Five thousand miners at Pittsburg, Penn., have quit work.

One of the Star Route lawyers only consumed seven days with his "chin music."

The interest in the Langtry in New York is unabated. On Monday night there was no vacant standing room.

The Northern dailies are groaning just at this time under the immense weight of base ball literature. The games have begun.

We notice that Rev. Dr. Hoge is to repeat his clegant and eloquent lecture on "Modern Chivalry" in his own city, Richmond.

There is a Western boom in favor of Richard W. Townshend of Illinois, for the Democratic nomination for the Vice Presidency.

And now even Major Byrne says that he has reason for suspecting the Rossa of foul play, and that he and his set are actually in the pay of the English.

The reduction on tobacco went into effect on 1st inst., and the movements in tobacco since then have been very great-greater than were ever known.

A hard critic says of the Langtry that "her acting has no style and her style has no acting." But Freddie likes her style of acting and that is enough for him.

Mrs. May R. Owen has just been graduated in medicine at the Women's Medical College in Baltimore. She is the first. May she have a good practice and be Owen to no man.

John Logan has a ranch in Mexico consisting of eighty thousand acres and nine thousand head of cattle. John says he means to make a hard fight for the Republican nomination. If illiteracy should be trumps John

The Richmond State has this hard saying for Randall:

"He is the leader of the expediency men, the apostle of that political faith which teaches the false and fatal doctrine that the way to secure success is to favor some of the views of each side at one and the same

Now you see him and now you don't see him-a veritable "little Joker."

There are at this time among the daily Democratic papers in the South some dozen or more that are as good Protection papers as the Boston or Philadelphia Republican papers, and the number is increasing. The last we have noticed is the Memphis Avalanche, which says the tariff of the last session is good enough, and that the Democrats should stand by it and not molest it. That is just what the Republican papers say.

B.WORNING STAR

VOL. XXXII.--NO. 37. WILMINGTON, N. C., FRIDAY, MAY 4, 1883.

Can't we induce the STAR to at least spell Randall with a big R? Does that paper oppose Randall because he favors our to-bacco growers, or because he favors rice cultivation?—Winston Leader.

We always spell it with an R when the gentleman is mentioned. The STAR opposes him because he is for a tariff for Protection or is suspected of being in favor of it. The STAR prefers Cox or Carlisle or any man who is not in favor of the present burdensome, unequal and unjust tariff to a man of either doubtful principles or who is in high favor with Protectionists. There is not one Republican High Tariff paper in the North that does not favor Randall. Why is this?

The Philadelphia Times of Wednesday thinks that Randall will be "returned to the Speakership" and because, what think you? Because this Protectionist organ says "the Democratic sentiment of the country, North and South, has asserted itself unmistakably against the Tariff for revenue only folly." In other words. because Randall is for a tariff for Protection and the Democratic party is for a tariff for Protection. If that is so then it is easy to see that the Republicans can carry the country again for they are the old tried Protection party.

We hear the name of Rev. Dr. Samuel Lander, of South Carolina, favorably mentioned as the best man for the Presidency of Trinity College. He is a native of Lincoln county, this State, is a scholar, and has been very successful in managing a large female school. In fact he is overrun. From what we can learn the trustees might do a very great deal worse than by selecting this eminent educator.

Spirits Turpentine.

- Asheboro Courier: The rain of last week was fearfully and dreadfully disastrous to property in this county. -There is a colored woman in this place who is the mother of 28 children. Her grand children have not been counted. - Charlotte Journal-Observer: Constable King yesterday brought a colored man named Wm. Kearns to town in irons and lodged him in fail on a charge of having burned the grist mill, saw mill and cotton gin of Mr. W. B. Parks, near Hopewell, about a month ago.

- Raleigh Recorder: Rev. Dr. Pritchard has been quite sick. - Rev. E. L. Davis is seventy-one years old, has preached the gospel for fifty-two years, and baptized about three thousand persons. - We understand an effort is being made to erect a monument over the grave of the lamented and honored Dr. Wingate. Let it be done by all means.

- Elizabeth City Falcon: We learn that some of our truckers have already sold their prospective potato crops. The price as we hear it, is $2.25 per barrel, delivered in the field. — Our farmers are very much discouraged over the ugly weather we have had for some time past. Work has been retarded very much, and it is feared that crops have been seriously damaged.

- We second the motion of the Journal-Observer that the capital be ramoved. As an humble backwoods Carolinian we are heartily ashamed of our red faced and dirty-streeted capital.-Asheboro Courier. (A newspaper man from a State south of us was in our office a few days ago and he said Raleigh was the handsomest town of its size he had ever seen .-

- Winston Leader: Mr. O. M. Nelson died in Nevada, Mo., recently. He was a native of North Carolina. Silas Westmoreland died near Dalton on the 22d, in the 49th year of his age. He was well known in this section, having practiced medicine in this place before the war, and representing Stokes county in the Legislature at its close. He at one time edited the Carolina Statesman, a Whig paper published in this place. His funeral was attended by a large concourse of his fellow-citizens.

- Greensboro Patriot: The present prospect is that we are to have a good crop of wheat this year, even if it is not a superior one. - Capt. Hugh Peters, agent of the Heck coal mine in East Tennessee, sold last week in Reidsville and Danville 500 tons of coal. - Oldham's two editorials on the two elements in the Democratic party would pass for phunny literature. We advise Oldham to "go - The tobacco manufacturers of Winston have employed, through their agent here, four thousand hands for the

- Elizabeth City Economist : The farmers of Pasquotank met in the court house on the 28th ult. to organize a club in the interest of agriculture. - A most pleasant party of ladies and gentlemen accompanied Governer and Mrs. Vance to the Croatan fisheries on Friday. — Pasquotank jottings: Farmers behind at least a month; will not be as much cotton planted in this neighborhood this season as last; crops a little more diversified than formerly; r crops and more "intense farming." is now the watchword of some of us.

- N. C. Presbyterian: Mr. R. T. McCain informs us that the church at Tirzah, in Bethel Presbytery, has called Rev. W. G. White. They are building a fine parsonage on the church grounds. Dr. John S. Grasty died on the 18th ult. He had been a sufferer for a long time, having been stricken with paralysis several months ago. He had been in the ministry for thirty-five years and was widely and very favorably known in the West and Southwest, where he had chiefly labored. He was a native of Virginia. —Rev. Dr. W. H. Milburn delivered two lectures in this city last week. Subjects: "S. S. Prentiss" and "Our Best Society." He preached in the morning of last Sabbath in the Methodist church and at night in the Baptist church to an overflowing audience, He is a most remarkable man—gifted with a superb voice and with oratorical powers

Bullock, deputy shering the peni-ville county, yesterday brought to the peni-tentiary Wesley Parker, colored; offence larceny; term five years. — In April last State Treasurer Worth issued twentyeight licenses to drummers. - During April the Internal Revenue collections in his, the fourth district, were $41,885.38. - Thousands of sheep, in all parts of the State were drowned by the great floods last week. Between dogs and water the sheep are in truth "twixt the devil and the deep sea." — Mr. Mal. Haynes, who was so badly wounded Monday evening, was yesterday kept very quiet at home. His physician informed a reporter that his wound was rather more favorable than was at first thought. Mr. Chas. Lambeth, Jr., who inflicted the wounds, was yesterday admitted to bail. No trial will be had until the result of Mr. Haynes' injuries is ascer-- The Cocking Main between Halifax and Alamance began yesterday, at the State fair grounds. The attendance was quite large, much larger than was expected. Halifax won every fight.

The work which has for some time been engaging the attention of Col. Saunders as one of the trustees of the library, is very important to the people of North Carolina That it will be well executed goes without saying. Aside from the interest that such investigations ordinarily inspire, Col. Saunders is peculiarly drawn to the work, just as the gifted Murphy, Hawks and the lamented Swain were in the generation that has passed away. Twice before this work has been undertaken, but it has been re served for the persistent and painstaking Saunders to put it in train of accomplishment. The plan proposes the publication of so much of the colonial records as now are beyond the reach of the ordinary citizen.

An Incident of the Archbishop's Visit. There was one pleasant little incident connected with the visit of the Catholic dignitaries to this city the past week which did not come to our knowledge until yesterday. The Sunday school children of St. Thomas' Catholic Church, headed by the Misses McGarrity and Miss Bettie Price, waited upon Archbishop Gibbons, at the residence of Mr. F. W Kerchner, and presented him with a tray of beautiful flowers. The distinguished prelate was both pleased and touched at the sweet testimonial from the little ones, and tendered his acknowledgments in words which fell very pleasantly upon the ears of the children, and will long be treasured up by

By the way, we were in error as to the time Archbishop Gibbons and Bishop Northrop left for Baltimore. They took the train on Wednesday morning, having spent Tuesday on the Sound.

Beath of Mr. Wm. B. Giles. The sad duty again devolves upon us of announcing the death of another prominent and valuable citizen, Mr. William B. Giles, who departed this life yesterday morning. at 6 o'clock, at his residence on Wrightsville Sound, aged 71 years. Mr. Giles was a native of Wilmington and with a slight interregnum of a few years his life was passed in this city; latterly, however, at his place on the Sound about eight miles from the city. In early life he entered the counting house of Lazurus Whitmarsh, one of the most prominent commission houses at that time in Wilmington, and it was there that he imbibed those principles of commercial probity for which he was so distinguished. Some years afterwards, in connection with Mr. Richard Bradley, he engaged in the steam saw mill and turpentine distilling business, under the firm name of Wm. B. Giles & Co., in which they were very successful. In 185the firm of which he was the head removed to Savannah, Ga., where they erected one of the most valuable steam saw mills in the Southern country, commanding an extensive and lucrative business. He continued to reside in Savannah until the breaking out of the war, when he returned to his native place to pass the remainder of his days in the peaceful pursuits of agriculture amidst the scenes and the friends of his

Mr. Giles was distinguished for great en, ergy, industry and unimpeachable integrity, and he went to the business of life with a resolution that overcame all obstacles and a sagacious judgment that crowned his efforts with success. He never embarked upon the stormy sea of politics, preferring the quiet and the independence of a private station, and while others sought fame in public positions he found his happiness in the faithful discharge of the every day duties of life and in the cultivation of those domestic virtues which adorn and beautify our nature. In tegrity was one of the distinguishing features in his character, and duty the crowning principle of his actions. Believing that there was no true honor save in virtue, he illustrated his creed by his own conduct and practice, and in early life clad himself in the humble robes of the true Christian, and died as he had lived in that blessed faith which he had embraced in the early days of his manhood. For many years a communicant of the Episcopal Church, he eyer manifested a deep interest in its prosperity, and contributed generously to its support and extension. In his domestic relations he was kind, considerate and affectionate, gentle and forbearing to the faults of others, and striving to live up to that golden rule "to do unto others as you would have them do unto you." To the poor in his immediate neighborhood his death is an irreparable calamity. He never turned a deaf ear to their necessities, nor did he wait for suppliants to present their claims, but sought them out and ministered freely to their wants and necessities. To those who were able to labor he gave employment -to the weak and infirm the means of support-medicines to the sick-and comforted the dying with words of consolation and of hope. He will be sadly missed, for he "visited the fatherless and afflicted in their distress," not seeking the praise of men, but striving only to "do justly, to love mercy and to walk humbly with his God." A good man has gone to his rest, but his memory will long be affectionately cherished by a large circle of friends and relatives. The funeral will take place at the Sound Chapel this (Friday) afternoon, at 4.30 o'clock.

Crazy on Religion.

A colored woman, whose name we did not ascertain, who was evidently completely demented on the subject of religion, was going about the city yesterday proclaiming with a loud voice and wild gesticulations, to every one she met, white or colored, that she had been commissioned to go about and exhort the people and admonish them that they must "come up to the help of the Lord against the mighty" by paying twenty-five cents each towards building a house for His prophets; "for," said she, "the earth, and the abundance thereof, and the cattle upon a thousand hills, are all his pro perty." She said further, after working for Him here a little while longer He had promised to take her home to help Him in His kingdom. As a general thing she uses very good language, but her actions and manner proclaim her as "crazy as a bedbug." The police warned her that she must moderate her voice to some extent or they would have to lock her up.

Drop Letters. As there seems to be some misunder standing as to the payment of two cents on drop letters being now required, we give in explanation an extract from an act of March 3, 1879; as follows:

"On mailable matter of the first class, except postal cards and drop-letters, postage shall be prepaid at the rate of three cents for each half ounce or fraction thereof; postal cards shall be transmitted through the mails at a postage charge of one cent each, including the cost of manufacture; and drop-letters shall be mailed at the rate of two cents per half ounce or fraction thereof, including delivery at letter carrier offices, and one cent for each half ounce or fraction thereof where free delivery is not established."

Base Ball. A match game of base ball was played at the Athletic Club Grounds, yesterday, between the "Clippers," Capt. E. Glavin, and the "Enterprise," Capt. W. Roberts, in which the former scored 20 and the lat-

The juvenile clubs, "Pacific," Capt. Sam. Vick, and the "Prigrims," Capt. George Taylor, also had a match game, the former scoring 36 and the latter 31. BLITHESOME BLAKE.

How a Tee Utterly Nice Young Man Settled her sight and Skipped the Town Specify of a Bude, but too Awfully Sweet to be Refused. Credit.

About two months and a half ago there was a ripple on the guiet surface of Wilmington society caused by the advent in its midst of a young stranger, purporting to hall from New York, who gave his name as Charles E. Blake. Being a man of education and accomplishments, and of good address withal, he readily obtained employment, and was soon installed as private secretary and short-hand writer in one of the railroad offices of this city. He dressed neatly and handsomely and had an air of elegance and refinement about him, coupled with a captivating manner, which was absolutely irresistible, especially to the fair see, among whom he was unani mously voted the handsomest and most elecertain amount of astheticism in his composition, and he partook to some little extent of the nature and characteristics of the "dude." Altogether, however, the combination seemed to be pleasing, and young Mr. Blake had many warm friends. To such an extent was this the case that the young man had no difficulty in replenishing his wardrobe as many times as he desired getting what cigars he wanted to smoke and other little incidents; his "Charge that to my little account, you know," being esteemed as good as the "I. O. U." of Jay Gould or Vanderbilt. In some in stances he would go into a store and tell a clerk (the proprietor being out) that he had just been talking with the head of the establishment and that he told him to call and get what he wanted. The clerk would have thought it little less than sacrilege to refuse such an awfully nice man as Mr. Blake, and he was served without hesita

This was the state of affairs on Tuesday last. On that evening he drew his pay at the railroad. The next morning he called the porter at the office and told him if his employers should ask for him to say that he was down at the hotel, sick, and if they should send him with a letter to Mr. Schloss, of the Commercial Hotel, where he had been boarding, not to deliver it. He departed that same morning on the northern bound train, leaving his board bill unpaid, and sundry and various outstanding accounts against him at the dry goods and clothing stores, cigar establishments and news stands. As soon as his departure had been discovered telegrams were sent to officers at Goldsboro to stop him, but as they were not sent by proper authority no attention was paid to them. An effort was then made to stop him at Weldon, but the party to whom the telegram was sent happened to be away from home and didn't get the dispatch in time. The result was that he got out of the State and was "gone glimmering" before things could be put in proper shape to trip him up.

The highest number in the city is Mr. Shepard's house, No. 1,601, Market street In estimating the population it should be understood that a great many of the house are occupied by two or more families. This is the case to a great extent among the white people, but to a much greater extent among the colored people. Six persons to a house would be a fair average, where only occupied by one family, and this would give us a total of 19,494.

The C. C. Raifroad Case. The taking of testimony in the case of Stocking the Cape Fear with Shad.

An interesting incident was witnessed by a select few last night about 11 o'clock, at Market street dock, when two hundred and fifty thousand young shad were turned loose in the Cape Fear river. The young fish were brought in ten large cans from the hatchery at Avoca, near Edenton, which place they left at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening, arriving here by express last night. Mr. C. M. McDowell, who had charge of the business, opened the cans, found the young fry all alive and in good condition, and after taking the temperature of the river-61 degrees-turned his charge loose and the work was done. This, we under stand, is the first lot of young shad put into the Cape Fear river below Fayetteville
