FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 30, 1884.

EVENING EDITION.

THE MEETING OF THE MAGIS-

Monday next, the 2d of June, is an important day in North Carolina. The Magistrates of all the counties are to elect County Commissioners, Superintendents of Public Schools, and to levy the taxes for the next fiscal year. Good government depends upon just laws, equitably and equally administered, intelligent and conscientions officials, low taxes equally distributed, and judicious economy. The office of County Commissioner is an important one, and none but good and true men ought to be chosen. If incompetent or unfaithful -men are chosen the public weal suffers. The Magistrates are, therefore, to a very great extent responsible for the conduct of the Board of County Commissioners, as they have the choosing of them.

The office of County Superintendent of Public Schools is also important. He is to a great degree the driving wheel of the machinery. In the years to come, under wider and wiser legislation, when the public schools of the State have become in all respects efficient, this office will take on new importance and efficiency. In all the counties qualified men should be chosen whenever it is possible to do so.

The levying of taxes is a necessity. Taxation itself is a curse. It is only to be tolerated and enforced because without it there can be no government of the people and by the people and for the people. The end to be nimed at is to raise just as little as will do under proper economy and to distribute the burden justly, fairly, equitably. This applies to all kinds of taxes-county or municipal, State or Federal, direct or indirect. Raise the taxes on the right things, and levy just as little as the actual requirements of an economical and pure government will allow.

more burdens upon a people than are actually necessary for the ends of government. It is a sin and an outrage to oppress one class for the benefit of another class. It may be done and it may be tolerated, but that will not make it right.

The meeting of the Justices of the State on Monday next is important to the people-the burden-bearers and the bread winners.

GRANT AS A FINANCIER.

The papers, some in sorrow and some with a willingness to condemn upon evidence, are discussing the Grant-Fish letters. They will certainly lower Gen. Grant's character in the estimation of hundreds of thousands of his countrymen in the North. The South has long ago put Its estimate upon Grant, as a man, indorse it. Mr. Fish, who had $265,000 in the concern of Grant and Ward, wished to know something of its condition. He seems to have been in doubt. He secordingly proposed to "take counsel" with Grant concerning it, and he adds:

"You will see that it is of most vital im portance to me particularly that the credit of the firm shall always be untarnished." The Washington Post says of Grant's course: "He is made to say, however, on the very same day, by a letter which he signed, but which, we are told, he never read—a letter written by Ward evidently after perusal of the private correspondence be-tween Fish and Grant—that he thinks the nvestments are safe and that Ward is at iberty to use his name for all it is worth. To business men this manner of proceeding on the part of the senior partner of a firm dealing in large Government contracts, as he had just been informed by Mr. Fish, yet of which he knew absolutely nothing himself, is simply amazing and unaccountable. That he should immediately thereafter sign letter of unlimited credit to the very man concerning whom Mr. Fish deemed it wise they should 'counsel together' only adds to the amazing complication."

THE STAR ROUTE TRIALS AGAIN The evidence is accumulating showing what a monstrous farce the Star Route trials were. It is shameful chapter in the history of the Arthur Administration. Mr. W. W. Ker, of Philadelphia, was one of the counsel for the prosecution. He has been before the Springer Committee. His evidence is important. The so-called trials were really only attempts to screen the rascals. A Washington special says:

"The substance of Mr. Ker's testimony was that Bliss was not desirous to convict Dorsey, and that he made no real effort to The little book which Dorsey's counsel, showed the jury, containing the names of men who attended the Dorsey dinner in New York was the property of George Bliss, and was stamped with his name. The attempt to show that the administration did not want Dorsey convicted was made more effective by this little book. Biliss, in his speech to the jury, slurred over the evidence against Dorsey

The evidence of Mr. Ker will far to convince all doubters and to confirm the opinions of others already formed that this whole Star Route business from first to last is one of shocking depravity, in which Government and thieves are united. the one to shield the others. Ker is "a lawver of the highest standing" says the New York Times. Mr. Bliss does not deny that in the first trial he asked that Dorsey "might go." Bliss, be it remembered, is one of Arthur's intimates-in fact "his nearest political friend," quoth the Times. That paper says of the sec

'That in the second Star Route trial Mr Bliss was reafly in 'earnest in prosecuting Dorsey is a fact which has no bearing on the charge made by Mr. Ker. Mr. Dorsey at that time had ceased to be of any politi cal utility, present or prospective, to President Arthur, and his prosecution involved no waste of Presidential building material Besides, no degree of zeal in this trial could wipe out the damning fact that in the first trial Mr. Bliss urged the Government to let Dorsey go.

ONLY A PENNY-WHISTLE.

Somebody writes to the New York Sun that the Mecklenburg Declara tion is a myth-a fraud, and bases his charge upon the similarity of language in that document and in the National Declaration—the latter coming more than a year later. He claims to have been the first to discover this. If he will go to the Astor Library and consult the New York Review for 1836, he will find a striking paper in advocacy of the genaineness of the Mecklenburg Deciaration from the pen of no less a man than the once famous and eloquent Rev. Dr. Francis L. Hawks, of that city, but a native of North Car olina. Dr. Hawks examines at length this very charge brought forty-six years afterwards by a fellow who evidently knows but little of the sub ject. We do not fiold to Dr. Hawks's explanation, having snother theory that we believe to be more probable and consistent, and we mention it only to show how far behind the times is the Sun's correspondent. It is a sin and an outrage to hear ! This writer thinks his little pennywhistle has blown the fact of a Decaration to the four winds and that no more forever shall North Carolinias be found celebrating an event so well attested, and that reflects such undying glory upon the men of Mecklenburg.

We think North Carolina should make the 20th of May a general holiday and that it ought to be duly celebrated throughout the State. It was a great event viewed historically and ought to be signalized annually. The fellow with the penny-whistle will have as much power to stop the growing popularity of the 20th of May among North Carolinians, as-Canute had to stop the tide that rose and threatened to wash him out to sea.

On the first day of this mouth a silk culture exhibition was held in as a soldier and as a politician. It is Philadelphia. It was the third an-

him as a financier. The correspon- silk coccoons raised in the United dence really looks as if Grant had States for 1883. There were sevengiven the business of the firm such ty-seven competitors from twenty an examination as authorized him to States. The reports were very en couraging as to the growth of silk industry. In California the de velopment is represented as wonderful. The industry is also developing in the Seathern and Easters

ENGLAND'S CREATEST SOLDIER

The London Saturday Review one of the leading literary journals of Great Britain, has in more than one article shown its high appreciation of Gen. Robert E. Lee. Other leading English publications have not withheld their praise of the gentle, noble, heroic Southron. Blacksood's Magazine, more than decade ago proclaimed that he was one of the three greatest soldiers of the English speaking race-Marlborough, Wellington, Lee. The last tribute to Lee comes from the man who is now regarded in England as Britain's greatest living soldier-Sir Garnet Wolseley, who once visited Wilmington and is known to some of our citizens. In a letter written on the 8th of December, 1883, to a lady of Mobile, Ala., he says some most gracious things. We find the letter in the Southern Historical Society Papers for May, We give the main. part as follows. Gen. Wolseley says: "I have only known two heroes in my life, and General R. E. Lee is one of them. so you can well understand how I value one of his letters. I believe that when time has calmed down the angry passions of the 'North,' General Lee will be accepted in the United States as the greatest General you have ever had, and second as a patriol only to Washington himself. Stonewall Jackson, I only knew alightly, his name. will live forever also in American history when that of Mr. U. S. Grant has been long forgotten, such at least is my humble opinion of these men when viewed by an outside student of military history who has no tocal prejudice."

"Good writers" know that it is well established law that the primary meaning of a word is to be taken in preference to secondary meanings and so on. Worcester gives the primary meaning of declination to be this, "The act of bending or turning down." It is only when he reaches the fourth class of meanings that we have declination defined, The art of declining, refusing or shunning." So much for declination. Now turn to declinature. It has but one meaning or sense. It is defined "The act of declining, a refusal." No man of critical taste would prefer a word with five different sets of meanings to express one act, when there was a word at hand, and no bastard, that had the exact meaning sought and in its primary signification. This is in accordance with known laws that govern scholars and "good writers," A person who would so prefer knowingly and still claim to be "a good writer," would be apt to refer to "a black swan," in full belief that there was such a birdnigroque cygno.

There is a sketch of Col. Edward Buncombe, after whom Buncombe county was named, in the Washington Capital. The writer reports General Robert B. Vance as saving that "he was one of the greatest men that our State ever produced." But North Carolina did not "produce" him, for the sketch shows that he was a native of St. Christopher's Island, West Indies, and came to North Carolink in 1765, settling in Tyrrell county, where he lived until he entered the war of the Revolution. He commanded the Fifth North Carolina Regiment, and was mortally wounded in the battle of Germantown (New Jersey), and died in Phil adelphia, in his 34th year. The sketch is instructive and gaye us fresh infornation concerning the gallant soldier.

The New York Times has a poor opinion of the mander and fairness of the reports of the committees on the Copish and Danville riots. It says they are unqualifiedly partisan. It

"Briefly, the Republican Senatorial re-port concerning the Danville disturbances exaggerates what was a lamentable affair into the proportions of a sanguinary politiof these reports are unqualifiedly partisan, and both were composed with other sims than those which the truth." CURRENT COMMENT.

-Freedom has no doubt, broad-ened slowly down from precedent to to precedent, but it has done so through battle and struggle all the time, and through such struggle be-cause the holders of unjust privileges and prerogatives would never give up even the most abominable of their so-called "rights" without the people twisting these out of their hands and saying "Thank you for nothing!"-Toronto Globe.

- Of one thing the men in the Democratic party who are afraid to raise the tariff reform issue in the coming campaign may rest assured: If they do not shout tariff the Reprepared to put its estimate upon nual award of premiums for the best publicans will. The question cannot nore it the ridiculous fiasco of 1880 will be repeated. The Republicans are not afraid to defend their position on that issue, and whether the Democrate defend theirs or not will make no difference with the former. Republicans will attack tariff reform anyway. - Chicago Herald.

-- The Atlanta Constitution declares that Mr. Tilden "is about as responsible for his failure to take his seat in 1876 as he is for the failure of the Cincinnati Convention nominate him in 1880." Just about. In 1880 he announced that his heal:h would not permit him to accept the nomination, and in 1876 he was too weak and timid to demand his rights. The New York Herald is by no means unfriendly to Tilden, but it. says: Many Democrats who believe that Tilden was elected in 1876 believe also that the real difficulty in regard to putting him into the office was in Tilden himself, and in a vacillation and timidity that were ready to accept anything rather than produce a civil conflict by insisting that the will of the people should be enforced, - Charleston News and Courier, Dem.

THE ONSLOW HOMICIDE.

The Preliminary Trial-Results in Mr. Hugginal Acquittal. Correspondent of the New Berne Journal

A coroner's jury was empannelled and upon Mr. Huggins admitting the killing, they returned their verdict accordingly. Friday morning at 10 o'clock a preliminary examination was begun before Justice G. W. Blake, who associated with himself four other Justices, Dr. Wm. S. Monfort, Rufus F. Pellatier, James Gerganus and N. N. McMillin. About a dozen witnesses were examined and the testimony from every quarter showed conclusively that Mr. Huggins acted purely in self-defence. No part of the evidence showed the least shadow of criminality in the action of Mr. Huggins. After hearing all the testimony the Justices retired and were unanimous in their judgment that the prisoner killed Dr. Lesesne in order to protect his own life and that the killing was justifiable, whereupon they ordered the prisoner to be discharged.

Mr. Huggins left the court room surrounded by his friends, who had come from every quarter of the county to render him any assistance be might need. The cause of the quarrel that led to this unhappy termination is almost as sad as the killing itself. It was purely a family affair, over which this entire community desire to draw a veil. No man regrets the killing of Lesesne more than Huggins; he feels it deeply and it will be a source of mortification to him for a long time, but he had no choice save that of death. It had come, to kill or be killed. Dr. Lesesne's brother was at the trial but made no effort to prosecute; he called on Mr. Huggins and they met on friendly terms. Mr. Huggins has the sympathy of the people of this county, and this affair has made him friends, because he showed by his action that he wanted to avoid a difficulty with Dr. Lesesne, and did all in his power to that end, but when the crisis came he did what every brave man will do under like circumstances.

MR. TILDEN FOR MR. PAYNE His Intention to Secure a Nomination Which he can Transfer.

Washington Post. NEW YORK, May 27 .- Mr. Samuel J. Tilden is not a candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination. and he will not accept it for himself; but he will accept it for Mr. Henry B. Payne, of Ohio, and it is to secure a Tilden convention which can be transferred to Mr. Payne that the Tilden energies are now being di-

The work has been very quietly done, but its object has not been unsuspected. Whenever it has happened, however, that a suggestion to this effect has reached the public view through the newspapers, it has been promptly followed by a new story of Mr. Tilden's unwillingness to allow his name to go before the July Convention. But meanwhile the Literary Bureau has been at work, and with the meeting of each Democratic State Convention one, two, four, ten or a dozen delegates have been added to the list of those who demand the nomination of Tilden "dead or alive," and who being thus enthusiastic for Tilden person ally are relied upon as sure to do their master's will. It is known that a letter has been written and signed by Mr. Tilden absolutely and peremptorily declin-ing to accept the Presidential nomination at the hands of the Democraov in 1884; but his original determination to have this read at the meeting of the Democratic State Convention at Saratoga is being reconsidered, on the ground of the greater safety of a postponement of final ac-tion upon his part until the meeting of the National Convention itself. Meanwhile it is important to Demoerats that the facts should be known. It is not true that Mr. Tilden is for Mr. Cleveland. He is no more for Cleveland than for Flower, and he is opposed to both because he is for Henry B. Payne.

Where the Fire is Out Magic No More a Mystery-Secu From Across the World. "Haroun of Aleppo," said Sir Phillip Derval "had mastered every secret in nature which the nobler magic seeks to fathom. He discovered that the true art of healing is to assist Nature to throw off the disease-to summon, as it were the whole system to eject the enemy that has fastened on a part. His processes all included the reinvigoration of the principle of life." In this the Eastern sage merely anticipated to practice of the best physicians of to-day. What life itself is, then nobody knew-nekody know now. But we have learned something of the reasons why the mysterious tide rises and fu Provided the great organs of the body are not irreparably destroyed, medical science can a ways relieve, and often save. Yet no reputable physician now adheres to the barbarous and stuwhich it was attempted to cure disease by redacing the patient's ability to resist it. Nowadam

-we strengthen it. In this intelligent and beneficent work hi conceded that PARKER'S TONIC leads other medicines. As an invigorant it acts in mediately and powerfully upon the circulation and the organs of digestion, thus giving Nature the assistance she calls for. It follows that all ailments of the stomach, kidneys and liver are at once relieved or cured. No other preparation embodies the same qualities or produces similar results. It is delicious to use, and the best known anti-toxicant. Price 50c. and $1. Hison & the
