MORNING EDITION. OUTLINES.

More bodies have been recovered from the ruins of the burned hotel at Milwaukee; damaging evidence against Scheller, the bar-keeper of the hotel, has come to light...

The English reviews of the Old Testament are reported as having completed the second revision as far as Proverbs.

The Navy Appropriation reported to the House cuts down the Secretary of Navy's estimate the snug sum of $8,000,000.

Here are some very flourishing institutions: Harvard University, near Boston, has 1,657 students; Yale College, at New Haven, has 1,096 students...

Horror upon horrors. Look at our dispatches and you will read of many victims by explosions, &c. It is now thought that seventy-five persons perished at Milwaukee.

Cincinnati is to have a grand Dramatic Festival. If all the "stars" are there that are booked it will indeed be a very remarkable and enjoyable time.

A famous man's name look queer when misspelt. Macaulay, for instance, is familiar, but when spelt, as we saw it yesterday in an exchange, McCauley, it looks as if it was intended for "another fellow."

A Roman Catholic prelate of this country has recently returned from Ireland, and he advises Irishmen in the United States to hold up in their contributions.

"The people in Ireland, he said, have got to depend too much on the pockets of America, and this is naturally destructive of self-reliance. Possibly the right reverend gentleman's utterance on this head may have led to the considerable falling off in remittances to Ireland this Christmas, a circumstance which has attracted the notice of some of the chief money-order offices."

There was a terrible duel near Brooklyn, Missouri, on the 16th. The parties were Michael Vandenberg and Matthew Woodlock. Upon the advice of friends they agreed to settle a difficulty with shot guns at 20 paces.

Both fired simultaneously. Vandenberg had his eyes put out by the shot, and is so badly wounded in the head that he will die. Woodlock received the load from Vandenberg's weapon in the breast and neck.

Mr. R. P. Richardson, Reidsville, N. C., says: "Brown's Iron Bitters restored my wife's mother from feeble health to full strength."

We are really gratified to see it mentioned in the Tarboro Southern that one of Gen. W. D. Pender's men, Sergeant Farley, of Caswell, and of Co. C, 13th N. C. Troops, proposes to give $5 to erect a monument to Edgecombe's greatest son and North Carolina's greatest soldier.

If we got the hang of the matter there was a bill that passed the House by a two-thirds vote that is intended to prevent cases from being taken from the State to the Federal Courts that ought to be tried in the former.

We learn that the Acts of Assembly for 1876-7, require thirty days registration in Congressional elections. This will so postpone the election in this District for a successor to the lamented Mr. Shackelford as to render it unnecessary, as the present Congress terminates on the 3d of March.

THE STATE GUARD.

Address of Adjutant-General Johnstone Jones before the Wilmington Light Infantry and Citizens.

Notwithstanding the very disagreeable weather, quite a good audience greeted General Jones last night at the Opera House. There were a number of ladies in the audience and the address, which occupied about two hours in its delivery, was listened to attentively throughout.

Gen. Jones opened his address with a tribute to the ladies of North Carolina, to the Revolutionary heroes of the State—Waddell, Ashe, Brown, Moore and Robinson—and to the Wilmington Light Infantry, the history of which he said was replete with heroic deeds.

It was a nucleus for rallying in case of trouble, and though its influence might not be apparent, it was great. The militia of the State is composed of citizens engaged in business as opposed to regularly organized troops.

In speaking of our State Guard General Jones said that in 1877, when he became Adjutant General of the State, there were nine companies of white men and ten of colored. Now the Guard consisted of 1,400 men, armed and equipped, of which there were thirty white companies and five colored.

"Mrs. Reid: A few of your friends are gathered here, and though hilarity may assert itself, yet we hope we rightly appreciate the marriage tie. Therefore, as a small memento, and not for its intrinsic value, coming as it does from a 'King' not wearing a crown, an 'Alderman' not in official capacity, etc., we tender this little present with best wishes for the future of your self and husband. Accept it, and may you be obedient in that which is right."

After signing the marriage certificate, and a few congratulatory remarks, the party reentered their "cabs" and started homeward, well pleased with the evening's entertainment.

The Princess and Suite Pass Through. The Vice-Regal party and suite arrived at the Front Street Depot yesterday morning, at 8 o'clock, in the handsome and elegant Pullman Palace Car.

But it should be understood that the militia is always subject to the civil power. The State Guard is but the servant of the law. When the sheriff and other officers are powerless then the military can be called upon.

Delaware supports 850 men in her State Guard and spends them $1,200 annually; Minnesota supports 844 men and spends $5,000; Maryland supports 2,000 men and spends $12,000; South Carolina supports 5,179 men and spends $16,000; Maine supports 985 men and spends $15,986; Colorado supports 1,650 men and spends $16,000; Rhode Island supports 923 men and spends $23,000; New Hampshire supports 1,390 men and spend $25,000; Wisconsin supports 2,400 men and spends $31,250; New Jersey supports 3,230 men and spends $68,842; Ohio supports 5,875 men and spends $78,800; Connecticut supports 3,367 men and spends $95,000; Massachusetts supports 4,470 men and spends $144,000; Pennsylvania supports 7,686 men and spends $230,000; New York supports 11,608 men and spends $300,000.

At the Yorktown celebration the States were arranged in the order of their entry into the Union, and so North Carolina came between New York and Rhode Island—the largest and the smallest States. The contrast was striking, and as they were seen in review he could not help thinking of the difference in treatment of the New York and Rhode Island troops and those of North Carolina.

George Wilson, colored, was arraigned before Justice Mills, yesterday morning, charged with assault and battery upon Kenyon Byrd, colored. Judgment suspended upon the payment of costs.

Kenyon Byrd was next called upon to answer to the charge of willful trespass upon the premises of Eliza Sherrod. Defendant submitted and judgment was suspended upon the payment of costs.

George Wilson was arraigned on a peace warrant sworn out by Kenyon Byrd, and was required to pay the costs and give bond in the sum of $50 to keep the peace for six days.

WHO IS MRS. WINSLOW?—As this question is frequently asked, we will simply say that she is a lady who for upwards of thirty years has untiringly devoted her time and talents as a female physician and nurse, principally among children. She has especially studied the constitution and wants of this numerous class, and, as a result of this effort, and practical knowledge, obtained in a lifetime spent as a nurse and physician, she has compounded a Soothing Syrup for children's use, which she has since sold in thousands of bottles, and which she has seen to become a household name, and a blessing to every mother who has a child in her arms.
