EVENING EDITION

A PROPOSITION PROM PROTEC-TION DEMOCRATS.

The Protection Democrats in Congress are not happy. They have made the very late discovery that the people really mean Reform, and that nothing but a start in that direction will give satisfaction. The great movement in New England is unmistakable. The Northwest last year gave signs that all men with ordinary intelligence took in except the Protection Democrats. War Tariff Sam allowed his real for a very bad cause to get the better of his judgment. In his anxiety to placate his Protection Republican friends be went as far as P. I. Kelley, the special exponent of Pennsyl vanian Protection. He was so influential that he carried some forty or fifty Democrats with him. The result is that the people are moving so steadily and inevitably in the direction of Reform that the Randall ites find themselves completely stranded and their only associates are Republicans whom they profess to antagonize.

To show how unpleasant must be their position it is only necessary to mention the proposition they made the other day to Speaker Carlisle and Chairman Morrison. A committee of three were sent to those gentlemen to make a proposition they were authorized to make. It was "cheeky," but it showed their distress. It was in writing and it was nothing less than an abandonment of the Morrison bill. They must vote against this 15 or 16 per cent. reduction at the same time they favored reduction. They proposed that a new bill should be introduced, in which the abolition of the tax on tobacco, beer, fruit, spirits, (except whiskey) cigars should be a prime feature. Very cunning these Democratic Protectionists! They at least will understand what getting rid of tens of millions of the tax on luxuries would mean. Others may be blind and can see no absurdity or inconsistency or danger or folly in wiping out the most of the internal tax, but not so these adroit and far-seeing followers of War Tariff Sam.

Well, what did Speaker Carlisle and Chairman Morrison say to this extraordinary proposition? They asked for their bill. The astonishing reply was that they had prepared none. They were told that it was impossible for their proposition to be entertained. But let us quote from the Washington letter in the Boston Post, of the date of April 25th, It

Mr. Carlisle and Mr. Morrison told them that the Protection Democrate were too late with their offer as well as too indebtory; and that they had carried out this detory; and that they had carried out this Ge-sign by refusing all offers of constitution sven; that they should have gone to the ways and means committee with the proposi-tion which they submitted at the eleventh hour; or, failing that, that they should have made it at the caucus, where, instead, they sat in silence, giving no sign of any inten-tion except to fight every move made by the revenue reformers. Mr. Carlisle and Mr. Morrison told the committee that it Mr. Morrison told the committee that it was impossible for the Ways and Means committee alone, to say nothing of the House itself, to go through the tariff law as suggested now, when the session was five months old, and that to accept such an offer would be simply to declare to the country that all effort to reduce tariff taxation was to be abandoned."

After moving heaven and earth to defeat all reform; after causing a delay of months in the consideration of the Morrison bill these Protection Democrats come forward with a proposition to abolish all of the internal tax but that on whiskey alone and to report a new bill for Tariff Reduction. If Carlisle and his friends were stupid enough to listen to such a proposition what would result? Why, these Randallites would bring in a bill proposing reduction of at least 15 or 16 per cent,-they might even go to 25 or even 50 per cent., but how? They would put the reduction on those articles in which Pennsylvania and New York and New England are not interested so much or could not be injured by it. For instance, they would abolish the sugar tax, thus cutting down the surplus by more than 42 millions. They would lift the tax on coarse cotton goods as the New Englanders say that they do not now require protection on those grades. The South manufactures them and hence the movement. Mr. Chase, of New England, in his speech in the House, mentioned these articles as being proper ones to be put on the free list.

The Protection Democrats will achieve no such victory as that sought. They will have to stand by their record as indorsing in 1884 the War Tariff of 1862.

The Senate Committee on Education and Labor have reported a bill that forbids making contracts with laborers in foreign countries, and imposing severe penalties for the violation of the laws. It is intended to prohibit the importation of "pauper foreign labor." The idea is to extend the big Chinese Wall around the country.

There is a necessity for such a law as long as the High Tariff exists. Under it the employers—the manufacturers reap the benefit, for when they are annoyed with strikes they go abroad and obtain laborers. The bill reported in the Senate is intended to put a stop to the employment and importation of alien labor.

But the people mean to have the War Tariff steadily razeed. It will come. All the politicians in the country cannot prevent it. They may delay, but the reduction will come and woe be unto those unfaithful public servants who attempt to betray the interests of their masters

THE TALK AND THE TREND.

The talk in Washington on the Cincinnati riot was about what might have been expected in a city where Strong Government ideas prevail in every department and taints almost all legislation. A letter in the Louisville Courier-Journal from the poet Joaquin Miller contains certain passages that may be read with profit. He says the talk was for a "stronger Government." The growth of this idea is alarming to all sincere patriots who love a genuine democratic, republican Government in which the States are sovereigns, the people are free, and the officials are the servants of the people. Miller says this treasonable utterance is not new. He

The expression and the desire was born with and is nourished by the Vanderbilts, Goulds and monocrats, who are slowly but surely getting their grip on the throat of the Republic. They want their wealth protected, and are not willing to trust it to the people for protection. Here lies peril. A stronger Government means a Government not of the people, by the people and for the people. It means another kind of Government; it means treason to this Government. The talk in favor of a strong Government is altogether too frequent here at the nation's capital."

The trend of the age is towards: Centralized Power. The acts of Congressmen are altogether in this direction. In the meantime the people who are being betrayed are silent. The price of liberty is eternal vigilance.

Representative Lyman, of Mass., sent out circulars to his District to ascertain among other things if his people favored the abolition of the liquor tax. The replies were overwhelmingly against this. There were but one-sixth who favored the wiping out of the whiskey and tobacco tax. The replies were mostly from manufacturers. There was a considerable nite; that they had given the revenue reformers to understand that they desired nothing should be done in the direction of tarifcontrol, but that the men who had elected
Mr. Carlisie to the speakership should not be permitted to reap the fruits of their vio-

list." The Philadelphia American. Republican Protection, thus sums up and you will see from its language that it confirms the often repeated statement of this paper that Protectionists who favor the abolition of the 140 millions of internal tax know that it will benefit their cause. The American says:

"Altogether, the replies to Mr. Lyman were strongly in one direction, -i. c., against the liquor tax repeal,—and they came, it must be remembered, from manufacturers, who are usually more anxious than the average of the people to preserve the tariff system."

The English papers seem to think that the United States are compelled to so guard their borders that neither filibustering expeditions nor Fenian incursions nor dynamite devils shall escape. The Spanish papers complain and the English papers have had much to say. But the London Saturday Review takes view that has the quality of fairness for it knows how England has acted all through the years. It says:

"To suppose the American Government would undertake the task of suppressing Irish agitators would be simply asking it to do what the English Government steadily refused to do. Mazzini, who defended political assassination as heartily as any rishman, and did his best to practice it. was sheltered in England for many years, though it was known that he was continually engaged in conspiracy. Herzen pub-lished his inflammatory Kolokol in London, and no request for its suppression was even listened to. Before the American Government can act, it must be shown that the Irish agitators have committed an actual offence going beyond the general incentives to crime. Evidence to that effect has never yet been forthcoming."

We suppose that our Government would not allow expeditions of a hostile character to be fitted out against any nation with which it was at peace, but it could hardly prevent either the manufacture of dynamite explosives or the transportation of it to Europe to be used for wicked pur-

Said the Tilden Platform in 1880, and we reproduce only a few sentences from the chief plank:

We denounce the present tariff levied upon nearly 4,000 articles as a monster piece of injustice, inequality and false preenses. It yields a dwindling, not a yearly rising, revenue; it has impoverished many industries to subsidize a few; it prohibits imports that might purchase the products of American labor; it has degraded American commerce from the first to an inferior rank on the high seas; it has cut down the sales of American manufacturers at home

Such was the bill of indictment drawn up under the advice and consent of Samuel J. Tilden. It was his new Declaration of Independence.

The House passed the bill to establish a bureau for the collection of statistics on wages and labor. This may be of much use. It is believed that this is the beginning of a movement that will culminate in a fuller recognition of all American industries, and that before long there will be two other Cabinet officers-one in charge of agriculture, mines and forests; the other in charge of manufactures and commerce.

The House passed a bill permitting the purchase of foreign built vessels and admitting them to the American registry. Why the amendment was voted down favoring the admission of materials free would be a puzzle all round. If the materials are put into a vessel they may come in free, but if they come to be worked up into vessels they must not be free. Curious that!

Gold is going ont to Europe from our shores at the rate of about 34 millions weekly. Since the 21st of February nearly 30 millions have been shipped. At that rate nearly 200 millions will go out during the year. Is that a healthful condition? The Republicans have been in power for twenty-three years.

The New York Times insists that up to date of 497 delegates chosen to the Republican Convention but 180 are for Arthur. But the Times is very hostile to Chet as is the Evening Post, the other most decent Republican paper in New York City.

There is one Northern man who does not like the Florida hotels as a class. He has been to Raleigh and praises Dr. Blacknall's new boarding

CURRENT COMMENT.

- If there is anything in the world that upsets all a man's notions, it is to experience the shock of an earthquake. People don't believe in many things in these days, but they have a very firm conviction that the earth is fixed and solid in its relations to mankind. When this is shaken by the shaking of the earth, it demoralizes and generally scatters those who feel the shock, so that we can readily understand that John Bull has been prodigiously astounded at an earthquake in his "tight little island."—Norfolk Landmark.

-It is reported that Mr. Blaine proposes to bring an action against the publishers of Puck on account of

as the tattooed man in a political museum. This seems hardly credible but the report does not sufficiently indicate some measure of Mr. Blaine's rage. It would be a matter of astonishment if a man who has lived as long as he has in the fierce light of publiscity could be injured by a cartoon. If the picture is libellous it is untrue, and cannot therefore injure Mr. Blaine in the estimation of his fellow-countrymen. If the picture is truthful it is not libellous, and the ex-Secretary's auger, although natural, is out of place. - New York Times.

COTTON.

N. Y. Commercial and Financial Chronicle. New York, April 25 .- The movement of the crop, as indicated by our telegrams from the South to-night, is given below. For the week ending this evening (April 25) the total receipts have reached 20,923 bales, against 30,274 bales last week, 30,-113 bales the previous week and 37,091 bales three weeks since; making the total receipts since September 1st, 1883, 4,693,266 bales, against 5,611,909 bales for the same period of '82-'83, showing a decrease since September 1, 1883, of 918,643

The exports for the week ending this evening reach a total of 33,636 bales, of which 20,422 were to Great Britain, 3,577 to France and 9,637 to the rest of the Continent, while the stocks as made up this evening are now 572,785 bales.

During Wednesday and the opening of Thursday, the tendency of prices was mainly upward on account of the very small movement of the crop and the reduced visible supply; but in view of the considerable accumulation of supplies at this market and the apprehension of free deliveries on May contracts, the speculation for the rise was conducted quite tamely, and last evening the later months were weaker. To-day there was a slight advance on strong accounts from Liverpool, but a slow business caused a decline with a quiet closing. The changes as compared with last Friday are 6@11 points lower for this crop and 4@6 points for the next. Cotton on the spot has been very quiet throughout the week at unchanged prices; middling uplands quoted at 111c. The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 494,300 bales.

They will abolish the internal revenue on whiskey and tobacco, and thus necessitate the keeping a high duty on imports. The blind clamor for free whiskey will save the protectionist. The Republican party, the champions of protection, see this, hence the willingness of that party to advocate the repeal of the internal revenue. It is a nigh cut, by a popular route, to that end. Both parties in North Carolina are rushing for this inside track. One party has an object in taking this nigh cut, and the other is rushing blindly along trying to get in ahead; never considering where they are to take up.—Goldstore Bulletin.

London, April 29 .- A dispatch from Madrid to the Times says, "The American recognition of the flag of the African International Association, with the evident intention of ignoring Portuguese rights, has caused great irritation in Portugal. Such a recognition looks like a piece of very sharp practice, novel in international relations, and hardly contemplated by in-ternational law. If sovereign rights should be ignored, because slavery has been carried on and high protective duties been enforced, America would stand badly, as she was Portugal's best customer in the halcyon days of African slave-trading, and her protective duties are four times higher than those stipulated by England in the Anglo Portuguese treaty.

CARTERET Co., N. C., July 7, 1879. Dear Madam—I think your medicine is the best that is now before the public, for the cure of Scrofula. I have great confidence in it, and believe that it will do all that you claim for it. I have the personal knowledge of the condition of young Mr. Stokes, before he commenced taking young Mr. Stokes, before he commenced taking your medicine, and I see that you have his testimental that he is cured. Go on and I say God speed to you in your efforts to ameliorate the condition of mankind, and add to his comfort and happiness. I will do all in my power for you among my friends.

Yours, respectfully.
