MORNING EDITION.

OUTLINES.

Col. W. J. Green was nominated for Congress by acclamation at the Democratic Convention of the Third N. C. district.

The late storms in South Carolina did much damage.

The Richmond Dispatch has considerably enlarged its borders.

There is a very damaging drought in Southern Russia and the locusts are devastating at large.

The Cabinet is divided on the bill for the relief of Gen. Fitz John Porter.

It is said Congress will try to adjourn this week. It is now subordinating every thing else to the Appropriation bills.

It is too ridiculous to waste time over Ben Butler as a candidate. We have never heard a true Southern man say he would support him if nominated for the Presidency.

The London Economist in speaking of Blaine's blustering and pro-oking temper says: "The great majority of the American people being afraid of no one, are without utterance, and regard war as an inconceivable."

They will hardly take Blaine and the chances of a useless, expensive and destructive foreign war.

Col. Von Boreke, of Prussia, regards Job Stuart "the greatest of cavalry leaders." He keeps the Virginian's portrait hanging right under Charles Frederick of Prussia at his castle.

If Cleveland is not nominated it will be because his own State at Saratoga failed to endorse him. The Democrats are looking around for the man who can beat Blaine.

The New Bern Journal thinks well of Bayard and that the Congressional Convention in that District was a "little too previous" in going for Cleveland. It says: "The Convention also was a little hasty in declaring for Cleveland, as we are of the opinion that Bayard would have won the preference then, and certainly is now, of a large majority of the Democratic voters of the District."

The N. Y. Times of Monday publishes letters from Republicans in Florida, Washington, Pennsylvania and Minnesota repudiating Blaine. The following is good reading: "It is this county, the birthplace of James G. Blaine, some of the best Republicans have openly bolted his nomination, and will vote the Democratic ticket, providing Cleveland, Bayard or Randall is nominated."

Some persons in Georgia wished to nominate Mr. Estell, the proprietor of the Savannah News, for Governor. He says the people wish Gov. McDaniel. A newspaper man loses his grip on the public when he seeks or holds office. Holden was king in the Democratic party in North Carolina until the bee began to buzz in his bonnet. We think an editor who does his duty well is a "bigger man" than many an officeholder with a fat salary.

The funny man of the N. Y. Times wants O'Donovan Rossa to impregnate himself with dynamite, take a steamer, and go to England at once. We quote: "Mr. O'Donovan Rossa can impregnate himself with dynamite to such an extent that he will be more dangerous than a 15-inch shell charged with the deadly compound. As his condition cannot be perceived except by testing him with dynamite, he can walk through any British custom house in the character of an ordinary inoffensive Irishman. Arrived at London, Mr. Rossa can quietly make his way into Mr. Gladstone's cellar and there explode himself with the aid of a percussion cap. Mr. Gladstone would thus be blown into minute fragments, and no trace of the destroyer would be found. Of course a fervent patriot like Mr. Rossa would be entirely willing to blow himself up, and that, by so doing he could blow up Gladstone."

L. Q. Washington, a Washington correspondent, is against Cleveland and he shows what sort of a reformer he is when he mentions favorably for the Presidency Randall, Flower and Payne. He ought to have added Ben Butler; Randall, a Protectionist, kept in power by Republicans; Flower, a political nobody with "a bar!" and Payne, the "man Friday" of the Standard Oil Company. Cleveland is worth a regiment of such Falstaffian soldiers.

A Greek Priest has been celebrating mass in the basement of St. John's Chapel, N. Y., and an inquiry into it will be made by Bishop Potter. The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger writes: "There are few religious ceremonies more impressive than the Greek mass as it was said on this occasion, with the swinging of incense before the picture of the Virgin, the kissing of the crucifix by the congregation, etc.; but as the Low Church Episcopalians are not accustomed to it, perhaps it is not surprising that their solemnity of mind, is a trifle ruffled by it."

The New York Herald's Chicago special of June 30th says that Tilden is to be stoutly urged in the Convention. California and Louisiana are solid for Tilden.

Spirits Turpentine. — Reidsville Weekly: We have not seen a farmer in the past month who uttered the least complaint of the weather or his growing crop. — Rev. W. A. Rodgers, A. M., has accepted the Presidency of Yankin College, under the patronage of the Methodist Protestant Church in North Carolina.

— Elizabeth City Economist: In Bertie the crops are very poor and backward, the cotton especially is very much behind. Trucking has been nearly a failure. Some few peaches are being shipped. — Raleigh Visitor: The internal revenue collections in this (the fourth) district for the month of June were $27,383.78.

— Rocky Mount Reporter: This section has now on hand one of the finest fruit crops with which it was ever blessed. Peaches and blackberries especially abundant. When the month of June is fully past, the crop is said to be good in this section.

— The Oxford Female Seminary is in the hill country. Oxford for sixty-five years has been famous for its schools. The Seminary is in a very prosperous condition, and is under the charge of President F. P. Hobbins, A. M., and has been for sixty-four years. He is up with the times. — Goldsboro Bulletin: Our punter's last: Why is North Carolina like an honest merchant? Because she has honest States. — Died, in Goldsboro, on her 83rd year, Mrs. Obelley Langston, in her 83rd year. She was one of the oldest persons in the State, and a consistent member of the Methodist Church.

— New Bern Journal: Died, at the residence of his mother, in this city, on Sunday evening June 29th, William Jones, son of the late E. C. Jones. As her residence, in this city, on Sunday evening, June 29th, Mrs. H. Marshall. — We earnestly urge, then, the committee appointed by the Craven county Association the importance of immediate action. The committee on fish and oyster exhibits are doing their duty. Mr. Geo. Allen on marls and phosphates, is doing his duty.

— Raleigh News-Observer: The house which the late Mr. W. E. Weaver represented makes manifest its appreciation of his services by sending a check for $30 to be applied towards erecting a monument over his grave. — The nomination of Mr. Donald W. Bain for the office of State Treasurer has evoked in all sections of the State and especially in this community, expressions of the heartiest commendation. In this city among his neighbors and friends, who his sterling worth is best known, the nomination is universally declared to be one eminently fit to have been made.

— Asheville Citizen: The flash of lightning which killed Mr. William Stevens on Saturday last at the same time severely shocked many persons on both sides of the street. One lady standing at the instant in the door of Mr. Penland's house was thrown back across the room to the rear, and her face was discolored almost to blackness for several hours. Other ladies in houses on the other side of the street were affected with swollen hands and arms, the swelling not subsiding for forty-eight hours. Mr. Stevens was 26 years, 7 months and 18 days old, instead of 22 years as first stated.

— Lumberton Robesonian: Mrs. Mary Warwick died on last Monday evening. She was one of the oldest persons in Robeson county, being a little more than eighty-five years of age. — Robeson county will not offer Col. Alfred Rowland's name to the Congressional Convention of the Sixth District as a mere compliment to Col. Rowland, a Robeson man. We mean business. — The State ticket, in our judgment, cannot be improved upon, and we confidently await a similar verdict in regard to our county ticket.

Another new office has been established on the route between Yorkville and Cerro Gordo. It is called "Lennon's," located at Mr. Ira Lennon's house, and that gentleman is postmaster. Another office, "Horton's," is located at Rev. Hayes Lennon's, he also being postmaster. — Washington Gazette: Burt Paramore and one Dick Peebles, while attempting to break into a house near Baltimore, Md., were shot and killed. Burt Paramore was remembered as one of the Paramore brothers. Dick Peebles was a native of Pitt county. — The schooner S. Warren Hall, Capt. Walker, while near Indian Island, on Sunday last, was struck by lightning. It struck the main mast and ran down the top-and-lift and killed the mate, who was sitting on the taffrail, and stunned the captain, who was at the wheel.

— Charlotte Observer: Farmers report that wheat in the shock is sprouting and in danger of being ruined. But very few farmers have yet been able to haul their wheat from the fields to the barns and its long exposure to the rain, resulting in the damage named. — In a private note to the Observer, Mr. H. F. Schenck, of Cleveland, says that "the rains have somewhat damaged our wheat crop, which is the largest we have ever raised, though it is not in very serious, and it we have a few days sunshine the loss will be small. Nominations for State ticket gives satisfaction here and Cleveland will give her usual Democratic majority."

— Asheville Citizen: Rains are of daily occurrence and more or less heavy, greatly obstructing travel and hindering farm work. — Mr. Eliza Phillips, living on North Hominy, Haywood county, at the age of 96, is a hale, hearty man. A few days ago he rode on horseback to Pigeon River station, twelve miles altogether, without fatigue. — The demand for mountain cabbage in South Carolina and Georgia markets has greatly stimulated the culture of that vegetable in Henderson county. Mr. James Courtland, the largest tobacco planter in the county, has also six acres in cabbage. Several large lots in Hendersonville, of from half an acre to two acres, are this year in cabbage. — For Superintendent of Public Instruction, Mr. S. M. Fieger was chosen. For this position he is eminently qualified. He has been a member of both Houses of the Legislature, in each of which his most earnest labors have been devoted to the cause of education. — The Swannanoa was higher the other day than for the past ten years. The whole of its valley was submerged, the roads all under water, farms flooded, and dwellings surrounded. The farm of Mr. Chesapeake, among others, was overflowed and his house isolated completely. The water was up to within a foot of the new iron bridge on the Hendersonville road, the hotel, and Rankin's store, surrounded, and also Mr. Porter's dwelling. The trestle for the railroad bridge was somewhat injured. We suppose the crops on the river were seriously injured in many instances, destroyed.

Convention of the Sixth Congressional District. The Democratic Convention of the Sixth Congressional District will be held at Lumberton on Wednesday, July 30th, to nominate candidates for Congress and Elector for the District. By order of the Executive Committee. V. V. RICHARDSON, Chairman Executive Committee Sixth Congressional District. Democratic papers in the Sixth District please copy. July 1st, 1884.

Stedman, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, by the Cornet Concert Club, will take place at Wrightsville on the 4th, at 10 a. m. — The base ball match between the Seaside Park club and a picked nine, on Tuesday afternoon, resulted in a score of twenty-four for the former and four for the latter. — The Stokley Brog. have just completed a pavilion at their place on Wrightsville Sound, and promise on the 4th "pig fish" by the thousand and music by the harpers."

Not So Bad as Reported. A week or two ago we published an item in reference to an alleged case of child murder at or near Tar Heel, Bladen county, in which two colored children, aged respectively five and seven years, were represented to have killed their three-year-old brother and thrown the body into the river. We gave the information as we received it from undoubted authority. Since then it has been ascertained that no such bloody and tragical event occurred, and it was in this wise that the blood-curdling story got started. It seems that the three children were off in the woods picking berries. The little one was left in the road while the older children went off a short distance where the berries were more abundant. Upon their return the child had strayed away and they could not find it. They returned home without it, and upon being questioned by their parents it was found difficult to get a satisfactory answer. Finally they commenced whipping them to make them tell where the child was, when, in their ignorance, they concocted the story of the murder. It had the effect to relieve them from further chastisement for the time being, for the parents were almost paralyzed with horror, and were more interested in recovering the lifeless remains of the victim than (just then) in punishing them for the crime. Their search, however, was in vain, for the dusky wail was subsequently discovered in an apple orchard four miles from the spot where it disappeared, and when found was devouring an apple with a relish that showed that it had suffered severely from hunger. Our informant could not tell how long it was lost.

Robbing a Cripple. David Hall, the Indian shoemaker, who has a shop near the corner of Eighth and Nixon streets, had a visitor about 9 o'clock Tuesday night who may be said to have been "on time." He was at least on time intent, and it evidently didn't make much difference with him whether it was "old time" or the new standard material. The individual referred to walked into the shop where the old man was engaged in looking after the soles of his customers, proceeded deliberately to the mantle, seized the clock thereon, with the old man's watch, which was hanging by the chain to one of the ornamental spires, and was as deliberately leaving the establishment, when Hall (who is one-legged) sprang to his foot and threatened interference for the preservation of his property, whereupon the stranger gave him a shove and sent him prostrate upon the floor. The man then left the shop and speedily disappeared, leaving no clue to his identity.

Personal. Mayor Hall attended the Convention at Burgaw yesterday. Mr. W. W. McDiarmid, of the Robesonian, was in town yesterday and called to see us. A telegram from New York, received yesterday, conveys the gratifying announcement that Mrs. Geo. R. French, Jr., is considerably better. Her father, Mr. B. G. Worth, is not looked for home, however, until next week. Mr. Thos. W. Strange, delegate from this District to the Democratic Convention, leaves here this evening in order to be in Washington to-morrow at the conference of North Carolina delegates.

Magistrate's Court. Julia Ford and Mattie Brown, both colored, were before Justice Mills yesterday morning, charged with fighting. The charge was sustained and they were each required to fork over one penny and the costs. Disorderly Females. Mary Eliza Lively and Jane Day, two colored damsels, were arrested Tuesday night on the public streets. They will probably have a hearing this morning.

THE FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE OF THE NURSERY.—The following is an extract from a letter written to the German Reform Messenger at Chambersburg, Penn.: "A Nursemaid, just open the door for her, and Mrs. Winslow will relieve the American Florence Nightingale of the Nursery. Of this we are so sure, that we will teach our 'Nursy' to say, 'A blessing on Mrs. Winslow' for helping her to survive and escape the griping, colic, and teething stage. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup relieves the child from pain, and cures dysentery and diarrhoea. It softens the gums, reduces inflammation, cures wind, colic, and carries the infant safely through the teething period. It performs precisely what it professes to perform, every part of it—nothing less. We have never seen Mrs. Winslow know her only through the preparation of her 'Soothing Syrup for Children.' We had the power we would make her, as she is, a physical salvation to the infant race. Sold by all druggists, 25 cents a bottle."

It softens the gums, reduces inflammation, cures wind, colic, and carries the infant safely through the teething period. It performs precisely what it professes to perform, every part of it—nothing less. We have never seen Mrs. Winslow know her only through the preparation of her 'Soothing Syrup for Children.' We had the power we would make her, as she is, a physical salvation to the infant race. Sold by all druggists, 25 cents a bottle."

THE FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE OF THE NURSERY.—The following is an extract from a letter written to the German Reform Messenger at Chambersburg, Penn.: "A Nursemaid, just open the door for her, and Mrs. Winslow will relieve the American Florence Nightingale of the Nursery. Of this we are so sure, that we will teach our 'Nursy' to say, 'A blessing on Mrs. Winslow' for helping her to survive and escape the griping, colic, and teething stage. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup relieves the child from pain, and cures dysentery and diarrhoea. It softens the gums, reduces inflammation, cures wind, colic, and carries the infant safely through the teething period. It performs precisely what it professes to perform, every part of it—nothing less. We have never seen Mrs. Winslow know her only through the preparation of her 'Soothing Syrup for Children.' We had the power we would make her, as she is, a physical salvation to the infant race. Sold by all druggists, 25 cents a bottle."
