WILMINGTON, N. C., THURSDAY, JUNE 28, 1883.

Referring to the failure of Mr. Tomlinson to take Mr. Brives to Richmond after he had arrested him under warrant at Hanover Junction, the Richmond Dispatch says: 'It has now been ascertained that Mr. Tomlinson, when he arrested Mr. Beirne at Hanover Junction on a warrantainsued in Richmond, had the right to be time the this city for examination. At the time the impression was that this could not be done. amond, had the right to bring him impression was that this could not be done. Had it been done Mr. Beirne would have been put under bond here. That of itself would not stop a fight. Mr. Elam is himself at this time under a peace, bond of $1,000. Such bonds cannot be forfeited the experiexcept after conviction; and the experience about here is that conviction for duelling is almost impossible. There has been only one modern case of conviction, and that was in the McCarty-Mordecal duel, where both parties were fearfully wounded, and the chief of police caught them on the field—a case of circumstantial evidence chiefly."

It is believed that a fight will take place or has taken place. Mr. Elam is known to have been within reach of Richmond, and his two surgeons, Drs. Taylor and Wheat, have left the city. Dr. Taylor was with him in his other duel. Mr. W. L. Royall is with Major McCarty, and A. W. Jones is the adviser of Mr. Ragland. Tuesday was the day expected for

In Montana Territory there are already 600,000 sheep and the authorities pay $24 bounty for every bear killed. In North Carolina, one of the original thirteen States that first composed the Union, there are a few hundred thousand sheep, and dog raising is looked upon as one of the fine arts and is to be encouraged by the acts of the Legislature. After awhile some advanced Solon may move to pay the owners of dogs a bounty for each sheep killed by the canines. The Charlotte Journal-Ob-

"A farmer living near Charlotte desiring to go into the business of sheep raising he bought eighty-five sheep and put them on his place, and in one night last week the dogs of the neighborhood killed more than half of them. About the same time they destroyed twelve sheep for another gentleman in an adjoin-

The high protective Philadelphia Times blows for Randall long and loud. It is pleased to say in its ordinary vigorous style:

"This unintended boost to Randall from the idiotic Free Traders has about settled his election to the Speakership of the next House, but some of the Democratic destructionist seem to think it would be better to give Randall another boost by assailing him for not plunging the country into anarchy in 1877 by preventing the electoral count in the House."

Will Sam Randall indorse word for word, without mental reservation or verbal equivocation, the tariff plank in the Ohio platform?

Bishop Wilson, of the Methodist Church, preached the annual sermon before Washington and Lee University, Va., and "created a profound impression by its logical completeness and sympathy," says the Richmond Disputch. Dr. Moses Hoge made "a great effort" in his address. Bishop Wilson is one of the best finished and ablest of living Methodists and Dr. Hoge is facile princeps among

The Philadelphia medical ghoul, Hathaway, M. D., was in the habit of feeding dogs on dead babies. His wife says:

"Large and ferocious hounds were in the cellar, and you could hear them gnawing and tearing the tender flesh from the little bones. The brutes were allowed to feast on more than one human body, and they seemed to relish the awful meal.

The Baltimore Democrats have pooled their issues and the factions are united. The Republicans were counting high on the divisions of the Democrats and expected to reap the fruits. But the discord is husbed and Maryland is safe to the Democrats. The result is said to be the work of the young Democrats mainly.

Beecher was seventy years old the other day and he had a big reception and many congratulations from distinguished men and others. H. W. says he expects to go to Heaven certain. He ought to stop talking blasphemy and making jests of sacred

Military Parade and Inspection Pursuant to announcement the Wilmington Light Infantry Company paraded for inspection yesterday afternoon, upon the lawn at the City Hall. The company was first reviewed by Col. Cameron, Inspector General of the N. C. State Guard, and then went through a number of evolutions and the manual of arms, with an exactness and promptitude which showed great proficiency in drill. The inspection then followed, which was rigid and thorough, Col. Cameron, we hear, paid the company a very handsome compliment and expressed himself as highly gratified at its fine appearance and proficiency. Many ladies were present in the crowd assembled to witness the parade, who seemed to enjoy it immensely. The New Rector of St. John's. Rev. James Carmichael, D. D., the new Rector of St. John's Episcopal Church of this city arrived here from Fredericksburg, Va., Tuesday night and will preach his first sermon to his new charge on Sunday. Yesterday's Excursion. The excursion yesterday, under the auspices of the Sunday School of the First Baptist church, proved to be a very enjoyable one. The heavy shower of rain which deluged the city about 3 o'clock in the afternoon did not disturb the equanimity of the excursionists, as not a drop was wasted on them. They had no rain. The boat went about six miles outside.

A Plea For the Dogs. Our evening contemporary thinks "that the haste with which the city authorities dispatch all of the unfortunate canines that are netted on the streets, taken without badges, is rather unseemly." This is a sensible suggestion. We know it must be sensible, because this writer made a similar suggestion yesterday to the Mayor of the

Our neighbor is practical again when it says: "A dog may have been listed and badged, and the badge may have been lost or stolen, and the dog may be captured and killed without the fact having been discovered." Twice within the past six years have the badges been stolen from the dogs of the writer, and the same thing may occur again. Now, would it not be rather hard on "Dash" and "Duke" to place their heads beneath the murderous axe without giving them the opportunity to show that their taxes had been paid "according to the statute in such case made and provided." Let the captured dogs be kept in confinement for twenty-four hours at some point where they will not disturb the peaceful slumbers of ye quiet denizen. If a valuable dog is missed for that period of time the owner will be sure to look him up. If found in the hands of the dog catchers, let him be released on payment of double the usual license tax, provided he has not already been badged. If it can be shown that the tax has already been paid, turn poor Tray loose and let him go home with his master rejoicing.

Beath of an Old Citizen. Mr. L. M. Williams, the venerable Clerk of the Market, and probably the oldest citizen of Wilmington, died at his residence yesterday evening after a brief allness. Mr. Williams was in the 82nd year of his age, and up to the time of his last sickness was active and indefatigable in the performance of his public duties. A friend informs us that he was born in Onslow county, but had been a resident of Wilmington for nearly thirty years past. He was a consistent member of the Methodist Episcopal Church for over sixty years, had served as a trustee of Front Street M. E. Church in this city, and was always ready and active in the support of his chosen church and its institutions. As a citizen he was held in the highest esteem, winning the respect and confidence of all by his upright conduct, his generous sympathies and his kind and gentle nature.
