OUTLINES.

The official announcement of the decision of the District Supreme Court, in the case of Guitauv was read yesterday—that a new trial is denied, and the judgment of the court below affirmed.

The last number of Drama and Music was an immense gem. It is a marvel of excellence every way.

There were 1,038 confirmations by Bishop Whittle, of Virginia, last year. The number of communicants is 13,344.

It is well enough to go slow. Am I to have office or not? Show your hand, or I am off on a new dodge.

At John Russell Young's marriage the bride asked to kiss Gen. Grant. This scared the old fighter terribly. Of course it did.

General Ignatieff is to resign from the Russian Ministry because of his defeat on the measure to accelerate the emigration of the Jews.

Arthur has not selected a single man for the Tariff Commission, although the Cabinet has had the matter in hand and very seriously. It is thought the whole nine will be appointed this week.

So Guitauv's last chance has "played" and he must hang. The Judges in the Court of Banc unanimously decide that no new trial can be granted and affirmed the judgment of the lower Court.

There is no truth in a report circulated in Washington on Friday last of a duel between Senator Williams and Representative Blackburn, of Kentucky. They had a slight difference but nothing serious.

The new capitol at New York has cost already $13,000,000, and $1,800,000 more has just been appropriated to complete it. That and the Brooklyn Bridge are the two biggest frauds since the Tweed time.

It seems that in Republican circles in Washington the appointment of Mr. Tom Cooper, as Collector of the Sixth North Carolina District, is regarded as having much significance. In view of what occurred the Washington correspondent of the Baltimore American writes:

"Mr. Cooper was a Sherman man during the campaign, and his appointment and confirmation were earnestly fought by Mr. Thomas Keogh, the stalwart Republican from that State. A number of charges were laid against him, all of which he disproved to the satisfaction of certain Senators who opposed him, and his induction into office is looked upon as the first movement in an infatigable campaign to establish an independent movement in that State, which is expected to be successful."

The Raleigh News-Observer, referring to the historian, Richard Hildreth, asks:

"As a matter of fact, does Hildreth lean to the Federal side?"

We cannot say positively. We have read Bancroft but not Hildreth. Many years ago, according to our recolection, Prof. Brown, of the University of North Carolina, represented Hildreth as taking the Federal view. But we are not certain. We would not take him for a Democrat in any sense from two facts in his history.

Fifty years ago he wrote an abolition novel, and was connected editorially with the New York Tribune under Horace Greeley.

The prosecution in the Malley case has closed its testimony, which is mainly circumstantial. The Baltimore Sun thus sums up what was shown:

"For two days before her death the girl had been voluntarily away from home in the company of the three persons who it is held, conspired to effect her ruin, and finally her murder. The burden is sought to be imposed on the defendants of accounting for the presence arsenic in the girl's stomach and her body being found in the water with no indications of drowning. There is nothing to connect the Malley boys directly with the supposed crime. The presumption, however, is thought to be a fair one that her associates up to within a few hours of her death were the guilty cause of it. It may be doubted whether a sufficient motive is shown. It is difficult to conceive of circumstances under which the taking of a life would be such an advantage, or her continuing to live such a disadvantage to the accused as to be a probable reason for their incurring the risks of murder. Their action with regard to Jennie Cramer had been destitute and heartless in the extreme, but it is held by many as a more reasonable hypothesis that the unfortunate girl, realizing her unhappy situation, at war with her family, viewing herself as an outcast, and finding her supposed friends mercenary, committed suicide as the readiest means of ending her troubles."

Danbury Reporter: The apple and peach trees are already bending under the weight of the young fruit.

There are 125 papers published in North Carolina; 9 dailies, 99 weeklies, 3 semi-weeklies, 2 tri-weeklies, 8 monthlies, and a number of monthly amateurs. So says an exchange.

Greensboro Protestant: By a postal card from Rev. James E. Harshel, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, we are notified of the death of Rev. W. L. Hornaday, pastor of the Catawba circuit, North Carolina Conference.

The Charlotte Observer, with commendable enterprise, issued a 48 column paper on Sunday morning giving Senator Bayard's speech on the 20th, and such matter concerning the Mecklenburg Declaration.

Hillsboro Observer: Every house in Chapel Hill is occupied. Mr. W. F. Strayhorn, postmaster at Hillsboro, and one of the oldest citizens of Orange county, died at his residence in this place Friday, May 11th, in the 67th year of his age.

A correspondent of the U. S. Reporter, writing from Weldon, complimented very highly the hotel lately brought about the county by the late Mayor, who admires the Colonel. He pays for his papers and charges newspaper men for board.

Salisbury Examiner: Statesville is one of the most beautiful and business-like towns in Western North Carolina. Quite a number of handsome new buildings have just gone up, and others are in process of erection. It has a good back country, and the wagon trade is very considerable.

Reidsville Times: We are slow coach enough to doubt the good taste of brisk and lively young females traveling about the country drumming for newspaper subscriptions. We had rather see the angels at something else, if only eating taffy. A real living man as agent for a newspaper, with the cheek of a government mule, is sad sight enough.

Beaufort Telephone: Superintendent Worth, of the State Fish Commission, has sent Mr. W. J. Dougherty one hundred thousand shad, which were released in Newport river. The barque Rome, which arrived on Saturday last from Cardiff, Wales, is the largest vessel of the six, which is lately bringing cargoes of cod fish to the Midland N. C. Railroad. She is 814 tons burthen, and although not fully loaded, has on board 896 tons of steel rails.

New Berne Commercial: The trucking season was altogether the most profitable and satisfactory that our farmers have enjoyed. The President of the Midland road has promised to put the steamer Tiger Lily on the route from Washington to Beaufort on the 30th of June, touching at Swan Quarter, and run there during the summer season. Then she is to go on regularly as a passenger, mail and freight boat from New Berne to points in Hyde county.

A man named Retler, residing in Moore county, went to a mill the other morning with a load of corn, taking his two young sons on the wagon with him. The boys crawled under several bags of corn. One of them fell asleep and was smothered by one of the bags falling on his face. While the father was getting the body from under the bags, the other boy, who had jumped to the ground and was standing near the wagon, was kicked on the head by one of the horses and killed. The father returned home with the bodies in the wagon.

Statesville Landmark: The first drummer from beyond the Blue Ridge, via the Western North Carolina Railroad, faint Rock and Asheville, was here last week. He represented a Knoxville grocery house, and was trying to sell Tennessee flour to our merchants. The rust is on the wheat in this county, and the fly is also making some depressions.

Jack Dixon, the oldest man in Yadkin county, died on the 16th of last month, aged 97 years and 10 months. About five tons of commercial fertilizers had been sold here this season, against about 900 last season.

From a Nashville letter in the Charlotte Observer: The person of the new Black Dixon, the oldest man in Yadkin county, died on the 16th of last month, aged 97 years and 10 months. About five tons of commercial fertilizers had been sold here this season, against about 900 last season.

It is believed that if there had been perfect unanimity in the North Carolina delegation to the convention, it would have run ahead of Dr. H. on the first ballot, and would have stood a fair chance of election on the second or third ballot. Out of a delegation of twelve, ten were understood to be for Dr. W. and two against him.

Greensboro Patriot: Edgar McCulloch, son of Joseph McCulloch, deceased, of this county, has been tendered a cadetship at West Point. The appointment was tendered to Robert Bingham Lynch and Charles S. Gilmer, both of whom declined. The cotton factory owned and operated by C. S. Causey, at High Point is the leading enterprise of that growing town. The building is capacious and modern, 40x145 feet, two stories, and gives employment to about 40 or 50 hands. Mr. Causey has added to the capacity of his mill until now 7,000 spindles are employed, making from $1,200 to $1,500 worth of warps and yarns per day. These goods command a ready market, and are sold principally in Philadelphia. In a short time 102 looms will be started on colored goods, plaids and stripes.

Charlotte Observer: The silver pitcher which was won by the Augusta company No. 8, in the reel race yesterday, was last night presented to Miss A. Vonia B. Conway, in the Central Hotel parlor.

Yesterday morning about 7 o'clock, John Rohey, who has been employed at Wilkes' foundry, was sitting in the window of the top story in the building on College street occupied by Torrence & Bailey, when he lost his balance and tumbled out. The window was on the rear side of the house, and the ground was a level of seventy feet. Rohey struck on the platform which runs along the first story of the house and crushed through it to the ground, entirely demolishing a section of the platform about six feet long. He was picked up and laid out in a room, dead, to all appearances, but when Dr. Donoghue arrived and made an examination, he pronounced the man to be living. A severe concussion of the brain and several fractures about the skull, was the extent of his injuries. In the course of an hour or two the man could talk, and showed some signs of improvement. The doctor thinks the man will get well.

Raleigh News-Observer: Mrs. Sophia Rosenbaum, wife of Mr. J. M. Rosenbaum, died in this city yesterday at 1 P. M., aged 42 years. The Anson Times announces that if the citizens will grade and cross-tie the route from Wadesboro to Asheville, a distance of ten miles, Col. Bridgers' company will extend the Cheraw and Salisbury road to that point.

A day or so since the Penitentiary authorities were gratified by the receipt of the following brief letter from the negro who some years ago stole a valuable horse from Gen. W. R. Cox, of this city. He had escaped from the penitentiary some time ago. We give the letter verbatim: "I am Asheville jail charge with stole a horse a black boss send quick for me. GEORGE McCALL."

Mr. James M. Forrest died suddenly yesterday afternoon about 9 o'clock at the boarding house of Mr. H. A. Correll, on Bloodworth street. His death is supposed to have been caused by an overdose of laudanum. It will be seen that the number of delegates entitled to seats in the State convention is limited, and that the construction we had placed on the resolution heretofore published was correct. But the basis has been lowered. Under the rules now printed, the State convention, if full, will consist of not 800 delegates, but we know from experience that some distant counties will not send as many delegates as they are entitled to, so we may estimate that the State convention will be composed of about 600 members.

The case of Chas. Bell, colored, for forcible trespass and assault and battery with a deadly weapon, which was to have been heard before Justice McQuigg, yesterday, was finally postponed until to-day.

We learn that there was a heavy frost in the neighborhood of South Washington, Pender county, one morning last week, which had a bad effect on all the growing crops, turning a good deal of the corn yellow.

Rev. James Sprunt, of Kenansville, filled the pulpit of the First Presbyterian Church on Sunday last, the pastor, Rev. Dr. Wilson, being absent in attendance upon the session of the General Synod at Atlanta.

The camp meeting at Piney Grove, under the auspices of St. Luke's A. M. E. Church, came to a close yesterday, and large crowds of colored people were arriving from the camp ground during the afternoon. We learn that there were a good many conversions.

The owner of a horse washed him in liquid turpentine yesterday, when the animal commenced cutting up all sorts of capers on the streets, to the evident amusement and gratification of the small boys. He came near breaking his neck several times in his grand and lofty tumblings.

The Suit Against the Carolina Central. A petition has been filed in the office of the Superior Court Clerk, by counsel for the plaintiff, for the removal of the case of Mrs. Virginia Matthews vs. the Carolina Central Railroad, et al., from the State to the U. S. Circuit Court, which will be considered by the latter tribunal when it meets. This case was to have been heard before Judge McKoy, July 11th, on an application for an injunction and the appointment of a receiver.

Sale of a Barque. The German barque August, which was injured some two months since by being struck by lightning while off our coast, and which put back to this port in distress, was sold to the highest bidder, yesterday, by Messrs. Cronly & Morris, auctioneers, for account of underwriters, and others concerned, and was purchased by Mr. James Sprunt for $3,400, who will put her in thorough repair.

Overboard. Buck West, colored, in the employ of the Custom House, fell overboard at the foot of Dock street, yesterday, and made a narrow escape from drowning. He was carried under the wharf by the swift current, but got a grip on one of the pilings and held it until assistance arrived.

Mayor's Court. Four small colored boys, named Tucker Townsend, Wm. Williams, Wm. Davis and Thomas Chavers, were before the Mayor yesterday on the charge of stealing crabs. The evidence was deemed insufficient to convict and they were discharged.

Debilitated persons and sufferers from wasting diseases, such as consumption, scrofula, kidney affections, will be greatly benefited by using Brown's Iron Bitters.

Local Notes. — The receipts of cotton yesterday were 51 bales.

Friday of this week is the last day to bring suits in the Superior Court for the June term.

Messrs. Kirkwood and Hewes, steamboat inspectors for this district, are here on official business.

The closing exercises of Hem-enway public school will take place this morning, commencing at 10 o'clock.

We understand that a large excursion party from Florence and other points on the road is to visit Waccamaw Lake to-morrow.

The city carts were busy capturing and impounding stray cattle, goats and hogs, yesterday, and we learn they reaped quite a harvest.

The ordination of Rev. W. T. Jones, who has received a call to the Baptist church in Wilson, North Carolina, will take place on Friday, the 9th of June.

The war upon dogs will commence June 10th, on and after which all found running at large without badges will be killed. Call and get your badge.

About twenty-five colored people were baptized by immersion in the river, foot of Queen street, on Sunday afternoon, by the pastor of the Ebenezer Baptist church.

Mr. Rufus Garriss, of Pender county, a member of the Board of County Commissioners in reconstruction times, and well known in this county, died recently, aged about 74 years.

A white man, whose name we did not ascertain, was thrown from a buggy near the foot of Chestnut street, yesterday morning, and was quite badly lacerated about the face and head.

The Norwegian barque Atlantic, Capt. Knudsen, was cleared from this port for Hamburg, yesterday, by Messrs. E. G. Barker & Co., with 3,914 barrels of rosin and 200 casks spirits turpentine.

THE LUTHERANS.

Important Occasion—Sermon by Rev. Dr. Conrad—Installation of the Pastor, Rev. F. W. E. Peschau—The Charges to the Pastor and People by Rev. Drs. Bikle and Conrad—Response of the Pastor, &c.

Sunday last was an occasion of much interest and importance to St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church in this city, it being the time set apart for the regular installation into the pastorate of Rev. F. W. E. Peschau, late of Nashville, Tennessee, who recently accepted a call to preside over its destinies. The interest of the occasion was heightened by the fact that two distinguished divines of the Lutheran persuasion, Rev. F. W. Conrad, D. D., of Philadelphia, and Rev. A. L. Bikle, President of the North Carolina College at Mt. Pleasant, N. C., were present to participate in the ceremonies.

Rev. Dr. Conrad preached in the morning a powerful sermon from the words "Christ Crucified," being part of a clause of the 23rd verse of the 1st chapter of Paul's 1st Epistle to the Corinthians. He dwelt earnestly, eloquently and forcibly upon the importance of making "Christ and Him crucified" the great theme of pulpit effort at all times and on all occasions, his discourse evidencing great depth of thought, extended information and a degree of familiarity with the Scriptures to which few attain.

The ceremonies of installation took place at night and were witnessed by a large and deeply interested audience. The pulpit was beautifully decorated, and above it in the rear were the words, in large gilt letters, "God Bless Our Pastor," while on the west side of the altar were the words, also in gilt letters, "Our Cares, Our Joys" (and on the east side the continuation) "And Our Aims are One." At the appointed hour Rev. Dr. Bikle rose and introduced the services of the hour by requesting the choir to sing the Gloria Patri, after which he said the usual Collect for such an occasion, and at the conclusion of the preliminary exercises proceeded to deliver the charge to the pastor, which was a masterly effort, abounding in good advice and instruction, and doubtless made an impression upon the mind and heart of the reverend gentleman for whom his words were intended which will last for all time. He defined the pastoral relation in such a manner that all were edified, while his delivery was of a character to impress every one favorably.

After singing, etc., the charge was next delivered to the congregation by Rev. Dr. Conrad, who proceeded to instruct the people as to their duties to the pastor in one of the most forcible efforts we have ever listened to, clearly and distinctly defining the relations between pastor and people and the people and pastor and enforcing his convictions with language plain and unmistakable. Dr. Conrad is quite a rapid speaker, but his enunciation is clear and distinct and his discourses give evidence of a mind richly stored with scriptural truth.

At the conclusion of the charge the choir sang a beautiful song of welcome to the pastor, after which Rev. Dr. Bikle said: "In the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. Amen. Beloved brethren, members of this Christian church: We have been duly authorized to install as your pastor and teacher, Rev. F. W. E. Peschau, our esteemed brother and fellow-laborer in the service of our Lord Jesus Christ. Although we do not doubt that the congregation have fully concurred in his election, it becomes us nevertheless to pay due regard to church order. Therefore, before we proceed to this installation, we desire to be duly certified by the congregation, through its council, that you have chosen this brother to be your pastor."

M. H. B. Eilers, of the Church Council, then arose and read the following: "Greetings, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ: "In the name of the Church Council of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran congregation of Wilmington, N. C., is herewith tendered to you, the representative of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of North Carolina, the following to assure said Synod of the call properly given to, and accepted by, the Rev. F. W. E. Peschau, of Nashville, Tenn., and to secure its official recognition and endorsement in the installation of our pastor here present."

The Rev. Mr. Peschau, accompanied by his Church Council, then presented himself before the altar, and was duly installed according to the Liturgy of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, Rev. Dr. Bikle officiating in this part of the service, after which a hymn was sung, when the newly installed pastor, kneeling with his face to the altar, said: "Create in me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me." Then, after other customary ceremonies and prayer, he proceeded to address his congregation, first in German and then in English, pledging his best efforts to promote the welfare of the church and the spiritual and temporal good of his people; expressing it as his great desire that as now he had been inducted into office as their pastor, he might be inducted also into their hearts, and finally, by God's blessing, into their homes, and finally, by God's blessing, into their hearts. His address was a very touching and appropriate one and moved many to tears.

Rev. Mr. Peschau enters upon the pastorate here under the most favorable auspices, having the entire confidence and esteem of his people, and the good will and hearty approbation of all our people who have had the pleasure of meeting him or of listening to his ministry.

A brief sketch of the church may not be inappropriate just here. The organization of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church was effected on the 31st of May, 1858, in the old Presbyterian church on Front street, which was subsequently destroyed by fire. Rev. John H. Mengert was the first pastor, and commenced his labors in December, 1858, the services being held in the session house in the rear of St. James' Episcopal church, which was rented for the purpose. The first officers were Messrs. J. G. Bauman, H. B. Eilers, H. VonGlabbe, E. Schulken, C. H. Vollers and H. Vollers, Trustees; Messrs. N. Bremer and A. Adrian, Elders, and Messrs. W. Knobl and H. Rehder, Deacons.

On the 27th of March, 1859, the first constitution was adopted, and at the meeting of the N. C. Synod in Concord on the 30th of April, 1859, the church was received in connection with the Synod. The corner stone of the present edifice was laid on the 6th of September, 1859, Rev. Mr. Mengert and Rev. Calvin Shaw officiating. On the 27th of December, 1860, the constitution of the church was revised and re-adopted and two hundred copies printed in the German language. Rev. Mr. Mengert resigned in May, 1862, and died in Baltimore county, Md., in October, 1876, aged 63 years. Then followed a long interval during which nothing was done to the church and only occasional services were held. The church building was finally completed in July 1869, and was dedicated on Sunday, August 23d, of the same year, Revs. G. D. and C. H. Bernheim, L. Muller and W. A. Julian officiating. Rev. G. D. Bernheim preaching the dedicatory sermon. Rev. G. D. Bernheim was called to the pastorate, arrived in this city December 29th, 1869, and commenced his labors on the following Sunday, January 2nd. He served the church twelve years, sending in his resignation May 22nd, 1881, to take effect January 1st, 1882. At a special meeting, held December 7th, 1881, a call was extended to Rev. F. W. E. Peschau, and his letter accepting the same is dated December 13th, 1881. He arrived here March 3rd, 1882, with his family, and preached his introductory sermon on the 5th of the same month.

It is interesting to know, in this connection, that in August, 1840, Capt. Jacob Wessel, the first German citizen of Wilmington, arrived here from Charleston. In 1841 Mr. A. E. Mindell and family, with Mr. Ehrhardt, arrived here from New York, and on the 7th of October, 1842, Mr. H. B. Eilers, to whom the Lutheran church is so much indebted for its success, was added to the number of German settlers. He was followed in 1843 by Messrs. J. G. Bauman and G. Prigge, and a few years later Messrs. Martin Schulken, H. VonGlabbe, J. C. Heyer, N. Gerken, H. Schulken, H. Vollers, E. Schulken and others followed. On the 9th of September, 1852, the German Volunteers was organized, with J. Wessel as Captain, H. VonGlabbe First Lieutenant, J. G. Bauman Second Lieutenant, and H. B. Eilers Third Lieutenant.
