, the steady poise, and the perfect selfmastery of his countryman. His performance is at once less simple and less majestic, but his passion is intensely true, his pathos more piercing than Salvini's, while his vitality is prodigious. His performance has the charms, the power, and the brutality of life; it goes to its mark, just as a flame goes to its mark. Signor Rossi's conception is clear enough. He makes Othello unquestioning in his faith and love up to the moment when Iago begins to turn his mind adrift and to poison his guileless nature with pitiless sophistry. From this moment he presents the nature of Othello in all its unbridled fury. Here he follows the same impulse that moved Salvini, but in the final scene his acting has a barbarous solemnity and a depth of pathos which Salvini's lacked-and it is throughout this scene that Rossi mounts to his highest mingtonian. Mr. John B. Plummer, father of Capt. J W. Plummer, formerly of this city, but now of Robeson county, died at Faribault, Minn., on the 30th ult., from injuries received in being accidentally rpn over by a horse attached to a buggy, the shafts striking his head and fracturing his skull. He was born in Freeston, Lincolnshire, England, moved to the United States in 1851, had been living in Faribault 22 years, and was in the 73rd year of his age. He was the father of sixteen children, eleven of which are living. The funeral took place on Thursday, the 1st inst., at the Cathedral, with the rites of the English High Church, Rev. Geo. Whipple, brother of Bishop Whipple, officiating.

Rev. F. H. Wood. The Newbern Nut Shell thus refers to the new pastor of Front Street M. E. Church, who will preach his first sermon there for the present Conference year next Sunday: "Rev. F. H. Wood will leave for Wilmington on Wednesday or Thursday next, to take charge of Front Street Methodist Church, his charge for the ensuing year. Although having been stationed in this city but one year, Mr. Wood has won the high esteem of all his people and given entire satisfaction in his congregation, while he is regarded as a fine preacher and good man by all who were acquainted with him, irrespective of the denomination to which they belong."

A Small Fire. The sound of the alarm bell yesterday afternoon, about half past 8 o'clock, was caused by a small fire at the residence of Mr. Joseph Newman, on Orange, between Second and Third streets. The mantelpiece in one of the rooms became ignited by fire from the fire-place and was nearly destroyed when the flames were discovered and extinguished. The Fire Department were out promptly, but fortunately their services were not needed.

Coffee drinkers should read the advertisement in another column headed Good A Decidedly Novel, but not Reassuring, Experience.

Mr. I. Herschberg, of this city, who left here a few days ago for Charleston, to be present at the races of the Charleston Jockey Club, has returned, and reports having had a decidedly exciting, if not altogether pleasant, experience, while sojourning in that city. He stopped while there at one of the leading hotels, and was well pleased with the fare and accommodations, but not altogether with their manner of doing business, as the sequel will show. The first night of his stay he awoke to find the gas. which he had left burning, extinguished, and to discover, by the light through the transom over the doorway, some one in his room. He jumped out of bed immediately, but as he did so the robber went out of the door, and, though closely pursued by Mr. Herschberg and other guests, who were aroused by his cries, managed to gain his room and escape by jumping on the balcony and thence to the ground. It was ascertained that the party occupying the room was only a transient guest, and nothing more could be heard of him.

The next evening Mr. H., wanting to be especially cautious, deposited all of his available funds, amounting to five hundred dollars, with the clerk of the hotel, and took a receipt for the package. After breakfast the next morning, he asked for his deposit, and the clerk was surprised to find it gone, and only an entirely different looking package, containing one hundred and twenty dollars, remaining. The clerk reported having given out two or three packages, and it is presumed Mr. Hersch berg's was of the number. Mr. H. declined to take the $120 package even on account, as the proprietor of the house suggested, and demanded the one left by him. The proprietor of the hotel assured him of his re gret at the occurrence and offered to compromise the matter, but he was not in a compromising humor at that time, and declined, whereupon he was coolly informed that the proprietor of the hotel was not worth anything, and that though he might get a judgment for the amount he couldn collect it! Mr. Herschberg determined, however, to test the matter and placed the claim in the hands of an attorney, with every prospect of recovering the money, as he undoubtedly should.

"The boys" say that Ike dont "growl" at losing a thousand dollars on a "square deal," but that "you can't beat him out of a cent" by unfair means, and we judge that he is going to recover the money lost, or make somebody tell him "why not."

The Wilmington and Coast Railway Again.

E. F. Martin, the colored railroad man, called in yesterday afternoon to inform us that things are working all right for the success of his pet enterprise, the building of the Wilmington and Coast Railway from this city to the Sound and thence to Snead's Ferry, Onslow county, and exhibited to usa map of a survey made some time since by Mr. Roderick McRae, which he said he would have duplicated some time between this and January next. Martin states that the people all along the line of the proposed road are eager for it, and a great many have told him to hurry up, so they can commence cutting the cross-ties. He says the right of way has been freely offered by those owning land along the route, provided the road does not run through cleared land, which Martin says will not be the case. To show the eagerness manifested in the matter he exhibited a silver quarter of a dollar, which was given him by an old colored man along the proposed route, who said he had no means to help build the road, but insisted that he should take the twenty-five cents to buy the paper upon which to write the proceedings of the first

WHO IS MRS. WINSLOW !- As this question is frequently asked, we will simply say that she is a lady who for upwards of thirty years has untiringly devoted her time and talents as a female Physician and nurse, principally among children. She has especially studied the constitution and wants of this numerous class, and, as a result of this forther than the standard provided the constitution and wants of this numerous class, and, as a result of wants of this numerous class, and, as a result of this effort, and practical knowledge, obtained in a lifetime spent as a nurse and physician, she has compounded a Soothing Syrup for children teething. It operates like magic—giving rest and health, and is, moreover, sure to regulate the bowels. In consequence of this article Mrs. Winslow is becoming world-renowned as a benefactor of her race; children certainly do rise up and bless her; especially is this the case in this city. Vast quantities of the Soothing Syrup are Dailly sold and used here. We think Mrs. Winslow has immortalized her name by this invaluable article, and we sincerely believe thousands of children have been saved from an early grave by its timely use, and that millions yet unborn will share its benefits, and unite in calling her blessed. No Mother has discharged her duty to her suffering little one, in our opinion, until she has given it the benefit of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. Try it, mothers—try it now—Ladies' Visitor, New York City. Sold by all druggists. 25 cts. a bottle.
