We have seen nothing in the present Legislature that leads us to think that it is more than an average body since the war. It may work a little better, but its wisdom is not pronounced, and its boldness does not impress us as being above that of former Legislatures. The Senate, true to the history of past legislation, voted down a proposition to tax dogs $2 or 50 cents even. In all the years the carniverous canines have secured many friends among the standard politicians of the day. But the sheep have more friends in the present General Assembly than they have ever had before. Let the press keep at it and after awhile the taxpayers will not elect any men who do not favor a dog law.

RAILROAD MATTERS.

Second Day's Proceedings of the Colored Stockholders of the Proposed Coast Line Railroad.

[Reported for the Star.]

WILMINGTON, Jan. 18, 1883. Meeting of stockholders called to order by Rev. J. C. Price, Chairman. Prayer by Rev. Vaughan.

Minutes of previous meeting read and approved with proper corrections. Report of committees was called for. whereupon Wassom stated that the committee could only report progress, as the matter before them is of such importance that the success of the Railroad would depend materially upon their work. Committee was granted further time to prepare

The report of the committee on Estimates, &c., was next called for. F. C. Sadgwar for the committee stated that the committee had not completed its work, but bad called upon the private Secretary of a prominent railroad official and succeeded in obtaining the following facts, to wit: Cost of grading per mile $500, cross-ties per mile $600, steel rails, 40 pounds to the yards per mile $1,170. The report as made was adopted and the committee given further time to complete

E. F. Martin moved that a committee of nine be appointed to name Directors and report the result of their work to the stocknolders at to-night's meeting. Martin strongly supported his motion in very perti-

Geo. W. Price, Jr., thought with Marin, and gave very lucid reasons why his proposition should meet with very general Scurlock could not see the wisdom of such a motion until a further stage of our progress, and therefore hoped the motion would not prevail. J. C. Dancy said he could see no impropriety in the appointment of a committee to name suitable directors, as such work would facilitate and simplify the labors of the company. He said the Associated Press dispatches had told of our project, and the negro scores another round on the ladder of progress. No enterprise ever inaugurated by the race affords any comparison to the one originated in the fertile minds of the projectors of this road. Geo. T. Wassom favored the motion. He said E. F. Martin is verily the Toussaint L'Ouverture or Benjamin Banneker of the present time. He insisted that the future of the negro depended in a great measure upon the success of such enterprises. Capitalists, North and South, did not measure a man by his color, but by his importance as a man of business. Rev. Joseph C. Price favored the meetng with some very appropriate remarks. He said the negro was accredited with superior scholarship, great intellect as an orator and marvelous powers of endurance, but doubts were entertained of his ability to push great business enterprises to suc cess. We have the nerve, yea, the will power, then let us succeed. Luther was charged with being a fanatic, as were other great reformers and statesmen, but subsequent events have shown the wisdom of their course. In the language of a great statesmen, "Sink or swim, live or die, survive or perish. I give my hand and heart

The motion then prevailed. The committee was then appointed as follows: Geo. W. Price, chairman; Geo. C. Scurlock, John C. Dancy, G. T. Wassom, E. F. Martin, S. N. Hill, William Stith, F. C. Sadgwar and J. D. Dry. The name of Rev. Jos. C. Price, chairman, on motion, was added to the list. On motion, the meeting adjourned until o'clock P. M.

The stockholders met again at 7 o'clock P. M. pursuant to adjournment, to hear The Rockingham Rocket likes the the report of the committee to select suitviews of the STAR on the subject of able persons for the Directors of the pro-Federal aid for educational purposes.

The meeting opened with prayer by Rev. Geo. W. Price entertained the meeting with a very suggestive speech on the prac-tical results that would follow in the wake of the efforts now planned. Geo. T. Wassom said that during the past two days we have been making history and laid the great plank in our platform of commercial life and activity. Alfred Lloyd made a sound and sensible peech pointing out the many advantages that will flow from the completion of the Road as contemplated.

John C. Dancy summarized the work done and the work proposed. He spoke of Gould and Vanderbilt and Field as the great railway magnets of the North, and Bridgers, Andrews, Gordon and others as the great projectors in our Southerland. He contended that our limited opportunities have prevented us from furnishing the world any such skilled promoters of steam locomotion or magnates as our white brethren, but we hope ere long to have them in rich variety. He discussed at length the cost of grading, getting cross-ties and securing steel rails, insisting that it could be built for less than four thousand dollars per mile. Let the world know that we raise men. There is room at the top. Let us get there by proper exertion. Rise! for the day is passing. Delay now is dangerous; yea, suicidal. Push the road to Wrightsville, and no possible disaster can prevent its passage to Jacksonville. Posterity will extend it North and South, if we can't. Wake up! for the new era is dawning with greater facilities than any hitherto enjoyed for in-dustrial progress. He said in conclusion, The lives of all great men remind us We may make our lives sublime, And departing leave behind us, Footprints on the sands of time. Rev. J. C. Price being loudly called for, made an able speech on the prospect of the Road, enumerating the main points requiring immediate action and what should be work as special agents for various objects.

— Raleigh Advocate: Our hearts went out in warmest sympathy as we took the hand of our afflicted brother, Rev. H.
H. Gibbons, in our office on Monday last. He had just retu.ned from Faison's, N. C., during our proceedings. Great Britain has recognized our manhood fully and unreservedly, and America will do it ere many moons wax and wane. Go on in your noble work and may God speed you. He asked to be pardoned for urging the selec-tion of J. C. Dancy for the office of Secretary and Treasurer of the Company. Messrs. Devane and Lloyd also made some remarks which were well received. The directors then retired to elect permanent officers for the Company. The meeting then adjourned.

The Rainy Weather.

The terrible weather of the past week or two is almost completely checking business in the city, while the farmers are delayed in their preparations for the coming crops. The country everywhere is completely flooded with water, and travel otherwise than on the railroads is fast becoming a matter of serious difficulty. In Pender, Brunswick and other adjoining counties, the condition of affairs is no better than in New Hanover.

Mr. R. P. Richardson, Reidsville, N. C., says: "Brown's Iron Bitters restored my wife's mother from feeble health to full Weather Indications. The following are the indications for to-

For the Middle Atlantic States, colder, partly cloudy weather in the southern portion, local rains, northwest veering to northeast winds, and higher pressure. For the South Atlantic States, cloudy, rainy weather, winds mostly easterly, stationary or lower temperature. For the East Gulf States, cloudy, rainy weather, variable winds, mostly southerly, stationary or higher temperature.

For the West Gulf States, cloudy, rainy weather, variable winds, shifting in the western portion to northerly, stationary or nigher temperature.

For the Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, cloudy weather, with rain or snow, easterly winds becoming variable, stationary or lower temperature and pressure.

Curious Atmospheric Phenomenon. We omitted to mention a rather singular phenomenon which was witnessed in this city about half past 2 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. The Western heavens suddenly became overspread by a densely dark cloud, which resembled the black smoke from a burning distillery, rendering it so dark on the instant as to cause many pedestrians on the streets to halt in wonder, while others became impressed with the idea that a tornado was approaching. Among the colored people, however, the alarm was greatest, some of them being heard to declare in earnest tones that "judgment day has come at last." The darkness only lasted for a very few moments, when the light burst forth as suddenly as it had vanished before the black shadow which passed over the heavens with such strange swiftness. Quite a heavy gust of wind, which lasted but a moment, accompanied the somewhat remarkable at Opera House-General Jones' Address. The address of General Jones will be delivered to-night at the Opera House, as previously announced, at a quarter to eight o'clock promptly. The Wilmington Light Infantry, at whose invitation General Jones has consented to deliver the address, well attend in uniform. The Cornet Concert Club have kindly agreed to add to the pleasure of the occasion by their delightful music. General Matthew P. Taylor will make the introductory speech. Col. F. C. Cameron, Inspector General of the State Guard, will be present and the following gentlemen have been invited to occupy seats upon the stage: Hon. O. P. Meares, Col. F. W. Kerchner, Edward Kidder, Esq., Hon. Geo. Davis, Dr. Geo. Gillett Thomas, Maj. W. A. Cumming, Col. J. J. Hedrick, R. E. Calder, Esq., Col. F. H. Cameron. The Wilmington Light Infantry extends to the public generally, and the ladies particularly, a cordial invitation to hear the address of the distinguished officer. The ball, complimentary to the General, will take place immediately after the address, in Germania Hall. Mayor's Court.

Sarah Powers, colored, was arrested near the gas-house Wednesday night on suspicion, she declining to give an account of herself, and talking rather independently to the officer. Judgment was suspended and she was discharged.

Bill Larkins, colored, charged with the larceny of a pair of pants, the property of Mr. Henry Beckert, an account of which appeared in our last issue, had a hearing and clinched the testimony against himself by admitting under oath, after due warning, not to say anything that could be used against him, that he stole the pants as charged. He was not only a candid confessor, but actually requested to be put upon the stand. He was required to give bond in the sum of $50 for his appearance at the next term of the Criminal Court, in default of which he was turned over to the Sheriff and committed to iail.

The Princess, the Marquis and Their

Escort. The Princess Louise, accompanied by her husband, the Marquis of Lorne, and their escort, having failed to reach here yesterday morning, as was at first expected, are now announced as certain to pass through here this morning at 7 o'clock, on one of the Coast Line sleepers, and will only re main at the depot the usual twenty minutes, during which time it is barely possible that Her Royal Highness will awake to the reality that she is in the metropolis of North Carolina. Should she remain unconscious until it is too late to grasp that momentous fact we can only hope that the Princess may some day pass this way again when she has longer to stay.

'Around the World." This comedy was presented at the Opera House last evening by Mr. John Thompson's company, to an audience which, considering the state of the weather, was quite large. The entertainment was an amusing one, and while not meeting the expectations of some of those present, was generally commented upon favorably.

Foreign Shipments. The Norwegian barque A. M. Schweigaard, Capt. Johnsen, was cleared from this port for Queenstown or Falmouth for orders to discharge in the United Kingdom or the Continent, yesterday, by Messrs D. R. Murchison & Co., with 1,694 bales of cotton, weighing 873,516 pounds and valued at $78,352.

Accidentally Shot. We learn that a colored individual accidentally shot another in the arm Wednesday night, in a house near the foot of Mulberry street, and the ball had to be extracted by a surgeon. The weapon used was a RIVER AND MARINE.
