THE MORNING STAR.

VOL. XXXI.---NO. 125.

WILMINGTON, N. C., SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1883.

The Washington Star has a long account of a duel that occurred near Washington in 1846, between two North Carolinians Dr. David Johnson, brother of the late Dr. Charles E. Johnson, of Raleigh, and Mr. Thos. F. Jones, a prominent lawyer of the Murfreesboro country. Johnson was killed at the first fire. It account says: "Mr. Jones and his party were arrested on the field by constables from Washington. A coroner's jury was empaneled, and a ong harangue was made by a village law-The jury brought in a verdict of wilful murder, and committed the parties to jail. Judge Dorsey was sent for, and immediately appeared and took cognizance of the case. He at once released the witness on bail, and discharged the second and surgeon. At the meeting of the court two months afterward the grand jury refused to find a bill of indictment, and Mr. Jones grew out of a domestic scandal. We well remember when it occurred.

Jones was in the Legislature at one time and was a man of talents. The returned to his home." During the late canvass the STAR showed that according to the census of 1880, there were some 69,000 electors in the State who did not exercise their right to vote. The Pittsboro Record says the largest vote ever cast in that county was for President in 1880, when 4,090 was the total. The census of the preceding June called for 4,862. So there were about 800 voters who stayed at home. This has been the case generally since the war. The State would go Democratic by 30,-000 majority if all men would vote.

- Fayetteville Observer: The retirement of Mr. Benjamin from the practice of his profession recalls the fact that he lived in Fayetteville during his boyhood. — On Saturday, the 10th inst., the body of a man, identified as that of E. John Huske were returning from Raleigh, and while they were seated in the carriage at the depot at Chapel Hill, the horses, in the temporary absence of the river, dashed off and the gentlemen were thrown out. We are glad to learn that although both were painfully bruised, neither was seriously hurt.

- Charlotte Observer: The question of the electric light for Charlotte will no doubt be revived again. —Mr. John Rimer, a workman at Liddell's machine shops, met with a very painful accident yesterday afternoon, having his hand badly lacerated by a band saw with which he was working. The violin was repaired in 1742 (141 years ago), as is shown by an inscription on it, and the gentleman, who gave it to Commodore Boudinot, assured him that it was made in 1642, nearly two and a half centuries ago !

The Legislature has very properly passed a bill, which has been enrolled and ratified, amending the law in relation to the assignment of a widow's dower. It provides for the appointment of three commissioners to lay off the dower of a widow instead of five as heretofore. — Therefore whatever legislation is contemplated must be hurried up. FIRE'S DOINGS.

Destruction of a Large Warehouse and 20,000 Sacks of Salt-Loss Covered by Insurance. Yesterday afternoon, about half-past 4 o'clock, the alarm was sounded for fire in the sixth fire district, which comprises that portion of the city on the west side of the Cape Fear river. The flames were soon discovered issuing from the roof of the warehouse belonging to Mr. A. A. Willard The steamer "A. Adrian" happened to be the only engine ready for the emergency at the moment, the horses of the "Little Giant" and the "Cape Fear" being engaged in hauling for the streets. All were quickly on hand, however, but considerable delay was experienced in getting the "Adrian"-the only steamer sent over-on a flat, but when that was accomplished the little Nyce had her in the vicinity of the fire in very short order. In the meantime, however, the flames had gained such headway that very little could be done except to save adjoining property. In fact the fire had pretty much done its work. The frequent explosions in the building at one stage of the conflagration had a demoralizing effect in some instances particularly in the case of a business man holding forth in the neighborhood of Mulberry and Water streets, who was hurrying in the direction of the wharf, but commenced a rapid backward movement when told that the explosives were powder cans and that the magazine was close by.

The warehouse was stored with about afteen to twenty thousand sacks of salt, the property of Mr. Willard, and it is thought that the loss on the warehouse and contents will aggregate about $15,000, which is fully covered by insurance in floating poli-

The fire was thought to have originated from a spark from the smokestack of a steamer which had left the wharf but a few moments before the flames were discovered.

The Board of County Commissioners

In response to an invitation from Mr. Noble, who has charge of the Graded Schools of this city, the Board of County Commissioners visited the Schools yesterday, accompanied by some other gentlemen, in a body, and witnessed the present modes of teaching. They were greatly impressed with the order, quietness and neatness of the pupils, both white and colored, as well as the evident competency of the teachers, all of whom appear to be interested in the truly good work in which they are engaged. If our citizens would take the time to visit these Schools, they could not fail to be greatly pleased, and all those engaged in the laborious work of teaching would be encouraged and feel that their work in the interest of the rising generation is appre-

For the Gulf States, Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, rain and snow and much colder weather, north to west winds, and higher barometer.

Narrow Escape.

The bears and their companions came near causing a serious accident on their way out of the city Thursday afternoon. They had reached a point on Market street, between Tenth and Eleventh streets, when horse attached to a buggy, containing a gentleman, his wife and child, returning from the sound, suddenly became aware of the proximity of the ugly brutes, when he commenced running and trying his best to run away. In the meantime falling across a ditch, breaking the shafts and one of the wheels of the vehicle. At the critical moment the gentleman told his wife and child to jump out, which feat they successfully accomplished and without injury to their persons. Meanwhile several passers-by had seized the horse and prevented him from doing further mischief.
