WILMINGTON, N. C., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1883.

The Philadelphia Times has a dispatch from London giving an account of Miss Mary Anderson's interview with Wales and the Princess. She bore herself well. She was asked to visit the Princess in her box. Here is what followed:

"Miss Anderson, who, under the circumstances, did not particularly relish the meeting, sent back word that she had made never to see outsiders during a performance, and that even on this occasion she preferred not to break it. She said, however, that she would be most happy to meet their Royal Highnesses when she had finished her performance. The Princess then said: 'We never walt after the end of a piece," and the negotiations apparently closed. The piece went on and the Royal party remained, and when it was over Miss Anderson was surprised by her manager, who came with the announcement that their Royal Highnesses were waiting in the passage to see her.

Wales asked:

"Is it true that you said you wouldn't see 'Miss Anderson replied, with a great deal of apparent embarrassment: 'I said that I would not seek the honor. The Princess was very complimentary and said she intended to see her in her entire repertoire.

The Furmer and Mechanic has an editorial showing that, Governor Vance is entitled to a great deal of the credit that is given to his successor for certain progress in the State. It makes good its position in some particulars certainly. Vance has great popularity and a great deal of ability. The people understand Vance, and like him. They are beginning to understand more of some other politicians and it will be seen what they think of them.

A belle of New Haven, and very pretty, was to have married one Engene Lynch, of Philadelphia, but he failed to appear. Great preparations had been made. What has become of Lynch is not known. Doubtless the mortified and disappointed bride would like to do for him what his name indicates.

The Republicans are beginning to talk of "bright prospects of success" for their party in New York. They talked the same way about Ohio, and some claimed as high as 50,000 ma jority. If the Democrats become thoroughly united they can carry New York easily.

The Stan says it seems incredible; but we saw the same thing happen at Hillsboro, though the traveller was not quite so far.

- Elizabeth City Fulcon: The principal case on the docket at Washington Court last week was that of a negro, who was charged with the murder of his wife. Contrary to general expectation, he was acquitted. The Washington Gazette writes old Sam Carrow's political obituary. The old man was very much disgusted because the negroes of Beaufort county took the refus in their own hands and run things to suit themselves, without the slightest regard to "Samivel's" wishes.

Our Mayor has been to Charleston, as has been announced. What his business was in our sister "city by the sea" is told very succinctly and pleasantly by the reporter of the News and Courier under the above head, and the nice-time he had and the courtesies extended, are they not also described by the graphic chronicler, as "The Hon. E. D. Hall, Chief Magistrate of the city of Wilmington, who has been in the city for two days, paid a formal visit to Mayor Courtenay at the City Hall yesterday. Mayor Hall last visited Charleston about twenty years ago, when he came at the head of a regiment of North Carolina.volunteers to assist in the defence of the city. The object of his present visit is not to study the defences of the city. but to post himself on the public departments, and especially to look into the improvements that have been made on the streets and in the drainage. After a pleasant interview with Mayor Courtenay and an inspection of the pictures and statuary in the Council Chamber, Mayor Hall was placed in charge of Major Huguenin, the driven over the city and shown the new stone roadways; the improvement at the railway wharves in the northeastern por-tion of the city, and the new drainage sys-tem. Mayor Hall states that Wilmington is making rapid advances in the race be-tween the South Atlantic seaports; that there are now seventeen feet of water on the bar of the Cape Fear river, and that the municipal authorities are about to depote their energies to the consolidation and perfection of the various municipal departments.
