The House has passed two hundred bills and but few of them are of general interest.

Representative Hubbs has been elected a member of the Republican Congressional Executive Committee.

The Baltimore Sun reports that for months the transportation lines from that city to the South have been doing a very heavy business.

Mrs. Grant was "arrayed like a Queen" at Arthur's first public reception. Why not if Grant is to be Emperor. He is the "power behind the throne" already.

It will be another act of retributive justice if the negroes of Peters burg should elect one of their own race Mayor instead of one of their white allies. They threaten to do so.

Teller will be Secretary of the Interior, certain, and Hunt will be superseded in the Navy Department. He says so, but he adds that he has been offered by Arthur the choice of three places. Billy Chandler will succeed him.

The New York Board of Aldermen adopted a resolution requesting Arthur to recall Minister Lowell because of his "pusillanimous conduct in treating with Earl Granville regarding the arrest and imprisonment of American citizens."

The Richmond Dispatch's Washington correspondent says the cigarette makers in Virginia and North Carolina will get but little benefit from the revenue bill, and that the bill benefits the North and gives no relief to Virginia or North Carolina "worth mentioning."

The proposed changes in the internal revenue law will reduce special taxes as follows:

The Philadelphia Times persists in misrepresenting Southern Democrats. It calls them, with striking originality, "Bourbons," and says they are "honest and simple-minded," but "don't believe that slavery is abolished." Kasson's speech in favor of the Tariff Commission is said by papers of both parties to have been particularly fine. He is said to be the best Republican speaker in the House. The State's correspondent says:

"He caused great surprise on both sides of the House by his complete surrender to the Radical views of the high protection advocates. 'Pig Iron' Kelley listened to him with delight, and as Kasson proceeded the wonder grew as to how he had acquired the reputation of leaning towards the revenue reform. However much he may have wavered in former years, he is now in the ranks of the high protectionists, and so far as the Commission bill is concerned, Kasson frankly confessed that the protectionists favorit as a means of insuring the safety of the protective system in this country, and that those advocating a tariff for revenue only with incidental protection, were fully justified in their opposition to the Commis-

This last part of this paragraph confirms what this paper has said very often, as our readers know. But Kasson did not have it all his own way, nor, fine as his speech was, did he become "the cock of the walk." The letter in the State says:

"They (the protectionists) were compelled to listen to one of the most powerful and effective speeches made in Congress for many years. They were compelled to listen, for when Carlisle began his reply to Kasson his sentences were so clear and strong, his statements so fair, his argument so logical, and so full of facts and figures drawn from new sources, that protectionists and revenue reformers alike were held in their seats for nearly two hours, scarcely realizing the passing time, and at 5 o'clock members on all sides requested, unanimously, that Carlisle should be permitted to proceed to-mor-row, although his time had been extended beyond his hour. His speech excited a great deal of admiration among Congressmen. Revenue reformers are already talking of circulating hundreds of thousands of copies throughout the country.'

Seuator Vance's amendment, if we understand it, would have given the farmers of the country a majority upon the Tariff Commission. Ransom and Vance and nineteen other Democrats voted for it, but not one Republican. The Democrats who voted against it, and in favor of giving manufacturers the control, were Bayard, Brown, of Ga., Butler and Hampton, of South Carolina, and Davis, of West Virginia. It will be well enough to remember this. An amendment offered by Senator Garland, of Arkansas, constituting the commission of three Senators, three Representatives, and three civilians, was voted down by 18 to 34.

The Baltimore American, Republican, in its Washington special of the 28th, says that at the capital an open war on the Administration is preparing among the Republican Congressmen. The special says:

"Within the last few days, however, open signs of dissatisfaction have been no ticed among several of the Senators, and the fact is becoming more and more apparent that a threatened row is imminent in the Stalwart camp. It is alleged that Senators Logan, Cameron and Jones of Nevada are controlling all the appointments, and have not been satisfied with the patronage of their own States, but have gone beyond their prerogative, and within the meets and bounds of their brothers' domains they have succeeded in planting friends in office objectionable to the Senators of those States."

Mr. House was born January 6th, 1793, which makes him 89 years two months and a half old. Mr. Philip Fink, whose death we noted last week, was just eighteen days younger than Mr. H. Our friend is now alone. All his associates of that . military company are

-Fayetteville Examiner: In State vs. Speller, the Supreme Court at their late session decided that "carrying a concealed weapon in violation of the act of 1879, chapter 127, is not justified by the fact that threats of violence had been made against a party, and communicated to him, and that he took a pistol with him for his own protection. Not even for self-protection can a weapon be carried concealed, but in such a case it may be carried openly. Even then the possession of the weapon raises a presumption that it was concealed, which must be rebutted by evidence to the contrary." - New Berne Nut Shell: In yesterday's issue we stated that about 60 persons had been converted in the First Bapsons had been converted in the First Baptist Church up to Sunday night. We should have said eighty, as that was the number converted. — Eighteen persons were yesterday baptized in the river at the foot of Broad street, Rev. F. W. Eason of ficiating in the administration of the ordinance. — The protracted meeting at the nance, ___ The protracted meeting at the West Street Christian Church has resulted n the conversion of twenty souls, and the work is still going on. The prospect is bright, and the interest is rapidly increasing. The meeting is conducted by Rev. G. W. Dunn.

- Raleigh News-Observer: Some people appear to be pretty blue about the faint prospects of getting a water supply for the works which have been talked about. They say there is no place from which water can be obtained within a reasonable distance of the city. —We understand that the peach trees coaxed by the transient bloom, have already suffered severely by the subsequent frosty nights, but it is not believed that they have all been killed. —Already preparations are being made to make the celebration of the 20th of May for this year an occasion long to be remembered. A letter has been received by Capt. E. F. Young, of the Hornets' Nest Riflemen, from Adjutant General Jones, conveying the gratifying intelligence that he would order an encampment of the State Guard in Charlotte for several days about that time, and of course the military here will do the honors of the occasion.

- Statesville Landmark: The keg of whiskey that Mr. Thomas N. Cooper sent to Senator Vance just before Christmas doesn't appear to have had the desired effect. It always has been said that spirits never seemed to take much effect on Vance. ---The Republicans and brindle-tails, who have been declaiming against an extra session of the Legislature, will probably forget now to give any credit to the Council of State for not doing what they have been abusing them for intending to do. -At the minstrel performance Wednesday, evening, and in the course of the overture, Mr. Ralph, one of the members of the company, in a tremulous and uncertain voice. sang a sentimental solo, "Little Birds are Sleeping." At its conclusion, Mr. Morton. the manager, arose and said that during the evening Mr. Ralph had received a telegram announcing that his daughter was dying; and that, had he known it before the company went on the stage, he (Morton) would not have allowed him to sing.

- Graham Gleaner: La Fayette mills will begin operations in about a month. A part of the machinery is now in place. It will be run by a fine engine built by the Harris Corliss Company. Its capacity at present is nearly one hundred horse power. By the addition of another cylinder it can be increased to two hundred. The running capacity will be four hundred pounds of died on last Wednesday, the twenty-second inst., in the eighty-third year of her age. Her descendants number fifty-six grand children and fifty-three great grand children. She was the oldest member of the Presbyterian church in Graham, and had been a professing christian for sixty-six years. - Mr. Robt. L Walker made the following sales of tobacco at Durham: 834 pounds brought $537.20, 716 lbs., common, $116.46, and his two little sons, Currie and Clarence, sold 26 lbs. for $78. The following sales were made at the same place and on the same day: 124 lbs. at $42 per cwt., 294 lbs. at $70 per cwt., 140 lbs. at $106 per cwt., 164 lbs. at $170 per cwt., and 84 lbs. at $38 per cwt.

- Raleigh Farmer and Mechanic: Rumor, on Saturday, distinctly asserted that the council were informally discussing the subject of a reversal of its action. Gen. Roberts, being asked as to this, stated that so far as he knew the matter had been finally settled. Nous Verrons! -- The Episcopal Church Messenger warmly favors the division of North Carolina into two Dioceses, and says that action will probably be taken at the Tarboro Convention, May 10th; the death of Bishop Atkinson having removed that tender personal sentimen which killed the movement for a division in 1877, notwithstanding that Bishops Atkinson and Lyman both favored it. -A letter from Rutherford county mentions that "Old John Anderson" was found dead, in an old sand-pit, in the gold-mining dis-trict. John was a noted character. He was a Northerner by birth, but long resident in the State. He travelled all over the Western counties, acting as "Claim Agent." As there were hundreds of mountaineers in the Federal army, and a good many es-caped "Yankees" who settled in that region after the war, John had a considerable clientage of "pensioners" who drew $8 per month and paid him one fourth, or one half, under the contract of collection. It is probable he was killed for the money he had collected at some point. From a sketch of "Hawfields" church, in Orange county, (organized a dozen years before the Revolutionary war,) written by Rev. Calvin N. Morrow, the present pastor, we extract the following: At Hawfields, in October, 1801, the first camp-meeting in North Carolina was held. It was the "fall communion," and a precious revival having sprung up at Cross Roads two months previous, where Mr. Paisley was assisted by Rev. Messrs. David Caldwell and Leonard Prather, and two licentiates, Hugh Shaw and E. B. Currie. The people from Cross Roads were there, in their fervency and hope. People from a distance came in wagons and remained on the ground all night. Religious impressions were very general and very deep, and many of them permanent. These camp-meetings soon became common in the south and west. Log cabins were erected in a great square around the stand and arbor, and the people remained four and five days or longer. The time was spent in public or private worship, and religious conversation. It was a kind of Feast of Tabernacles, and oftentimes very profitable.

More Fish Wanted.

It has been suggested that the Fish Commission have been paying less attention to the Cape Fear than any other river in the State. Many of the smaller and less pre-tentious streams have been stocked over and over again with fish, but the Cape Fear, which has upon its banks two of the largest towns in the State, one of them a city, rather, in population as well as name-and permesting some of the richest counties in the commonwealth, has been persistently snubbed by our friends, the Commissioners. We notice that the Sounds and other streams in more eastern localities are swarming with shad, and we would like to have more of these delicious denizens of the "dancing waters" down this way. If the river should be stocked with spawn now it would take some time for them to mature and propagate, but then we would be living in anticipation, and that is often preferable to the brightest reality in this uncertain world of ours.

A Documentary Relic.

While in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court and Judge of Probate, yester day, we noticed a very venerable document, in the shape of a settlement of an account between the estate of Richard Quinn and Lyon and Jewkes, dated August, 1772, and signed by John Huske and Alexander Hostler, for £311 4s. 111d. The document, which is in the handwriting of John Huske, is in a remarkably good state of preserva-

Strangers are invited to visit the hall, where they will find Capt. J. L. Wooster, the accommodating Librarian, always ready to show them around and assist them in their researches after information of whatever kind.

The Last Bale Removed.

The last of the 1,592 bales of cotton, comprising the cargo of the German barque August, which recently came so near being destroyed by fire at sea, and was only saved by the firmness, good judgment and presence of mind of Capt. Lonnies, her commander, was removed from the hold of that vessel yesterday afternoon, and we learn that the barque will now go on the dry dock for repairs, which will not be so extensive as at first supposed. We hear that the cotton will be dried, repacked and repressed, when it will be again loaded on board of the barque August and reshipped to its destination, Liverpool.

Memorial Day. We learn that the Ladies' Memorial Association of this city has invited Capt. C. B. Denson, of Pittsboro, N. A DOWN TOWN MERCHANT, having passed several sleepless nights, disturbed by the agonles and cries of a suffering child, and becoming convinced that Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup was just the article needed, procured a supply for the child. On reaching home and acquainting his wife with what he had done, she refused to have it administered to the child, as she was strongly in favor of Homeopathy. That night the child passed in suffering, and the parents without sleep. Returning home the day following the father found the baby still suffering; and while contemplating another sleepless night, the mother stepped from the room to attend to some domestic duties and left the father with the child. During her absence he administered a portion of the Soothing Syrup to the baby, and said nothing. That night all hands slept well, and the little fellow awoke in the morning bright and happy. The mother was delighted with the wonderful change, and although at first offended at the deception practiced upon her, has continued to use the Syrup, and suffering crying babies and restless nights have disappeared. A single trial of the Syrup never yet failed to relieve the baby, and overcome the prejudices of the mother. Sold by all never yet failed to relieve the baby, and over-come the prejudices of the mother. Sold by all Druggists. 25 cents a bottle.

THE WORLD'S EPILETIC INSTITUTE. While passing through St. Joseph, and having heard a great deal about the World's Epileptic Institute located here, I conduded to pay the celebrated institution a short visit. We were met by Dr. Richmond, the proprietor, who has gained a reputation as broad as the land. He is a rather small, yet prepossessing man, of very affable and gentlemanly manners. He gave us a hearty welcome, and took great pains in showing us through his palatial and manners in situation. us through his palatial and marimoth institution. It is a five-story building, 200x180 feet, with base ment, and contains over three hundred rooms and can accommodate five hundred patients, and each and every room is furnished in the most ele-gant and lavish manner. But we will begin at gant and lavish manner. But we will begin at the office, which is a large room furnished with rosewood furniture throughout. In the office are thousands of photographs of those who have been benefited by the Nervine. The walls are ele-gantly papered, and are profusely decorated with rich and costly pictures, relieved here and there by busts in stone and bronze of eminent men of this and other countries. his and other countries. In connection with the Institute is a mammoth printing house and bindery, occupying six or seven large rooms, and a score of presses are kept running night and day turning out work for the doctor. The office is one of the finest and most complete in the west, and he has the rooms decorated, carpeted and trimmed up with as much care and luxury as is his own private office. On the first floor of this mammoth building is the doctor's private office, the printing department, bindery, tank room, packing, bottling and consultation rooms, barber shop, drug store, etc., all of which are fitted up regardless of expense. The second floor has the hotel office, dining, billiard and cooking rooms, many guest chambers and several parlors. The third and fourth floors are all rooms, all of which are furnished with Brussels carpets and the finest furniture. The billiard room has six tables, all of which are free to the guests of the house and their friends. The bath room is large and neat, and is also free to guests. The entire building is surrounded on the east and south by an elegant five acre park, in which are lovely trees, beds of rich and rare plants, gravel walks and drives, de-licious arbors, and a most beautiful summer house. There are also a number of fountains that add wonderfully to the beauty of the park, which is truly one of the most levely and attractive in the western country, and the Institute has no equal for luxury and comfort in the world. Everything is perfection, and the visitor is at once charmed with the entire place and its surroundings. An idea of the immensity of the doctor's business may be given when we say that on the day we visited the Institute he showed us to his express room, and we saw, the expressman take goods labeled to the following places, to say nothing of hundreds of orders from all quarters of America: Lyons, France; Geneva, Switzerland; Madrid, Spain; Brussels, Belgium; Cape Town, Africa; Shanghai, China; Yokohama, Japan; Bombay, India; Melbourne, Australia. The doctor employs hundreds of men and women in his Institute in the several branches, aside from the immense force required to conduct the hotel. It is worth a visit, and Dr. Richmond extends to all a cordial invitation to come and see him. He and his wonderful medical discovery have given roundings. An idea of the immensity of the doc and his wonderful medical discovery have given to St. Joseph a good name all ever the habitable
