Arrest of a Supposed Thief-He Attempts to Draw a Pistol on the Officer-Sent to Jail. Friday night, about half-past 8 o'clock, officer Marsh Walker, of the police force, was passing through the alley in the rear of the Scamen's Home, when he noticed a bag of peanuts up against the wall. About the same time a colored man, since ascertained to have been one Gaston Davis, came forward and claimed to have had a bag of peanuts stolen from him. Officer Walker called his attention to the bag in question, and Davis said it was his, and that the bag had been taken out of his boat at the foot of Dock street. The question then arose as to where the bag should be placed for safety until next morning, and the officer suggested a place, but Davis preferred some other. At last it was decided to leave it at the place of Mrs. Josephine Turner, on the wharf. In the meantime Officer Walker seized an opportunity to whisper into Mrs. Turner's ear that if Davis should return for the peanuts not to let him have them. The officer then left, but kept an eye on Davis, who, as soon as he thought he had got clear of the policeman, returned for the bag. This fact led to the arrest of Davis, who suddenly made a demonstration upon Officer Walker, throwing his hand into his bosom as if to draw a weapon, but the movement was anticipated by the officer, who quickly threw the muzzle of his pistol in Davis' face, telling him if he attempted to draw a weapon he would blow his head off. Da via was then taken to the station house, where he was searched, and in a pocket on the side from which he made an attempt to draw a weapon, a loaded pistol was found He acted very suspiciously from the first, and the evidence was such as to show that Officer Walker acted wisely in taking Davis into custody. The bag of peanuts is supposed to be the property of J. W.

the sum of $100 for his appearance at the next term of the Criminal Court, to answer to the double charge of larceny and carry ing a concealed weapon, failing in which he was ledged in jail.

The Fire Yesterday Morning.

The alarm of fire vesterday morning, about half past 8 o'clock, was caused by the burning of a two story tenement house on the corner of Surry and Castle streets, the property of Mr. Richard Price, and occupied by Mr. Henry Arthur and family and Mrs. Frier. The fire originated on the second floor, occupied by Mr. Arthur, who was absent at the time at work at a shipyard near by, while his wife was engaged at the cotton factory. When discovered the flames had gained good headway, and it was found impossible to save anything on the second floor; but the loss of the family on the first floor was slight. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur, we regret to hear, lost everythingexcept what they had on their persons at the time, including all their furni ture, clothing, bedding, and ten dollars in silver. Much sympathy is felt for this couple on account of the heavy loss they

The building was insured for $500 in a company represented by Messrs. Atkinson & Manning

We learn that the fire department was promptly on hand and did good service.

Mr. Jefferson's Engagement in Wil

The Chicago Times, referring to Mr. Jefferson's Bob Acres in "The Rivals,"

"The part is, perhaps, the most tho-roughly enjoyable of Mr. Jefferson's characters, and a larger and more delighted audience than that of last evening has not been seen in McVicker's Theatre for many a day. The delicate and delicious wit and humor of the part find in Mr. Jefferson's most excellent delineator. It would be difficult to conceive a finer bit of humorous act ing. From Boo's first entrance supon the stage to the end of the famous duel during which his valor sneaked away, the audi ence was fairly convulsed with laughter. The company supporting him is for the most part an excellent one. The fine 'old man actor. Mr. Frederick Robinson, ap peared as Sir Anthony Absolute, and by his portrayal of that tempestuous old gentle man added much to the life and spirit of the piece. Mrs. John Draw, as the vain and ludicrous Mrs. Malaprop, was excel-lent. Her makeup was something marvel lous, and the silliness and affectation of the character was most amusing. Mr. R.L. Downing was a handsome and spirited Captain Absolute, and Miss Rand, Miss Lee and Mr. Taylor were all good in their acveral parts.

The Late Dr. Wm. Ware.

From the Oakland (Cal.) Daily Evening Tribune, of December 17th, we clip the following in relation to the will of the late Dr. Wm. Ware, formerly of this city, recently mentioned by us as baving died in

"Frank J. French has petitioned for bate of the will of the late Dr. William Ware, of Alameda. The estate consists of block 74, Alameda, valued at $14,000; four lots in Berkeley valued at $800 and personal property worth about $8,800. The will divides the property equally among Henry Junkans and William Ware Young. of Weaverville, Trinity county; Jabez Chadbourne, of Oakland, and Frank J. French of San Francisco.'

The Goblins." The Easton Daily Argus, of Dec. 6th, gave the following notice of the Rice Plea-"Rice's Pleasure Party scored a decided success at our Opera House last evening by their presentation of that bundle of nonsense entitled 'Our Goblins.' There is not a poor performer in the troupe. J. H. Stuart, as Coff and Duffiny, was deservedly applauded. Miss Agnes Hallock played her parts well, and the rest of the characters were properly sustained. Mr. W. Henry Rice made a hit as the Black Princess."

Weather Indications. The following are the indications for to

For the Middle Atlantic States, fair weather in extreme south portion, snow in the northern; winds shifting to southwesterly, generally lower barometer, followed in the western portion by slight rise; warmer, preceded on the coast by slightly falling temperature.

For the South Atlantic States, warmer and fair weather, westerly winds, generally lower barometer, preceded in southern portion by slight rise.

For the East Gulf States, fair weather, winds shifting to southwesterly and latterly to southerly, warmer weather and generally lower barometer.

For the West Gulf States, warmer and fair weather, winds shifting to southerly and falling barometer. For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, and Western Pennsylvania, southwesterly winds, falling barometer in the western portion, rising, followed by falling in the eastern portion and warmer weather.

Annual Military Ball.

The Wilmington Light Infantry Company, which has recently been having quite a respectable sized boom to itself, will give its annual military ball on Wednesday, January 16th, at Germania Hall, commencing at 9 o'clock p. m. Those who patronized the previous pleasant entertainments, under the auspices of our gallant soldier boys, will need no further incentive to induce them to do so again. They are always first class. There will be refreshments under the charge of the lady friends of the Company, and every possible appliance Will be brought to bear to make the evening pass off pleasantly to those who may be
