The negro came to Mr. Wilson's plantation and being under the influence of liquor, acted in an insulting and exceedingly offensive manner. Finally, Mr. Wilson ordered him to leave, when he drew a pistol and shot Mr. Wilson dead.

Beath of an Aged and Well Known Lady of Smithville.

The venerable Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Stewart, of Smithville, so well known in this section of the State, and by all who have ever had occasion to visit the romantic little town by the sea, died in that place on Sunday night last, about 8 o'clock, at the great age of 88 years. Mrs. Stewart had a stroke of paralysis one year ago last February, and during the interval has had two additional attacks, from the last of which she never rallied, sinking gradually but surely under the combined effects of disease and extreme old age. Deceased was a native of Tennessee, but came to this State at an early age and has spent nearly her entire life at Smithville. where for a great many years she has followed the vocation of a boarding house keeper. Her house for all these years has been the favorite resort of many Wilmington visitors to the seaside, as well as those from a distance, who craved and greatly enjoyed her genial hospitality. Her daughters, of whom she leaves five, were with her all the week preceding her final dissolution. She had no sons. Deceased had been s member of the Methodist Church for many

Mrs. Elizabeth Warren, of this city, is daughter of Mrs. Stewart, and Mrs. Judge is a grand-daughter.

Since the above was written, one who knew her well has handed us the following: 'Mrs. Stewart was a lady of large heart, full of sympathy and benevolent to those who were needy, whether white or black Her generous hand will be missed by the people of Smithville. During the late war it was her custom to visit the camps and look after the sick soldiers, and when the junior reserves were called out and some were stationed at Smithville she used to bake a quantity of biscuits expressly for these boys who were away from their mothers and not accustomed to hardships. From time to time she has received numerous testimonials from sailors (who had been sick and nursed by her) as an appreciation of her kindness. Something near year ago she had an attack of paralysis but in a measure rallied from this, so that she was able to be up, displaying that cheerful disposition which characterized her to all her life. A short time ago she was visited with a second attack, from which she never rallied, and for the week past she had been unable to swallow anything but retained her full senses to the last. She was ready for the dread summons and had expressed herself as only waiting. A long and use ful life here below has closed but to enter upon that life which knows no end and where the weary are forever at rest. Her funeral takes place to-day at Smithville at half-past 2 o'clock. Persons wishing to attend can go down on the steamer Passport, which leaves at 9 o'clock, and return some hour this evening.' Mayor's Court.

Wellington Spicer, a young colored man, was arraigned on the charge of assaulting Officer W. R. Smith, of the police force, on Saturday evening last. The evidence went to show that Spicer was behaving badly on the streets, and upon being remonstrated with by Officer Smith, struck him two or three blows, whereupon he was arrested and locked up. A brother of the young man asked to be sworn and testified that the defendant was subject to epileptic fits, and during certain phases of the moon had but little mind and was real ly not responsible for his actions. Mayor Hall, in passing sentence, said if he had not been in the condition described he would have given him the full penalty of the law. As it was, he did not think him a fit subject to be running at large on the streets, and would therefore commit him to the lockup until he could be examined by Dr. Potter, the city physician. He made the term of imprisonment thirty days. Katy King, a particularly demented colored woman, well known in police circles, charged with acting disorderly on the streets Saturday night, was sent below for twenty

Edward Corbin, charged with acting disorderly on Nutt street Sunday afternoon, was required to pay a fine of $20 or go be low for thirty days.

An Argument in Favor of the Abolishment of Judicial Oaths.

Mr. W. H. Shaw, of this city, Clerk of the United States District Court, and also Deputy Sheriff, has had sent him a little pamphlet entitled "Judicial Oaths, and Their Effect," issued under authority of the "Yearly Meeting of Friends held in Philadelphia the 16th day of the Fourth Month, 1883." It is an argument, and a very able and ingenious one, in favor of the abolishment of oaths and the substitution of affirmations in our courts of justice. It concludes: "That society should set up a distinction, which is not in the Christian code, between lying with an added oath and a lie without it, we believe weakens the public conscience, both by undervaluing the naked truth and disregarding an express command of Christ. We hold then, that all judicial oaths should be expunged from the statute books, and that legislative authority should be given to the principle, that every departure from the nonest, simple truth, is an offence against both God and man."

A Monster Hawk. Mr. Daniel E. Death of a Well Known Colored Bar-

A private letter received here yesterday conveyed the intelligence of the death at Philadelphia, on the 20th inst., of Miles Howard, formerly a well known colored barber of this city. During the war he was a body servant of the then President, Jefferson Davis, and on more than one occasion since the war he has been the recipient of letters from that distinguished gentleman, conveying lively expressions of interest in his welfare.

IN MEMORIAM. A strong personality is no more for us. Mrs.

Tennessee, in 1795, she was the living embodi-ment of that independent, aggressive American spirit which was the dominant characteristic of the fathers, and the moving power which has the fathers, and the moving power which has built up a great and glorious nation of freemen, and from which has sprung most of those self-sactificing and heroic deeds that mark and dis-tinguish the progress of our people above all oth-ers. Her father died from wounds received at the battle of New Orleans, in 1814, and with her, ers. Her father died from wounds received at the battle of New Orleans, in 1814, and with her, as should justly be from her parentage, the burning passion has been a noble, patriotic love of her country and her country's glory. She stood an heroic figure before the men of our time with whom the love of country lies so dormant that it needs neither thought or words, to their shame be it said—a model for the old, and an inspiration for the young. I dwell on this characteristic of her noble nature, because her lofty, unswerving, uncompromising loyalty and devotion to what she believed right and true, presents so massive an example for the love, admiration and imitation of all. For, after all, the love of country, the willingness of the individual to sacrifice for the whole, must be the basis for all true progress; and when the day comes, if it ever does, that all are time-servers for benefit, then are our liberties lost, and we but slaves to the sharpest soundrel, without title to respect or pity, the poor the servants of the rich, and the rich vassals of placemen.
