Mr. Tilden is represented as being quite resigned to the result in New York.

Mr. Tilden is represented as being quite resigned to the result in New York. Maynard, the defeated, was Gov. Cleveland's candidate. The correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger writes on the 7th: "One of Tilden's most trusted friends said this morning without the slightest circumlocution, 'the way now is clear for a re-nomination of the old ticket. Cleveland and Butler are bowled out, and no other man but Samuel J. Tilden will be able to carry this State next year. Drop the tariff, resist the French loan, and the old man will sweep the country like a storm.'"

Yes let the people continue to be burdened with a wicked Tariff that the old fraud cry may be the issue. Try that and the "old ticket" will be slaughtered worse than Maynard was.

Probably the oldest negro in the United States is John Hanning, of Austin, Tex., who is 106 years old. He belonged to Mrs. Hanning, of Alamo Farm, for many years, and took her name on being freed. — Chicago.

If that is the best Texas can do it will have to retire from the contest. In North Carolina old negroes die every few weeks whose ages range from 106 to 160, according to the papers.

The London Saturday Review, one of the great literary organs of the world, says of Miss Mary Anderson: "Her performance is marked by careful elocution, conscientious workmanship, constant regard for grace and gesture and vigilant attention to the demands of stage perspective. In the lighter parts of the play she was charming."

Spirits Turpentine. — The Eleventh Annual Session of North Carolina State Grange Patrons of Husbandry will be held in the town of Weldon, beginning on Tuesday, the 4th day of December, 1883.

Warrenton Gazette: If $1,000 were judicially expended early in the Spring, and before the crops are pitched, in the State papers, and mention made of the most important prizes and rules, and just before the beginning of the fair, it would, we believe, repay many fold. It has been so much advertising begging by the State Agricultural Society, it has become a nuisance.

Leakville Gazette: The rails for the extension of the railroad to this place have arrived and a few weeks only will be necessary to make ready in ready to lay the rails. The building of the trestle at the Leakville Mills will require probably three weeks. By the 1st of December the last nail ought to be driven and the whistle of the engine afford daily music to our people.

Smithfield Herald: On Thursday last Mrs. Lucy Sanders, wife of Mr. J. J. Sanders, living near town, having heard that fellow jamine was good for palpitation of the heart, from which she suffered at times, made her some tea of the herb, and gave some to her husband, who was visiting her. Mrs. S. died from the effects, and Mrs. Peedan barely escaped.

Raleigh Farmer & Mechanic: Superintendent Mills states in the Orphan's Friend that he is about to retire from the office of Orphanage. — Rev. G. O. Curtis goes to Washington City as assistant pastor of St. John's Church, the oldest and wealthiest in the city. — The first prize being restricted to companies from outside of Virginia was contested for by the Raleigh and the Reidsville companies. When the Raleigh boys won they promptly presented half the prize ($500) to the Reidsville boys. So both companies came home well off.

Raleigh Visitor: The new code is being distributed by the Secretary of State. — One of St. John's Hospital, yesterday afternoon, Mr. John Windham, aged about 51 years. Deceased was an Englishman by birth. — We have just learned of a serious shooting affray that took place near Clayton, in Johnston county, on Monday last. It appears that a Mr. Jeffries had a difficulty with a negro at the house of Mr. Alonzo Crook, and from that Crook and Jeffries got into a fight, and Crook shot Jeffries with a gun. Both parties were bound over to court, and it is now said that Jeffries will die.

According to the Raleigh News-Observer our little capital has 18,104 inhabitants. If true it shows a great advance since 1880, when it had, according to the census, 15,000. If so we are growing correctly. The News-Observer says: The health of the city is shown by the fact that the death rate in 1882 was only 14 to the 1,000, making Raleigh one of the healthiest cities in the world. Schools 13, churches 19, lawyers 32, hotels 5, boarding houses 18, shoemaker shops 24, commission merchants 20, dry goods dealers 31, retail grocers 38, wholesale grocers 13, restaurants 16, saloons 34, druggists 37, clothing makers 17, manufacturers 16, insurance agents 13, newspaper 15, undertakers 6, furniture dealers 6, secret societies 27.

Goldboro Messenger: We regret to hear of the death of Mr. James F. Jones, of Greene county, who occurred at the residence of Mrs. Britt, in that county, last Tuesday, after a painful illness of many weeks. — The physicians of our county met in the courthouse on Tuesday to organize a county medical society. Dr. Kennedy was made temporary chairman at the meeting, and on motion a committee was appointed to draft a constitution and by laws for the government of the society, and instructed to have the same ready to submit to the society for adoption at its next meeting. — The case of Isaac Bynum, for the murder of Tom Saunders in a yard on the asylum road several years ago, both colored, will come up for trial here this morning. The prisoner, who was brought into court and arraigned yesterday, and being unable to employ counsel Judge Phillips assigned Hon. W. T. Faircloth and Messrs. Aycock & Daniels to defend him. There are other capital cases to be disposed of at this term, and the probability is that the civil docket will not be reached.

Payetteville Observer: Died on Nov. 8, at the residence of her son, Rev. A. A. Benton, in Newark, Del., Mrs. Caroline Spencer Benton, aged about 77 years, wife of the late Rev. George Benton, of Charles Church, Rockfish, N. C. — Died, after a lingering illness, at the residence of her husband in this town, about five o'clock on yesterday afternoon, Mrs.

ESCAPED FROM JAIL.

Seven Prisoners Escape from the County Jail—They Overpower the Jailer—Two of the Fugitives Recaptured.

Yesterday morning, about 8 o'clock, the usual quietude of Princess street, between Third and Fourth, was materially disturbed by the excitement incident to a jail delivery. It seems that the jailer, Geo. W. Murray, colored, started to give the prisoners their breakfast. A hired boy with the name of Frank Holmes preceded him with a tray of bread, and he followed with a pot of coffee. As the boy opened the trap-door leading from the first to the second floor one of the colored prisoners, by the name of Jerre Lanier, the only one in the corridor, seized the boy and took the keys away from him, when he immediately commenced unlocking the cell doors and releasing the other prisoners. In the meantime Murray, the jailer, had entered the jail and set the coffee down, when Joe George, a white prisoner, suddenly sprang upon him and enveloped his head with a blanket, and he and one Archie Pigford then succeeded in overpowering him and throwing him to the floor, where they held him, despite his struggles, until most of the prisoners had been turned loose, when they made their exit through the door and escaped over the intervening fences.

Those of the prisoners who succeeded in getting out of the jail, seven in number, were Jerre Lanier and Robert Costin, both New Hanover county prisoners, who were under sentence to the penitentiary, and Joe George, for perjury; Archie Pigford, for carrying a concealed weapon, and William Nixon, for larceny, all from Pender, and the last two colored. These finally escaped. Then there were F. H. Cornell, white, awaiting trial for the larceny of a watch, and one Gilbert Hadley, colored, both of whom were recaptured and returned to their cells. In the attempt to stop the fleeing prisoners the jailer's wife and her sister displayed a great deal of pluck, and it was through their instrumentalities that Cornell was captured. Hadley was seen jumping the fence, being behind the others, and was captured by Mr. J. H. Jones, as he alighted on Fourth street.

The escape created great excitement in the neighborhood, in the midst of which, through a misapprehension, the fire alarm was started, which added to the confusion, and the fleeing prisoners took up the cry of fire, while the jailer and others were shouting murder.

The prisoners all took a southeast course, as nearly as possible, running first to Market street, and were seen passing in the neighborhood of the Marine Hospital. The jailer and a posse mounted and pursued after the fugitives as soon as he could attend to the safety of those left behind, but after scouring the woods in the neighborhood of the city until about 4 o'clock in the afternoon without getting a glimpse of them, they returned home.

Jerre Lanier was convicted of embezzlement nearly twelve months ago and was sentenced to four years' imprisonment in the State Penitentiary, but took an appeal to the Supreme Court, which only rendered a decision a week or so ago, affirming the sentence of the Court below. Robert Costin was convicted of embezzlement at the October term of the Criminal Court and sentenced to three years in the Penitentiary, from which he took an appeal to the Supreme Court, which was decided in a like manner, that tribunal affirming the sentence of the Court below.

While the two prisoners had the jailer pinned to the floor, one of them got his finger in his mouth and bit it pretty severely, and Frank Holmes was knocked down by a boot in the hands of Joe George, who escaped in his bare feet.

Sheriff Manning was absent from the city at the time of the jail delivery. It seems that an escape in another manner was first contemplated, as a portion of the floor in the south corridor was found torn up and the closet in the southwest corner demolished, portions of which were used to prize up the flooring. The flooring is double, however, and the prisoners doubtless deemed the undertaking of providing an escape in that way too serious a one.

A Wilmington Minister Officiating at a Funeral in Norfolk. The Norfolk Ledger of Thursday gives an account of the funeral of Mrs. Fanny Umstadter, a wealthy and greatly esteemed Hebrew lady of that city, and says: "The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Mendelsohn, of Wilmington, N. C., who some years since delivered a beautiful discourse at the funeral of Mr. Jacob Umstadter, the husband of the deceased, which was published at the time. Dr. Mendelsohn was assisted in the services by Rev. Dr. Levy, Rabbi in this city. Dr. M. was for some years Rabbi of the congregation in this city, and being a particular friend of the family, was sent for upon this occasion, and delivered another beautiful discourse, in which he eulogized the virtues of the deceased."

Our contemporary is in error in stating that Rev. Dr. Mendelsohn officiated at the funeral of the husband of the lady, but he did conduct the services at the funeral of her daughter, Mrs. S. W. Seldner.

Beating His Wife. A colored man by the name of Primus Davis was arrested yesterday on the charge of beating his wife, badly bruising and maltreating her. He was required to give bonds in the sum of $50 for his appearance before Justice Mills this morning at 10 o'clock. The magistrate had the city physician to examine the woman, but he said her injuries were not serious.

Cultivated Oysters. Mr. J. L. Winger has an oyster garden on the Sound, comprising about two hundred acres. Only a few acres, however, have been planted, but the success achieved with these, this season, shows that the oyster can be greatly improved by cultivation.

Luther's Birthday—Celebrations Universal.

Reports regarding proposed or already enjoyed celebrations of the 400th anniversary of Luther's birth are coming from all quarters and in nearly all languages of civilized world. Germany is all aglow with memorial services. London is to have a grand service in its famous Exeter Hall on the 10th, in which various leading evangelical denominations will take part. Scotland is said to be generally preparing to observe it. Russia will look upon similar services in all her principal cities and towns. Norway, Sweden and Denmark, exclusively Lutheran countries, are every where busy with arranging services. Even in Rome a "Luther Committee" has been appointed, which is arranging a programme to properly observe Luther's birth. In Canada, in Australia, and wherever the Lutheran Church is represented, the event will be celebrated by services, etc. In our own country there is to be given a grand Luther concert in Steinway Hall, New York. In Brooklyn, Philadelphia, St. Louis and other cities the Evangelical Alliance unites with the Lutherans in the celebration. Columbus, Ohio, recently held its celebration, and thousands of people took part. So also in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and other cities of the Northwest. The observance in St. Louis will be very general, there being in that city alone about 60,000 Lutherans.

General Church bodies have taken action regarding it. The Presbyterians in Philadelphia, by resolution expressed the thought that it would be of practical value to their congregations if their ministry this year would specially make them acquainted with Luther and his great work. Our neighbor of the N. C. Presbyterian, in its editorial column this week, says: "All Protestantism may afford to lay aside any jealousies in paying tribute of admiration to the great Reformer."

The Lutherans of this State will celebrate it at Concord, as already announced in the STAR. The Presbyterians and Methodists will unite in the service, of which we hope to be able to give an account to our readers. The exercises begin to-day at 10 A. M., in the Presbyterian Church at Concord, as St. James Lutheran Church, in which it was first to be held, is not yet quite finished for occupancy.

Address Before a Colored Literary Society. Col. E. D. Hall, Mayor of the city, pursuant to an invitation, delivered an address before the "Benjamin Banneker" Library and Literary Association, at their hall on Princess street, on Thursday night. We learn that there was a large attendance on the part of the more prominent of our colored citizens, and that they were highly gratified at Mayor Hall's talk to them, evidently appreciating the practical suggestions and good advice which were the burden of his remarks. He especially commended the plan they had adopted, by the organization of the Society he was addressing, as a means of elevating their thoughts and minds by the cultivation of a taste for literature. At the close of the address Rev. D. J. Sanders, pastor of the Chesnut Street Presbyterian Church, moved that a copy of it be procured for publication.

Chamber of Commerce. At a meeting of the newly elected executive council of the Chamber of Commerce, held yesterday at the rooms of the Produce Exchange, routine business was transacted and the following committees were appointed, viz: Meteorological—A. H. VanBokkelen, V. L. DeRosset, George Harris. Bar and River Improvements—George Harris, Alex. Sprunt, R. E. Heide. Transportation and Navigation—F. W. Kerchner, D. G. Worth, C. H. Robinson. Correspondence and Foreign Trade—Jas. Sprunt, Geo. W. Williams, A. L. DeRosset. Propositions and Grievances—Alfred Martin, Geo. Kidder, H. Volders. Insurance and Finance—E. E. Burruss, Thos. Evans, Sam'l Northrop.

Sudden Death. A colored woman, by the name of Anarky Jewels, living on Eighth, between Orange and Ann streets, was found dead in her bed Thursday night, about 10 o'clock. She had apparently been in her usual health all day, and up to a short time before her death. Coroner Jacobs was notified but deemed an inquest unnecessary. Deceased was aged about 40 years.

"Emeralds." The success with which "Emeralds," as played by the Madison Square Comedy Company, has been received in the South is very flattering, and we doubt not it will be well received and liberally patronized here on the 14th. The company is on its way North and will not leave Wilmington until the morning of the 15th.

Fire Up the Carolina Central. The gin house at Wadeville, Montgomery county, belonging to Mr. D. D. DeBerry, was destroyed by fire on Wednesday night, together with a quantity of cotton and wheat. It is supposed to have caught by sparks from the engine. The loss, Mr. W. T. Wade writes us, is estimated at about $350, upon which there was no insurance.

Mayor's Court. The only cases for investigation by Mayor Hall yesterday morning were those of three tramps named S. Ostrom, white, and Sam Watters and Wm. Watters, colored. Ostrom was notified to leave the city instantly, or within twenty-four hours, and the other two were discharged.

A DOWN TOWN MERCHANT, having passed several sleepless nights, disturbed by the agonies and cries of a suffering child, and becoming convinced that Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup was just the article needed, procured a quantity in favor of Homeopathy. That night the child passed in suffering and the parents without sleep. During the home day following, the father found the baby still suffering, and while contemplating another sleepless night, the mother, desiring the room to attend to some domestic duties and leave the father with the child, procured some of the Soothing Syrup to the baby, and said nothing. That night all hands slept well, and the little fellow awoke in the morning bright and happy. The mother was delighted with the wonderful change, and although at first offended at the deception practiced upon her, has continued to use the Syrup, and suffering crying babies and restless children have disappeared. A single trial of the Syrup will convince the parent of its value, and overcome the prejudices of the mother. Sold by all Druggists. 25 cents a bottle.
