THE MORNING STAR.

VOL. XXXIII.-NO. 67.

WILMINGTON, N. C., TUESDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1883.

The Baltimore Day's correspondent from Washington writes on the

"Mr. Carlisle has not changed his views in the alightest particular, nor does he intend to lose any opportunity for putting them in practice. He believes that the tariff should be reduced in the interest of consumers and that the reduction should begin now. But in view of the interests which have grown up especially through the tariff, he believes that the changes should not be made all at once but so gradually as to give all concerned ample

This states the case clearly and fairly. Mr. Carlisle's speeches in the House in 1882 agree precisely with his purposes now. It is simply editors who do not read who are ignorant of his views.

The failures in the South grow in numbers. Last week Bradstreet's reported for the United States 246 failure. This is 77 more than for the corresponding week of 1882. Of these the following Southern States furnished: Kentucky and Florida two each; Louisiana, Mississippi and North Carolina three each; Arkansas five; Alabama six; Georgia and South Carolina eight each Tennessee nine and Texas thirteen This is by far the worst showing the South has made.

Wales is a dreadful specimen. He is more than forty and is worse than Turk. He invited Miss Mary Anderson to meet him at Mrs. Labourhere's (the woman that came over with Langtry,) in London, but the self-respecting Mary declined peremptorily. Very Good! "Mahone and Riddleberger are dealers in rotes and offices, at first and second hand, wholesale and retail, importers, jobbers and manufacturers, with their main office in Washington for the winter and stores and factories (closed for the present on account of changes in popular demand) in Virginia.

The three dollar embargo on marrage looks as follows to a Massachusetts editor. The Lowell Citizen says:

North Carolina's new code of law fixes the fee for a marriage liceuse at $3. In very many cases there are two souls with but a single thought whose hearts will have beat for a year or so longer. Such an excessive tariff amounts to a virtual protection of the men of North Carolina.

There is a certain North Carolina member, who is, if we may judge from a paragraph in the Augusta Chronicle, very proud of his vote for Protectionist Randall. We do not know who is referred to, but he is not the man to represent a Reform Tariff constituency, if he has such.

Judge Bond, in the South Carolina trials, made a most "infamous de cision" says the Charleston News and Courier. He decided to dispense with a grand jury. Judge Bryan dissented in an earnest and eloquent plea for justice.

Lillington River Improvement. The improvements of Lillington river are completed. They consisted of clearing out logs, snags and stumps, cutting off all overbanging trees and straightening the channel. In so doing ten points have been cut off and seven dug through. The dredged channel through these points is thirty feet wide and six feet deep; the total length is twelve hundred feet. Now there is a good channel fof steam navigation for boats drawing less than five feet up to Lillington bridge. The dredging has been done by the small dredge, Energy, owned and superintended by Capt. Bowdoin. The work was inspected last Saturday by U. S. Assistant Engineer, Capt. W. H. From a gentleman who was present we learn that the Annual Fair of the Sampson County Agricultural Association, which commenced in Clinton on Wednesday last, was a big success. On Thursday, the 6th, the Fair was formally opened by the President, Col. J. K. Pigford. On Friday Gov. Jarvis, who was to address the assembled multitude, was escorted to the grounds by Chief Marshal J. T. Murphy and his assistants, and the military, under Capt. Faison. The Governor was introduced by the Chief Marshal, Mr. J. T. Murphy, and proceeded to deliver one of those sensible and practical speeches which he knows so well how to get off on such an occasion.

We are glad to learn that there was good attendance throughout the week, and that it was one of the most successful exhibitions ever held in the county.

On Thursday and Friday nights the young people were treated to excellent balls, the Italian harpers of this city furnishing the music for the dancing.

All present as visitors were loud in their praises of the good people of Sampson for the cordial greeting extended them and the great hospitality they enjoyed.

The Mexican Veterans.

Col. J. L. Cantwell returned from Washington Sunday morning. He was the only North Carolinian present at the Reunion and Convention of the National Mexican Veteran Association, which commenced its session there on Thursday and continued for three days. Hon. T. W. Mackey was the orator of the occasion, and interesting addresses were made by the President and others. There were about two hundred and fifty present. They had a procession, the members called in a body to pay their respects to the President, and a very enjoyable excursion to Mt. Vernon was had. It was resolved to urge upon Gongress the justice and expedience of pensioning the soldiers who fought for their country's honor and glory in Mexico, as well as those who served the Republic in other bu not less hotly contested struggles. The Mexican veterans certainly deserve this recognition at the hands of the government, and we hope they will receive it (tardy though it be) during the present session of Instantly Killed by an Explosion. We find in the Montgomery Advertiser and Mail the particulars of a boiler explosion at one of the depots in that city, on last Sunday morning a week ago, which resulted in the death of Mr. D. M. Allen and the injury of several others. The engineer and Mr. Allen, the latter holding the position of a car inspector, were examining a leak in the boiler, which had just been discovered, when the explosion occurred, when Mr. Allen was thrown against a train of cars on another track and killed almost instantly, his head being crushed in and his body being badly bruised. Deceased was formerly a resident of this city, where he was well known. The driver made strenuous efforts to rein the animal in, but without avail, and as he started to turn the corner of Dock, in the direction of Second street, the man made a desperate jump and fell on the rock pavement, cutting a severe gash in his forehead. The horse, in the meantime, looked as if intending to bolt into one of the side doors to Messrs. Adrian & Voller's store, but the wagon turned over and hampered his movements and he was then halted. Got a Prize and was Afraid She would Lose It.

A small colored girl was noticed to pick up from the pavement on the north side of Market street, yesterday afternoon, what appeared to be a pretty well' filled purse. She quickly concealed it under her straw hat, which she held in her hands, and walked pretty briskly in the direction of Second street. She saw two or three persons watching her movements, and as soon as she got within about ten steps of the corner of Second and Market streets she broke into a run and quickly disappeared around the corner. It is thought likely the girl got a considerable prize.
