EVENING EDITION.

1861-'65-WHAT NORTH CAROLINA DID.

When the North Carolina Roster is completed it will astonish people who are full of brag and who superciliously sneer at this State. We have known since 1862 that North Carolina furnished more troops than any other Southern State. We have known for nearly ten years that out of a voting population of not more than 112,500 that the State furnished over 124,000 soldiers. Maj. Moore, under an act of the Legislature, is preparing a Roster. He has published one volume. A second one is nearly ready. He thinks it will require eight volumes to contain the names of the soldiers from North Carolina. It has been given out that he thinks there will be 150,000 names. Let us wait. Whatever the number it will show this:

1. That according to population North Carolina sent more soldiers to the war than any other Southern

2. That according to population North Carolina sent more soldiers to the war than any Northern State.

3. That according to voting population she sent more soldiers than any other State in the Union.

4. That she furnished at least 25,-000 more soldiers in four years than she ever gave votes in one year prior to the war.

5. That she lost more men in the war than any other Southern State.

Generals Hampton, Hood, D. H. Hill, A. P. Hill, Cook, Lane, Trimble and Heth-none natives of this State-have given it as their opinion that there were no better soldiers in the war toan those from North Carolina. At least five of these Generals regarded them as the best. When the Roster is complete we hope its main facts will be made known through the leading papers of the country.

We prepared this on Thursday. Since then we have received the News-Observer of that day and from an interesting editorial upon our North Carolina soldiers, and the extreme difficulties encountered by Maj. Moore in preparing the Roster, lowing shows how trustworthy Ker is: we copy the following:

" * * We learn that great care has been taken that the names should be arranged alphabetically, and the fate of each man given where it can possibly be ascer-

"Much help that might have been given by surviving soldiers of the State has been for some reason withheld. Many musterrolls made out and sent to those supposed to be able and willing to correct them, have never been returned, and in this way the labor has been greatly increased by the fresh transcriptions that thus became necessary. Every help should be given this patriotic scheme of the last Legislature. No State or community ever had a nobler period in its history than were the four years of the late war to the old common-wealth of North Carolina. Nothing can more fully demonstrate the heroism and sufferings of the men of that day than this record of their service. * * * The pages are thick with evidences of the sarily to-day.

mighty uprising of our people and of their devotion unto death. Had all the commands been reported, as were the 26th and 28th Regiments, a force far beyond any estimate yet ventured on would have been disclosed; and surely no soldiers have ever surpassed them in the expenditure of blood. North Carolina, like 'Old Mortality,' is thus seeking to preserve the names of her mar-She does so in no spirit of disloyalty to her newly-resumed duties to the American Union. She is only preserving the memories of those who were faithful unto death, and in this manifesto no disregard of duties and responsibilities assumed in

STRANGE STATISTICS.

Some weeks ago we ran over a long and carefully prepared article in the New York Sun in regard to the prohibition question in Maine. The article had all of the earmarks of care and reliableness as to statement. We confess we were surprised at some of the revelations. The statistics contradicted very decidedly the statements made last year by distinguished gentlemen of New England. Without indorsing the correctness of the statements, of which we can know nothing, we give a few of the points made.

In 1870 in the United States there was one pauper to every 502 inhabitants. In Maine there was one to every 172 inhabitants. From 1850, the year before prohibition began, to 1870 the population increased 7.45 per cent., pauperism 14.19 per cent. In 1851 there were 87 inmates of the State prison; in 1880 there were 267, an increase of 207 per cent. though the population of the State increased in the thirty years only 11.27.

If these figures are to be relied upon then it would seem to be clear that in Maine the stringent prohibitory law has not brought the wonderful advantages claimed by so many New England writers. But are these figures to be trusted? Thus far we have seen no reply to the Sun's article. The same article shows that New Jersey, a license State, prospers very much more rapidly than Maine, but there are many causes why this should be the case without considering the question of license or prohibition.

We have received the annual report of the able and efficient Superintendent of the Insane Asylum. He says that during the last fall and winter typhoid complications existed in the diseases attacking the patients, thus increasing the mortality. The following shows the number of "The total number of admissions since the beginning of the operations of the Asylum, February 22d, 1856, amounts to 1,417. Of these 804 were males and 613 females; the total number of discharges for the same time is 1,133, of which 655 were males and 478 females. Of these 369 were discharged as cured; 146 were improved, 206 unimproved, and 412 died. There are now under treatment 149 males and 135 females; a total of 284-7 males and 7 females of whom are at home on probation

"The last annual report included 138 males and 135 females then under treatment. There have been admitted since, 29 males and 20 females; the whole number of patients under treatment for the year being 167 males and 155 females, making a "Of these, 18 males and 20 females have been discharged. There have been 10 discharged as cured, 3 improved, and 2 unimproved; and 23 have died.

"During the past year the per centage of ures and much improved upon admissions has been 26 per cent., and of deaths upon the whole number treated has been 7 per The report, like all that Dr. Grissom has sent out, is well arranged, intelligent and suggestive. The Asylum fell under excellent supervision when so considerate, obliging, humane, watchful and capable a gentleman was selected as Superintendent. We may have occasion to refer to a point or two presented in the report.

W. W. Ker, the Philadelphia slanderer, has been to Charleston and has returned home. In Washington he told the following, if the New York Tribune can be trusted in a matter of the kind:

"Last Wednesday night a gang of Dem ocratic desperadoes, known as the 'Bull dog Gang,' as a mark of attention to him, broke all the windows in the lower part of the hotel in which Mr. Ker was staying. He was openly insulted because, although Democrat, he appeared for the Government to prosecute the election frauds. South Carolina Democrats cannot understand such a phenomenon as a Democrat who is willing to assist in the 'persecution' of good, honest Democrats who did nothing except stuff ballot-boxes for the benefit of

The Charleston News and Courier publishes the affidavit of E. T. Gaillard, proprietor of the Pavillion Hotel, at which Ker stopped. The fol-

At Covington, Ohio, a Dr. Tanner was green enough to play with a cub of a ferocious lion in the show of Sells Brothers. Here is the result:

"The lion grabbed his hand. The doctor yelled for help and made desperate efforts to free himself but could not do so. The infuriated animal held on with his paws like grim death, and when assistance arrived he had the doctor's arm nearly all in his mouth. Bystanders say that they could hear the bones in the man's arm crack as the lion's teeth closed down on them. The doctor's cries soon attracted the employes of the circus and a number of them entered the cage with spikes and clubs, and after considerable punching and beating succeeded in compelling the lion to loosen his grip. Dr. Tanner immediately fainted and had to be carried from the tent. His arm will in all probability have to be amputated, as upon examination it was found that nearly all the bones were crushed and his hand was fearfully lace-

France and Spain raise very large sums from the monopoly in tobacco. England, we believe, levies high duties on the same article. Emperor William, speaking the mind of Bismarck, recommends the same policy as the best substitute for oppressive direct taxes. It is to tax indirectly-but to tax-the luxuries. That is the true principle. If the United States had a tariff for revenue constructed on that principle the present burdens would be lifted.

M. Desire Charney has been exploring Central America for a year or more, and has been publishing the result of his discoveries in the North American Review. A dispatch to that monthly is to the effect that he has succeeded in penetrating the country of the Locandones and has discovered a large city, which, on account of its inaccessibility has been called the "Phantom City." Several explorers have attempted this feat and have failed.

The house-keepers in Chicago are complaining of the increased cost of living. It is the necessaries that are booming. A dispatch says:

"Wheat and corn and their products, potatoes and other vegetables and meats are comparatively higher and some of them actually higher in this market than in the fush times succeeding the war, when gol was at a great premium. People who considered themselves fairly well to do are now compelled to look carefully into the expense question and to economize sharply on their daily living expenses. Alarmists see in this state of affairs a promise of disaster to employers and employed."

The following will be news to most readers of the STAR. The two statements may be a real surprise. Ma hone's organ, the Richmond Whig,

"The fact is, there are are no repudia tionists in Virginia whom President Arthur favors. He likes the Readjusters because they will pay, and have undertaken to pay, every dollar that Virginia owes.

TRAGEDY IN YANCEYLILLE,

NORTH CAROLINA. Special to the Richmond Dispatch.

LYNCHBURG, VA., April 26. - Tolay a shocking tragedy occurred at Yanceyville, North Carolina, resulting in the instant killing of Nathaniel Johnson and probably fatal shooting of George Williamson, Jr., and wounding of Postmaster Felix Roane. The affair is said to have originated last Saturday between Roane and Colonel George Williamson, formerly a member of the North Carolina Legislature, when the latter jestingly twitted the former with naving accepted a commission from a Republican Administration. Roane, it seems, took offence at this; but no difficulty occurred at the time. This morning a difficulty occurred be-tween Roane and Colonel Williamson, supposed to have grown out of the above incident. Later in the day Nat. Johnson, nephew of Colonel George Williamson, was sent for while engaged on his farm, near Yanceyville, and immediately repaired to the village and had a consultation with Geo. Williamson, Jr., after which they were seen to go in the So much for the Philadelphia Ker. direction of the postoffice. When opposite Henderson's store, which adjoins the postoffice building, they observed Roane coming in the opposite direction from his dinner, armed with a double-barrelled shot-gun. Postmaster Roane, upon seeing Messrs.

Johnson and Williamson, Jr., warned them not to approach him further, but the young men paid no heed to the caution, and continued to advance, whereupon Roane took deliberate aim and emptied the contents of the gun in Johnson's body, killing him instantly. Roane then drew a pistol simultaneously with young Williamson, and both began firing. Williamson was struck full in the forehead by the pistol-ball, and most probably fatally injured, while Roane only received a painful wound in the calf of his leg. Postmaster Roane immediately surrendered himself to the authorities. All of the parties to the unfortunate affray were highly connected in North Carolina and in Danville, Va., and the tragedy has caused intense excitement.

How Three Desperate Negroes Stole Cargo of Freight. Greensboro News.

On the evening of the 20th, while the Charlotte-bound freight was stopping at Harrisburg, a party of five negroes managed to get into a box car unnoticed, where they lay quiet until the train moved off and then they commenced unloading the cargo. They threw out a number of boxes of tobacco, which were followed by a sack of flour, but the sack bursted open and scattered the flour along the track, and being considerate negroes they decided not to indulge in such extravagant waste, but to wait until the train sided off at Query's, where they could quietly unload. They carried out this idea successfully, unloading and hiding a number of sacks along the track while the freight train was waiting for the north-bound passenger train to pass. The robbers left the train at Query's, and during the night walked along the track and collected their booty. They carried it to the house of a negro in the neighborhood, but soon found to their regret that they had mistaken their host, for he went to Harrisburg, on finding out what had been done, and informed the depot agent. The negroes were subsequently arrested, and are now in Concord jail.
