Resolved, by the Democracy of the County of New Hanover, in Mass Meeting assem bled: That we hereby re-affirm our devomocracy as set forth in the platforms of the National Convention at Chicago, and the State Convention at Raleigh.

Resolved, That we cordially and earnest approve and endorse the nomination o Grover Cleveland, of New York, and Thomas A. Hendricks, of Indians, for President and Vice President, respectively: of Alfred M. Scales and Charles M. Stedman, and their associates upon the State ticket for the positions which they have been designated; and of Risden T. Bennet as our Representative in the Lower House of the Congress of the United States; and we hereby pledge them our earnest and enthusiastic support.

Col. E. D. Hall, in a nest and eloquent speech, introduced Gov. Thomas J. Jarvis. He claimed for him that of all the men who had held the high and important position of Governor, none had won for themselves more credit or deserved more mules. In going with his empty wagon to the mill for the lumber Mr. Stroup's foot henor than the present Governor of North Carolina. Under his guidance the mate rial advancement of the State had been such to cause the astonishment of its people, while peace and presperity reigned in all its borders. He described his conduct in the Legislature during the days of reconstruction, and warmly complemented the manly course he persued in defence of his State and people.

GOV. JARVIS' SPEECH. Gov. Jarvis then arose, amid the shouts of the assembly, and a blaze of fireworks. He commenced his speech in a clear strong voice, distinctly audible to all his hearers. and continued for about two hours, firing into the Republican party his shots of logic, facts and eloquence. The Governor began by saying that all anthority exercised in this country was derived from the people and they had it in their power to prevent the enactment of bad laws by putting into office men who would be true to their trusts and mindful of the people's interest.

He said that he never had known a law made by a Democratic Congress, and sign ed by a Democratic President, that had been declared unconstitutional; while, on the other hand, act after act made by a Republican Congress and signed by their President had been adjudged unconstitutional by a radical Republican Supreme Court. He cited in substantiation of the above assertion the reconstruction acts, ku klux acts, and civil rights legislation. The reconstruction acts, he said, he declared before a Boston audience, had done more harm to the South than all the bullets shot by Northern armies. 101 molecular

The ku klux acts, after filling the Northern persons with some of the noblest and bravest among us, some of whom vielded up their lives in jails and penitentiaries, while others returned home with health wrecked and constitutions battered and shattered from hardship endured and miseries suffered in their prison houses. were declared unconstitutional. The civil rights acts had been tested by the inferior courts for years with a decision against them every time, and their unconstitu tionality was finally determined by the Supreme Court. And thus through the long catalogue of acts made by Republicans.

He then paid a glowing tribute to Gov. Oleveland, asserting that in every position in which he had been placed-as Sheriff, Mayor, Governor-he had been true to his trust; and the people, recognizing his fidelity, had determined to elect him to the highest position in their gift.

He then turned aside from national topics and addressed himself to what he termed his first love, his last love, his unceasing and undying love—the State of North Carolina. In no period of his life, from the time when a poor boy until now, his heart has never beat but in love for his State, and his highest aspirations have been for the prosperity of her people.

$621,000 had been spent for schools, and there was hardly a township where there was not a school and a teacher. Dr. York, the Republican caudidate for Governor, he said, was a man socially above reproach, but his record while in the Legislature, opposing the building of schools, the establishment of the normal schools, the building of the colored asylum, the settlement of the State debt, the settle ment of the North Carolina Railroad debt, etc.,did not make him either an available or desirable candidate for Governor. Space will not permit a longer account of this most admirable and well received speech. It made a great and good imession. Compliments, from all sides, were showered on the speaker and many a man went away enlightened and with something to think on.

The Governor is a fine speaker; cool self-possessed and logical-his bare state ment of a proposition amounts to its acceptance-while, at times, he is really elo

The crowd was large, estimated by some to have been three thousand. The best of order prevailed and the speaker kept their undivided attention from beginning to end Let us have some more speeches like this one, and let Gov. Jarvis cheer us with his voice and genial manner again and again, during this campaign.

The Cornet Concert Club furnished the music for the occasion; and it goes without saving, that that part of the programme was enjoyed by all. . Three rousing cheers were given at the close of the meeting for both the National and State tickets.

It is hoped that those who attend the game will govern themselves by the following request, made by the Sea-Side Park club, viz: "Hurrah as much, and as loudly for the visiting club as for the home club, and show them that we can appreciate good playing even in an opponent."

Now, Do Come!" We learn from a friend at Durham that colored excursion train, with one or more coaches for whites attached, will be run to this place on the 19th inst., and that there is a strong probability that the Banner Base Ball club of that place, which has cleaned out everything in the shape of a base ball club in that particular section of the State, "weeping for new worlds to conquer," will accompany the party with the view of trying the metal of the Sea-Side Park boys. We shall be glad to see "the conquering heroes come." and the "Sea-Sides" will pledge themselves not to throw sand in their eyes if they find they are being beaten.

Lightning's Freaks.

There was quite a severe storm at the 'Rocks" on Monday, and about half-past 12 o'clock lightning struck a flag pole at the government wharf at "Corncake Iulet." Several gentlemen from this city were fishing on the rocks at the time, when one of them (Mr. Robert Houston) who held an umbrella over him, was so shocked that he was prostrated upon the rocks, and had one of his hands pretty badly bruised. He soon recovered from the effects of the electric fluid, however, which must have found its conductor in the ribs of the umbrella.

Henry Price and Isham Quick, two wel shown colored men of this city, were two of a large party of colored excursionists to Wrightsville Sound on Monday. During the trip the horse (which, with the vehicle belonged to Quick) ran away, throwing the men out of the buggy and breaking one of Price's legs. He was brought home and has had the necessary surgical attention.

Down the River. Governor Jarvis, accompanied by Mayor Hall and several of our prominent citizens. went down the river yesterday on the steamer Passport, which carried down an excursion party. They were subsequently transferred to one of the government steamers and visited and inspected the government works.

Messrs. Geo. New and Robert Turney. who were at work on a house on Mulberry between Third and Fourth streets, yesterday morning, were considerably injured by a fall from a scaffold.
